TO CREATE NEW COUNTY.

Mass Meeting at Prosser Wednesday Establishes Boundaries of Proposed County—Line Comes Within Two Miles of Zillah.

As per announcement a mass meeting of citizens of the proposed new county of Riverside was held at Prosser Wednesday of this week, a full and concise report of which is herewith presented. The DEMOCRAT, by the way, is the only North Yakima paper that was represented at the convention.

The meeting was called to order in Rich's hall about 2:30 p. m. by the Hon. Nelson Rich, who stated briefly the object of the gathering. For temporary chairman Joseph Lannin of Sunnyside was proposed and unanimously elected. I. E. Moore, an attorney of Prosser, was selected for temporary secretary. The chairman thanked the convention for the honor conferred and promised to be fair to all interests, and he certainly was.

Nelson Rich, of Prosser, secured the floor, and stated that the most vital question to consider was that of the boundaries of the proposed county. He then moved that a committee of six be appointed on boundaries, one each from the following precincts: Prosser, Mabton, Sunnyside, Kiona, Rattlesnake and Red Rock. The motion prevailed, and the following committee was appointed to represent the above precincts as named: Nelson Rich, Geo. Davenport, H. D. Jory, Harry Van Horn, F. Sampson and Wm. Fox.

A recess of 30 minutes was then declared by the chairman, in order to give the committee time to report. The committee, however, took two hours in which to report.

The day was exceedingly sultry, and the committee sweat and boiled in the hot little hall. Five of them were for adopting as a boundary the line made two years ago when the division bill was before the legislature, but Jory of Sunnyside was firmest that arrangement, as such a line would cut his precinct squarely in two and forever "queer" the town of Sunnyside in its fight for the county seat. Jory was at all times ably supported by the delegates from his precinct, who came to the convention knowing just what they wanted.

Finally the chairman rapped for order and instructed the secretary to read the committee's report on the proposed boundaries of the new county, as follows:

"Beginning at a point at the intersection of the middle of the main channel of the Columbia river with the township line which divides ranges 21 and 22. Thence running north to where the said township line intersects the first standard parallel; thence west along said first standard parallel to where it intersects the township line dividing ranges 20 and 21; thence north to Pine Creek; thence up Pine Creek to parallel 19; thence north to N. W. corner of township 6, range 20; thence east to the N. E. corner of said township; thence north 12 miles; thence east 2 miles; thence north 18 miles to the N. W. corner of Sec. 6, T. 11, R. 21; thence east on township line to the N. E. corner of Sec. 1, T. 11, R. 23; thence north to the Columbia river; thence down Columbia river to place of beginning."

E. W. R. Taylor of Prosser and O. S. Flower of Mabton and others addressed the meeting in opposition to the report, favoring division on the lines presented two years ago. Jory defended the report, saying that it was not drawn to please the people of North Yakima but to suit the people of the proposed new county.

On motion the report of the committee was adopted by a rising vote of the convention, about four-fifths of those present voting in the affirmative. A number of those opposed to the report, however, announced that they were heartily in favor of division but objected to carrying the line so far west. Subsequent to the vote being taken, W. H. Brownlow read several letters to the convention from prominent farmers in eastern Klickitat county which indicated that the writers are heartily in favor of the movement to carve out a new county. After taking a vote to ratify the minutes of the secretary the meeting adjourned.

After adjournment a number of the Prosser delegates admitted that they had been completely outgeneraled by the Sunnyside contingent. A few, in fact, felt quite angry over the outcome, notably Nelson Rich, who declared that it was madness to go so far up the river with the boundary line, as he believed that the people of the upper end would bitterly fight such a division.

The Sunnyside delegation, which consisted of Messrs. Lannin, Jory, George, Henderson, Kunz, Wende, McCoy, Caferty and Hitchcock, was well organized and came to the meeting to get what they wanted. The members announced that they were heartily in favor of division, but they wanted no division that would rule their town out when the time came to contest for the county seat. Neither did they propose to be left on the very edge of any county, they said.

