LEMON FINALLY APPOINTED

President Sends Nomination to Senate
Monday—Congressman Jones Accused of Bad Faith in the Matter.

The nomination of Lieut. W. L. Lemon to be postmaster of North Yakima was sent to the senate Monday by President Roosevelt and thus ends or is presumed to end the long drawn out agony over the management of the local post office.

This news came as a surprise to most of the patrons of the office who had assumed on the strength of information given out by those who claimed to know that there would be no change made for the present. In fact it was generally supposed that it was settled that Mrs. M. E. Sperry, the present incumbent, would be permitted to hold the office until next March, but it seems that Congressman Jones was unwilling to allow the present status of affairs to remain that long and for reasons of his own, precipitated matters. A number of Mrs. Sperry's friends and sympathizers are free in asserting that Mr. Jones has not acted in good faith with that lady and that he has not treated her fairly.

The facts as near as the DEMOCRAT has been able to get them, are that Mr. Jones has for some time been extremely anxious to oust Assistant Postmaster Fred L. Chandler and thereby create a vacancy to be filled by the appointment of Geo. S. Hough. It has been no secret for a year past that this was Mr. Jones' desire and there can be little doubt but what the change would have been made some time ago if the postmistress would have consented to the carrying out of Mr. Jones' plan, but she wouldn't and then the row began. Mrs. Sperry is said to have informed the congressman that Mr. Chandler was doing his work in a satisfactory manner and that he knew the routine of the office thoroughly. She explained also that her bondsmen had threatened to withdraw their names from her official bond of $20,000, in case Chandler was removed. Furthermore, Mr. Jones was reminded of the fact that the assistant postmaster was a personal appointee, and not under the civil service rules, being responsible to herself alone. Mrs. Sperry is said to have previously dismissed Mrs. Hough, an old and faithful assistant in the office, in order to please Mr. Jones, thus enabling that gentleman to find a place for Herman Leeper, a political supporter. She drew the line, however, when it came to the matter of allowing the congressman to dictate the appointment of an assistant postmaster.

Mr. Jones is reported to have written Chandler several letters in all of which he asked the assistant postmaster to resign. This, Chandler has consistently refused to do, stating that no charges had ever been preferred against him and that if any should be he was ready to meet them.

As a consideration of Mrs. Sperry's appointment after the death of her husband, Mr. Jones is said to have exacted a written resignation from the new appointee. This resignation was to have taken effect at the expiration of Mr. Sperry's original term in November, 1901. Several months ago a second resignation was written by Mrs. Sperry to take effect in March, 1903. Subsequently a third resignation was written by the lady at Mr. Jones' request and placed in his hands. This last one was left blank, there being no date named therein when it should take effect. A few weeks ago Mrs. Sperry is said to have written Mr. Jones withdrawing all the resignations in her hands. She is also said to have at the same time notified the department that she had withdrawn the unofficial resignations which, of course, were not on file. Mrs. Sperry is said to have further informed the department that she desired to run the office in the future without being further interfered with by Mr. Jones.

The answer from Washington was a request for her resignation from the fourth assistant postmaster general. This request is said to have been ignored and as a result the new appointment is announced. It was apparently as much of a surprise to Lieut. Lemon as anybody else in town, as he had not expected to succeed to the office for some time to come.

A Sudden Call.

James W. Crane, a well known citizen, who had resided for years in the eastern addition, died suddenly at 11 a. m. Friday from neuralgia of the heart. Mr. Crane had been confined to his bed only since 5 p. m. Thursday. In fact he had been down town that afternoon for his mail as had been his custom.

Deceased was 65 years of age and had lived in Yakima for about 17 years. Besides his widow, six grown children, four sons and two daughters, none of whom now reside here, are left to mourn his loss. He was a quiet, unassuming man who enjoyed the respect and friendship of all who knew him. It is understood that the funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, of which Mr. Crane had long been a member.

WILL CELEBRATE THE 4TH

An Interesting Program Arranged—Everybody Can Have a Good Time at Home.

After all, North Yakima will celebrate the glorious Fourth of July. The arrangements are a little late in being made but they are made now and with such completeness that the success of the celebration is assured.

Geo. S. Vance took hold of the matter this week and followed it up with such enthusiasm and energy that he made it win. A grand street parade will be held at 9:30 a. m. In the parade will march the band, Co. C, N. G. W., the fire department, a delegation from each of the secret orders in the city and citizens in carriages. The line of march will end at the corner of Yakima avenue and Third street where the exercises of the day will be held. After the rendering of patriotic airs by a picked choir Hon. Miles Cannon will deliver an oration, after which the assembled crowd will be asked to join in that old and familiar air, The Star Spangled Banner.

