NORTH COAST AND MILWAUKEE ONE?

Interesting Comparisons of the Two Systems Indicating That Such is the Case--Combined System Apparently Control Trolley Lines.

Is the North Coast road a part of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound system?

There are a number of reasons for thinking so. Probably the most important of such reasons is the fact that the terminal facilities so far secured by each of these new roads appear to dovetail; that is to say, what one hasn't got the other has. For instance, the Milwaukee although passing within 23 miles of Spokane with its main line has made, so far as known, not the slightest effort on its own account to secure an entrance into that city, which is one of the best railroad points in the west. The Milwaukee is one of the most aggressive roads in the United States in the matter of reaching out for business, and the fact that it would pass up a city like Spokane is simply unthinkable.

On the other hand the North Coast is said to have expended the gigantic sum of $1,500,000 in procuring an entrance to Spokane with the result that it has a feasible route which ends right in the business section of the city without a connection with any existing line of railroad. A portion of the property thus secured by the North Coast for terminals at Spokane is said to have cost that company as much as $2,000 per front foot. It takes a long purse to do business on that sort of a basis, so it is reasonable to infer that the "Road of Mystery" has good financial backing.

Then the North Coast has announced its purpose to build a branch line from Spokane to Tekoa, a distance of about 70 miles, where it will tap a field now served by the Northern Pacific and the O. R. & N. as well as to make a connection at that point with the Milwaukee main line.

Southwesterly from Spokane to the Columbia river it should be noted that the route of the North Coast will not in any way interfere with that of the Milwaukee, each road having the opportunity to develop a large local traffic.

From this side of the Columbia, at or near Kiona, the North Coast will form another connection with the Milwaukee, or rather the Columbia river branch of that road, which will start from Priest Rapids. From Kiona the North Coast will build a line to Walla Walla, tapping a rich field, while the main prong, presumably, of the Strahorn road will come up the Yakima valley from Kiona.

The great Milwaukee system under its own name, at least, has not made the slightest attempt to tap the Yakima valley, the greatest fruit producing section of eastern Washington. True enough, there has been an ocean of talk locally for the past two years of the Milwaukee's intention of building a branch to North Yakima by way of the Moxee, but there has been nothing substantial on which to base such an expectation on. Milwaukee officials have merely smiled when the feasibility of such a route has been suggested to them. They have a very much more effective method of tapping the Yakima valley than that, as will be seen.

It is now coming to be believed that the North Coast will reach the Sound country and Portland through the Cispus instead of through the Tieton pass. If the former route is adopted the road will leave the Yakima valley in the vicinity of Toppenish, going up Toppenish creek, which affords a safe and easy grade. The Cispus is said to offer the best route for a railroad of any pass in the Cascades. A road over such a route would open up a splendid country on both sides of the mountains, on the west side probably tapping the best and largest body of timber in the state. On the west side the North Coast would form a junction with the Tacoma Eastern, a road that has been recently purchased by the Milwaukee, and which is to be used by that road in its proposed extension from the Sound to Portland. Thus again do we see the connection between the North Coast and the Milwaukee. A crew of North Coast surveyors are now at work up Toppenish creek laying out the route.

There is reason for believing too that the extension of the North Coast from a point on the Yakima reservation to North Yakima is to be an electric road. Steam railroads are not built nowadays with from eight to ten degrees of curvature, railroad men say.

The fact too that the North Coast has not been making the slightest effort this year to procure right of way up the Naches valley from this city, in fact that it has not secured it entirely through the town is pointed to as silent evidence that a change of route has been decided on. It will be found that the Naches and the Ahtanum valleys will be served by the new aggregation, but in a different way.

The Yakima Valley Transportation company, which changed hands a few weeks ago, is starting out to build an electric system of 100 miles, to consist of half a dozen lines radiating from North Yakima. This road is no longer a disowned, struggling orphan, seeking vainly for recognition in the financial world. All at once it has blossomed out as an aggressive young giant seeking new fields to conquer.

When a number of facts are considered it becomes reasonably plain that the new aggregation of roadbuilders in the Yakima valley are now in control of the trolley line system and are dictating its future course, as well as furnishing the money for the construction of the proposed system. And when the trolley lines are in operation it will be found that their main function is to furnish freight for the great Milwaukee road, which is the pet transportation project of the King of Standard Oil.

Watch and see if The Democrat hasn't got the situation sized up right!

Invites President to Yakima.

Secretary James of the Commercial club has sent an invitation to the White House cordially inviting President Taft to visit North Yakima on his coming trip to the coast. Mr. James set forth a number of important reasons why the president should include North Yakima in his itinerary, owing to the numerous and diverse interests of the national government that center here.

The president's itinerary is now being prepared by his secretary and if his route from Spokane to Seattle be over the Northern Pacific it is deemed most likely an arrangement can be effected to have him stop here for a brief spell at least, as the boosters are anxious to show him what can be done by irrigation.

The street railway will soon have service to Sumach Park, workmen having been engaged nearly all week on the extension.

BLUE BELL MINE SOLD

Purchasers to Work Gold Hill Mine on Royalty Basis During Life of The Bond-Take in Stamp Mill.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Blue Bell Mining company, held in this city last Saturday evening, an agreement was ratified whereby the mine was sold, or rather bonded, to Tom Fife and Charles Lull for a period of five years, during which time the purchasers may perfect their title to the property on the payment of $100,000. The purchasers are to keep up the assessment work on the property and pay the company a royalty of 5 per cent gross on the value of all the ore extracted.

Fife and Lull started in to the property this week with a three-stamp mill, a large quantity of supplies and a crew of men to work the property, and will pack into the mine from Naches City.

The Blue Bell property has two well developed leads, known as the Blue Bell and the Emma. The Blue Bell is said to carry values as high as $1400 per ton, principally in gold, while the values in the Emma are mainly copper. The principal difficulty in working the mine has been the long distance from transportation.

Nearly all the stock of the Blue Bell company is held in North Yakima and vicinity, the leading stockholders being John Sawbridge, Owen Jones, W. B. Dudley and Tom Fife.

ILLEGALLY CONVICTED

Justice Karr's Conviction of Hoboes Held Illegal by Judge Preble for Want of Jurisdiction.

William Williams, a colored man, who was arrested last week under the new vagrancy law and given 30 days on the county rock pile by Justice Karr, appealed his case to the superior court and received a favorable decision at the hands of Judge Preble last Saturday.

Judge Preble soon disposed of the case when the evidence was introduced showing that Justice Karr was outside his jurisdiction when he sentenced the man. Justice Karr of Nob Hill precinct had been holding court for Justice Hunt of this city during the latter's absence in Iowa and had been dealing out the law to the hoboes brought before him with a strenuous hand, having sentenced some 25 or 30 of the boes each to 30 days of penal servitude.