On the whole the meeting was fairly harmonious. After adjournment it was agreed between the representatives of the two rival towns to work together to first bring about the division and leave the county seat fight to be settled later by a vote of the people. The DEMOCRAT scribe, who was the only North Yakima man present, was joshed a good deal when he remonstrated at the seeming unfairness of the proposed division, which he claimed left only a "hobtailed" county. The usual reply was that "it you fellows up there kick too hard, we'll change it, but we'll cut you off at the gap next time."

The number of people present at no time numbered over 100. The small attendance was explained by the originators of the movement on the ground that the wheat farmers of the Horse Heaven and Rattlesnake districts were too busy to attend. There was evidently some mistake too, regarding the hour the meeting was to be held, as a number of farmers who desired to attend did not arrive at the embryo county seat until the same was over.

Fair Plaintiff Wants Damages.

A suit for damages, it is said, is about to be commenced in the superior court here which is quite sensational in its nature. It is the case of Hattie Morgan, better known as Mrs. Henry B. Stone, versus Thomas Lund, the well known saloon man of this city.

The plaintiff alleges in her complaint that the defendant proposed matrimony several months ago, which was accepted by her. Miss Morgan claims that the proposal was made in writing, and that she subsequently received a communication from Mr. Lund withdrawing his proposal.

The complaint states that the marriage was to have been celebrated in April and was then postponed until June. In expectation of the event Miss Morgan alleges that she disposed of her lodging house business at Seattle at a loss, and was also put to the expense of a journey to California. She asks for the sum of $10,000 as damages to her wounded feelings.

Mr. Lund declines to talk about the matter. His attorney in the case is H. J. Snively. Whitson & Parker represent the plaintiff.

Might Have Been Worse.

As the Misses Flora and Carrie Morgan of Nob Hill were driving home from church Sunday evening an accident occurred that nearly cost the young ladies their lives. While near the residence of H. J. Snively, a presumably drunken man on horseback came galloping up behind them, scaring their horse and causing him to run away. The buggy meeting an obstruction was overturned, the occupants being thrown out with such great violence as to render them both insensible for a time. They finally reached home through the aid of friendly neighbors. They received some scratches and bruises, which fortunately are not of a serious nature. The runaway horse was found next day at Yakima City.

Married Her Brother.

Because she learned three months after her marriage that her husband was her half brother, Mrs. Maggie Wagner, bride of Fred Wagner, a wealthy young farmer living at Russellville, swallowed carbolic acid and expired in great agony in her husband's arms, with his name upon her lips. The suicide and revelation of its cause has shocked the community as nothing has ever done in its history. The young couple were devoted to each other. Their meeting was an accident, their courtship brief and their honeymoon ideal. Recently the bride discovered from incidents related by her husband of his childhood that he was her mother's son, her own half brother, whom she had not seen for twenty years, and whom she believed to be dead. She did not reveal her discovery to her husband, but after two or three weeks of brooding decided to end her life as the only way to end her mental anguish.—Lanark (Ills.) Gazette.

Electric Watch.

An invention which is likely to revolutionize the watchmaking industry has been perfected by a Swiss watchmaker named David Perret of Marin, near Neuchatel. It is a watch which goes by electricity. It was severely tested by experts, and it was found that it gained only seven-tenths of a second in five weeks. The expert at the observatory at Neuchatel declares the watch to be equal in precision to an expensive chronometer. The watch resembles an ordinary gentleman's lever, and goes for fifteen years without being rewound.

Price of Land Advanced.

Supt. Granger of the Washington Irrigation company states that the price of all the company's lands will be advanced $10 per acre Sept. 1st. Those contemplating the purchase of lands in that favored section would therefore do well to lose no further time. Mr. Granger reports that the company's July land sales were phenomenally large in comparison with the sales for the same month during previous years.