At 10:30 a. m. a game will be called at the Capitol Hill grounds between the “Hoppickers” and the Tacoma nine. At 11 a. m. a shooting tournament will begin at the Gun club's grounds south of town. In the afternoon everybody will go to the Fair Grounds to witness the sporting program to be presented there by the State Fair Commission.

The festivities of the day will conclude with a display of fireworks in the evening and a grand ball to be given at the armory by the Woodmen of the World. The fourth will be celebrated in a number of other places in the county, arrangements having been made for big picnics in the Wenas, Cowiche and at Tampico.

On the Lottery Plan.

The Northern Pacific Irrigation Company, as previously announced, placed 3000 acres of their Kennewick lands on the market June 20. As was expected the number of would be purchasers far exceeded the supply of land offered, as application was made either by buyers in person or by letter for 20,000 acres.

In order to give everybody a “fair shake” Mr. Sampson, the local manager, decided that the land should be disposed of by lot. Purchasers were therefore informed that they might make first, second and third choice of 40 acre tracts and take their chances. This was done by a number, although some made but two and others but one selection on the assumption that if they could not get the particular piece they wanted they would not take any. In one case there were 45 applications for one particular piece, which W. B. Dudley, county treasurer, had the good fortune to secure. This particular piece was listed at $40 per acre, which was the highest paid, most of the other tracts ranging from that down to $30 per acre.

Other parties in this city who drew what they regard as prizes were Mrs. Gertrude Fechter, J. J. Rodkin, Prof. Armstrong and A. L. Aikins. Judge Rodkin, O. A. Fechter, H. A. Small and others drew blanks.

The company has about 2500 acres of its own land which will be put on the market at a later date.

Soliciting Committee at Work.

Mayor Fechter, chairman of the soliciting committee of the Commercial club, began this week to secure the necessary bonus to be turned over to the promoters of the Sunnyside railroad. It is understood that the executive committee wishes to raise the sum of $30,000, believing that amount will be needed to pay the cost of building a bridge across the Yakima river, paying for right-of-way in certain cases and providing the necessary terminal facilities in this city. Up to Wednesday evening the following parties had subscribed the amount set opposite their names:

First National Bank	$1000 00
Yakima National Bank	1000 00

Game With Roslyn Tomorrow.

The Hoppickers went up to Roslyn last Sunday accompanied by a small crowd and played the nine of that city. Those who went from here say that it was a good, clean game. The score resulted 3 to 0 in favor of the Hoppickers. The boys all speak highly of the courteous treatment they received at Roslyn.

The Roslyn nine will arrive here tomorrow to play the return game in the afternoon. It is expected that quite a number of Roslynites will accompany the team.

Lombard-Porter Nuptials.

The marriage ceremony uniting for life Henry H. Lombard and Miss Almee Porter, took place as announced in Calvary church at Roslyn at noon Thursday, Rev. H. M. Bartlett of this city officiating. Quite a number of guests from this city were in attendance, who returned on the night train. Mr. Lombard and bride left Roslyn Thursday for Seattle where they expected to take the Steamer Spokane for a pleasure trip to Southeastern Alaska. They will return to Yakima July 15th.

If you have not lately used “Yakima Best” or “Puritan” flour try a sack and be convinced that it is the best family flour on the market. Both are now retailed at the same price.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT,

JOHN DAVID MEDILL,
Editor and Publisher.

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

Democrat Printing House on First Street, North Yakima, Washington.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The opening of the new quarters of the Tilden club in New York recently seems to have been considerable of an event, at least it was so from the standpoint of that element that is clamoring so loudly for the reorganization of the democratic party.

The spectacle of Grover Cleveland and David Bennett Hill meeting in friendship and shaking hands over the bloody chasm that has divided them for these many years, is an interesting one to democrats everywhere and to the country at large. The dramatic meeting of these distinguished gentlemen, who have been rivals and enemies for so long, bears all the earmarks of having been most carefully planned by those behind the scenes and for the purpose of making what the showmen call a climax. The speeches of the two ex-chiefmen were clearly meant to be a rallying cry with the purpose of bringing together again the democratic hosts under the leadership of ex-Senator Hill.

