OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

THE Portland Oregonian is an irascible and eccentric old organ, which many people think has outlived its usefulness—if indeed, it ever had any. The Thunderer, as it is often called, is consistent in nothing, unless it be the diffusion of the money lenders' ideas of finance and its hysterical sympathy with all the attempts being made throughout the world to crush out the spirit of liberty. The coarse abuse and vituperation that its editor has hurled at the heads of the leading public men of this country would keep him in durance vile the balance of his lifetime, if this country was as imperialistic in its form of government as Mr. Scott would like to make it. Mr. President McKinley is too much of an imperialist to suit a great many of us, yet he is railed at by this Portland scold for being a namby-pamby, milk and water weakling, who seldom knows his own mind. Is it any wonder that the Oregonian and its faction is persona non grata at the white house? Not content with dictating the policy of its own party, the Oregonian endeavors to rule the opposition and never wearies, seemingly, in misrepresenting it. Mugwump and goldite papers, like the New York Times and Brooklyn Eagle are constantly quoted, approvingly, as advocating democratic doctrine, when every intelligent schoolboy knows that democracy repudiates such organs and denies their right to speak for it. Editor Scott, in fact, was born too late in the world's history. He should have lived either in the age of Cromwell or of Napoleon, for he is a retrogressionist. His ideas of suitable liberty and prosperity for the masses is what may reach them after being sifted through the classes. Colonel Bryan sized him up properly while in Portland a few years ago, when he said: "Scott sits in his marble palace and preaches the gospel of despair and shuts the gates of mercy to mankind."

REPUBLICAN organs and politicians profess to feel highly elated and satisfied over the result of the late elections. This is particularly the case with that class of republicans who are bound up with the fortunes of the administration and are feeding at the public crib, over the result in the president's own state. Realizing that an adverse verdict in Ohio at this time would have sounded the death knell of pious William's hopes for a re-election, they jubilate over a victory that is in no sense an endorsement of the policies of the president at all, but is rather to be construed as a verdict of condemnation, not only for the administration, but for Mark Hanna, the official head of the party, as well. Jones, the "golden rule" candidate for governor, it must be borne in mind, in his canvass bitterly attacked the administration for its imperialistic tendencies and policy and stated in his public addresses that every vote cast for him would be a protest against imperialism. Jones not only carried his home city, but Markana's town of Cleveland as well, which used to be regarded as the Gibraltar of republicanism in that state. When the vote of Jones is added to that received by McLean—which is a legitimate thing to do in arriving at a conclusion of the verdict of the people on the main issue of imperialism—it shows that the g. o. p. candidate received more than 50,000 votes less than a majority in a state that is usually reckoned to be republican by about the same number. If the president and his followers regard such a verdict as expressing the satisfaction of the American people over the shameful treaty with the Sultan of Sulu, they will all probably discover their mistake within the next year. In all other states where state elections were held, except possibly in Iowa and Dakota, the republican vote shows a heavy shrinkage, indicating that many republicans have revolted against the program of so-called expansion. By the defeat suffered in Maryland and Kentucky—two doubtful states—and the loss of Nebraska by a greater plurality than ever before, the Mc-Hanna party has distinctly lost ground since 1896. The featherweight organ grinders of the g. o. p., however, are still shouting that the administration has been grandly vindicated; but the wiser ones among them know better, so they continue to saw wood and say nothing.

DIRECT legislation is a question that is destined to claim the serious attention of the American people, for the reason that the producing classes will sooner or later be forced to adopt it as the only known means, short of revolution, that will save them from the evils inflicted upon them by a representative form of government. A good many ill-informed people are in the habit of sneering at direct legislation as a wild and cranky theory hatched from the fertile, but fevered brain of modern populism. No greater mistake could be made, for direct legislation is as old as democracy itself in this country. It is a principle that Thomas Jefferson and his coadjutors labored for earnestly, though only in part successfully, at the time of the shaping of the federal constitution. The father of democracy always placed his trust in the people, while the brilliant Hamilton and his party distrusted the populace and clung tenaciously to kingly forms, which they succeeded to a great extent in incorporating into the organic law of the nation. It is the pernicious fruit of the Hamiltonian system that now ails the body politic. It was that wrongful system that saddled upon the people such unnecessary and outrageous obstacles to the popular will as an electoral college, election of senators by state legislatures, the veto power of the executive and the autocratic powers of the judiciary. It is this brood of evils and others of a kindred nature, all of which are incompatible with the spirit of a truly republican form of government, that has brought about so much corruption in our national life and bids fair in time, unless checked in its baleful influence by the adoption of direct legislation, to undermine the pillars of popular government and plunge the nation into one of two extremes—monarchy or socialism.

GOV. Richards, of Wyoming, has issued a request to all western governors to assemble at Salt Lake City on December 14 to formulate plans of legislation to be submitted to congress, looking to the leasing of the grazing lands of the west to stockmen and ranchers, the rentals to be devoted to building irrigation works for the reclamation of lands susceptible of cultivation. This is a matter in which central and eastern Washington has a vital interest and it is to be hoped that the governor of this state will see fit to attend the meeting. It seems possible that a great deal might be done in this way to aid in the development of the arid region of the west.

THE war of conquest that is being pursued in the Philippines is not to be deplored so much for the loss of treasure—although the estimated cost of one million dollars per day in carrying it on is no trifling matter—as for the good American blood that is being shed. While the casualties are of course very few, as compared with past wars, it is yet too many for the object to be gained by such a sacrifice. All the boasted wealth of the orient would not recompense the bereaved widow of General John A. Logan for the loss of her only son, and the sorrow is fully as great in many other homes from whence fond sons have gone forth and will never return.

THE DEMOCRAT returns its thanks to Editor Teck of the Whatcom Blade for a copy of his handsome little book of poems entitled, "Under Western Skies." Mr. Teck's literary work, whether in verse or in prose is always exceedingly interesting for the reason that it bears the stamp of originality as well as genius. The Blade is one of the best edited weekly papers in the state and is generally on the right side of all public questions. Here is to the poet laureate of the State Press association,

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Prater of Skagway, arrived the first of the week for a visit with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stephenson and family.