In the early hours of Monday morning Officer Richardson ran across a man in a front street restaurant who was a fac simile of Tracy, the outlaw, and the individual carried the resemblance so far that when the policeman went to nab him, and incidentally the $7,500 reward, the suspect disappeared like a phantom. This, taken in connection with a badly worn pair of shoes hung out in front of the "Big 4" barber shop with the written statement attached that they had been discarded by Tracy, occasioned numerous rumors that the desperado was paying Yakima a long anticipated visit.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

OUR Washington correspondent informs us that not only has the president announced his intention of taking the stump for the republican party this fall, but that he has made a request, equal to a command, to all the members of his cabinet to do likewise. As a result all have assented, though presumably unwillingly, except Hitchcock and Payne of the interior and postoffice departments, respectively. Those two worthies, it is said, put up the plea to their strenuous chief that they were naturally diffident and inexperienced in the matter of appearing before the public and therefore wished to be excused.

If this statement is true, and it most probably is, the incident is distinctly in line with the Roosevelt record and way of doing things. It remains to be seen how well the American people will take to these freakish notions of their chief executive. Roosevelt by going out and taking an active part as a stump speaker in the campaign and virtually forcing his cabinet officers to follow his example, will violate the ethics and all precedents in his high office. While "Teddy" may have unbounded faith in his winning personality and great destiny he is yet likely to discover that a majority of the intelligent people to whom he will talk don't like to see the dignity of the presidential office cheapened in such a way.

The leaders of his own party are averse to the proposed junket of the president because they believe that the inevitable effect will be to stir up discord and resentment within the party ranks. Stung at his defeat in failing to pass through congress his reciprocity lobby, "Teddy" immediately conceived the idea of invading the districts of refractory members and by attempting to arouse public sentiment, thus force the beet sugar congressmen and senators into line for his policy. This is the milk in the coconut.

WALTER WELLMAN, the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, says: "Without doubt President Roosevelt's sincerity in his anti-trust crusade will be largely judged by two facts: Is he willing to bring the existing law to bear against such monopolistic combinations as the anthracite and tobacco trusts, which do not depend upon the tariff? Is he willing to urge reduction of custom duties so that combinations like the steel trust, the glass trust and leather trust may have their unnecessarily high prices regulated by the danger of foreign competition?" Mr. Wellman might have added, "Is he willing to bring criminal proceedings against the wealthy violators of the anti-trust law as the less influential violators are held?" If, however, Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity in his anti-trust crusade will be judged by these facts, intelligent men will not have great confidence in the Roosevelt anti-trust crusade. He has, so far, shown his unwillingness to bring the existing law to bear against trusts generally. He has failed to enforce the criminal section of the anti-trust law, and, although congress was in session for seven months, Mr. Roosevelt never suggested to congress that it would be well to reduce the customs duties so that combinations may have their unnecessarily high prices regulated by the danger of foreign competition."—The Commoner.

SOME of the people living on what is known as the "west side" in this city, have a just grievance. This is due to the overflow of water from certain irrigating ditches which cross that part of town. At this season of the year they claim, that the owners of such ditches are overtaxing the capacity of the streams by turning on a larger head of water than the ditches are capable of carrying, with the result that adjacent lands are being flooded, the surplus of water forming stagnant pools in the low places, thus working not only material damage to property but inviting an epidemic of malaria in the neighborhood. If this is the condition of things the city government is justified in taking stern measures, if necessary, to abate the nuisance; public sentiment ought to uphold the council in doing so. The health of the community should be the first consideration with those in authority. As a matter of justice and equity it would seem as though the owners of the ditches referred to should and could be compelled to remedy the matter, but in case of failure to do so the city government should act at once. To postpone and procrastinate may mean an epidemic.

The report of the celebrated harmony banquet recently given in New York, states that the would-be reorganizers and leaders of the democratic party regaled themselves with a sumptuous feast in the banquet hall, while coffee and sandwiches were served to the rank and file in the basement. This well illustrates the policy of the would-be reorganizers. They want to run the party and keep the rank and file in the basement, like servants. It would have been far more fitting for the rank and file to have occupied the banquet hall, while Cleveland, Hill and their friends, who have been voting with the republicans, sat outside, clothed in sackcloth and ashes and crying "Unclean! Unclean!"—Colfax Commoner.

