NEW INDUSTRY FOR YAKIMA

The Manufacture of Artificial Granite, Brick and Various Forms of Earthenware has Begun in this City--

Will Figure Largely in the Upbuilding and Beautifying of North
Yakima and Vicinity.

Yakima has a new industry! Probably the majority of our people were not aware of that fact, or if they were, had only taken casual notice of it, and had not yet realized the great importance of it. To all such, a visit to the salesroom of the newly established Artificial Granite works, located at 108 South Second street, would no doubt be a revelation.

The Democrat scribe paid a visit to the new factory one day this week, and was filled with amazement at what he saw, as he had never dreamed that so many useful and beautiful things could be so easily and quickly transformed from the raw materials of sand, cement and the chemicals used in connection therewith. He didn't, of course, find out much about the chemicals used, as that is one of nature's secrets that the proprietors have got onto, and which they don't care to talk about.

The members of this new firm which is operating the factory are all late arrivals from Whatcom, where they also operate a similar plant, which is now growing to large proportions. Their names are as follows: Geo. L. Brown, who is manager, L. J. Brown, Charles Scott and D. G. Burkett. They are all interested in the new venture here and are pleasant gentlemen to meet. They came here some four weeks ago, to look at the town and surrounding country. They were pleased with the outlook and concluded that North Yakima was a good place in which to establish their industry. They secured the location named and promptly went to work without any ado about the matter. They have already received a number of good sized orders for their product and are well satisfied with their future prospects.

Although the art of making stone is a comparatively new one, the tests that have been applied to determine the solidity and strength of the manufactured article are said to have been very thorough. The tests have shown that it will withstand a pressure of 33 tons to the square inch, which it would seem ought to certainly give the artificial product permanent value as a building material. The finished stone after it has had about 20 days time to season seems to be as hard as natural granite and calculated to withstand the ravages of centuries. The owners of the plant say that their product is equally as cheap, if not cheaper than the natural granite dressed.

In addition to stone, brick will be manufactured for the builders' use, at a price that will, it is thought, enable them to compete successfully with pressed brick. The list of useful and ornamental articles, in fact, that can be made from the same raw material, is a long one. Included in the list is tiling for sidewalks, porch columns, flower circles, grave walls, monuments and bases, vaults, chimneys and numerous other things.

The proprietors of the new factory are satisfied that their output will meet all reasonable expectations and prove its lasting value either for building or ornamental purpose and are prepared to fully guarantee their work. As noted at the outset of this article, they feel fully convinced of the splendid future in store for this favored section and naturally anticipate a large and increasing market for their output, a fact, they think, which is sure to be realized as soon as the public here becomes familiar with the permanent value of their product and its comparative cheapness.

A visit to the exhibition room in the larger Cadwell block is well worth the time expended.

Local Growers Pleased.

Orlando Beck, Edward Remy, Robert Johnson, W. L. Wright, W. D. Thompson and C. C. Shearer, North Yakima's representatives at the meeting at Spokane of the Inland Empire Horticultural and Floricultural Society, returned much pleased with the results obtained. Said Mr. Beck: "Our local union became an auxiliary of the greater body and our Mr. Wright was chosen vice president. There were other evidences of the light in which the growers of this valley are viewed by the Inland Empire growers. We had our share in the discussions and our mingling with others and exchanging views has been of benefit to us as individuals and through the local union to the growers here in general, as a member of the larger body, we shall have greater facilities than heretofore."

THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

An Interesting and Profitable Meeting--A Digest of the Proceedings.

Mayor Shaw on Tuesday opened the Yakima County Horticultural Union's institute and President Ira P. Englehart gave the welcome on behalf of the Commercial club. Washouts and other troubles of the railroad impeded the progress of the stated speakers and State Inspector Van Holderbeke did not arrive until Wednesday. Patriarchal Joseph Lannin of Sunnyside, gave an address on the growing of fruit and its benefits to mankind when fruit is taken internally in its natural state.

Inspector Van Holderbeke talked Wednesday of irrigation as applied to fruit culture. In the afternoon he gave a talk on conditions of tree planting with many valuable hints as to time of planting and preparation of the soil for young trees.

"Dairying and Feeding" was the topic discussed by Guy McL. Richards, and in the course of a well received lecture he pointed out many mistakes made by dairymen in conducting diet of milk-producing cows.