Gray Wilgus, a member of Company E, returned to San Francisco Tuesday morning after a pleasant visit with his relatives here. He returns to the coast metropolis for the purpose of studying dentistry.

Adjutant F. T. Briggs who lately returned from Manila, was this week appointed station agent at Spangle in the Palouse country, near which place a number of his relatives reside. His many friends in this city, while they regret the necessity of his leaving Yakima, rejoice that he has received so good an appointment.

Miss Iva Devoir of Natches valley, was the guest of honor at a social gathering on Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. J. G. Smith. Miss Devoir, accompanied by Miss Lottie Smith, took leave of her many friends and departed on the mid-night train for Walla Walla to become a student in the Adventist college.

O. C. Narvestad of Seattle arrived Monday night on one of his regular trips to look after the extensive interests in this city of the Washington National Building Loan and Investment Association. This is regarded as the oldest and one of the most reliable institutions of its kind on the coast and has over 60 paying stock holders in this city.

Joel Shomaker returned the first of the week from a trip to Lewiston, which place he describes as a very thriving burg. While there he met several former residents of this city, among whom he mentioned Messrs Libby, Leeper, Moore and Shellhammer. The latter gentleman since leaving here has been joined in matrimony to Mrs. Shearer, also formerly of this place. Judge Shellhammer and Mr. Leeper are now both prosperous real estate dealers in Lewiston.

Miss Myra Howlett is visiting friends in Seattle.

Attorney Whitson spent most of the week in Walla Walla on legal business.

Fred C. Mathewson, who was formerly forest ranger at this point, but who is now stationed at Shelton, this state, arrived on Tuesday for a visit with his Yakima friends.

S. J. Cameron returned home the first of the week from Pendleton, Ore., where he purchased 3000 head of sheep, which are now on their way here. Mrs. Cameron returned on Saturday from her visit to Portland.

Henry Ditter is entertaining his nephew and niece, Leo and Rose Steffus of Mount Calvary, Wis., who arrived here on Saturday. Mr. Steffus has come to the coast to seek health and recreation and is highly pleased with Yakima.

Horace Leach, a son of J. A. Leach, arrived in this city on Friday evening and spent a week visiting relatives and renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Leach is interested in some good mining property in the Atlin country, and will return there next month. An evidence of his prosperous condition is made apparent by the display of a quality of good sized nuggets which he has given to friends in Yakima.

Thomas Pearson, a brother of A. B. Pearson, the popular groceryman of first street, visited with the latter gentleman and family the first part of the week. The young man after having spent two years in the gold fields of the Yukon, was on his way back to the old home in Michigan where he will spend the winter. He was quite successful at Cape Nome, which he considers the greatest camp on earth and will return there in the spring.

A complete new line of embroidery silks and stamp linen at J. J. McDONALD'S, old P. O. building.

Henry L. Staples of Loomis, Wash., was registered at the Bartholet on Wednesday.

Orren Piper who has been in this locality for the past ten months straightening up the affairs of his brother, the late Gus Piper, departed on Friday night for his home at Johnson, Neb. Mr. Piper is well pleased with Washington and after closing up his business affairs in Nebraska and Oklahoma, will probably return to this state and become a permanent resident.

The Portland Oregonian of recent date reports that a sale of hops has recently been made by the association that was recently organized at Woodburn by the growers. The price paid is said to have been 14c. If this be true it shows that much good can be accomplished for the growers by an organization.

Fine Groceries for fine people.

Four reasons why many of our first families go out of their way to trade with Pearson:

Do you know that many of our customers are the wealthiest and most particular in this town? They are the people who have tried other stores but were never fully satisfied until they came here.

WHY?

FIRST—Because we sell "guaranteed groceries." No auction goods; no seconds.

SECOND—Because we give your money back the minute you want it.

THIRD—Because our groceries are fresh and clean and pure. Nothing allowed to become shelf-worn.

FOURTH—Because our prices are lower than any other grocer who sells good groceries.

If you are not fully pleased with your present grocer, give us a trial order. You can go back to him—if you choose.

HEATING GREENHOUSES.

Large Cast Iron Pipes Versus Small Wrought Iron Ones.

The question of large cast iron pipes versus small wrought iron ones for hot water in a small greenhouse has been studied at the Rhode Island station and reported upon as follows:

The piping consisted of equal lengths of 4 inch cast iron pipe and of 1½ inch wrought iron pipe. The large pipes had therefore 2-3 times as much radiating surface as the small ones. The two kinds of pipe were used on alternate days throughout the test, the change from one to the other being made at noon. At each change the water was drawn from the heater and pipes, they were refilled with cold water, and the fire was started anew. The results show that as regards economy of fuel there was no perceptible difference between the two systems. Had the radiating surface in the two cases been equal the results might have been different.

The large pipes were found to cool off very much more slowly than the small ones. In three hours after the fire was drawn the large pipes had cooled down on an average about 70 degrees F., while the small ones had cooled about 100 degrees F. Probably on account of this difference in rapidity of cooling the large pipes maintained the temperature of the house better toward morning, when no care was given to the heating. When the large pipes were used, the average temperature of the house at 6 p. m. was 1.1 degrees F. higher, at 9 p. m. 1.5 degrees F. higher, at 12 p. m. 2 degrees F. higher and at 6 a. m. 3.5 degrees F. higher than when the small pipes were used. This, though important with small houses, is much less so with large ones, where a man may be profitably employed to attend to the heating at night.

A point in favor of the small pipes was the greater rapidity with which they could be heated up. After starting the fire it took nearly three hours to heat the large pipes to their usual temperature and only 1½ hours to heat the small ones. This difference would doubtless have been somewhat less marked if the total length of the small pipes had been increased until their combined radiating surface was equivalent to that of the large pipes, for there would then have been less difference between the quantities of water to be heated in the two cases.

The cost per square foot of radiating surface is not very different in the two cases. As to ease of manipulation, the wrought iron pipes can be readjusted to suit new conditions very much more readily than the cast iron pipes.

Training to Balk.