The law says plainly that the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace in criminal actions does not extend beyond the precinct which he was elected to serve, so there was nothing to do but to turn Williams loose. The question, however, not having been raised in the cases of the other county prisoners likewise illegally sentenced they have been kept at work by the sheriff.

One man taken before Karr's court as a vagrant, who gave in his name as N. P. Smith, surprised the grim justice and everybody in the court room by digging up the amount of his fine, $99.99, in cash, producing a roll of bills from an inner pocket aggregating $200. Smith denied being a vagrant, saying that he was on his way to the harvest fields and had merely stepped into a box car to sleep when the police spied him and gathered him in. On being released Smith quickly disappeared. As the fine assessed against him was illegal the man could demand the return of his money, and probably would if he understood the situation.

Rifle Match Tomorrow

Two picked squads of Company E, national guard of Washington, will engage in the rifle contest at the rifle range tomorrow. The distances are 200, 300 and 500 yards, at slow fire.

Capt. J. M. Curry referees the match. Sunday's match marks the finish of the competitive drills, which the two teams have been engaged in for the past three months.

Capt. Curry is furnishing the silver medals which will be awarded the winners. These are of round design, having engraved thereon the words, "For Efficiency in Drill," and also the company initial and number.

One team is composed of Lance Corporal and Capt. George J. Benoit, E. F. Wilcox, R. D. Packard, G. Bogess, Chas. O'Neil, John Dull, E. Violet and W. H. Spooner. The team consists of Lance corporal and Capt. A. H. Wilgus, Johnnie George, Fred McKiver, H. W. Smith, Fred Elliott, J. E. Baker, Philip Snyder and Carl Bruenn.

Huge Profits of Huge Trusts

Senator Beveridge on the 24th told in the senate the story of the financial freebooting of the American Tobacco company--the trust. In 1890 it had, on a capitalization of $25,000,000, tangible assets of not more than $5,000,000. The Ryan-Widener-Elkins-Dolan-Whitney crowd on so small a start, by waging the fiercest war on all rivals and competitors, have now amassed holdings amounting to $317,000,000--mostly water--on which they receive dividends and interest so that the stocks and bonds are good securities in the market. Its yearly profits in 1896 were more than $36,500,000, or an increase of 400 per cent in six years. This trust is one of the beneficiaries of the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill. Its influence on the production of tobacco may be judged from the fact that the notorious "night riders" were organized in the tobacco growing regions for the purpose of preventing the pounding down of the price of the leaf by the trust in the effort to make these huge profits.--La Follette's Magazine.

Remembering Their Friends

After it had been conclusively proved that the United States exported six times as much paper manufactured from wood pulp, as it imported, thereby showing the injustice of placing a tariff on paper, Senators Piles and Jones of this state, voted for an advance from $2 to $4 in the tariff on print paper. A sweet recompense to the publishers of this state, a majority of whom worked their heads off in their little poverty stricken dens to land these dishonorable corporation slaves into the fat job they hold. How long would these two obliging senators last in a campaign, if the press on whom they have helped to impose an unjust tax, handed them what they deserve? Now don't excuse them and say it is a Republican principle, because you know how you all like Teddy and remember he urged that wood pulp be put on the free list, in a message he sent to congress.--Davenport Tribune.

The Wilkeson Murder

Nothing should be left undone to catch the treacherous creature who lured Mrs. Julia Bronzo of Wilkeson from her home with a lie about her brother's illness and murdered her for the mother she carried. It was murder of the most cruel sort, which only a fiend in human form could commit. The fellow knocked at her home in the night when her husband was at work in the mines and said her brother at the Black Diamond mines had sent for her. The poor woman believed the story and went with the fellow who choked her to death and took $600. No wonder the people of Wilkeson walk up and down the street calling for vengeance. It was treachery worse than is possible for the beasts of the wilds. The officers should spare no efforts in their search for this creature.--Tacoma Ledger.

Nob Hill Lady Injured

A man who was evidently breaking a wild cayuse collided with the rig in which Mrs. Emmeline Conat was riding in the Nob Hill district last Tuesday, severely injuring the lady.

Had Mrs. Conat been driving other than a very quiet horse, it is probable that her injuries would have been much worse, as it was, however, no bones were broken. The driver of the outfit causing the damage is unknown.

STRAHORN REFUSES CITY'S OFFER

Turns Down Proffer of $222,000 for Water Works--Plans Being Prepared for New System.

The Northwest Light & Water company on Thursday formally rejected the offer of the city of North Yakima to purchase its water system at the price named, $222,000. The offer of the city to purchase at the figure named was rejected through a letter sent Mayor Armbruster by Supt. Arrowsmith, enclosed with which was a letter from President Strahorn of the company.

So, unless the city is prepared to materially increase its offer to purchase the water plant, which is undoubtedly for sale providing Mr. Strahorn can get his price for it, the negotiations are now off. Indeed, it is most likely that such is the case anyway, unless there is a distinct change of opinion on the part of a majority of the council.

As there is no disposition to commence another condemnation suit against the company by the present city administration, since that plan so ingloriously failed three years ago, there is apparently no other plan now left the city to work on except to construct a new system of water works. It is believed now that an emphatic majority of the citizens of the town are in favor of the construction of the new system, providing the municipal plan can be successfully financed.

City Engineer Harold Doolittle has been at work for the past two months preparing plans for a new system. While that official is not talking for publication it is said that he has ventured the opinion that a new system adequate to the needs of 30,000 people, and with an intake well up in the Naches can be constructed for less than $400,000.

BOOSTERS WILL BOOST

Want Big Delegation to go to Spokane for Irrigation Congress--Special Train to Run.

A meeting of the 50,000 club, or the Boosters' club, as it is known locally, was held in the Commercial club rooms Tuesday afternoon to devise ways and means of sending a big and enthusiastic delegation from the Yakima valley to the national irrigation congress at Spokane, Aug. 9-12.

So far not very much enthusiasm has been shown here in the Spokane blow-out next month. This fact is partly due to the feeling that Spokane has no right to pose before the public as being the irrigation center of the state, and partly to the disgust created by the nerve of the Spokane promoters in holding the state up for an appropriation of $30,000 with which to entertain the congress in that city, after having pledged that amount themselves. Spokane after bidding for the congress and getting it, on the theory that it would be a money making proposition, then by pernicious log rolling methods in the legislature induced the state to foot the whole bill.