Thursday morning's session was occupied by an address by Inspector Van Holderbeke on the culture of the cherry and some of its diseases, especially the exudation of gum from the trees. Prof. Huntley of the State Agricultural college, joined in recommending that the gummed parts be scraped and the wounds painted thickly with shellac.

J. M. Brown of this city, talked of spraying for scab and the codlin moth. His experiments had convinced him that spraying every twelve days up to the late fall was the only completely efficient campaign against the pests named. He preferred kerosene emulsion a liquid of 50 gallons of water carrying one pound of paris green, 12 of lime and eight of salt, as being more easily handled and evenly distributed.

On Thursday afternoon there were talks by Orlando Beck on pruning, by Edward Remy on strawberry cultivation and by Prof. Huntley on tomato culture. Much interest centered on a demonstration by L. B. Kinyon of ideally perfect packing of fruit, a topic which has been much discussed in the local union and which was of much benefit to the inexperienced packer. The three points in which most novices fail, Mr. Kinyon said, were grading, placing the fruit tightly in the boxes and lack of adherence to a standard of color for apples in the same box.

Resolutions were passed asking the legislature to appropriate $60,000 for state exhibits at both the St. Louis and Portland expositions; also for $5,000 for defraying expenses of Pullman college experts who speak at farmers' institutes in the state.

This closed the business sessions, each of which was considered very successful in stimulating thought and giving hints to the less informed growers. In the evening a musical and literary program and banquet was enjoyed.

New City Officials.

Candidates for city jobs were set at rest on Monday night by the new city council. No other business was transacted except to order a warrant for $90 in favor of G. H. Moulton for work in constructing a sidewalk on the east side of North First street.

At the election of officers Councilmen Fisher and Aikins were tellers. There were four applicants for the place of marshal, John N. Mull, John A. Walker, C. H. Lang and Ed Farmer. The first named received 5 votes and the other two went to Farmer.

For night watch, A. J. Villanme received five votes and Alex Starrett one vote.

J. A. Taggard's was the only name before the council for police judge and he was chosen by acclamation.

C. G. Wands and H. F. Marble were candidates for the office of city engineer. The former received six votes and the latter one.

The election of a city sexton was postponed for one week while the cemetery committee looks up the matter of landscape gardening at Tahoma.

Six men were in the race for city scavenger, A. M. Keener, W. W. Curry, Taylor Pyles, Berry Meadows, David Black and John A. Sandmeyer. Curry was elected, receiving four votes, while Sandmeyer got three.

No street commissioner was named.

Saloon for Kennewick.

One of the questions which has vexed the county commissioners for several months has been the petition to grant a saloon license for Kennewick. Citizens objected on the ground that sale of liquor in the town would be a bad thing while large gangs of men were working on the Kennewick ditch. The new board has granted a license to become effective after April 1st, when Kennewick will rank with Mabton and Zillah in this branch of up-to-dateness.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT,

JOHN DAVID MEDILL,
Editor and Publisher.

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

One Dollar Per Year—In Advance.

Published every Saturday morning at the Democrat Printing House on First Street, North Yakima, Washington.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

A LATE news dispatch states that the Standard Oil company has practically acquired control of the great Beaumont oil fields in Texas and is now at work to also secure control of the Bakfield district in California. With the acquisition of the product from these two heavily producing districts the Standard Oil crowd, headed by John D. Rockefeller, will be in a position to again absolutely control the oil market of the country. In fact, the recent advance in the price of oil can safely be attributed to the buying up of the Texas gushers by the monopolists and further advances can be confidently looked for.

Meanwhile, that pious old fraud, Rockefeller, the chief conspirator, goes on teaching his Sunday school class and pointing the way Heavenward to the callow youths who sit at his feet imbibing religion and worldly wisdom as it falls from the lips of the great oil king, who probably is entitled to the distinction of being the richest man on earth. "It is every man's duty," said this great teacher to his class one day, "to secure all the wealth that he can in this world and then give it away."

What a travesty it is upon real religion that such a man as Rockefeller should set himself up as a teacher of the precepts of Christ, who while on earth sternly rebuked all such as he and who in turn was reviled and persecuted by canting Pharisees who assumed that their wealth and social position protected them from criticism and supplied the necessary passport to Heaven.