Many colts are actually taught to balk, kick, scare and many other bad habits that render them almost worthless. This usually results either from carelessness or trying to crowd too much instruction into a little time. Man with all his intelligence requires from two to five years to become skilled in any trade. Some never learn. How can we expect the horse, that is guided only by instinct, to know everything after being hitched half a dozen times? This would be presuming him to have more sense than his driver, and many of them have more horse sense than the driver has of man sense.—National Stockman.

The October purple plum, for which great beauty and excellent quality are claimed, is one of Mr. Luther Burbank's latest productions.

There is no peach in cultivation which will stand a temperature of 30 degrees below zero without artificial protection. Among the hardest peaches are Hill's Chile, Longhurst, Barnard, Early Rivers and Fitzgerald, says John Craig in American Gardening.

HOUSE PLANTS.

Some That Flourish in Winter—A Mistaken Idea About Palms.

It is to the busy, hurried woman, who must look at every expenditure on all sides before indulging in it, who has only a few minutes now and then to give to the care of flowers and who must have plants that are not discouraged by unfavorable conditions, that the following, among other useful items, are offered by Katherine B. Johnson in The Country Gentleman:

Among the more sturdy decorative plants for growing during the winter—some of which thrive under such ill treatment as dust, dry air and want of light—are Kentia belmoreana and Areca lutescens, palms, Dracaena indivisa, Cyperus (umbrella plant), Aspidistra variegata, Begonia feastii and semperflorens rosea, Sansevieria zealotica, Grevilla robusta (silk oak), Otobate orange, ivy geranium and othonna. The two plants last mentioned are of drooping habit and should be grown in a hanging pot, basket or on a bracket.

The erroneous and very general belief that palms would flourish only in a moist atmosphere has been effectually dispelled, and no other class of plants has attained such popularity during the past five years. The two species named, as well as several others, can be grown perfectly in ordinary heat and with very little care. Plant in good fibery loam. Set in a window where there is little or no direct sunlight. Give a regular but not profuse supply of water (more in summer than in winter) and a weekly syringing or spraying of the leaves. Grown in a room with dry furnace heat the leaves should be wetted every day.

The aspidistra and sansevieria may also be successfully grown out of the sunlight, and are beautiful decorative plants. The former has long, broad, shiny leaves, some alternately striped green and pure white, others all green, and occasionally a pure white one. Give strong soil, good drainage and plenty of water.

Sansevieria is a very rare Japanese plant, of which too much cannot be said in praise. It has long, leathery, sword-like leaves, of rich green, striped crosswise with silvery gray, the two colors combining to give a very unique appearance. Few plants will stand neglect so well or better repay good care.

Cyperus alternifolius (umbrella plant) is an easy and exceptionally fast growing plant, and none is more effective for the center of a table or shelf collection or for a fernery.

Begonia feastii is a low, spreading variety that is most effective when grown by itself on a small round table. It has round, leathery leaves of dark green, beautifully lined with red, and clusters of pink blossoms on long, upright stems. Begonia semperflorens rosea is the most abundant winter bloomer and is given a very unique appearance by the buds being dark red and the open flowers carmine pink. It is easily grown and healthy.

Names Wanting.

In names taken from trade, such as Archer, Fisher, Brewster, Glover, etc., to be found in the London Directory, neither Banker, nor Soldier, nor Sailor occurs, but it must be remembered that the first of these names is scarcely as old as the days of the Stuarts, before which time the Goldsmiths "kept running cashes" and acted as "banquiers," for the word is one of modern French importation. Soldier (soldat) also is of foreign and comparatively recent origin. The absence of Sailor is supplied, though very sparingly it must be owned, by Boatman and Boatwright, Shipman and Shipwright. But, then, it is only in comparatively modern times that we became a sea loving people, and that "Britannia" began to "rule the waves."—Gentleman's Magazine.

pastures and feed and good treatment is not adapted to the happy go lucky, roost out on the hillside nights style of sheep keeping of so many American farmers and ranchmen. With the best of care and feed, however, the Lincoln will produce at once the most wool and mutton of any sheep in the world.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Lloyd Purdin last week sold his interest in the Yakima Meat Market to A. J. Chambers, the well known postmaster at Abtanum.

Ditter & Mechtel are closing out their large stock of crockery and queensware at the old stand. Read their fire "ad" in another column.

A. J. Handley, who formerly run the feedyard back of Coffin Bros' store purchased last Saturday the interest of T. J. Manahan in the Yakima Dray Co.

The 21 months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick McDaniel, died on Friday evening after a painful illness, the funeral occurring on the following day.

Garrett Bros., who lost their cosy home on the west side by fire last summer, have just completed a substantial new residence at their brick yard near the power house.

Struben & Clemmer of the O. K. barber shop, this week removed from the basement of the Janeck block to the adjoining basement of the Kershaw building, where they will have more room and have fitted up a most handsome and commodious tonsorial parlor.

J. D. Couey who lives near the Woodcock academy, brought to town on Monday, a full grown female American eagle which he had captured on his place a few days previous. The great bird measured 6 feet 7 inches from tip to tip. It was purchased by H. J. Rand.

Through an oversight we failed to record the death at the Sisters hospital in this city last week of Frank Bennett, who had been ill for sometime from diabetes. The deceased who was a young man of 24, had made his home for several years with W. L. Splawn. Interment was made in the cemetery at Yakima City.

The Commercial club has made representation to the general freight agent of the Northern Pacific Company, concerning the shortage of cars at this point and the consequent embarrassment to shippers and have asked that the matter be rectified. It is said that the company has furnished an abundance of cars at all competitive points throughout the whole season.

Jas. C. Berry, of this city, received news by telegraph Thursday of the death of his mother, Mrs. A. C. Berry at Portland, Ore. Mrs. Berry was well known in Yakima, where she had many friends. She was aged 71 years. The lady's death must have been sudden as her son received a letter from her on Monday in which she expressed herself as being in her usual good health.

Miss Effie Bullock aged 21 years died at the family home in this city on Tuesday, from the effects of typhoid fever. The funeral was quite well attended by sympathetic friends. The family of which the deceased was a member, has been sorely afflicted during the past few weeks. The widowed mother having been buried early in October and another sister and two brothers being still down with the same dread disease.

