ATTACK PORT ARTHUR

Japanese Made a Terrific Assault on the Fort on October 24th -Russians Resist Furiously

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 31.-On the 24th the Japanese opened a very heavy the heavier but Coach Bever's training fire with artillery along the whole line, and continued the bombardment of the this. city harbor. The Russians replied furiously, the battle continuing until the afternoon of the 26th, when the Russian guns on Etz mountain and Rialung mountain became briefly silent. At 4 o'clock the Japanese swept into the Russian trenches between Rihlung mountain and the railroad, occupying them after hours of fighting. The Russians remained at their posts until the Japanese were within a few yards, both sides hurling hand grenades, the Japanese using a mechanical device, enabling them to hurl the grenades with rapidity and accuracy. The Japanese also succeeded after terrific fighting in driving the Russians from the perpendicular slopes of Rihlung mountain in the face of mines exploded by the Russians. All efforts of the Russians to retake the positions failed. Particulars of the battle on succeeding days are lacking, but it is known the Japanese operations assumed the proportions of a general attack yesterday.

Building Collapses.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 31.—The building occupied by the Continental Savings bank collapsed today as the result of the undermining of its walls for the foundations for a new building adjoining. Eight persons have been taken from the debris. Only one other, a negro saloon porter, is known to be under the ruins. The building was a four story brick structure.

The Football Game.

The football game between the North Yakima high school and the Sunnvside high school on Saturday at Sunnyside, closed as a tie game, the score being 6 to 6 after a battle warmly contested by both teams. Considering that this was the first game of the season for both teams, fine tea mwork was done. The Sunnyside team was considerably enabled the Yakima boys to overcome

Caseres made the only touchdown for Yakima by a strong play in the second half, after Earl Green had advanced the ball by a long run. Earl Green also made another sensational run, advancing the ball 25 yards. Captain Pentz was very much in evidence in leading the interference and in stopping hurdling. He kicked the ball squarely between the goal posts. Johnson, notwithstanding his light weight, very effectively tackled Sunnyside's heaviest players. Grover Green made a sensational tackle in the first half. Shaw as quarter back handled the ball very quickly. Spence Cox did very good work for Sunnyside, especially by hurdling. He made their only touchdown. The Yakima boys go to Ellensburg next Saturday. The Sunnyside high school will play the Yakima high school again on Thanksgiving at this place. A large attendance at this game is expected, as the score tied this time and it promises to be very interesting. J. P. B., '05.

A Ragtime Social,

Mrs. Shindler entertained in unique style a few of her friends yesterday afternoon with a "Ragtime social." The ladies were grouped about the rooms around tables on which were piles of and many colored silk rag strings. Several of the hostess' friends were dressed to represent country girls in short white dresses with bright colored ribbons on their braided hair and sashes and showy-colored silk bits of rags pinned about on shoulders and skirts. They furnished the ladies with needle and thread and tacked silk rags until the tap of the bell. Then each lady wound her strings into balls and handed them over to the judges to award the prizes for the largest and the smallest balls. Mrs. Horsley won the first prize, a lovely silver bonbon dish, and Mrs. Erwin the consolation prize, a beautiful cut glass almond tray. Mrs. Cline furnished the ragtime music and Mrs. Baylor sang in her customary charming manner, a delightful song which might be styled "ragtime."

The thirteen young ladies who so magnificently entertained a gathering of Yakima's elite society at the armory hall last evening were the recipients of overwhelming congratulations from everyone present. It was a Hallowe'en dancing party and befitting the occasion large pumpkin heads were hollowed out and carved into ghostlike faces which hung suspended from the rafters above. The young ladies could not have chosen a more suitable place to have a hollowe'en party than in the large, spacious and barnyfied armory. The electric illuminations were turned off in order to give the full effects as the candles within gave out its pale light; and while dancing to the sweet strains of a dreamy waltz, the soft ripple of silken skirts, the continual conversation in monotones and graceful figures gliding smoothly over the floor, all of which caused a feeling to exist that the "gnomes and sprites" had rewitched the very atmosphere. Measure.