If justice was administered as it ought to be in this country, the hypocritical Mr. Rockefeller would now be in prison as the penalty for conspiring against the public welfare instead of teaching false and misleading doctrines to a handful of gilded youths in a Baptist Sunday school.

The election of Representative Hare of this county to the speakership of the house at Olympia this week was a good deal of a surprise to the most of his constituents. If that gentleman has succeeded in winning such an honor without compromising in any way the interests of the people of this county he is to be congratulated, but if such is not the case he is likely to find the prize dearly bought.

The Spokesman-Review and other papers are freely charging that "Doc" Hare secured the speakership in pursuance of a bargain with the railroad lobby and the Ankeny "push" and it must be admitted, if there is any truth in what the correspondents say, that it is to that combined influence that "Doc" owes his elevation to the speakership.

Hare, however, stands pledged to vote for an appointive railroad commission bill and has all along stated that he would keep his promise. The Democrat is inclined to believe that Hare will certainly keep his pledge to vote for a commission bill, but at the same time it need not surprise anybody if he uses the prestige of the speakership as a powerful lever with which to defeat the measure.

The way the present legislature is starting out it promises to become the most extravagant in the history of the state, which in view of the records made by past legislatures is saying a great deal. The pressure for soft jobs from hungry republican place hunters has been very strong and the house already has on its pay rolls about 70 hangers-on. "Four doorkeepers," says the Spokesman-Review, "think of it! One is constrained to believe that this warehouse in which the legislature meets is all doors, or that physical force is to be brought into play when there is an attempt to dodge votes on important measures."

SOMEbody is telling now about the way Levi Ankeny got the benefit of a threshers' opinion of himself in eastern Oregon. It seems that Ankeny was nosing around a steam thresher, incog., like the grocer who imprisoned flies in the sugar and then went to see if the clerks had let them out, when he found a man feeding the engine with wheat instead of straw. Taken to task about what the owner would say to such proceedings, the feeder said: "Oh, never mind him. He's an old duffer in Walla Walla who's got wheat and newspapers to burn."—Washington Recorder.

THE men who are talking about their prosperity are the ones who plunge and run in debt during good times. The man who is prudent, pays for what he gets and refrains from buying what he does not need seldom has occasion to complain of hard times. "Hard times" are brought on by the "other fellows."—Seattle Times.

THE press reports from Olympia the first of the week stated that Senator Splawn of this county declined to bind himself in the democratic legislative caucus to vote for the reelection of Senator George Turner "first last and all the time." The resolution was offered by Senator Graves of Spokane county and was assented to by all the democratic members, except Splawn and Moore of King county.

THE DEMOCRAT hardly believes that the passage of such a resolution was the wisest thing to do in the premises but we believe that the closer the democrats in the legislature live up to such an agreement the better it will be for themselves and the party generally in the state. Senator Turner cannot be elected at this time, it is true, but every democrat in the legislature was sent there to vote for him and for nobody else.

Senator Splawn of this county is charged with a desire to vote for Levi Ankeny for senator, especially in the event that his vote should be absolutely needed to elect the Walla Walla man. The DEMOCRAT hopes that this report is a libel upon Mr. Splawn and that he has no serious intentions of doing anything of the kind. The election of Ankeny would be a disgrace to the state and if any democrat should aid in such a consummation he would simply put himself without the pale of pure democracy.

The democratic party of this county and all other counties in the state did not labor night and day to elect members of the legislature for the purpose of going to Olympia to vote for the most obnoxious republican in the entire list, a man who is freely charged with spending his great wealth to buy a senatorship.

THE Blade has called attention to the fact that both the republican and democratic state conventions adopted a resolution calling on the legislature to pass a law authorizing the governor to appoint members of a railroad commission, and that the acts of the state convention were binding on the members of the legislature for the reason that all nominations and elections were purely partisan, the majority of the delegates to conventions being given power to forecast and demand certain legislation.

In view of these facts, the Blade considers that vilification and abuse of Governor McBride is not only unjust but outrageous, because the governor insists on party pledges being kept—Whatcom Blade.

THE men of Kennewick are evidently of the right material to make a town with a healthy moral tone. Last week 33 citizens of that place made up their minds simultaneously that the tough element should not be permitted to run their town and forthwith proceeded to put the idea into execution. The hoboes and questionable characters were rounded up and escorted over the Columbia river bridge and emphatically warned never to come back. Good for Kennewick. Here's a two to one bet that the little town on the Columbia is going to become a city.