We note that our contemporary, the Herald, is again advocating the cause of socialism—not openly, as it observes, but through the sale of certain space. This is a good enough deal so far as the socialists are concerned, as they can probably make more converts by doing their own talking with type. Such an arrangement, however, places our contemporary in a rather peculiar position towards the public.

Isn't it about time the democratic central committee of this county was beginning to exhibit some sign of life? A campaign is fast approaching, and the committee, if there be one, is still in a comatose condition.

DURING the last session of congress, Representative Kern of Illinois introduced a bill which provided that every blind person in the United States should receive a pension of $50 per month. He should have included imbeciles and thus provided a safe income for the balance of his life.—Enumclaw Courier.

"UNCLE" JOE LANNIN, who presided over the deliberations of the Prosser mass-convention Wednesday with dignity and ability, boasts that he has voted for every republican candidate for the presidency from Fremont down the line. And yet Col. Boyle, formerly of Texas, would refer to this fine old gentleman as a "rank secessionist."

SUNNYSIDE out-generated Prosser in the preliminary bout pulled off at the latter town this week. The smooth-voiced Jory, of legislative fame, kept the committee on boundaries stewing for several hours, until a surrender was made as the result of sheer weariness. Yes, it is a fact that Jory has the staying qualities and that Sunnyside knows what she wants.

SUNNYSIDE sees Prosser in the matter of county division and goes that town several miles better. If those two urchins ever get off in country by themselves, what a pretty fight they will make, to be sure, when they undertake to settle the question as to which is to be the real thing. In the interest of public peace, it may be necessary for "Mother Yakima" to continue to keep her wayward darlings under her protecting wing for some time yet to come.

MISS REBECCA TAYLOR, who as a clerk of the war department was discharged for publicly criticizing the administration for its imperialistic proclivities, has brought suit against Secretary Root to compel him to reinstate her. Accordingly that official has been summoned to appear before the civil service commission and show cause why he should not do so.

While there may be a point of etiquette involved in the case that may have been violated by Miss Taylor, it does not appear that she should have lost her position thereby. Her criticism was not of a personal but of a general character, directed at the policy of the government. She may have earned a reprimand, but to summarily discharge her for such a reason puts the parties responsible for it in a rather contemptible position.

Praise for Turner.

We fully concur with the Statesman in its estimate of Senator Turner, says the Portland Dispatch. We regard him as the ablest man in the senate from the coast, and a man with his abilities and sincerity of purpose is bound to carry influence, even though he is in the minority. The people of Washington will make a serious mistake if they retire Senator Turner for any man in that state of whom we have any knowledge. He ranks head and shoulders above them in all qualifications that make a senator. He has few equals in the senate and no superiors.

An Analysis of Facts.

The democratic reorganizers are continually referring to the party's defeats since 1896. Their wails are getting wearisome, and the facts may as well be shown. The reorganizers claim that the democratic defeats of 1896 and 1900 were due to the Chicago platform and the nomination of Bryan. How short are their memories! Every political observer who recalls the dark days of 1894, 1895 and 1896, before the Chicago platform was formulated or Bryan thought of as a candidate, knows that the democratic party was doomed to disaster by Cleveland's administration and leadership. Never mind the blame; we are speaking of the fact. Cleveland had been elected president in 1892 with a democratic congress at his back. In the lower house there were 219 democrats, making a clear majority of 41. Two years later this democratic majority was swept away. Only 93 democrats were elected, and the republicans controlled the new house by a clear majority of 74.—Commoner.

This County Stands Alone.

