The Caxton Printers, Ltd.,
Caldwell, Idaho.

Dear Jim:

I was working on Bert Broad in Yakima when I found your salesman, Frost, was in town. Broad told me he would order 100 copies more and was sure he would clear them by Christmas.

I don't know whether the order was completed or not, but will check on it next week when I am down town, since I understand from brief remarks by Broad that "something went wrong."

That is no concern of mine. I am interested that he is ordering another 100 copies and has the confidence he has in the book.

I am enclosing copies of letters sent to some sources unearthed by a friend of mine, an author. They represent purchasers of a Northwest item, so are considered good prospects, and you may not have contacts with them. I hope that is satisfactory.

I'm still plugging along to get uncovered. Very good letters and reviews are coming in. The reviews are clips etc. sent by friends or "just interested persons" from all over. And as a follow through, some news stories are clearing concerning the removal of the rocks. They will be another shot in the arm!

Sincerely

Cliff Relander