Now that Representative Hare is clothed with the dignity of the speakership, Captain Dunn will be expected to speak out in stentorian tones from the floor of the house when the bill comes up for the division of this county. "Ah weel, ye canna do that now." The canny Scot will doubtless stand by his guns at any rate.

THE Tacoma News on the 12th, issued a very creditable special edition which is well illustrated and contains a vast fund of interesting information relative to Tacoma and the state. Joel Shomaker, the well known writer of this city, contributed in a large measure to the success of the News' "prosperity" edition.

"DOC" HARE ran like a scared rabbit in the race for the speakership, distancing all competitors. "Doc's" elevation to the speakership of the second from that of the "third house" is a very substantial recognition of that gentleman's pull with the law makers.

New Boarders at Hotel Grant.

Ed Shattuck, accused of petit larceny in taking a large car tarpaulin from a Northern Pacific car last October, was fined the limit, $99 and costs on Tuesday and sent to jail in default of cash.

Fred R. Parker, also known as the Fred R. Lewis who forged checks a few weeks ago on Lombard & Horsley, plead guilty in police court on Tuesday and was held for the superior court on a charge of forging the name of W. L. Splawn to a small check.

Anderson, the young Spokane man accused of sneak thievery at the Varker House, has been sentenced by Judge Rudkin to pay a fine of $100 and spend one month in the county jail.

Black List Forming.

Within the past few days an agreement has been made between the proprietors of the leading stores of the city which will practically result in the establishment of a black list containing the names of customers who have been unreasonable in the matter of credits. There are many delinquents and the merchants are combining in protest against abuse of the credit system. An interchange of credit experiences is in preparation and after the list is made out those whose names appear will not be given credit at any of the stores which are in the agreement.

What Are We Going To Do About It

Science tells us that monstrosities tend to their own destruction. Other conditions being equal, the dwarfed and puny animal, plant or human being succumbs, according to that law known as: "The survival of the fittest." It is thus in social, political and economic life. Those policies, which are founded on artificial relations, and are out of square with the principles of truth, must sooner or later give way to which is founded upon justice. The upward swing of the pendulum is equal to its backward movement. The trusts are founded upon privileges entrenched behind class laws, wherein the rights of the many are invaded. If these laws were repealed the people would recover their rights. Conditions would then become healthful and normal. It is only through these laws that combines are enabled to oppress the masses. The best way to control that which is evil, is not by palliative measures, but to root it out and relieve it of the capacity to do harm. We are now approaching the crisis where the small dealers are continually being eliminated from our economic system. They find that they cannot compete with the larger concerns that get especial favors and can buy cheaper, are compelled to throw up the sponge and join the ranks of unemployed laborers. Meanwhile the cost of living advances. Having eliminated competition, the trusts have the consumers at their mercy. It will soon become a serious question: "Where we will get off at." Our representatives and statesmen are up against it hard.—Cle Elum Echo.

The National Bank Elections.

Tuesday was annual election day with both of the National Banks of this city and the showing made of the past year's business by the officers of the two institutions to the stock holders was very gratifying.

No change was made in the personnel of officials of the Yakima National, except that L. L. Thorpe succeeds H. K. Sinclair as vice president. The executive officers for the ensuing year are: George Donald, president; L. L. Thorpe, vice president; J. D. Cornett, cashier; Frank Bartholet, assistant cashier.

The stock holders of the First National elected the old board of directors, namely: W. M. Ladd, Chas. Carpenter, W. L. Steinweg, H. B. Scudder and W. B. Dudley. The board of directors in turn reelected W. M. Ladd, president; Chas. Carpenter, vice president; W. L. Steinweg, cashier; A. B. Cline, assistant cashier. The First National declared a dividend of ten per cent for the past six months which in addition to the ten per cent dividend declared in July last makes twenty per cent for the year ending Dec. 31. In addition the sum of $10,000 was set aside as undivided profits.

Deranged By a Fall.

James Baker, a man well known in this city and the Yakima valley as a mover of buildings, met with an accident which may result in permanent mental derangement. Baker was driving along a road on the reservation, when he fell from his seat. A wheel injured his chest and his head was bruised. On Tuesday he was brought to the city and soon exhibited signs of violent dementia and was placed by the sheriff in charge of a physician. It was not thought that the unfortunate man would recover his mental equilibrium.