TOKIO, Oct. 31.-Your correspondent has received most trustworthy information to the effect that the Japanese financiers have resolved on resolute measures to provide the war funds for the coming year. These measures are estimated to produce 770,000,000 yen, part from the new war tax and 550,000,000 from loans. With regard to the loans, several banks have pledged themselves to provide 300,000,000 yen. Of this, 100,000,000 yen will be taken by the Bank of Japan, and by the postal savings bank, and the remaining 150,-000,000 will be arranged for when the necessity arises.

Items Affected.

The chief items to be affected by the new war taxes are the salt monopoly and the silk fabrics, and the increased taxes will be also levied on land, incomes, business, etc. Further custom duties will also be imposed. The war taxes of the current year have been evidently felt very little and the additions of next year are not expected to cause any economic inconvenience. The ordinary expenditures, both central and local, will be boldly curtailed. There is every prospect that the diet will indorse this program.

Parker May Win Out.

Late advices from the east do not seem to justify the cocksureness assumed by Republicans regarding the election of Theodore Roosevelt to the presidency of the United States. As a matter of fact the election is in grave doubt. The claim of the Republican national committee that Mr. Roosevelt will receive not less than 305 and probably 312 electoral votes is merely being laughed at, Montana being the only northern state that Senator Scott of West Virginia is willing to concede to the Democrats.

This has been a most peculiar cam paign and no one outside of a lot of unusually smart Republican politicians can even guess as to the result. From this distance it looks as though new energy and a large amount of it had suddenly been injected into the Parker canvass and that the prospect for the statesman from Esopus had suddenly brightened in most of the doubtful

That there has been a movement of independent voters from Roosevelt to Rep.) Parker for several months in the east is a well attested fact. How large that movement is there is, of course, at present no means of knowing. Your independent voter is, as a rule, a quiet voter. He don't usually go about proclaim-He votes his convictions and lets it go

With New York and Indiana added to the south, New Jersey Connecticut, Montana, Colorado and Nevada would give Judge Parker 259 electoral votes, or 20 more than necessary. The last named three states it might be added, are practically conceded to Parker in many Republican esti-

The Republic in Tears.

The Yakima Republic last night conumed two columns of its valuable editorial space in a tearful appeal to Re publicans not to scratch the ticket. Col. Robertson lays aside his biting sarcasm for once and makes what looks like a heart to heart talk to his readers calling on them for the love of Abraham Lincoln and William McKinley to hold fast to the faith and save the old party from defeat.

The Republic is too late in making its appeal. The die is already cast. As election day approaches evidence multiplies that the people intend to rebuke the Republican leaders of this state in a way that they will remember for awhile. The people will simply rise in their might and smite them. The roar of anger that has swept the state from one side to another and back again since last May will find its expression in the ballot box. The people rightfully feel outraged at open and long continued corporation interference with their affairs and they will not tolerate it longer, besides they will gladly seize the opportunity to punish the men whom they consider betrayed

If the Republic and other newspapers that have affiliated with the lobby had been as solicitous about the people's welfare as they assume to be now in regard to the party's welfare they would not now find it necessary to resort to tears in the fruitless effort to hold the voters in line for a job lot of unworthy candidates.

No Wonder They Feel Aggrieved.

The P.-I. has figured up the value of the patronage at disposal of the governor in this state, and finds that it aggregates nearly a million dollars during the term of office, distributed among 346 employes and officers. Besides this, these employes will have the disbursing of appropriations aggregating nearly seems to think it would be a sin for the Republicans to lose that amount of What is their loss will be, however, prevent such abuses, other people's gain, and turn about, you know, is fair play.-Olympia Stan-

High-Priced Prosperity.