Now that Spokane county has joined the majority of counties in eastern Washington in indorsing Governor McBride's attitude on the railroad question, it begins to look as if our Levi and the railroad lobby would be left without any support on this side of the Cascades except that of Walla Walla county. A prominent republican from Columbia county informed the Statesman yesterday that it is doubtful whether the republicans of that county can be kept from following the McBride standard, and in case their platform does not declare against the railway lobby and for a commission, the county will give a democratic majority of not less than three hundred. The present indications are certainly very discouraging to the Levites. The farmers of eastern Washington are not so blind as to vote against their interests by giving their approval to the Ankeny alliance with the railroad corporations to maintain excessive freight rates, and the result will be that Walla Walla county will stand alone in the support of its millionaire candidate for the United States senate. In that case it is doubtful whether the Ankeny candidacy can be kept alive during the campaign—not even for leg-pulling purposes.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Great success is the evolution of little failures.

A man never loves with his reason and a woman never reasons with her love.

After a man has learned to be managed by his wife, he is in a fair way to make a good husband.

The time a woman begins to worry for fear her husband might get ill, is when he is absolutely sound and well.

A woman never gets so old that she will not sneer at the false teeth worn by another, if she feels sure her own won't fall out.

From the Talmud.

A lie has not a leg to stand upon.

Actions speak louder than words.

Good deeds are better than creeds.

Avoid anger and thou wilt not sin.

It is sinful to hate, but noble to pardon.

Adversity is the true school of the mind.

A true wife makes the home a holy place.

Do not isolate thyself from the community and its interests.

He who seeks a faultless brother will have to remain brotherless.

The consciousness of God's presence is the first principle of religion.

Be in the habit of receiving every man with a pleasant countenance.

The noblest of all charities is in enabling the poor to earn a livelihood.

Odds and Ends.

The following advertisement is taken from the Dublin Evening Mail:

"Notice—If Dennis O'Brien, who is supposed to be in Chicago, will communicate with his friends at home, he will hear of something to his advantage; his wife is dead."

A Chinaman who had ordered a suit of clothes from an American tailor brought them back with the remark: "Me no likee!" "Why?" questioned the gentleman of the cloth. "Me no sabe; muchee tight alle samee," was the response. "Too tight?" he was asked. "Yes, to tight. No good for washee; no good for smokee; no sit down allee timee. Tight too muchee; make sweatee like hellee. You fixee.—The Tailor and Cutter.

The month of February, 1886, was in one respect the most remarkable in the world's history. It had no full moon. January had two full moons and so had March, but February had none. Do you realize what a rare thing in nature it was? It had not occurred since the creation of the world, and will not occur again, according to the computation of astronomers, for 2,000,000 years.—Deepwater (Mo.) World.

They say that Brother Dick Richards, the popular trainmaster of the N. P. railway, is, when he wants to be, somewhat of a poet; but anyway the following is pretty fair. An expired pass came in, and this is what was written on the back:

"Bless my stars, no more on the cars
As a dead-head I'll ride on the rail,
Unless Mr. Richards should take my advice,
And send me a pass by mail."

Here is where Dick comes in. He wrote the following across the face of the pass:

"The conductor will pass this bundle of gas
From now till the middle of Lent;
Like any other dead head, without paying a red,
Let him ride to his heart's content."

Dick will soon be appointed Post Laureate of the N. P. Ry.—Tacoma Sun.

EQUINE BALLET.

Ringling Bros. Introduce the Most Brilliant Horse Spectacle Ever Seen.

An equine ballet militant—this is what Ringling Brothers' new horse spectacle has been called, but no mere title can give an adequate conception of the imposing beauty and thrilling magnitude of this great act. One naturally expects to see fine horses in a circus, but these horses are the absolute perfection of breeding and selection. In the equine ballet there are three divisions—the first composed of Barbary horses, black and glossy as shining ebony; the second of purest white Arabians, and the third comprising a troupe of creamy yellow American horses, with silvery mane and white, flaring tail. Each of these horses has a skillful rider, whose costume is in harmony with the gorgeous trappings of the superb animal kept so perfectly under control.