Baker was yesterday on recommendation of examining physicians adjudged incompetent and committed by Judge Rudkin to Medical Lake, whither he was taken last night by Deputy Sheriffs Edwards and Johnson.

DEATHS.

Death of Mrs. Gunn.

Mrs. Nellie C. Gunn, wife of Dr. T. B. Gunn of this city, died at St. Luke's hospital, Chicago, Tuesday night, as the result of an operation performed several weeks ago for the removal of a tumor. The news was received by Edgar and Ben, the two sons of the deceased, the same evening, by a telegram from their father, in which he stated that he would start for Yakima with the remains the following evening.

Mrs. Gunn was in her fiftieth year at the time of her death and had resided in this city about 14 years, coming here with her husband and children from Memphis, Mo. She was a woman of many lovable qualities and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. For the past three or four years she had suffered intensely from the dangerous malady with which she was afflicted, all of which she bore with splendid fortitude. Her family and friends had hoped that she would survive the dangerous operation that was deemed necessary, but it seems that she did not have the necessary strength to do so. The remains will probably reach this city Sunday.

Bertha V., daughter of Naton H. Ruby, died on Monday at the family home in Yakima city, aged three months.

J. H. Perham, aged 59 years, died Sunday of heart disease, at his home in the Moxee country.

The Zillah Dramatic club is presenting "Ten Nights In A Bar Room" at Larson's theater as the DEMOCRAT goes to press. This company, which is said to be made up of excellent amateur material, has played to large houses recently at Zillah, Sunnyside and Prosser.

Court Notes.

Charles H. Hodge, accused of embezzling from the Yakima Tea Company, has been held for the action of the superior court.

Mary V. Smith is suing H. F. Smith for divorce and division of community property.

Charles E. Jones is suing J. M. Perry for salary alleged to be due the plaintiff for services rendered the latter while he was manager of the Yakima County Horticultural Union.

The annual election of the Commercial club will occur on the 27th. Two complete tickets are in the field headed respectively by Col. Whitson and Col. Cannon for the office of president.

Articles of incorporation of the Republic Publishing company of this city have been filed—$10,000 capital stock, 50 year term, two trustees for the first two months, W. W. Robertson and E. L. Boardman.

The monthly meeting of the Musical Club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. H. Lombard, with a good attendance and a well rendered program.

Walter J. Reed leaves this week for a visit with his brother, Prof. Reed, at Redlands, Cal.

Jewel Word Contest.

The Sorrowful Tree.

There is a tree in Persia to which the name "the sorrowful tree" is given. Perhaps because it blossoms only in the evening.

When the first star appears in the heavens the first bud of the sorrowful tree opens, and as the shades of night advance and the stars thickly stud the sky the buds continue gradually opening until the whole tree looks like one immense white flower. On the approach of dawn, when the brilliancy of the stars gradually fades in the light of day, the sorrowful tree closes its flowers, and ere the sun is fully risen not a single blossom is visible. A sheet of flower dust as white as snow covers the ground around the foot of the tree, which seems blighted and withered during the day, while, however, it is actively preparing for the next nocturnal festival. The fragrance of the blossoms is like that of the evening primrose.

If the tree is cut down close to the roots, a new plant shoots up and attains maturity in an incredibly short time.

In the vicinity of this singular tree there usually grows another, which is almost an exact counterpart of the sorrowful tree, but less beautiful, and, strange to say, it blooms only in the daytime.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Bride With Some Good Points.

Some years ago in an agricultural district there lived a farmer who wanted to sell one of his cows. There was not at that time a weekly paper in which he could advertise, so he resolved to follow a local custom and ask the vicar of the parish when giving out his notices at church to advertise the cow.

"Yes, farmer," said the vicar, "I should be willing to oblige you, but you don't attend my church."

Presently, however, they struck a bargain that the vicar should advertise the cow, and the man in return promised to go to church.

Now, unfortunately the man was deaf, and on the Sunday following when the vicar gave out the banns of marriage between Joseph So-and-so, bachelor, and Sarah So-and-so, spinster, the farmer took it for granted that the vicar was giving out particulars of his cow and shouted out:

"You might as well say while you are about it that she is a most gentle creature and entirely free from vice!" —Stray Stories.