On July 1, 1897, not quite four months after the Republican party began the lease of power it has held ever since, the average cost of food, clothing and other necessary articles of consumption was $72.45 per head of our population. On Sept. 1, 1904, after a little over seven years of the blessings of Republican rule, it was $97,84, an increase of $25.39 per head, or $126.95 per family of five.

These are the official figures published by the Department of Commerce and Labor, lately under the control of Mr. Cortelyou. They show an increase in the necessary cost of living of over 35 per cent. That means that it takes $1.35 now to buy the things a dollar would have bought in 1897. It means that in order to be even just a man who was earning a dollar a day in 1897 ought to be getting $1.35 now, that one who was earning $2 ought now to be getting $2.70 and that one who was earning $3 ought to draw $4.05.

Going back before the state was admitted to the Union there was such a case, a case which became famous, not alone in this state but in the nation as well, a case in which the court brought the powerful and arrogant Northern Pacific railroad to its knees in humble submission. The case was entitled The State of Washington in the relation of H. N. P. Killed the Town.

The power of a railroad company to ear down any town along its line was forcibly illustrated in the Yakima City case. Because the road refused to construct a depot there and accept and deliver freight and passengers the town was throttled, its industries languished and its citizens ruined and discouraged moved their homes and business houses to the new town established by the railroad. This too, despite the fact that the court ruled in the case compelling the company to afford the town facilities, the delay in the matter making it possible for the company to carry out its purposes before the remedy could be applied through the courts.

Any railroad in the state could do the same tomorrow with any non-competitive point on its line. The Northern Pacific could do the same thing tomorrow or next week or next year with Kiona, or Ritzville, or Sprigue, the Great Northern could do it with Casamere or Ephrata or Harrington, the O R. & N. could do it with Elberton or two and a half millions more, and Albion or Endicott, and this power will continue in the hands of the railroad companies until a state railroad com-'pie" through their own foolishness. mission is established with power to determining those duties and enforcing

LUMBERMEN FOR TURNER

They Will Not Only Support Turner But a Railroad Commission as Well,

SEATTLE, Wash., Monday, Oct. 30. Joining hands in mutual confidence which the commission would effect. across the Cascade mountains in the common cause of railroad regulation the great lumber manufacturing interests of western Washington and the great agricultural interests of eastern Washington will this year present a united front in the tremendous struggle against railroad domination, railroad discrimination and extortion and seek, through the enactment of a railroad commission bill, to remedy the abuses under which they both are staggering.

The farmers of the eastern half of the state have been struggling in this cause for lo toese many years, but without the assistance of the vast interests on this side of the mountains they have been unsuccessful. This year the lumber interests are aroused as well, have resolved to throw off the railroad yoke and will join the farmers in good faith. seeking an exchange of support and assistance in a cause which should, long ago, have been made a common one.

The western Washington lumbermen have been slow to take the step which they have finally resolved to take: Their business depends no less vitally, but a little more closely upon the poljey of the railroads than does that of the agriculturists. The larger lumbermen have from time to time been granted favors by the railroads which their smaller competitors have not received. The ownership of some of the larger mills has a close relation to the ownership of some of the railroads, and these two influences have caused the lumbermen to seek their favors from the roads direct instead of through the medium of legislation.

But this policy has failed them. The railroad companies, after repeated conferences, after repeated arguments, after repeated delays have procrastinated while procrastination was possible, have promised while promises were acceptable, and have refused favors, or even justice, when promises and procrastination no longer served to satisfy the lumbermen. This policy has been pursued so long that the lumbermen have lost their patience and resolved to re verse their methods and go to the polls for relief, bearing aloft as their battle cry, "the issue of the campaign is the forty cent rate."