This was the first public appearance in a political role of Mr. Cleveland since his retirement from the presidency, a fact that has doubtless commanded for his utterances a very wide reading. Yet there is nothing new in what he says. He appears to have learned nothing and to be incapable of learning anything by reason of his banishment from the party councils. With the same tenacity that has characterized his whole career, he still clings to the old beliefs that wrecked his party on the rocks of discord and drove it from power, at the same time compelling it to repudiate him in order to preserve its own integrity.

Mr. Cleveland is in some respects a very great man, but egotism is so marked a characteristic of his make-up that it seriously mars his greatness. In the intricate warfare that has divided his party he cannot conceive or admit the fact that he has ever been wrong or that the millions of his former followers and fellow citizens have ever been right. It is therefore useless to look for the rehabilitation of democracy along the lines laid down by Mr. Cleveland. The rank and file of the party will not accept his leadership nor will they accept his smooth reading platitudes as their political gospel, although they may give him credit for honesty in the expression of them.

Neither will the democratic masses be any more willing to accept the leadership of David Bennett Hill, if indeed as much so, for of the two Cleveland is infinitely the better and the greater. Hill is by far the more astute and his talents for organization and leadership are remarkable, but unfortunately for him his public record is such that it does not inspire the people with confidence. No man who opposed the righteous income tax could be an acceptable democratic nominee for the presidency. There are other things too in Mr. Hill's political record that are objectionable quite aside from his sulking attitude in 1896. Clearly Mr. Hill is not a logical candidate even from the standpoint of the "re-organizers" or disorganizers as they might better be called.

If the democratic party, however, must seek for a candidate in the east, it would do well to pick up Richard Olney of Massachusetts. On him, it is likely that all factions of the party could unite. Olney is a statesman of the first degree and is not a self-seeking politician like Hill. Besides Olney's democracy is of a better and purer type than that of either Cleveland or Hill and will bear a closer investigation. Another thing in his favor, too, is his belief in the old fashioned democratic doctrine that the office should seek the man. He is therefore not advertising himself as a candidate, but could doubtless be induced to accept a nomination to the presidency if he deemed it his duty to do so.

THE DEMOCRAT this week gives its readers the facts, as near as it has been able to get them, regarding the fight over the local post office. It is a republican row and we are free to confess that it is none of our funeral. Still we like to see fair play and it really looks to us as though Mrs. Sperry, the retiring post mistress, had not received such treatment at the hands of Congressman Jones. On the whole, the present administration of the office, we believe, has been and is fairly satisfactory to its patrons. True, there has been some fault found with the service and doubtless with reason, but we should remember that perfection is never reached in country post offices and that the service here at all times would compare favorably with that of other rapidly growing towns.

Mr. Jones does not seem to be a howling success in the role of dispenser of public patronage. Certainly he has gained no glory in his handling of the Yakima post office. Under the circumstances it was neither justice nor good politics to force the present incumbent out of the office and the congressman will doubtless find that public sentiment in this community will not uphold him in doing so.

The DEMOCRAT has no objections to Lient. Lemon, the new appointee. He is a fine young man and is entitled to recognition. He is not to blame for the congressman's shortcomings in this matter. He is simply the beneficiary.

THE REPUBLIC last week attempted to call down the writer of a communication to this paper who stated that the post-mistress of this city was about to be ousted from her position in order to make room for the appointee of Congressman Jones. In commenting on the matter the senior organ with owl-like wisdom intimated very broadly that the writer, who prophesied a change soon, was talking through his hat and was not aware of what was going on within the charmed circle of the g. o. p. bosses. But, Oh, "What a fall is there my countrymen." Hardly had the ink become dry on the colonel's paper when the news was wired from Washington that Lient. Lemon's name had been sent to the senate for confirmation. Now all this shows a most deplorable lack of information, coming as it does from the fountain head of knowledge, locally speaking. The editor of our easy going contemporary is evidently not in the confidence of the "pap" dispensers at Washington. He ought either to make an effort to stand in or else quit the habit of speaking authoritatively.

The republican convention of Walla Walla county was held last Saturday and adopted a very peculiar platform. Levi Ankeny is hilariously endorsed for the senate, bouquets are thrown to Jones and Foster, but no mention is made of Cushman, who trains with John L. Wilson. On the railroad question the platform declares for the passage of a rate bill instead of a commission bill as advocated by Governor McBride. This was to have been expected. If it was seriously intended to pass a rate bill the Levites, under the existing alliance, would no doubt be hollering themselves hoarse for a commission bill.

