

Many Cards Issued For County Library

More than 130 library cards are on record for county residents, and 350 books have been checked out since July 1 at the city library, Miss Carol Trimble, county librarian, states.

Many persons, after being registered for a card, ask the price, Miss Trimble says. They have forgotten that the county library was provided for by a levy voted at the last election. The county board has evolved a method of paying the city library for its use on a circulation basis through this levy, she explained. Any book at the city library can be checked out by a county resident under the arrangement.

Miss Trimble has completed her lot of children's books for the new library and expects to place them on order this week.