The lumbermen are not opposed to a railfoad commission. Quite the contrary many of them are enthusiastically in favor of that method of reaching the railroads and winning justice from them as a forced condition rather than a concession granted and meekly accepted as a favor. The most sincere and loyal friends of the commission cause on this side of the mountains, men who have made personal and political sacrifices in the fight for principle, men like Henry McBride and Harold Preston and Stanton Warburton, A. L. Black, Emerson Hammer, John T. Bibb, and W. H. Lewis, look upon the lumber manufacturers as natural allies in the contest, and the lumbermen themselves have lately come to look at the matter in the same light.

By making concessions to a few of the more prominent lumbermen the railroads have in the past been able to retain the lumbermen as their supporters in the cause they have waged against the agricultural and other industries. But they have been too inconsiderate of those allies, they have been too exacting themselves and too slow to appreciate the favors they have enjoyed, they have held back too long the one great bounty asked and demanded of them as an act of justice. the extension of the forty cent rate. making it necessary for the lumbermen to seek a new and stronger alliance, an alliance with those other interests in the state making common cause against the practices of the rail-

Wisconsin and Washington. A recent issue of the Record-Herald of hicago publishes an interview with lovernor LaFollette of Wisconsin in which the governor denied that he has my desire to go to the United States senate at this time. In his characteristic positiveness he said:

"But mark this: I have set out here in Wisconsin to do certain work. I have undertaken to compel the railways to pay a proper share of their taxes; to secure a primary election system which shall give the people direct power over all party nominations, and to pass a railway rate law which shall compel the roads to charge only reasonable rates and to abolish the atrocious system of rebates to favored shippers, which has created an industrial tyranny in Wisconsin and given the railway managers a power over commerce and politics and government which no men should be permitted to exercise in our country

"A part of this work is done, and a part remains unfinished. Until it is all finished I shall remain here at my post. I cannot and will not desert my task. To do otherwise would be unfair to the Ave. Mrs Alex Bowman, Manager. brave people of Wisconsin who have so loyally supported the principles for which I contend. Hence I shall not be a candidate for the senate. I have a publicans of the state, while they hate right to aspire to the senate if I wish, to admit the inevitable, yet, occasionbut I have not the right to do so at the ally confess their true sentiments upon expense of the work to which I have the outcome of the Turner-Mead race given some of the best years of my for governor. "Everything now looks

Washington.

They packed conventions in much the by a surprising majority." same way that the Tacoma convention was packed, though the bunco game of a "steering committee" is an advance he really believes in spite of the constep that must be credited up to western progress. But the making up of slates by hired lobbyists of the corporations which was practiced at Tacoma is exactly in line with the methods that had been pursued in Wisconsin for vears.

The election of Senator Turner and of friendly legislature will mark the beginning of the end of corporation domination in this state just as the election of R. M. LaFollette in Wosconsin marked the beginning of the end of railroad domination in that state.

The defeat of Mr. Mead and the rest of the Republican ticket will be notice to the railroad politicians that they must show more consideration for public interests than they manifested at Tacoma In neither Wisconsin nor in Washington is it proposed to do injustice to railroad corporations. It is insisted that a special tribunal shall be created-an inferior court"-whose jurisdiction shall extend to controversies between railroad companies and the people.

It is highly important that the appointment of the members of such a tribunal shall be made by an impartial authority and that the powers reposed in the tribunal shall be positive and complete, to the end that the people shall be relieved of the discriminations that are now practiced. In Washington the railroads have

A railroad commission appointed at the dictation of the railroad companies under a law drawn by a railroad attorney, as was the bill which Gov. Mc-Bride vetoed in 1903, would be a stupendous farce so far as affording any relief to the people. Such was the situation in Wisconsin for many years, or until LaFollette aroused the people to a full realization of the tyranny which the corporations exercised over them. A railroad commission in Washington appointed by a fair-minded executive who owes nothing to the railroad lobby will be in a position to measure out equities, while a commission appointed by the executive who was nominated by a dozen railroad men and elected, if elected at all, under the pressure of a supposed partisan majority, would be a burden to the people-affording them no relief from the injustices they suffer and one that would be pointed to as an evidence of the uselessness of railroad commissions.—Seattle Times.