A genuine surprise was perpetrated on John S. Sandmeyer on Thursday evening of last week, by a number of his friends. The party consisted of about 50 young people under the lead of Mrs. W. H. Thede and Miss Florence Kamper, arrived at the young man's home at 8 p. m., bringing with them all manner of choice edibles and immediately took possession of the premise. The evening was spent pleasantly with games, music and a talk from the young soldier on his experiences in the Philippines. The party broke up about 2 a. m., every one present having thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

The local militia company will hereafter be known as Company C, instead of Company F as heretofore; the change being made by the late re-organization. The Yakima company has been placed in the same battalion with the two companies of Seattle and one now being organized at New Whatcom. Former Captain Perry of Seattle will be major of the battalion and Major Weisenberger of Whatcom has been appointed by Governor Rogers as Colonel of the regiment.

The losses of the fire sufferers of last week, or rather those who carried insurance, have been finally adjusted. J. Schwartz of the Lion store is reported to have received $500, S. Arendt $1837, while the loss of Ditter & Mechtel was fixed at 25 per cent of the wholesale price of their stock. E. J. Hamacher received the amount of his insurance, $300 in full, while E. E. James was allowed $110 for the loss of his negatives which had been left on the roof of the stone building. The adjustments on the whole are considered by the fire sufferers as fairly satisfactory.

The deal was consummated on Wednesday whereby Henry H. Schott & Co., proprietors of the "Golden Rule" store become the owners of the two lots facing on the avenue on which stands the charred and burned Eshelman building which was partly consumed by fire last week. The consideration is said to have been $6500. Mr. Schott informed THE DEMOCRAT on Thursday that it was their intention to remove the frame building to a point outside the fire limits and to repair the same for rental purposes. A modern two-story brick suitable to the needs of the "Golden Rule" would take its place, his expectation being that the new structure would be completed by May next.

Mrs. Mary Russell, known locally as the "queen of the Tietan" was brought into town this week by her husband from their lonely home in the basin for the purpose of being examined as to her sanity. After undergoing a mental examination she was committed to the asylum by Court Commissioner Preble. The unfortunate woman was taken to Medical Lake Wednesday night by Sheriff Tucker and Miss Maud Lindsay.

Col. Howlett this week sold his fine property on Nob Hill to a Mr. Thompson lately from the east. Col. Howlett contemplates building a residence in this city.

Great values in men's trousers, new styles and patterns. Prices 95c, $1.75, $2, $2.25, $3 and $4.50 at J. J. McDONALD'S, old P. O. building.

Those who desire photos for holiday gifts, should not fail to have their sittings now in order to make sure of getting their work done at the desired time. The place to go for first class work is JAMES' gallery in the Schlottfeldt building.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10, 1899.

"A Bryan triumph" is what nearly every democrat and many republicans see in the results of the state elections, and it is not likely that there will be any more serious talk of anybody else for the head of the democratic ticket, next year. Col. Bryan's magnificent success in his own state, where he largely increased the fusion majority in the face of many obstacles, including the influence of the federal administration and the lavish expenditure of money by the republicans, aroused admiration even among his opponents.

Boss Hanna's success in Ohio, probably the most costly campaign ever carried on in a single state, is accepted as having knocked the bottom out of all the schemes to spring an anti-McKinley candidate on the republicans, and, unless something of a scandalous nature should be fastened upon his administration between now and the meeting of the republican national convention, Mr. McKinley will not be opposed, for renomination; but a strong element in the republican party, including many of its most prominent men in congress, have already begun to demand of Mr. McKinley that he depose King Hanna before the presidential campaign opens. That will not be an easy job, as Hanna has as much justification in claiming his dearly paid for victory in Ohio as a personal vindication as Mr. McKinley has in claiming it as an endorsement of imperialism by the country.

Imperialism run mad may be looked for in future acts of the administration, as Mr. McKinley and all his cabinet have succeeded in persuading themselves into believing that the state elections were an endorsement of imperialism by the people, notwithstanding the anti-imperialist victories in Nebraska and in Maryland. The result in Ohio was not an endorsement of anything except the power of money corruptly spent.

Owing to the large number of Maryland democrats engaged in business in Washington there has been unusual rejoicing at the national capital on account of the return of that state to the democratic fold, from which it would never have strayed had there not been a bitter family row in the democratic camp. Maryland democrats are very positive in saying that they can keep the state in line now that the party is again united.

Now that there is no campaign to influence, it is admitted by members of the administration that the movement to capture Aguinaldo and his army, which it was officially announced the day before election could not possibly fail, has met with delays which it is feared will give Aguinaldo time enough to get away.

Gen. Joe Wheeler has written that he will take his seat in the house during the coming session of congress, but as he has not left Manila yet, so far as known in Washington, and it will take between six and eight weeks for him to make the trip, he cannot be at the opening of congress. Constitutional experts say that should Gen. Wheeler appear in the house to take the oath his status would be entirely different to that occupied by him when objection was raised to his resuming his seat in the house while holding the commission of a major general of volunteers, on the ground that his acceptance of a commission in the army vacated his seat in the house, an objection which was sustained by the committee of which Speaker-to-be Henderson was chairman, and which would have been sustained by the house had not the personal popularity of Gen. Wheeler been so great that the house declined to consider the report on the plea that there was not time enough, owing to the nearness of the end of the session. When Gen. Wheeler's present commission—brigadier general of volunteers—was given him he was not a member of the house, although he had been elected as such. Consequently no objection will be made to his being sworn in as a member whenever he presents himself, but the moment he takes the oath as a member of the house he will cease to be a brigadier general.

Secretary Gage says he thinks the state elections were an order to the republicans in congress to put the single gold standard into a law. Democrats only hope that he will be able to convince the republican leaders in congress to think the same way.

Admiral Dewey carried his specialty of doing things before others think he is ready to do them into the arrangements for his marriage. Two days ago he procured his marriage license, and he'll probably be married before the public knows anything more about it.