President John H. Lynch and Secretary Roy stated the object of the special meeting. H. P. James was the principal speaker and told the meeting how hard a proposition it is to get Yakima people interested in the Spokane congress. He said that several meetings of the valley committee had been held, but nothing of importance accomplished, although Mr. Furman, the Zillah member, had succeeded in getting 18 men lined up to go from his district and wear the $2.25 white suits that are to be provided for the auspicious occasion. Mr. James dwelt on the fact that it was vitally necessary to know in advance how many of the duck suits would be wanted, so that the necessary supply could be secured. Mr. James also advocated having floats prepared in Spokane, at an expense of $150 each, to advertise Yakima in the parade, if there is to be one.

After a considerable talk the chairman was authorized to name a committee on ways and means and also a committee on floats and decorations. Chairman Lynch named W. L. Lemon, F. B. Kuehn and H. H. Andrews as the former and C. H. Barnes, H. P. James and Dr. Pratt as the latter committee.

The ways and means committee, after a partial canvass of the city on Wednesday and Thursday, announced that they had met with much success in the matter of drumming up a crowd to go to Spokane and Postmaster Lemon thought it would be possible to get a thousand people to go. It is likely that a special train will be secured.

"Baldwin" to Reorganize

J. R. Richards, who has been interested with E. H. Baldwin and F. H. Bayne in the Baldwin Dry Goods company since its incorporation in North Yakima, May 21, 1908, has taken entire charge of the business of the company, having bought the interests of his former partners last Saturday. The consideration inducing Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Bayne to relinquish their interests in the business has not been made public.

Mr. Bayne will remain with Mr. Richards, but Mr. Baldwin will probably enter the real estate business in this city. Notice the page "ad" of the Baldwin store in this issue.

The train service on the Northern Pacific has been very poor this week on account of floods and accidents resulting therefrom in Montana.

COMPLETE THIS FALL TO THE DAM

Will Finish the Tieton Ditch to Point Where It Enters Irrigable Land.

To the distribution dam where it enters irrigable land the Tieton irrigation system is expected to be completed by the middle of October, says A. H. Gullickson, chief clerk of the local reclamation service office.

More men are working there than on any other similar project which the government is pushing. As to how much land can be put under water next spring, however, Mr. Gullickson would make no statement, except to say that it is expected that some land will be watered. He counsels conservatism in any statement in this connection.

Work Not Stopped.

The impression that has gained a certain amount of credence among the people, however, that work on the whole system has been held up by the recent retrogressive action of the reclamation department is without foundation. There are 400 men working in the canyon, about 250 in the Bumping Lake district and 60 in the valley below the tunnel. The project will be completed this fall to the point where it enters irrigable land, and some work will be done beyond that point.

Enthusiastic Real Estate Men.

A party composed partly of real estate men visited the tunnel yesterday in an automobile and returned very enthusiastic over what they saw there, and they expect to have a fine lot of pictures to show also. Those composing the party were Harry B. Averill, of Tennant & Miles, Wm. F. Iler of the Iler Investment company, J. L. Hughes of the Artificial Ice company, Edgar B. Allen and John Hatfield. They visited first the mouth of the tunnel, where they saw the flagging nearly in for the distributing dam, one lateral in which three-fourths of a mile of flume had already been constructed, and several hundred feet of open cut for another lateral. The tunnels look as smooth and round inside as the bore of a big cannon. The work that remains to be done is to build the intake and line with cement the 11 miles of canal between the intake and the tunnels.

A Lot of Work.

"But that is a lot to do," says Mr. Gullickson. "All that we will promise to do is to finish the system to the distribution dam." In reply to the question whether people would be allowed to wait dry with everything completed but the laterals, Mr. Gullickson said that such a thing would be possible, but that it looked as though the department would find some way to avoid such a thing as that. The needs of the various projects will be discussed at the conference of supervising engineers the latter part of this month.

WAPATO PROJECT BEING DELAYED

Indians on Reservation Refuse to Sell Lands Under Provisions of Jones Act.

All of the preliminary engineering work has been completed on the Wapato project, and so far as the engineering department is concerned, the actual construction work could be begun at once. The topographical surveys have been made, the structures outlined and the canals and laterals projected.

But the actual construction cannot be begun at once, and present indications point to a considerable delay before it is taken up. The cause for this delay does not lie with the government, nor with any of the departments, but with the Indians, who are not coming forward with the sale of their land under the Jones act, as they must before the project can be constructed.

To Sell 60 Acres

Under the Jones act the Indians are to sell 60 acres out of each 80-acre allotment, the proceeds to go for water rights on the retained 20 acres. If more money is received for the 60 acres than is needed for the water right that surplus will undoubtedly go back to the Indians. This land must be sold under public sale, and in the usual manner.

The Indians on the Yakima reservation, in which the Wapato project is to be constructed, are not showing any particular enthusiasm over the prospect of irrigation for their lands. Instead of being prepared now for the prosecution of the construction work, they have done practically nothing. So far as the reclamation service is advised, practically none of this Indian land has been sold as provided for in the Jones act.

Will Not Recommend Construction

Supervising Engineer C. H. Swigart will not recommend the prosecution of the work on the project until a sufficient amount of the land has been sold to assure the success of the work as contemplated. The reclamation service has nothing whatever to do with the sale of these lands, this matter being handled entirely by the Indian department. So far as Mr. Swigart has been informed practically nothing has been done.

There are approximately 120,000 acres of irrigable land under the Wapato project. Only about 10,000 acres of this total is now in the hands of whites, having been purchased under heirships. This leaves 110,000 acres in the hands of the Indians. While the exact amount that must be signed up before the project is constructed is fixed by the secretary of the interior, yet it is assumed that this would have to be the major portion of this acreage. Mr. Roblin of the Indian department was on the reservation for a time negotiating with the Indians, but it is understood that he has departed. Just what he accomplished is not known, but it is not believed to have been much.

Reclamation Service Ready

The reclamation service is now ready to recommend a plan of development as soon as the money is available. Mr. Swigart says that it will be possible to do more on the Wapato project with the same amount of money than on any other project in the valley, because there are fewer of the natural obstacles to be overcome. The land is more level and the canals and laterals may be constructed with greater ease.

The Wapato project is in just this condition at the present time: The reclamation service has every thing in readiness to go forward with the construction work, and could have it well under way this summer, but nothing can be done until the Indians sell their lands under the Jones act. As the Indians appear to have no desire to do this at least at present, nothing further will be done on the project for some time. The project will not be completed at the time of the opening of the reservation if this opening comes next year. The delay is one for which the government can hardly be held responsible.

BAD CHECK LAW OFF THE BOOKS

Local Business Man Finds Sheriff's Office in No Position to Help Him Much.

A check for $1.65 on the Yakima Trust company, bearing the signature of Herbert Mecaslin, took a local business man to Sheriff Joe Lancaster's office yesterday. It had been given him in payment of a bill and had been returned to him marked "No funds," when he tried to get real money for it at the bank.