The performance itself is even more kaleidoscopic in its harmony. Fifty trumpeters take their positions on the elevated stages, and as they sound a crashing fanfare, the curtains part and the platoons of black, white and yellow horses appear, directed by their skilled and gorgeously costumed riders—plumes nodding, ribbons flying—all keeping time to the exhilarating music of the trumpeters. To the right, to the left, prouetting, waltzing, marching; now forming noble statues and again circling in swift dance step like whirling streams of rainbow color, they constitute a spectacle so thrilling, so classically harmonious, that the senses seem intoxicated with a new sense of beauty. A striking climax is reached when the entire company of horses advance to the center of the rings, and kneeling, allow their riders to dismount. The horses then simultaneously lie down. A moment later they rise to sitting position, the riders remount, pages and equestrians enter and supply each rider with a garland of flowers, and as the music changes once more, they enter upon a series of graceful figures in which the garlands, used as floral arches, are cleverly utilized to form the most effective and beautiful pictures—the whole culminating in one vast equine tableau vivant—the most gorgeously effective equestrian spectacle that human eyes have ever looked upon. This great production will be seen with hundreds of other great features when Ringling Bros' famous big circus exhibits in North Yakima on Saturday, August 16.

After July 1st the N. P. Ry Co. will sell round trip tickets to Westport for $8.20; to Long Beach $10.20. Good to return until September 30. 40tf by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. ### Assounded the Editor.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor, and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and after four bottles she is entirely well—can eat anything. It is a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure cure. Assessment for 1902.
The county assessor's office Friday footed up the totals of the 1902 tax assessment. The increase in the value of real estate throughout the county certainly makes a most favorable showing as compared with the assessment of 1900. The assessment of personal property shows a falling off as compared with that of last year, owing to the fact that the $300 exemption provision is now in force. The proportion of personal property listed as money in bank or on hand is only $40,150. In consideration of the fact that there is over a million and a quarter of dollars on deposit in the two banks of this city, this sum seems very small.

Following is the amount of the present and last year's assessments:

	1902	1900
Real Property	$6,083,100	$3,861,365
Personal	1,538,255	1,649,350

Special Council Meeting.
Mayor Fechter called a special meeting of the city council for Monday evening to take some action regarding the presence of stagnant water, the result of overflow from the "broad gauge" and Schanno ditches. In addition to the mayor, Councilmen Reed, Keck, Aikins and Wyman were present.

Mayor Fechter, City Engineer Marble and Marshal Grant each in turn addressed the council on the situation each in turn stating the necessity of prompt action being taken to confine the water within the banks of those streams, otherwise an epidemic of sickness among the people living in that part of the city was likely to result from the presence of the stagnant water.

The matter was discussed at great length, all the councilmen agreeing that the owners of the ditches were responsible and should be compelled to put them in proper order or else turn on a less volume of water, such as the ditches mentioned were able to carry. A motion finally prevailing making the mayor a committee of one to interview the ditch directors of the damage being done and induce them, if possible, to immediately take such steps as are necessary to abate the nuisance. A motion also passed for the council to go in a body the following day and inspect the ditches with the view of doing what was necessary to be done on the part of the city. There was no further business presented and the council then adjourned.

The Holloway Trio of high-wire acrobats, who are engaged with Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows this season, were the reigning sensation of London last winter. Their Secret is Out.
All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to know the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittier, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It is all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her, and also cured our little grand-daughter of a severe attack of whooping cough." It positively cures coughs, colds, lagrippe, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at Quill & Ayres drug store.

HANDLING BIG SERPENTS.
Poisonous Snakes in Demand by Doctors For Experimenting.
"In handling a big snake you must always touch him with a soft, smooth, gliding motion of the hand, making it feel to him as much as possible like the touch of another snake, and, besides, you must be careful to keep his tail out straight. Keep the tail straight, and he can't coil on you. His bite is nothing, for he has no poison, but his coil around your leg or arm or body will crush the bones."

"The poisonous snakes—the water moccasins, rattlesnakes and copperheads—are bought for zoos. Now and then a doctor buys them heavily for awhile. He wants to experiment with their poison. After he has been bitten two or three times he stops buying."