An imperialist is certainly inconsistent who sympathizes with the Boers. Both wars are identical, in principle. It is the contest of empire vs. republic. Admiral Dewey is known not to be desirous of political honors. But he has taken to wife a woman said to be ambitious; and knowing ones, both in society and politics, profess to believe that Mrs. Dewey will overcome the admiral's indifference and compel him to listen to those who think they see success for themselves in bringing him out for the presidency. Politicians have been heard to say, gleefully, that success is in sight through Mrs. Dewey. But McKinley seems to have captured the admiral and to have added the fame of the hero to his own political assets. The signs will be watched for the opening of Mrs. Dewey's campaign.—Oregonian.

The Seattle Times is displaying a good deal of agility in handling the Philippine question. Last spring the editor-in-chief was a rampant expansionist; later he made a trip east to show Wm. J. Bryan his error in this matter, but fell under the spell of the brainy statesman and returned a convert to the declaration of independence. He now favors the retention of the islands by force, thus returning to his first position. Better make another trip east, colonel, and start the circle over again, and your stopping point will be about as certain as that of a roulette wheel.—Aberdeen Herald.

There was not a kind word spoken of General Otis by the returning volunteers. Nearly every man denounced "the old woman" as they called Otis. He never leaves his palace alone and when he goes out he is strongly guarded by his staff.—Seattle Review.

Big Money in Apples.

Experience has demonstrated to many farmers of this valley that taking one year with another, that no other crop that they can produce will begin to make as favorable returns for the amount of labor and money invested as will fruit. This is particularly true as regards apples. Nothing on the ranch pays like the big red apples. If you have a patch of land and want to become independent in a few years, plant it to apples. If you want to be successful, however, you must use great caution in selecting your trees. What you should plant is clean, thrifty, home-grown trees of the best commercial varieties, taken fresh from the nursery row. THE CENTRAL WASHINGTON NURSERY, CHAS. S. SIMPSON, PROPRIETOR, can meet all of the above requirements of the careful orchardist. If you contemplate planting an orchard, it will pay you to see Mr. Simpson and inspect his fine stock. Prices reasonable. Nursery located south of state fair grounds. 9tf

THE YAKIMA CATTLE MEN ORGANIZE

To Be Known as "The Yakima Husbandry and Cattle Growers Association,"

About twenty-five cattle men of this county met at the city hall at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and proceeded to form a permanent organization, as agreed upon at the meeting held in this city two weeks before.

The meeting was called to order by President Lesh, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary J. E. Shannon and approved.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was then read and unanimously adopted.

The chair being authorized by the constitution to appoint a board of five trustees, the following gentlemen were named: Frank J. Kandle, Dan Sinclair, Matt Stanton, Anson White and J. E. Shannon.

Executive officers were then elected for the ensuing year, as follows: D. E. Lesh, president; J. J. Wiley, vice president; J. E. Shannon, secretary, and J. P. Marks, treasurer.

The roll of membership was then read and found to contain the names of the following cattle owners: Anson White, Matt Stanton, D. E. Lesh, J. P. Marks, D. Sinclair, Frank J. Kandle, Scott Bros., J. J. Wiley, S. P. Vivian, A. Herks, W. G. Griffith, J. H. Laswell, J. E. Shannon, S. Wade, N. H. Case, D. B. Greenwalt.

It was announced that quite a large number of cattle men had signified their desire to join the organization, but were unable to be present.

The following is the report of the committee on organization, which was unanimously adopted:

"The name of this organization shall be known as THE YAKIMA HUSBANDRY AND CATTLE GROWERS ASSOCIATION. The objects of this association are as follows:

"1. To aid and assist in restoring strayed or stolen stock to rightful owners.

"2. To regulate cattle ranges, so far as may be deemed advisable.

"3. To prevent the unlawful and unnecessary destruction of both forests and grasses.

"4. To secure a just portion of the public domain for cattle grazing.

"The officers of this association shall consist of a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and a board of trustees, who shall hold their respective offices for the period of one year from date of said organization or until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

"MEMBERSHIP.—Any cattle grower shall be eligible to charter membership by signing the roll of membership and paying the prescribed fees. Any cattle grower may thereafter be elected by a two-thirds vote at any regularly called meeting.

"The membership fee shall be one dollar per year, payable semi-annually.

"The regular meetings of this association shall be on the first Saturday of each month, at the hour of 1 p. m."

After the adoption of the by-laws and current business had been disposed of, speech making was indulged in by a number of members. The unanimous feeling seemed to be that the association should use all legitimate means at its command to protect the growing timber and grass, not alone of the Rainier forest reserve, but of the whole Cascade range. Messrs. Lesh, Marks, Griffith and Wade, particularly took strong grounds in urging the necessity of such action, each speaker laying emphasis on the fact that the preservation of the natural watershed of this valley for irrigation purposes, was of more vital importance than the personal interests of any man or set of men. This sentiment seemed to meet the unqualified approval of all present.

The association then adjourned until the next regular meeting.

A Legend of the Yakimas.

FORT SIMCOE, Nov 10, 1899.

Editor DEMOCRAT—Many and many years ago there lived an old man in the vicinity of Mount Adams. This old man was what we call these days the Grizzly bear (but they were then as people are today, and were changed by the Great Spirit into what we call beasts, today.) He and his daughter, who was a fine young girl nearly grown, and a young son quite a boy, lived together. The wife and mother having died, the young woman and her brother became so destitute that they could not live comfortably at their home with the old man, so they concluded to come out into the Yakima valley to live but while on the way they became so weary and hungry that it was impossible for them to proceed further. They had reached a point on the mountain between the Satas creek and the Toppenish, and there Twit-lah (for that was the girls name) and her brother ended their journey. Twit-lah made a great law which was to be observed by all generations thereafter, that where she and her brother died there the people must stop and pay tribute to them, as they famished for want of food, water and clothing. For this cause for years the Indians have observed this dying law made by Twit-lah by turning out of their way to drop bread root, pieces of cloth or a piece of venison or salmon, bread, beads, fur or deer skin and so on. They do this that no ill luck may happen to them in digging the bread root, the kamas, the pia-hee or pursuing the deer or catching the salmon. It is good fortune to give going out or coming in; it is ill luck to pass by, going or coming, to deny the gifts required by Twit-lah. This tradition is religiously observed and has been handed down from father to son and from mother to daughter for generations past.