The business man suspected that he had been intentionally "stung" and wanted to know if the sheriff or his deputies knew the man who had signed the check. One of the deputies had Mecaslin on the tip of his tongue and told how one "Herbie" Mecaslin has been sent to the reform school a couple of years ago for a little piece of frenzied financing in Zillah which came under the technical name of forgery. It was thought the signer of the bum check and the boy who had been sent to the reform school were one and the same, as the boy's term in the state institution has expired.

check at the sheriff's office came only a few hours in the wake of Assistant District Attorney Moren's casual remark that the state of Washington no longer has its "bad check law" under which a prosecution under circumstances like the ones attending this case could very easily be brought and with excellent chances of a conviction. Attorney Moren says that this law is among those repealed by the last legislature when the new criminal code was adopted. Prosecutions for passing worthless checks are still possibilities under the law which makes obtaining money under false pretense a crime but convictions in cases of this kind are much more difficult to secure.

The man with the Mecaslin check left the sheriff's office with the intention of getting his $1.65 from the signer of the check without going into court but determined to get it some way, even if in the getting of it the signer of the check went on a long visit at the state's expense.

COLLEGE BRED FRUIT

Yale Graduate in Moxee Has Under-Graduate Help from Same Institution.

College bred fruit and kindred products would appear to be the reasonable expectation on the Oswald Austin ranch in the North Moxee. Mr. Austin, himself a graduate of Yale University, has lately enlisted the services of two under graduates from the same institution of higher learning to help him irrigate, spray and do the other onerous things there are to do about the place. The student-ranchers are David Johnson, son of Mrs. Bertha Johnson, of this city, and Robert Douglas, of New York, a college friend of Mr. Johnson who came west with the local boy to spend the summer. Mr. Johnson has just completed his first year studies at Yale and Mr. Douglas will next year be a senior at the same institution, graduating in June, 1910.

Johnson Twins From Vashon.

The other two Johnson boys, who had been away at school, went to Seattle a day or two ago to spend the summer as employees at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. These young men, known throughout North Yakima as the Johnson twins, are Norvell Stuart Johnson and William Owen Johnson. They came home from Burton, Wash., some time ago after having had completed their first year at Vashon College and Academy, where the first named was raised to the rank of first corporal in the military organization and the second to the rank of quartermaster sergeant. Norvell Johnson was active in athletics at his school and is captain of both the baseball and track teams. The twins will continue their studies at Vashon next term and David Johnson will go back to Yale.

NOW FOR GOOD ROADS

Now that we are assured of the location of the state stone crusher in Selah gap, let us take up the good roads campaign in dead earnest. We have been talking about the desirability and the necessity of good, hard roads here in the Yakima valley for years, but we have accomplished but little as yet in the matter of securing them. That this section of the country, with its fast increasing population, needs and must have good roads is a fact so patent now that no argument is required to maintain it.

The state proposes to establish a rock crushing plant here and to operate the same with convict labor. It will furnish the road making material at cost to this and nearby counties, and the cost under the conditions should be very low. Needing good roads badly, as we do, with the opportunity to get them under this arrangement with the state, it would be a foolish policy not to build roads.

To be sure, the proposed hard roads will cost money, and a great deal of it. But if the system of making them be business-like and the cost kept within reasonable bounds, good, hard roads will prove the very best investment that the people of this county can make.

The board of county commissioners should now employ a competent highway engineer to lay out a system of trunk line roads in the country and figure out therefore a reliable cost estimate. The people should understand the plan and the important details connected therewith, as well as the cost estimates. The people must believe in and understand the plan of road improvement, otherwise it is most likely to fail.

DO YOUR WORK AT THE POLLS

A number of shoe manufacturers, tanners and retailers have caused to be sent to their patrons throughout the United States, a circular urging them, in what might fairly be termed hysterical language, to write to their congressmen and to President Taft urging them to prevent the meat trust from having its way.

One of these circulars was sent to J. W. Morgan of Starke, Fla., business man. Mr. Morgan's reply ought to be read in every precinct of the United States and by every resident thereof. Here it is:

Starke, Fla., June 26, 1909—National Free Hide League, Chicago, Ill. Gentlemen: I am in receipt of your circular letter concerning the question of free hides. I am heartily in sympathy with the idea of free raw material, but as for writing my congressman, or to the president, not much, Johnny.

I dare say 75 per cent of the members of the numerous associations whom you claim are affiliated in this effort to curb the meat trust, were also affiliated last year in the effort of keeping the party in power which is now revising the tariff on the upward grade. Why didn't you affiliate, when you had the chance last year, to put a party in power which was pledged to a downward revision? You came squarely up to the "parting of the ways," gentlemen, but you took the same old route, with the result that you are up against it in the same old way, only more so. Now take your medicine, gentlemen. You helped to mix your dose—it's just what you voted for, now take it. I hope you get your hide chuck full of it. It's free and you'll get more than you want without even the trouble of asking for it.

The people had a chance for better things last fall at the ballot box. Like one of old, they chose the 'mess of pottage.' Now let the meat trust and the oil trust and the grand old, trust-controlled Republican party fill their hides so full of the burdens of taxation (without representation) that they will finally feel the death grip placed on them, the yoke will be so galling that the worm will turn at last. If oppression is the only thing to bring the people to a realization of their wrongs, let oppression be poured out on them. Don't write to your congressmen, gentlemen. Sit up and during the next four years while you are trying to dodge the lemons which your party is busily engaged in preparing for you, resolve by the help of God, and the party of Jefferson, Jackson and Bryan, that your votes will be cast for the lifting of the burden from the weary back of this great American common people, of whom you are one, and I am one. Your appeals are useless now—as well strap yourself to the tail of a cyclone, and expect to float on in the enjoyment of sweet repose and pleasant dreams. I'm sorry for you, but not too sorry to hope that you'll get your hide full. It's the only thing that will ever teach you anything, apparently. Yours Truly,

J. W. MORGAN.

—The Commoner.

The Republican party, under the leadership of Taft and Aldrich, continue to steal Democratic thunder, just as Roosevelt used to appropriate it. How strange it seems for Republicans advocating an income tax! Only a few years ago they were ready to denounce any man as an anarchist who stood for a special tax on the wealth of the country. But the Republicans wouldn't stand for such a tax even now if it were not a plain open and shut case that "Uncle Sam" needs the money and that they realize that the Aldrich tariff will still further reduce his revenue. But it shows that the Democratic is the progressive party in this country and that the Republican party looks to it for the proper cue.