"There are a number of people who buy snakes for pets. These people always, without an exception, make pets also of rats, mice and turtles. Any one fond of snakes is sure to be fond of those other things too. They keep their snakes and turtles and rats as near as possible to them. Often they keep them in their bedrooms. There was a young man who used to come here last year after pine snakes—a university student. That young man would sit with his hand in among the coils of a cageful of snakes for hours. He would take one's head in his hands and lift its face close up to his own and gaze for a long time in its eyes. Then he would hold it off and stroke it and study its changing colors in a kind of trance. I don't know what pleasure or satisfaction he got out of the snakes. He bought over a dozen from me during the year and kept them in his bedroom in a boarding house. They all escaped one night through a rat-hole and got among the neighbors and raised general ballyhoo."—Philadelphia Record.

Chocolate.
In South America the retail price for the better grades of chocolate averages about $1 a pound, while in Italy, France, England and in the United States the better grades sell at a much lower price. In America the ordinary chocolate of trade sells for about one-third of the price that is charged for it where it is produced. The cause of this, the producers say, is that the original product is adulterated greatly before reaching its final market, a cheaper article than the cocoa bean constituting the large proportion of 9 per cent of the chocolates of commerce.

The cocoa bean from which chocolate is manufactured is produced in its first form in Venezuela, though various other parts of Central and South America grow and export large quantities. Two crops of the bean are gathered each year, and the manufacture consists simply in grinding up the beans into a meal and then adding sugar and, if desired, with the necessary flavor, usually vanilla or cinnamon. The mass is moistened until it is in a semifluid state, after which it is run into molds for the proper shape.

Cave Dwellers in Dieppe.
People who only know the gayer side of Dieppe would be surprised to hear of the existence of the cave dwellers here. One is apt to connect such people with the knawed bones and flint implements of prehistoric times. But here they are at Dieppe within a stone's throw of the casino, and they may be seen any day about the town selling their shellfish from the rocks outside their habitations. They have certain marked characteristics, one being a peculiar complexion of their own that can be traced largely to a disinclination on the part of the cave dweller to avail himself of the water that washes so close to his door. Their language also is peculiar, but whether it really belongs to the stone age no one seems to have discovered. They have to hold a license from the municipality, though, which savors of no age but the present.

—London Chronicle.

England's Old Common Field System.
A "common field" is quite distinct from a "common." It is a field belonging to numerous owners. The land consists of long narrow strips, perhaps not more than ten yards wide and running parallel with one another. What are the exact rules of cultivation that obtain in Kent today we do not know, but of old it was usual to have a regular rotation, such as wheat one year, barley or oats the second and fallow the third. When the crops were harvested, each member of the community getting his or her share, all could put in their cattle, which roamed over the whole field, feeding on the stubble, etc. And this was termed the "right of sack." The "common field" system was gradually done away with by statutes in the reigns of George III and William IV.—London Express.

Time to Go to Work.
A woman was once trying to induce General Sherman to use his influence for her son in order that he might be given a place in the army, for which, however, he had shown no particular fitness. "His father was in the army," said the urgent mother, "and so were his grandfather and his great-grandfather, and it seems as if he ought to follow the line."

"Hm! Three generations in the army," said the general. "Don't you think, madam, that it is about time for one member of the family to work for a living?"

The chemical engine was run out Monday afternoon to suppress a blaze in an old frame building at the extreme northern city limits, formerly owned by E. R. The fire is supposed to have been started by children who had their "play-house" established there.

In Justice MacCrimmon's court last Wednesday several small boys were solemnly tried for breaking glass and otherwise mutilating the school building at Fairview. A number of sorrowful mothers and tearful penitents appeared, and after a prayerful lecture by his honor, with the assessment of damage to buildings and costs, they were allowed to go on their way rejoicing.

When the fire team started out of the engine house last Friday night to answer the alarm turned in from Schreiner's barn, they started on a jump out the small doors and cramped the chemical in such a way that it required some time for Driver Lynch to extricate it. The result was the smashing of glass, breaking of casings and general wrecking of the doors. A new partition has now been added to prevent the occurrence of a similar accident.

The operation, however, was to be delayed until Mr. Sinclair could reach Frisco.