Thinks Turner Will Win

Some of the most conservative relike a sweeping victory for Senator The work which Gov. La Follette of Turner," said Judge Bell of Seattle to Wisconsin has in hand and to which he a reporter for The Daily Democrat refers is similar to that which will de. Monday afternoon. "I am really survolve upon Gov. Turner of Washington prised at the number of republicans on immediately after his inauguration in the west side who are going to support January next. For many years the nim. It looks very much like King railroads had dominated the politics of county would just about break even or the Badger state. They controlled the at the best give Mr. Mead a very small nominating conventions, elected their plurality, and as for Pierce county, I tools to important offices and corrupted think there is no doubt about Mr. Turlegislators. In fact for years they did ner's carrying the county. He is gainjust what the corporations have odne in ing votes every day on the Sound and to be candid I think he will be elected Judge Bell is a good republican and will vote for Mead for governor, but ceded large vote Roosevelt will poll that Mr. Mead will be badly defeated on November 8th.

SPEED OF SHIPS. the Way Sallors Ascertain Have Many Knots They Are Going.

"How do you ascertain the speed of a ship?" is a question frequently addressed to naval men, and an explanation will therefore probably be of interest to many readers. There are several methods, says Army and Navy Illustrated, the commonest and most ancient being by the use of the log. This instrument consists of three parts, the logship, the line and the marks. The logship is a piece of wood about half an inch thick and shaped like a quadrant, with a piece of lead let in round the circular edge to make it float perpendicularly in the water. It is hung by lines at each angle, the three lines being joined together about two feet from the logship. Two of the lines are securely fixed to the ship, and the other has a bone peg at the end, which, being pushed into a hole in the ship. temporarily fastens it there.

From the point of juncture of the tree lines a sufficient length is measured, generally about 100 feet, to take the logship well clear of the slip's wash. This is called the "stray line" and is marked with a piece of bunting. From the bunting is measured 47 feet 3 inches and the line marked here with a piece of leather. Then another 47 feet 3 inches is measured off and marked with two knots, then another space the same length and marked with three knots. Half way between each batch of knots one single knot is made. The log line is then ready for

The space between the knots is found from the simple little rule of three sum-as 3,600 seconds (number of seconds in an hour) is to twenty-eight sec onds (length of sandglass), so are 6,080 feet (number of feet in a nautical mile) to the length of line required, which works out to 47 feet 3 inches.

To use the log four persons are required-two men to hold the reel on which the line is wound, the quartermaster to hold the glass and the midshipman of the watch to heave the log The last named puts the peg firmly in the logship and then gathers three or four coils of line in his hand, sufficient to admit of the logship being thrown well clear of the ship. He asks, "Clear glass, quartermaster?" "Clear glass, sir." comes the reply, and overboard go the logship and line, the reel rapidly revolving. Presently the middy feels the piece of bunting passing through his hand, and he gives the order, "Turn." The quartermaster turns the glass and watches the sand, while one "reeler" holds well over his head, so as to give the line fair play. When the sand has run out, "Stop!" cries the quartermaster. The midshipman grasps the line, assisted by the other "reeler," and looks for the nearest knot, finding a single one close to his hand. Then the line is hauled in, and four knots appear, which signify that the ship is going four and one-half knots through the water. The jerk of the line drags the peg from the logship, which now floats on its flat side and is easily hauled in. When a ship is going over four knots, a fourteen second glass is used, the speed being double that shown by the knots on the line.-Home Journal and News.

A Hearty Enter.,

There is a story in the French army of a captain who made a wager one day that a drummer of his company could eat a whole calf. The drummer, proud of his distinction, promised to do honor to the captain's compliment. Accordingly, a calf was prepared in various appetizing ways and was being promptly disposed of by the drummer. When he had finally consumed about three-quarters of the repast, he paused for another draft of wine and, placing his knife and fork on his plate, said to his superior officer, "You had better have the calf brought on, had you not, for all these little kickshaws will end in taking up room."