Gov. Hay has said that he would decline to call a special election to fill the vacancy in the second congressional district before November next, as in his opinion the people are now tired of elections. What queer ideas the accidental governor appears to have! Maybe he thinks that the people don't know enough to elect a congressman anyway and should allow him to appoint one, as he thinks they should do in regard to state officials. If the new governor is indeed trimming his sails along such lines it requires no prophet to foresee his ride to disaster upon the rocks of politics. If his accident really intends making the race for the senate he should provide himself with a compass and at least try to steer his executive course along constitutional lines.

Not much evidence has as yet been elicited, or at any rate made public, to justify the wholesale charge of corruption brought against the state supreme court by a pair of Tacoma lawyers. Still, where there is so much smoke there may be a little fire. The charge that eight of the nine members of the court have rendered unfair and corrupt decisions in labor damage suits against employing corporations is a pretty sweeping one and if it is not substantiated by facts the Tacoma lawyers that brought it will need a secure hiding place. If the charges be true, as the Oregonian says, it ought to be easy to establish the fact by merely publishing the court's decisions. If the decisions have been uniformly in favor of the corporations then the record will speak for itself. This is common sense.

This is the vacation season for the most of those who can afford to take a vacation. One might know that by reading the stories in the daily papers of vacation accidents, mainly death by drowning. The fool who rocks the boat and the people who go into the water recklessly without knowing how to swim usually furnish the sad news items and then disappear, all except the fool, who unfortunately is always with us.

There are plenty of patriots over in the second district who are willing to sacrifice themselves by taking over the job of the late Congressman Cushman. The times being rather out of joint there is no dead cinch that any republican can win the position. In fact the vacancy in the second district offers a splendid opportunity for success to some popular democrat.

Schively's answer to the impeachment charges was written apparently by a quibbling lawyer. He pleads the statute of limitations, he lays the blame on his former chief, Sam Nichols, he alleges that a number of senators are prejudiced against him, therefore disqualified to try him, etc., etc. The public will be glad when it hears the last of Schively, the pettifogging grafter.

A lot of Spokane girls have formed a sort of a trust, each taking a pledge that they will refuse to marry any man who refuses to pledge himself in advance that he will vote for woman suffrage. Now, what are we coming to, and if women do get the ballot what show will a mere man have anyway?

The superior court of this county has ruled that Justice Karr of Nob Hill has no jurisdiction in North Yakima and that sentence passed by that official on numerous hoboes while holding court in this city are therefore null and void. Apparently we have some very bright officials dispensing justice hereabouts. There is need of fixing somewhere.

The new stockade to be established by the state in Selah Gap for the purpose of housing convicts, should not be confused with the stockade set up west of the track through the good offices of his honor, the mayor.

Our contemporary, the Herald, has been laboring under much excitement concerning Yakima's representation at the National Irrigation Congress to meet in Spokane. There is a great deal of nonsense printed about the importance of the Irrigation Congress. Such an organization as it has is dominated by government employees of the reclamation and forestry service and other theorists, who are bent mainly in securing from the alleged congress what they are pleased to consider as a popular endorsement of their work. This they want for the effect it will have, or they think it will have, on officialdom at Washington. The average farmer or business man of Yakima who goes to Spokane to attend the congress will have about as much influence in the proceedings as though they were a bunch of Yakima Indians. Spokane is boosting the occasion to get a big crowd there, knowing that the crowd will spend its money.

Ten insurgent Republicans in the senate resolutely refused to respond to the Aldrich lash to vote for his perfidious contrivance of a tariff bill, while one Democrat, or alleged Democrat, McEnery, of Louisiana, voted for the monstrosity. The dissenting Republicans were Beveridge of Indiana, La Follette of Wisconsin, Nelson and Clapp of Minnesota, Dolliver and Cummins of Iowa, Burkett and Brown of Nebraska, Bristow of Kansas and Crawford of South Dakota. Yet "Boss" Aldrich in spite of this defection, had votes enough to pass the bill by a majority of 11. No doubt had he needed them certain Democrats in the senate of the stripe of Bailey would have promptly gone to his rescue.

The newly coined word "sizzard," representing the other extreme from 'blizzard,' is likely to find a permanent place in the English language, for it is very expressive. The people down east know what a sizzard means without any explanation.

The late Congressman Cushman would no doubt be highly gratified if he could read and enjoy the fulsome eulogies of him that have appeared in the press since his demise, but that pleasure is it, that we Americans have of generally withholding praise for a man until after he is dead?

The present blundering legislature is said to have unwittingly repealed the law that made forgery a crime. But that was a small blunder compared with some others that were made.

The legislature will meet again August 17, when Schively's impeachment trial in the senate is to begin. That's pretty soon after dog days.

The National Monthly refers to Senator Nelson W. Aldrich as general manager of the United States. Well, that very fairly describes his job.

GENTRY SHOW IS NEAT AND TIDY.
Returns Much Enlarged in Scope of Entertainment.

Gentry Bros.' Shows United will come back to renew acquaintance with North Yakima people Wednesday, July 21, booming their way into immediate popularity at both afternoon and evening shows with the unique organization distinctive as an amusement enterprise.

Every feature that has served to emphasize the Gentry Shows in the past years is retained, with a number of new ones that exhibit substantial growth and importance in the entertainment world. It is not so many years ago that the same organization came heralded as something out of the ordinary, camping in a modest way on lots that have been since covered with big buildings, but were the same spaces vacant now they would not serve to accommodate the single tent in which the ring performance is given, so much has the show outgrown its original intention. It is a substantial city of tents that is required today to house the Gentry Shows and the reason for the larger importance of the exhibition that is given lies in the reputation that has been established for redeeming promises for novelty and quality.

Wednesday morning will see the arrival of Gentry Bros.' Shows and the juveniles of North Yakima will be introduced to the animal section of the show. Shortly before noon the gilt and tinsel glories of the street parade will eclipse the happenings of any day before and the afternoon with an accompaniment of ideal weather will see the fulfillment of the pledges of the bill boards.

SPECIALIZE IN YAKIMA APPLES

Large Eastern Firm Believes in the Big Red Apple of the Yakima Valley.

The Yakima Commercial club has already made arrangements for a carload shipment of fall apples to the east, where they will be put on exhibition at Philadelphia by the John B. Cangelmo company, one of the largest fruit dealers in that city. H. R. Dudley, the company's representative, is in this city and will remain here until the first of the year. He states that the firm will make a specialty of handling Yakima apples during the future.

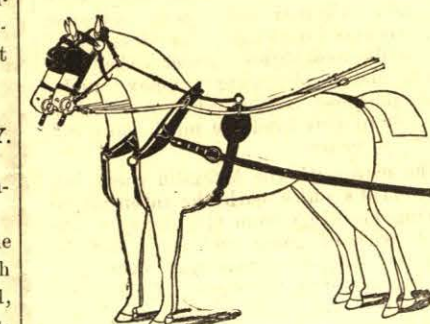

Besides the car of apples many more cars will be shipped to the east to be placed on exhibition and a great many that will go to the Spokane apple show the latter part of November will be among the several shipments.