This last place of eternal rest of Twit-lah is marked by a monument of stone piled up on the top of the mountain between the Satas creek and the Toppenish, which will be observed as long as the red race will adhere to the old legend handed down to them by their ancestors. The ground where this stone monument stands is regarded as sacred, for no man or woman can pass it without leaving a gift of some sort as a token of strict and religious observance of Twit-lah's dying law.

THE SOLDIER BOYS WHO RETURNED

List of the Officers and Privates of Company E Who Came Home Last Week.

The boys of Company E who returned to Yakima on the 7th were 37 in number. The following is the list:

Captain M. S. Scudder, Lieutenants F. T. Briggs and W. L. Lemon, Sergeants Young, Leach, Alderson, Wright and Scott, Corporals Schanno, Brown, McCleary, Grover, Bunce, Leeper, Coombs, Niles and Converse. Privates Corder, Dillon, Fox, Gosling, Greene, Hagedorn, Hawley, Hazard, Horn, Lahar, Mathieson, McDonald, Oakey, Palmer, Sandmeyer, Scott, Sherwood, Stair, Stowe, Waddington, E. W.; Waddington, A. H.; Walker, Wilgus, Williams and Woolsey.

Several of the boys remained at San Francisco, some of whom went east from there to visit relatives, while a number of others remained at Seattle and Tacoma.

The following boys re-enlisted at Manila, one of whom, James S. Adams has since been killed: James S. Adams, Charles M. Allen, Arthur W. Douglass, Chauncey Forward, Harley J. Hill, John Kane, Wm. A. Patterson.

Direct Legislation Club Organized.

Chas. E. Cline of Olympia, who was speaker of the house during the fifth legislature, delivered an able and entertaining address at the court house last Saturday evening on the subject of "Direct Legislation." A fair sized audience listened to Mr. Cline attentively throughout the discourse and at the conclusion of his speech gave him liberal applause.

Mr. Cline was introduced by ex-Representative H. D. Jory of Sunnyside, and proceeded at once to enlighten his audience on the beauties of the new system in which he is an enthusiastic believer. Switzerland, he said, enjoyed the most thoroughly republican form of government of any nation on earth, our own country not excepted. Since about 30 years ago when Switzerland fully incorporated the new system into her organic law, corruption in the administration of the government had almost entirely disappeared for the reason that owing the workings of the new system the vocation of the corrupt politician was gone because opportunity was taken from him.

Our present form of representative government was a failure, contended the speaker, because the system was cumbersome and top heavy, and by its workings often discriminated against the great majority and permitted the minority to govern. If every voter in the state of Washington desired to make a certain amendment to the constitution it would take nine years to bring about such a result.

The speaker then narrated at length several cases that had come under his observation during his experience as a legislator by way of illustrating his point. He laid particular stress on the many failures that have occurred in past years to secure railroad legislation in this state owing to the prevailing corruption in legislative circles. Even were it possible to get a bill passed in the interest of the producers, the governor were he so inclined, could with his tremendous power of the veto, knock the bill out. Even though the governor might assent, the new law would then have to run the gauntlet of the supreme court, where three men can nullify the will of all the people their representatives and the executive.

The speaker then gave instances of how pernicious bills often became laws through the strategy and dishonest practices of paid lobbyists.

The speaker stated that the prime cause of the decay and fall of every government of antiquity was corruption in its administrative affairs and the same deadly cause was knowing today at the foundations of every government in existence, and particularly our own. No government could continue to endure without being based firmly on the will or consent of the majority of the governed. Direct legislation when inaugurated would put an end to many of our present objectionable conditions and ushers in better days for the producing classes of this country.

This principle, said the speaker, is not a partisan one, but was advocated by many honest and upright men of all parties. It had been submitted to a vote of the people by republican legislatures in the states of South Dakota and Oregon. It has been placed in the platform of 21 democratic state conventions and was sure in the near future to become a national question of overshadowing importance. At the conclusion of Mr. Cline's address H. D. Jory passed among the audience and obtained 21 signatures as a starter in the organization of a club.

The club was then organized by the election of Dr. C. J. Taft as president, J. D. Medill, vice president; A. B. Flint, secretary and F. Hatfield, treasurer. The four officers above named were appointed a committee to secure permanent quarters and to announce the date of the next meeting.

The North Yakima club makes the eighth in number so far organized in this county.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on Louis O. Janeck, druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50 cts. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

"Behold, the Bridegroom Cometh Not."

T. G. Cherry, a well known farmer of the Selah, was arraigned before "his honor" Justice Lince on Friday of last week, on the charge of assault and battery, preferred by J. L. Denny, a commission man, over a potato deal. The fracas occurred near the store of Taylor & Denley and the defendant was charged with having shied a stone at the head of the prosecuting witness during the melee. A jury was empaneled to try the case, consisting of Messrs. Lombard, Dills, Short, Lemon and Clemmer. The case was given to the jury about 5 p. m. and that body was unable to agree upon a verdict until 2 a. m., when finally a verdict of "not guilty" was arrived at.

One feature of the trial that created considerable amusement, as well as some sympathy, for two of the young men who served on the case as jurors, was the fact that the two jurors mentioned had very pressing social engagements to fill that evening, which they were unable to do for the reason that a stubborn associate refused to yield and succeeded in hanging the jury until the hour named. One of the two unfortunates (Clemmer) had been married only a few days previous and had planned to attend a reception given by a local society in honor of himself and his fair bride. The feast was made ready and the merriment begun, but "behold, the bridegroom cometh not." For how could he, being locked up as he was by due process of law.

Joined For Life.

Joseph E. Eschbach and Miss May Sandmeyer were married at St. Joseph's church at 9 a. m. on Wednesday, Rev. Father Tallman officiating, the church edifice being filled with the friends and relatives of the popular young couple. After the ceremony a happy party sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sandmeyer, the parents of the bride. The newly wedded couple left on the same day for the Sound to spend their honeymoon and on their return will make their home in the Ahtanum.

It will be remembered by many of our readers that a premature announcement of the engagement of this happy young couple was made by THE DEMOCRAT in an issue of March last—for which the editor got a severe reprimand. We feel content, however, if our unpardonable error contributed to the happy consummation of last Wednesday.

McBride Wins His Suit.