The Clothes Moth.

We may marvel at grubs growing fat and succulent upon such unpromising fare as old timber affords, but that achievement is improved upon by the insects that prefer to draw their entire nutrition from woolen fabrics, fur, horsehair, feathers, tanned leather and the like and apparently without ever a desire to "wet their whistles" by anything of a juicy nature. Any small, silvery winged moth that is seen flitting about the house is regarded as a "clothes moth," but every one killed is not an enemy, for there are a number of moths of similar size and appearance that come from outdoors and have been occupied as grubs in destroying green leaves. It is a common error to suppose that it is the clothes moth that does the mischief, though by destroying the moth we prevent the laying of innumerable eggs from which come the consuming larvae, whose cutting jaws would be actively and incessantly employed in mutilating choice fabrics and valuable furs. These caterpillars are rarely seen by the housewife because their first care on leaving the egg is to disguise or hide themselves.

The clothes moth proper has yellowish gray wings, with three or four indefinite brownish spots upon them, and in consequence of its marked preference for furs it is known to science as Tinea pellionella.—Good Words.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Wrong Mr. Wright," Tuesday, Jan. 20.

The San Francisco Examiner of Dec. 29, in commenting on Mr. Harry Beresford's production of "The Wrong Mr. Wright" which will appear at Larson's theatre next Tuesday evening, Jan. 20, has the following to say:

"There is a clever company at the California this week, headed by Harry Beresford, who made his first appearance here last night in 'The Wrong Mr. Wright.' Familiar as the farce is from the days of Roland Reed, who introduced it here, it is yet good for a hilarious evening at any time. The story is ingenious and amusing and excellently worked out and comical complications sustain the interest until the closing curtain. Beresford, who has the role of Seymour Sites, the San Francisco millionaire who is mistaken for his defaulting cashier, Adolphus Wright, brings to his work a dry drollery that is very effective. He made a distinctly favorable impression with the audience last night, contriving to make the most of the very amusing situations in which the farce involved him.

Mr. Beresford is very well supported, the female side of the cast being unusually competent. Emma Dunn, who has a taking voice that she uses prettily in a specialty song, also gives a good performance as Tilly Bird, and Annie Leonard does clever work as a female detective. Praise is also due to Roy Lennard and Alfred Rumble, and the performance goes with a vim throughout. 'The Wrong Mr. Wright' should see good houses."

"The Auctioneer," Jan. 22.

David Warfield will be at Larson's Theatre on Thursday, Jan. 22, in "The Auctioneer." His character of Simon Levi is a delightful picture of the New York east side Jew, presenting his pathetic as well as humorous traits and is wholly free from offensive burlesque features. Warfield's rise has been very rapid and no actor in America, it may be said without exaggeration, holds a firmer position in the public esteem than does this gifted comedian. His performance in "The Auctioneer" has received the highest praise from the best critics in America, and his appearance is unusually eagerly anticipated by the public. He will bring to this city the same company which supported him last year and the production will be of that artistic excellence which marks every theatrical enterprise directed by Mr. David Belasco.

"Human Hearts," Jan. 23.

That great and beautiful drama, "Human Hearts," will be presented at Larson's Theatre on Friday, Jan. 23. "Human Hearts," a companion play to, but entirely different from "Shore Acres," is regarded as one of the best American stage productions of the past ten years. When any play by a comparatively unknown author first merits attention enough to secure an opening and then goes onto the stage of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and continues one whole season without cessation, it is a guarantee of its qualified power and its real merit as well, as the Fifth Avenue Theatre clientele is one that will not tolerate even a tolerably good one for long. But let it be in moral claim, in its scenes and situations not overdrawn, and in its character painting and dialogue true to nature in the absolute, then let it be enacted by only the masters of the dramatic art, and all New York will forsake the house where "chaff" and comedy, aye, even the lighter charming opera and modern English burlesque hold sway, to pay tribute to the work of any brainy author, who, through the medium of the stage, holds up to them a true picture of American life. Such was the experience of "Human Hearts," and now in its seventh season, with almost the identical cast that presented it for a year in New York, it comes to Larson's Theatre, Friday, Jan. 23. It should undoubtedly meet with the generous welcome that has ever been accorded it by the American people throughout the land.