Apples sent to Spokane will be exhibited at three points throughout the country before finally finding their way to the consumer. They can be shipped across the country at a single freight rate and the opportunity of advertising the Yakima valley through the displays is gladly accepted.

After the close of the show at Spokane the fruit will be sent on to Chicago where it will be displayed at the United States Land and Irrigation exposition to be held in that city, November 27 to December 4, under the auspices of the Chicago Tribune and from Chicago they will be sent to New York and other eastern points.

The Land and Irrigation exposition officials are sending out a great amount of literature advertising the event and a large gathering is expected.

Our Success Is Due to the Fact That We Give
What We Advertise

The senior members of the firm of The E. H. Baldwin Co. have disposed of their interests to the junior member, or manager, and will retire from the merchantile business in North Yakima. The business will be conducted in the same straightforward manner as heretofore, under the same management, carrying only the most dependable merchandise at always the lowest possible prices.

On Thursday, July 15, we inaugurate a BONA FIDE DISSOLUTION SALE—a sale the like of which has never been attempted in this city. The retiring members MUST HAVE THEIR MONEY, and $15,000.00 worth of Ladies' Furnishings and Ready-to-Wear Goods must be disposed of within the next 15 days. To accomplish this end we have gone through the entire stock, forgetting the cost entirely, and marked every article at a price at which it will sell on sight. Note the following tremendous reductions:

congress large reductions in expenditures as compared with the last appropriations. This is particularly desired by the president, in the line of retrenchment and economy. In the interior department there will be a reduction in the estimates of 1911 of more than $9,000,000 as against the appropriations for 1910."

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Final Adjournment of Congress Expected July 24—Tariff Bill Makes Hot Time in Conference—Experiments in Gunnery,

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The senate has made such rapid progress in its consideration of the tariff bill that it now looks as if final adjournment would be reached by July 24, which by a somewhat curious coincidence is the date on which the Dingley bill was signed, after a special session which convened on March 15, the same date as saw the beginning of this session. Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, is having prepared a tabulated comparison of the house and senate bills, by which he hopes to show that the increases made in the upper house have been neither as numerous nor as great as is popularly supposed. It is true that there have been a number of decreases from the bill as originally reported from the finance committee, many of which, because they were effected with little debate, attracted comparatively little attention. Despite this fact, however, even a casual study of the measure as reported to the senate from the committee of the whole shows an appalling number of increases which even the ingenuity of Mr. Aldrich will find it difficult to explain, and which are certain to merit and to receive the censure of the great army of consumers.

The one feature of the senate bill on which the leaders are relying to mitigate popular censure is the substitution of the tax on the net earnings of corporations for the tax on inheritances, together with the adoption by a unanimous vote of the joint resolution submitting to the several states a constitutional amendment authorizing congress to impose a tax on individual incomes. Great as is the disappointment to the democratic leaders over the failure of an income tax at this session, they are, like true philosophers, finding no small degree of comfort in the fact that President Taft has permitted it to become known that the special tax which he prefers above all others is a graduated income tax. In view of the fact that this has long been one of the chief planks in the democratic platform, it is strikingly illustrative of the influence exerted by the minority and of the adaptability of the majority that this constitutional amendment is now given its first real impetus by a republican president and such staunch adherents of old-school republicanism as Nelson W. Aldrich and his associates on the finance committee. It was perhaps to be expected of a president so wedded to the law and who enjoyed so long and eminent an experience on the bench as Judge Taft that he should, regardless of his views of that decision of the supreme court which pronounced unconstitutional the income tax of the Wilson bill, hesitate to promote the reenactment of a similar law.

The navy department is about to undertake a series of experiments which will be attended with the utmost interest, although every effort will be made to guard the results from publicity. To an extent hardly conceivable to the uninitiated the whole system of ordnance, including projectiles, armor resistance, torpedo attack and a large part of the science of ballistics is purely theoretical, being built up from a series of experiments with minimum sizes and distances from which are calculated the effects, increased in arithmetical ratio. For instance, the experts fire a two-hundred pound projectile at a six-inch armor plate, at a given velocity, and from the results they calculate, by rule of three, what effect a thousand pound projectile, fired at a proportionately reduced velocity, at a 12-inch armor plate, would have. With a materially increased appropriation, secured at the last session of congress, experiments are to be made with full sized projectiles, at actual war distances, and at actual thicknesses of armor plate. For instance a target covered with 12-inch plate will be subjected to the fire of a 12-inch gun, at distances of three, four or five miles, which will closely approximate actual battle conditions and serve to prove the accuracy or the reverse of the mathematical calculations which heretofore have been the sole guide of the ordnance experts. Experiments will be made also to determine the actual explosive force of 12-inch shells against given thicknesses of armor plate.

Spokane, Wash., July 15.—At the close of the first day of registration for the Spokane, Coeur d'Alene and Flathead reservation lands it is estimated that 28,000 applications were filed. Of these 10,000 were at Coeur d'Alene, 4000 at Missoula and 4000 at Kalispell. In all the cities where the filings were proceeding the hotels were crowded and many temporary sleeping places were fitted up. The applicants appear to be an excellent class of people. There has been no disorder and police are keeping a close watch for criminals. A noticeable feature is the optimism of the visitors, all expecting to draw prizes. It is estimated there will be 300,000 applicants for the less than 3000 homesteads available on the three reservations.

BUILDING TOWN WITHOUT HOUSES

North Coast Townsite Opposite Kiona to Have Sidewalks and Water System Ready.

Houses and people are all that the new town on the North Coast opposite Kiona will lack when the railroad company gets ready to put lots on the market. Concrete walks will be laid, a water system installed, electric light and power provided and the streets graded, the usual process of getting a new town started being entirely reversed. Such is the information given out this morning by C. E. Woods, the North Coast right-of-way man, who is in the city today in the interests of his road.

Disciple of Strahorn

In the matter of giving out vital information, Mr. Woods proved himself to be a true disciple of Strahorn, although he was exceedingly courteous in expressing his regret that he was obliged to play the role of a sphinx. In regard to the new town, however, he is free to speak. The new town is to be opposite Kiona, and will be to the North Coast what Pasco is to the Northern Pacific, being the junction point of the Spokane main line, the Walla Walla main line and the Priest Rapids branch. Every possible improvement will be made on the town site before it is placed on the market. The work is already under way. Eighteen blocks of first-class cement sidewalk have already been laid; the grade stakes are set, and the grading of the streets in the business portion of a water system is now under way and the pipe is expected to arrive this week. A water pressure of 75 pounds will be provided for the business portion of the town before any lots are put on the market. A reservoir to hold the city water is now being dug. Electric light and power will be supplied by the Yakima Valley Transmission line.