The case of W. E. McBride versus the board of directors of school district No. 7, was heard before Justice Taggard on Wednesday. This is a case wherein the plaintiff McBride sues the district for the sum of $80, which he alleged was due him as salary for the month of October. Mr. McBride, who is an attorney as well as a pedagogue, took charge of his own case, while the board was represented by deputy prosecuting attorney Rudkin.

The evidence adduced showed that Mr. McBride had been employed by the old board of directors, previous to the time of filing their vestigations. At a special meeting of the new board the resignation of Mr. McBride, which was on file, was accepted. Mr. McBride subsequently assumed the right to withdraw his resignation. The right to do this was denied by the board, which in the meantime had employed his successor. The plaintiff contended that the board meeting which acted on his resignation, being a special one and held without due and legal notice, was an illegal one without authority to act, and its proceedings, therefore, were null and void.

Justice Taggard on the following day decided the case in favor of the plaintiff, being governed, as he said, by the law in the case. The case will be appealed.

Mausers and Springfields.

The Mauser rifle to be used by the Boers against the English is the same weapon the Filipino insurgents used against the American volunteers. It is one of the best magazine rifles made, and has even a smaller caliber than Krag-Jorgensen used by our regular army. The ammunition is the best quality of German smokeless powder. Against this our volunteers were pitted with the old-fashioned, single-fire, large-caliber Springfield, with only about half the range of the Mauser, and with black powder ammunition, which made a cloud of smoke easily seen by the enemy, and which obscured the vision of our own men. In his lecture Captain Wells will show pictures of volunteers fighting with this inferior weapon, and yet routing the superior armed enemy and driving them from heavy intrenchments. At Switzer's opera house, Monday night, Nov. 27.

The Chinamen of Walla Walla contributed $300 for the reception of the Washington volunteers.

Gov. Rogers on the 10th issued an order for the reorganization of the National Guard. Major Weisenberger has been offered the position of colonel.

A fight has been inaugurated in Everett to enforce the observance of the Sunday closing law.

According to the estimate of State Mine Inspector Owen, the output of Washington coal mines for the year ending December 31, will amount to over two million tons.

The Tacoma Ledger, of recent date, published what it proclaimed to be a fact that the Northern Pacific Railway Company is the real purchaser of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, and that the deal will be concluded December 15. The consideration for the property is said to have been $325,000.

Hog cholera, which has been quite prevalent this season in Walla Walla and Whitman counties, is said to be now slowly disappearing.

A lone mounted highwayman held up three men in Walla Walla, one night last week, and stripped his victims of all their valuables.

Ex-Gov. J. H. McGraw has been tendered the appointment of United States commissioner at Cape Nome. The office is worth $15,000 per year.

The large new addition to the state penitentiary at Walla is now nearing completion.

Memorial services for the dead of the First Washington regiment, was held at the Plymouth Congregational church in Seattle on Sunday.

The Seattle postoffice is reported to be badly handicapped in its work, owing to the refusal of the department to increase the allowance for clerk hire.

A Sad Case of Suicide.

Mrs. Lincoln J. Greenwalt, wife of the foreman of the Moxee ranch, ended her life on Saturday night, when with suicidal intent she swallowed a heavy dose of laudanum. The unfortunate woman had evidently tired of life, owing to long continued ill health. Mrs. Greenwalt had been in town on that day and entering the North Yakima Drug store had called for laudanum explaining that she was in the habit of using the drug for toothache and nervousness. Some time after reaching home she was discovered by the hired girl in a stupor.

Dr. Dulin was sent for and did everything possible to save the unfortunate woman but to no purpose, death relieving her of intense suffering at 11 o'clock.

The deceased was a daughter of Mrs. Harriet Stabler and was about 25 years of age. The funeral occurred on Monday. The bereaved husband and relatives have the sympathy of the entire community in their affliction.

The date of the ball at Mason's opera house, for the benefit of the library, has been changed from Thursday to Wednesday evening, Nov. 22.

"The Electrician" will be presented at Mason's opera house on next Thursday night. See notice elsewhere.

Charles Olney has sometime ago been appointed as captain of police.

Mr. Homer James lost his house by fire on the night of the 2nd ultimo.

There are now nearly a full number of school children enrolled at the agency school, Fort Simcoe.

The department has appointed an Indian from the Seletz agency as blacksmith of this agency.

The government steam sawmill will soon be set in position to commence work in the spring.

H. M. Gilbert of Knob Hill, North Yakima, has leased Franklin P. Olney's holdings for a term of five years.

A Spaniard by the name of Albert Lyons arrived from California and is now working for Geo. W. Olney.

Abe Lincoln, an Indian, has been tendered the position as sawmill blacksmith and is now in his new quarters.

Mr. John Hadley is down at Geo. W. Olney's place, building an addition to Olney's already commodious dwelling house.

Ben B. Olney has developed into a full fledged sheepman, having bought 1500 head of sheep of his uncle, George W. Olney.

The department has through its agent Mr. Lynch restricted the setting of the court of Indian offenses from once a month to to once in three months.

Frank P. Olney and family will winter with Mrs. John Hadley, his mother, having leased his Toppenish home to parties in North Yakima.

D. R. Harbaugh (better known as Doc Harbaugh) and family have arrived from the Cascades on the Columbia river to reside on and improve Mrs. Harbaugh's allotment.

Several families of Indians from the Palouse country have arrived, having allotment lands here in Yakima. The agent and his clerk are busy looking up their allotments.

It would be well for the department to appoint an Indian wagon maker at this agency instead of a white man, as there are several Indian wheelrights who would gladly accept the position.

Most of the farmers have not seeded their fields this fall, and as a rule are farming on a small scale. About one-half of these are much interested in rearing large herds of cayuse horses that are not worth over 50 cents per head.

Mrs. Maryann Yesmowit of Simcoe died at her home. She had been ill for two or three years from the effects of lagrippe. Mr. Yesmowit now resides with his daughter, Mrs. George W. Olney. Yesmowit is a well to do man, having a large herd of cattle and hogs, some fine horses and a large farm.