ONLY ONE WEEK REMAINS

TO CONSULT DR. DARRIN AT THE HOTEL YAKIMA.

His Visit to This City Expires Next Sunday, November 6th.

Dr. Darrin, the celebrated specialist, well known throughout the northwest, after a very successful visit in this city for the past week, during which hundreds of sufferers from all manner of diseases have been relieved and cured, wishes to announce that he will positively close his office in North Yakima next Sunday, Nov. 6.

Dr. Darrin has formulated a method of "Home Treatment" for the afflicted that live at a distance and those who can not possibly place themselves under "Office Treatment," whereby the suffering may be favored with his latest modes of cure, which in many cases gives instantaneous relief and soon effect a permanent restoration to health -which includes building up and reorganizing the whole constitution.

Dr. Darrin makes a specialty of all diseases of a chronic and obstinate daughter Florence. character that have for years or a lifetime resisted the ordinary modes of practice, and are the classes of maladies in the treatment of which he has become pre-eminent throughout the American continent, and especially on the Pacific coast, and by his success has achieved for himself an enviable reputa-

Numerous testimonials have appeared in this paper during the past few weeks fro mthose who thought they owed it to the doctor as well as hundreds of like sufferers to speak of the good work that had been done for them.

Few doctors have had such a large practice as this physician who has been visited by scores of people of this vicinity, and it is well to note that the doctor is not out alone for money as is proved by numerous cases of poor people he has treated, who were unable to turned Sunday from the Naches valley.

Hallowe'en Has Passed.

So far as could be learned at a late nour last night nothing very serious in the way of damages to property or troublesome inconveniences had been perpetrated by the prowlers who usually have their fun on this traditional night. Several gates were taken off, fences pulled down and business signs misplaced, but otherwise the evening was uneventful. The authorities were well reinforced and consequently kept the young men guessing

Poison In Walls. "As much as 46 per cent of organic matter has been found in plaster taken from the walls of a hospital ward in Paris." Statistics tell us that it is not uncommon to find air in public assembly rooms and even in dwellings containing from ten to fifteen times the amount of carbonic acld found in pure air. Of this gas Tomlinson says: "It acts as a poison. If we attempt to inhale it by putting the face over the edge of a beer vat the nostrils and throat are irritated so strongly that the glottis closes and inspiration becomes impossible." One need remain but half an hour in an unventilated room to have inhaled 600 times the foul and poisonous fluid; the blood

Tying a Horse to a Hole.

It has been discovered that the desert Indians, who have never been accredited with superabundant wits, have for many years employed a method of tying their horses to holes in the ground that is clever, unique and effective. The operation of tying a horse to a hole seems an impracticable and impossible one, for there is something decidedly intangible and unsubstantial about the hole. The operation is performed in this way: Kneeling on the hot sands, the Indians dig with their hands until they have made a hole about two feet deep. They then tie an immense knot in the end of the halter rope, lower it into the bottom of the bole, fill the hole with sand and then jump and sta) upon it until the earth over the knot is about as hard as sandstone.-London Magazine.

Cats and Cattle. In certain parts of southern Califor nia it is absolutely necessary to have cats to successfully raise cattle. The cows feed on a red clover which makes a superior quality of beef. This clover grew very sparsely until it was discovered that one farmer who had raised a large number of tabby cats always had fine clover fields. Investigation proved that the cats killed the field mice who killed the wild bees who fertilized the clover seeds by carrying the pollen from flower to flower, thus causing to seeds to sprout thickly every year. Now all the farmers have many cats. Practical Economy. A man whose impecunious condition is chronic and who borrows with the airy grace of a beau in an old comedy recently approached an acquaintance, all smiles and geniality.

"You're just the fellow I wanted to see," he said. "Could you lend me $5 for a minute?" "I could," said the acquaintance dryly, "but let me tell you how to save that $5. Wait a minute and you won't need it."