Steel and Ties Ordered

Steel and ties for 75 miles of track for the North Coast have been ordered, the laying of which will commence before September 1. There will be no activity in town site property until after the laying of rails commences. The roadbed contractors have completed work to a point this side of Kiona and are now operating along the line in the vicinity of Prosser and Zillah. The gap between Parker and the Columbia will be closed as rapidly as possible.

Big Bridge Building

In connection with Mr. Woods' visit, considerable interest attaches to a report received here of preparations being made for the construction of an immense bridge across the Columbia near Kennewick on the Walla Walla line. Mammoth machines have been installed there, materials are coming in by the trainload and extensive temporary railroad yards have been constructed. There has grown up there a considerable village of employees connected with the construction work. The indications are that a bridge will be put in the cost of which will be measured by the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BALLINGER GOES TO SOUND CITY

Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger who, according to a letter from Senator W. L. Jones, will be in this city in the near future, is at present in Seattle. The secretary en route to the coast visited government projects at Mitchell, Neb., in the North Platte valley, Cody, Wyo., on the Shoshone river and Huntley, near Billings, Mont.

Mr. Ballinger will remain in the west until the middle of September, making a tour of inspection of the various reclamation projects. A. P. Davis, chief engineer of the reclamation service, whom he has been rumored would shortly visit North Yakima, joined the cabinet officer at Seattle and will accompany him on his trip, together with an inspector of the department.

Regarding his trip and the plans of the department, Secretary Ballinger made the following statements yesterday:

Sent by President.

"The president has sent me out into the west that I might become fully acquainted with the necessities of the reclamation service, and be able to make such modifications in its administration as may be necessary to progress the work and keep it within the legitimate scope of the law, and also to report the facts to him; in other words, my investigation of the reclamation service in the field is for the same purpose that the secretary of war was recently sent to Panama to investigate the progress of the isthmian canal.

"The reclamation service as established by congress is of vast importance to the west, and, indeed, to the whole country. There is already approximately $50,000,000 invested in this government enterprise and many millions more will be invested out of the receipts from the disposal of public lands.

"It is my intention to make no change in the service except in so far as necessary to keep within the law and make the greatest measure of progress at the least possible expense.

"The executive departments of the government will recommend to the next

Toppenish Commercial Club Wants Department to Drain Reservation Lands.

A committee composed of Z. Y. Coleman, H. M. Gilbert and C. J. Atwood, appointed by the Toppenish Commercial club, has obtained many signatures to a petition to the Hon. R. A. Ballinger urging that measures be taken to stop the waste and loss, by seepage, of valuable land on the reservation, and also asking for the continuation of the work of the reclamation service on the reservation. The matter is one of great importance to North Yakima people, as well as those of Toppenish, and it is probably that the Commercial club here will give the subject some attention at once. The petition is as follows:

Indian Department Indifferent

Hon. Richard Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C., Dear Sir: Viewing with alarm the apparent indifference of the Indian department to the swamping of a large portion of the Yakima Indian reservation, we, the undersigned representative citizens of the Yakima valley, holding or residing on the Yakima Indian reservation, do represent.

1st—According to the reports of competent engineers, after making an exhaustive survey, approximately 50,000 acres of the Yakima Indian reservation is already swamped and needing drainage.

2nd—This seepage area is increasing rapidly every year. Engineers' estimates are that 3000 acres additional are being swamped yearly. It is a matter of common knowledge that a large number of allotments, which were splendid sagebrush land only a few years ago, are now swamped, showing alkali and salt grass, and rendered of little value.

3rd—Failure to drain these large areas at once stop further swamping of splendid lands means a terrific loss to the Indians and to the whites who have purchased the inherited lands.

4th—We represent that thousands of acres of high-class sagebrush lands belonging to the Indian allottees, largely in excess of any amount the Indians could use in irrigated farming for the making of homes, is lying in its desert condition, of no possible benefit to the Indians, entirely unavailable for the making of homes.

5th—We respectfully urge that measures be taken to stop the waste, by seepage, of thousands of acres of lands, worth, if cared for, $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

6th—We urge that the work of the reclamation service, which we believe has already expended not less than $30,000 in surveys on the reservation, be continued to some practical benefit and not abandoned. Years of delay will necessitate an entire change of plans, rendering the work already done of little value.

In the name of the Indians who were faithfully promised by Secretary Hitchcock, when the Yakima water rights were adjusted, that "their lands would be among the first to be watered," in the name of hundreds of allottees who are living in penury and want while their lands are being ruined by seepage and an uncontrolled distribution of water in some places and water in others; in the name of thousands of American citizens who would be glad to make the 150,000 acres of the Wapato project worth $30,000,000 and at the same time help the Indians to have homes of their own, equipped with modern conveniences, stock, machinery and home comforts, we earnestly petition:

A—that you direct the Indian department to proceed in a practical and effective manner secure the consent of the Indians to water their land so that the reclamation service may continue its work. We respectfully suggest that the Indians' consent can be easily obtained if the Indians are given the assurance, which they are certainly entitled to, that they may use their money for building homes, buying stock, furniture, seeds and home comforts, instead of insisting to them that their own money from the sale of their own lands (as they look at it) shall be turned over to the banks at 2 per cent interest, and they be given the pitiable allowance of $10 per month.

Put Indians on Own Resources B—If it is determined that giving the Indians their own money to spend under government supervision, in building their own homes, etc., as above mentioned, will cause too much trouble and labor for the Indian department, or be attended with legal difficulties, it would be better to follow the advice of former Commissioner Leupp and give such Indians as do not want to take advantage of the Jones bill patents in fee simple, and treat the allotted Indians, as they really are, American citizens. Rather than have the Indian a dissatisfied and grumbling dependent, it would be better to throw him upon his own resources and let him grow instead of becoming more and more dependent and dissatisfied.

We respectfully request your investigation, verification and action in this matter.

200,000 Applications for Homesteads in Reservations to Be Opened.

Spokane, July 14.—Twenty-five thousand men and women are expected to file applications before sunset tomorrow night for lands in the Coeur d'Alene, Spokane and Flathead Indian reservations. The notaries will begin receiving application at midnight tonight. James W. Fitten, in charge of the opening, estimates that before the time of filing closes there will be 200,000 applications for the three propositions. It is believed one applicant in 15 will secure a homestead worth taking up.