Franklin P. Olney and Charles Hadley just returned from a hunting trip in the mountains. They saw several fine deer but sadly failed to get one after having emptied their magazine guns at them, they looked like two little boys badly henpecked, and, oh dear how hungry too, having fasted for two days and one night.

Never Said It.

No, dear reader, the following is not said by the Herald. This paper is in too much awe of being called a "copperhead" and "traitor" to say such things of McKinley—president of these United States by grace of Mark Hanna.

But the Portland Oregonian, whose patriotism, like Caesar's wife, is above suspicion, says, with safety:

President McKinley is the first president mean-minded enough to rob an able and brilliant soldier of the legitimate opportunity that belonged to his rank and reputation during the Spanish war. President Polk and his war secretary, Marcy, were democrats, while General Scott was a whig, but General Scott was given, nevertheless, full charge of the critical expedition against Mexico when Scott was considerably over 60 years of age, and it was given him because of his rank and military reputation. McKinley deliberately robbed Miles of all opportunity to distinguish himself during the Spanish war, and then, when the government thought Shafter was in "a hole" at Santiago, it hastened to consult Miles how to pull him out. McKinley is the only president who ever abused his executive opportunity to put to political death all possible rivals for the presidential nomination.—Aberdeen Herald.

Transplanting Berry Bushes, Etc.

In answer to a correspondent Vick tells that currants, blackberries and raspberries can all be planted in October or November or in the spring. A currant bush can be divided into as many parts as will have some root attached, and each will make a plant. This can be done in fall or spring. In the case of fall planting of any of the plants mentioned it will be well to draw some soil up around each of them after setting out and to throw some leaves or litter over them to prevent action of frost.

THE YAKIMA HOP GROWERS ORGANIZE

A Permanent Organization Perfected With a Strong Membership.

The hop growers of this county to the number of about 40, met at the city hall on Saturday and took the initial steps toward the formation of a joint stock corporation in accordance with the committee's report as given below. The meeting seemed to be quite enthusiastic over the outlook for co-operative work and short addresses were made by several growers heartily commending the plan. The following is the report of the committee on organization, which consisted of Messrs. Scudder, Lesh and Lynch:

"We, your committee on organization do respectfully recommend that a corporation be organized as soon as possible with a paid-up capital of $4000., to buy and sell and deal in hops.

That it provide for a large board of trustees and that the scope of the charter permit the corporation to contract for the purchase and sale of hops and to hypothecate growing crops to secure money and advance the same to growers to enable them to grow, harvest and hold their hops until such a time as the market will take them to the advantage of the grower.

That all members contract their hops to the corporation and that sales be made only by the corporation. That a grading board be provided, which shall determine the quality of each grower's hops.

We would also recommend that no one grower be allowed to take to exceed more than $2000 worth of stock and that the bylaws provide that no one but a hop grower be eligible to hold any office in the corporation and that shares be made of the par value of $10 each and that each share be entitled to one vote at all meetings of stock holders.

We recommend that the corporation be known as THE WASHINGTON HOP GROWERS CO-OPERATIVE AND PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION and that its officers consist of a board of 15 trustees and that a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer be chosen from the said board of trustees and that the principal place of business of the said corporation shall be the city of North Yakima.

To carry out the forgoing purpose, we advise that as a preliminary proceeding all hop growers be invited to subscribe hereto the number of shares each will take and that they thereafter appoint a committee to prepare articles of incorporation. Respectfully submitted.

H. B. SCUDDER,
T. J. LYNCH,
D. E. LESH,
Committee.

We the undersigned hop growers of Yakima county, Wash., hereby agree to become members of The Washington Hop Growers Co-operative and Protective Association and to subscribe to the bylaws when adopted by said association and hereby affix our several signatures and agree to purchase one share of stock for each ten acres of hops owned by us."

"The Electrician" Coming.

Next Thursday evening, November 23, "The Electrician" will play a one night engagement at the opera house and it will receive an elaborate presentation in the hands of an excellent company of players. The play will be faithfully presented, with all the minuteness of realism and stage effects that go to make up a meritorious performance. The Denver power house, where electricity is generated on the stage by powerful dynamos, will be one of the background in miniature by night, all lighted by this powerful plant.

Another scene of the play is laid in Cripple Creek, showing the famous mining camp in winter. While the scenic effects are in a measure features of the performance, the plot of the play is one of intrinsic merit, which is admirably brought out by the clever players who are presenting the piece. The cast includes an excellent company of players, among whom are William R. Ogden, Bert P. VanCleve, Frank C. Thompson, George A. Boyer, Walter Melville, Geo. Bowman, Charles L. Place, Walter L. Tupper, Chris Lynton, Blanche Bouviere, Madge Daly, May Wells and Blanche Le Mar. Misses Daly and LeMar are very clever character specialty artists and introduce the latest specialties during the course of the play.

The Portland Oregonian in a notice of the company said: "For the first time in Portland, Blaney's 'The Electrician' a comedy drama of Colorado life, was presented to Cordray's Sunday night and drew an audience that not only packed the house to the doors, but also to the walls, and might have extended itself to the ceilings had there been standing room in that direction. As Tom Edson, electrician and mine owner, William R. Ogden, filled his part to the satisfaction of all. Frank C. Thompson, as Bill Turner, foreman at the Edson plant, and Frederick Fairbanks, as Savage, were a pair of excellent villains. Miss Madge Daly was an ideal street girl, ready to fight, sell apples or buy mines. Miss Bouviere, although she had little to do as Miss Sessions, did that little very well. The humorous parts were in the hands of G. W. Bowman, ready to 'drink, shoot or sit on the bench,' Walter Tupper, Bert P. VanCleve and Miss VanCleve."

"Finnigan's Ball" was presented at Mason's opera house on Friday night last to a fair sized house. Murray and Mack, the stars in this comedy have a company of excellent artists with them. The song as well as the other features were new and fresh. Murray and Mack will be greeted by a full house when they again visit this city.

First Street Grocery

I desire to inform the public that I have opened up in my new quarters in the Pratt building on South First street, with a No. 1 stock of which I propose to sell as low as the lowest. I also desire to inform the farmers that I will pay them the highest market price for their produce. Goods will be delivered free of charge in the city.

J. L. LASSWELL,