THE NEW WOMAN

She Speaks Her Mind

E had been a bad man. He had stolen. He had done most of A 1. Apply this office. the forbidden things. He would have been sent to the penitentiary, but suddenly a good girl who knew him somewhat interested herself in him. It was so dreadfully romantic and womanly to be interested in a criminal and forger! By and by the good gir! said she would marry the bad man and criminal if he would promise never, never to do so again, and then the two would go and begin life anew. She would pour out the fine womanly devotion of a lifetime on him and make a good man of him. Did the criminal himself think she could accomplish the job of making a man of him? the judge asked the bad man himself. "I think I can be a good man again if I have Angelina by my side to inspire me and help me," replied the bad man. Then the judge, touched by the tender romance of the thing and the womanly devotion of the girl, suspended sentence on the bad man to give him a chance. Society forgave him and welcomed him and almost made a lion of him. Just so. People who have been bad and say they will try to be good should always have a chance even if some woman has to sacrifice herself in the effort to make them good, and the result is not always worth the effort either. But what I want to know is this: Suppose the bad man had been a bad woman, with no more reputation than that criminal had, would some good man have married her and given his life to the effort to make her good, and if he had done so would society have applauded him, taken the woman to its arms and made even more of her because she had passed through the fires and been scorched? No. Society would have dropped both him and her like a hot potato, all except the new woman, that is. The new woman would have really given the ex-bad woman a chance and would have received her as an equal if she bore the test. That is one difference between the new woman and the Recently a manufacturing firm offered a series of prizes for the best photographs of outdoor scenery and some form of bicycling. There were two classes, one for women and the other for men, and one of the judges was a lady, Miss Edith J. Griswold. patent lawyer and expert in patent suits, herself an amateur photographer of ability. The highest prize in the contest was $100 in each class, the men's and the women's. The woman's first prize was won by Mrs. Nellie E. Cross of Concord, N. H., and in point of picturesque scenery her photograph surpassed all the rest, even that which won first prize in the men's

All our failures and disappointments are so many opportunities to learn lessons. That is all there is in them.

History informs us that the original reason why women first had to go veiled in the orient was that if they went about with uncovered faces beauty would lead men astray. Well, then, women in those days must have been far more beautiful than they are now, that's all.

Are you so loyal to your own sex that this can be said of you: "A woman is always safe in her hands?"

M. M. I went to a reception in one of the new lofty apartment hotels the other day. "How many stories high is this house?" I asked the elevator attendant "Thirteen," he answered. "Oh, that is called an unlucky number," I said. "Can they get guests to take rooms on that floor?" "Oh, they don't put nobody up there but the help. It don't make any difference about the help," said the man.

At a recent Chicago horse show the first prize for driving a four-in-hand coach was taken by a lady, Mrs. W. E. Woodend.

At a woman's parlor lecture which I attended last week the entrance hall was rather dark. On the threshold 1 walked upon one woman's long tailed gown before I was aware of it. Backing out to avoid that, I stumbled over another woman's train. Backing off to try it again, I found my way blocked to right and left by two other dress trains, long, shabby and unmistakably dirty. Half the women present dragged these unclean appendages behind them, and I noticed particularly that the cheaper and dingier the material the longer the vile train. On the whole, what wonder men consider women inferior intellectually?

A New York girl wholly ordinary looking, not nearly so handsome as two-thirds of the shop and factory girls of that city, spent $15,000 for new gowns to wear during the horse show week. She had never earned a cent of money in her life, and her father got his by sharp practice of various kinds. And yet some good people wonder at the growth of socialism in the world!

* * The New York state conference of charities and correction has decided that it is a cruel wrong to put child offenders in jail, but that they should be sent to reformatories, where they will be put to school and have trades taught to them, and that even their names should be so far as possible kept from the public. The world does move, does it not?