Olympia, July 14.—(Special to the Republic.)—The attorney general in his rulings on the new peddle law to the prosecuting attorneys of Adams and Whatcom counties says farm machinery and all personal property sales are covered by the law, but that selling by samples for future delivery is not subject to the act.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Mortland Manufacturing Co held last Monday, all of the old officers and directors were re-elected to office.

The officers are T. G. Mortland, president; I. H. Dills, vice president, S. G. Mortland, secretary and treasurer. The directors are M. N. Richards, I. H. Dills, S. G. Mortland and E. Mortland.

The company will install machinery in their factory as soon as the Northern Pacific completes the spur to the company's plant. Everything will be completed and ready for business by the time the fruit is ready this fall. The company manufactures a full line of cider, vinegar and jellies, also grape juice. This is an excellent location for a plant of this kind and the prospects for a good business for the company are very bright.

Wiley, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Fletcher, of this city, received a bad fall last Sunday, resulting in a broken collar bone and a dislocated shoulder. Wiley, with his little sister, was coasting down the inclined platform used by the excavators on the Barnes-Woodin site, in their little automobile wagon, when on one of the trips Wiley fell through the hole in the top of the platform to the ground, a distance of 10 feet. The little girl was unhurt.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred Address: F. J. ### CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT LET

G. T. Aumiller to Build North Yakima & Valley Into Moxee-Work to be Pushed This Summer and Fall.

George Donald, president of the North Yakima & Valley, let the contract a few days ago to G. T. Aumiller for the construction of 12 miles of the new road extending from North Yakima to a point in the French settlement in the Moxee. It is understood that work on the line is to begin at once and pushed to completion by the end of the year. However, there may be some delay at certain points along the new line due to a clause in the right of way deeds, which conceded to the farmers the right to harvest growing crops this year from the land purchased of them by the company.

The steel bridge which is to span the Yakima will be built, of course, by special contract. This contract has not yet been let but will be soon and the work on it will be rushed during the low water season.

Ditter Bros. new townsite of Moxee City has been platted and lots will be offered for sale, it is understood, as soon as construction work on the road has fairly commenced.

ROBBED IN Y. M. C. A. ROOMS.

H. C. Underhill Loses $25 and His Room Mate at Same Time.

H. C. Underhill, formerly of this city, who roomed at the Y. M. C. A. until the first of the week, was robbed early Monday morning of nearly $25 and on the same morning a young man from the east who had been rooming with him came up missing and has not been seen since.

This young man came into North Yakima scarcely two weeks ago and had been a regular attendant at church functions in this city. His disappearance is causing much comment among those who had become his acquaintances and while it is said that Underhill has reason to believe that the young man is perfectly honest, his action creates no small amount of suspicion. They both retired at the usual hour and when Underhill awakened in the morning his room mate was missing.

It was not the custom of the young man to get up early and Underhill was suspicious that something was wrong. His possessions were missing and an examination showed that nearly $25 had been taken from Underhill's pockets.

The theft has not been reported to the police but it will be in case the missing man is located.

Underhill took up his residence the first of the week at Mabton, where he is working for the Cascade Lumber company.

Great Scott Mine Sold

The Great Scott copper property just across the line in King county from Fish Lake, and not far from the Lynch mines, is reported as having been sold to an Eastern syndicate represented by Roy Berry of Cle Elum. The purchase price is said to be $30,000. The property was owned by a corporation but all the stock was practically held by Robert Young the mining engineer of Tacoma and C. O. Swain of this city.

The Great Scott is reported as being a very fine copper property from the showing so far made, but it will take considerable money to develop it.

Mr. Berry is also said to be negotiating for the quick silver properties in the Cle Elum district under one management.—Roslyn Miner.

New Warehouse for Selah

Attorney George F. McAnlay and Arthur Vail, both of whom own fruit ranches in the Selah, are engaged in promoting a warehouse and cold storage warehouse proposition to be erected at Selah station for the benefit of the surrounding farmers. They plan the building of a warehouse 50x150 feet and will add the cold storage feature if the matter can be reached. The people up that way feel that another warehouse at Selah in which to store their increasing products is a necessity.

NEW PLAN PROPOSED

Tieton Land Owners Have a Scheme to get Water on Unit by Next Spring.

If the land owners under unit No. 1 of the Tieton canal approve of the new plan to be submitted to them at a meeting to be held in the court house next Saturday, July 24, water will flow through the sub-laterals in unit No. 1 next spring.

The supporters of this new plan, which meets with the approval of the department of the interior, believe that it will be accepted generally. The plan which succeeds the old certificate plan, which had to be abandoned because of its irregularities, is called the book credit plan, under which the owners furnish the money and labor for continuance of the project under the supervision of the department and receive credit for the same when the payments for water used falls due.

Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is now in Seattle and the promoters of the scheme will take the matter up with him direct.

Hungry for Land.

Hundreds of people have been traveling east over the Northern Pacific this week, it is said, for Spokane, Coeur d'Alene and Missoula to file their applications for the drawing to be held in each of those cities for the land that the government will throw open in the Spokane, Coeur d'Alene and Flathead Indian reservations. It is a big lottery and all going want to take a chance on it, each one believing no doubt that he or she will be among the few lucky ones.

People who are familiar with the land on the three reservations named as a rule are not enthusiastic over its value. The best land, of course, has been allotted to the Indians for years. The rush for what is left, one man calculates, will give the average land seeker who files one chance in one hundred and fifty to get a piece of land of any appreciable value at all that would be worth using a homestead right on. But that fact will make no difference as plenty of people will go up against the game anyway.

The Lyric in New Quarters

The attractions at the Lyric theatre have proved so popular that it was necessary to find more commodious quarters to accommodate the patrons of the theatre.

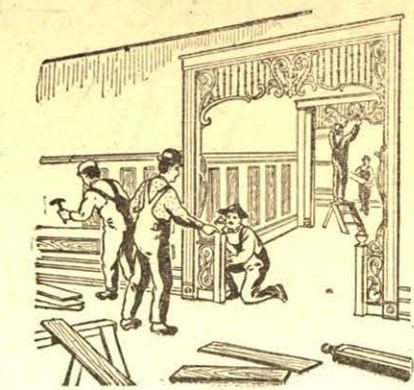

Their new quarters in the Larson building, which has been remodeled and refitted, are amply large to handle the crowds comfortably as those who are fond of the high-class vaudeville presented at the Lyric will be pleased to note.

Eagles to Fly Hither in 1910

The local delegation of Eagles, headed by William Wilson, came home from the state convention of that order at Everett this week with much satisfaction, having captured the convention to be held in July, 1910 for North Yakima.

The local eyrie, which is now occupying its capacious and well appointed new hall on South Second street, is now well situated to entertain a big gathering of that kind.