THE DEMOCRAT is indebted to Prof. Henry Landes, state geologist and professor of geology at the state university, for a copy of his admirable report for 1901. The report of Prof. Landes and his assistants is compiled in a neat volume of 344 pages and is a concise treatise on the geological conditions of the different sections of the state. In addition the mineral and coal bearing sections of Washington are described and explained, which gives the work a practical value. Prof. Landes is entitled to credit for his valuable report, which is worthy of a place in any library.

THE SHEEPMAN'S Gazette, otherwise the Washingtonian, calls such old pioneers as J. P. Marks and Matt Stanton to task for asserting that the watershed of the Ahtanum has been almost destroyed through excessive sheep grazing. Our youthful contemporary denies the soft impeachment. Yes, of course, that is what it is here for. The fact remains, however, that fairminded men who know the old settlers referred to will be much more willing to take their testimony than that of any editorial critic who takes so much pride in championing a special interest.

THE FOREST fires that have been raging west of the mountains recently have left in their wake a path of ruin and desolation. It is a sad and sickening sight to behold the thousands of acres once covered with fine timber now a mass of charred stumps. This wholesale destruction of our timber resources ought to be stopped in some way. It may be said that the last disastrous fire was caused by accident, but there ought to be some means to prevent such accidents when it means a loss of a million dollars.

WHAT IS known as the "peace" ordinance, passed by the city council at its last meeting, appears in this issue. This ordinance is designed to supplant all existing ordinances regarding police regulations. We also publish this week an ordinance granting a franchise to the Cascade Lumber Company to construct a railroad along H street from Seventh street to a connection with the N. P. tracks.

THE democratic state committee which met in Seattle Wednesday named Tacoma as the place, and Sept. 16 as the time for the assembling of the democratic state convention. The convention will consist of 555 delegates, the apportionment being based on the vote of the Bryan presidential electors in 1900.

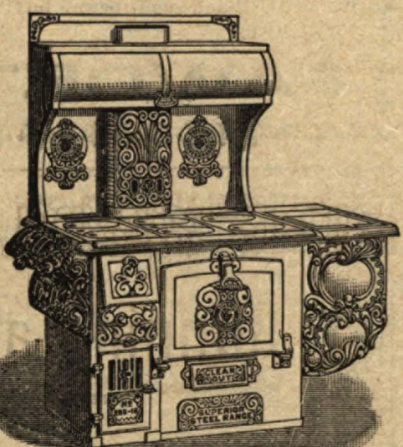

THE serious illness of King Edward knocked the extensive preparations for his coronation in London sky high. The financial losses suffered by tradesmen and seat speculators probably made that class of people feel as sick as did the king. It is to be hoped that the king will recover and live many years to wear his crown.

THE Washingtonian is booming Joel Shomaker for congress. Well, now, that's a happy thought. What is the matter with Joel? He's all right.

A Voice From the Tomb.

Grover Cleveland has at last come out of his political "retirement shell" and, while refusing to be a candidate for the presidency in 1904, when, if Cleveland lives, he will be 67 years of age, he offers some harmonizing advice to his democratic friends and incidentally pays his respects to the republican party. That is where Mr. Cleveland has made a fatal mistake. So long as he stayed in his political shell and trusted to his past reputation he was safe from attacks from republican critics. So long as Cleveland was throwing stones at Bryan and his followers Cleveland was a great man from a republican standpoint. But when Cleveland comes out of his shell and openly attacks the republican party for its wantonness, cruelty, extravagance and tariff folly—then instantly Grover Cleveland becomes the same old "political nonentity" that he was in his political prime. What a devil of a difference it makes with the republican editors as to "whose bull is gored!"—Seattle Times.

They were taken over Monday night by Deputy Sheriff Leach assisted by A. Johnson. Lumber Company Begins Operations

The Cascade Lumber Company on Monday rejected all bids for the excavation of its proposed mill pond on the ground of being excessive. The company started in Thursday to do the work itself, starting a number of men and teams at work. It will probably require 90 days to complete this work. The pond when completed will cover 50 acres and will hold from twelve to fifteen million feet of logs. The lowest depth of water in it will be four feet.

The contract will be let sometime next month for building and equipping both the saw mill and the shingle mill and it is calculated that both will be ready for operation by early winter. The mills cannot run steadily, however, before spring, on account of not having a sufficient supply of logs. G. S. Rankin expects to leave next week for the mountains to let contracts for cutting and banking three million feet of logs which will be rafted down the river during the high water this fall.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