Vestal Virgins.

Ovid tells us that the first temple of Vesta at Rome was constructed of wattle walls and roofed with thatch, like the primitive huts of the inhabitants. It was little other than a circular covered fireplace and was tended by the unmarried girls of the infant community. It served as the public hearth of Rome, and on it glowed, unextinguished throughout the year, the sacred fire which was supposed to have been brought from Troy and the continuance of which was thought to be linked with the fortunes of the city.

The name Vesta is believed to be derived from the same root as the Sanskrit, which means "to dwell, to inhabit," and shows that she was the goddess of home, and home had the hearth as its focus. A town, a state, is but a large family, and what the domestic hearth was to the house that, the temple of the perpetual fire, became to the city. Every town had its vesta, or common hearth, and the colonies derived their fire from the mother hearth.

Should a vestal maiden allow the sacred fire to become extinguished she was beaten by the grand pontiff till her blood flowed, and the new fire was solemnly rekindled by rubbing together of dry wood or by focusing of sun's rays. The circular form and domed roof of the temple of Vesta were survivals of the prehistoric huts of the aborigines, which were invariably round.—Cornhill Magazine.

Origin of the Word Sterling.

The origin of the word "sterling" is very curious. Among the early migrants of coin in northern Europe were the dwellers of eastern Germany. They were so skillful in their calling that numbers of them were invited to England to manufacture the metal money of the kingdom. The strangers were known as "eastlings." After a time the word became "sterling," and in this abbreviated form it has come to imply what is genuine in money, plate or character.

I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons, needing a medicine for throat or lung troubles." And Kennewick is still all right, and on the up grade.

Our winter story two weeks ago was a true one, and every stranger that comes into the office says he never saw the equal of Kennewick's winter climate.

A number of Odd Fellows gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson on Wednesday night in honor of the anniversary of Mrs. Johnson's father, L. F. Paetow, an old time member of the order.

Contrary to expectations based on the most reliable advices, the Northern Pacific resumed running its trains over the mountains on Monday. It was thought last week that more time would be needed to reconstruct the damaged portions of the roadbed. The old schedule is now in force and trains run regularly between here and the Sound cities.

For several days this week petty thieving has been going on in some of the stores. Eugene Prentiss, a fourteen-year-old lad, was caught in the act of trying to sell gloves on the street. City Marshal Mull made the arrest. The lad threw away a revolver and cartridges and when arrested told the officer that he had taken four pairs of gloves from the Star Clothing company's store.

Adjutant General Drain was here Monday, and with the assistance of Regimental Quartermaster Lemon, conducted an examination that night of officers of the local company. First Lieutenant Dulin took the examination for the vacant captaincy; Second Lieut. Curry for promotion to first lieutenant, and Sergeant Wright for that of second lieutenant. The result will be made known from Olympia in a few days.

The DEMOCRAT does not often err in its local news department, but it did in one instance last week when it was noted in these columns that a daughter was born on the 7 inst. to Prof. and Mrs. L. M. Scroggs. The way the item should have read was that a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Sloggy, who reside on Kittitas avenue. It is hard to locate the responsibility for the mistake as between our local editor and the physician in charge. The joke, however, is on us, rather than on the good looking professor of the High school and his amiable wife.

Meade W. R. C., installed the following officers on Saturday afternoon. President, Susie Kussmaul; S. V. president, Anna Oliver; J. V. president, Ella Deane; secretary, Emma Farmer; treasurer, Louise Henderson; chaplain, Anna Tuesley; conductor, Sarah J. Osborn; assistant conductor, Elizabeth Lovell; guard, Eunice Sheldon; assistant guard, Nellie C. Coombs; patriotic instructor, Lottie Deane; musician, Mrs. Turnell; color bearers, Sarah Allen, Barbara Reed, Amanda Druse, Jennie Bull. Installation of the officers of the G. A. R. Post followed, after which the members of both orders and a number of visitors partook of a delicious lunch in the banquet hall.

New Officials Start In.

Monday was the day when the new county officials took formal charge of their offices. In only one instance was there a complete change in the office personnel, the sheriff's. Sheriff Grant and his chief deputy, W. A. Cox, were in charge, but asked former Chief Deputy Sindall to remain for a time in order to assist in acquainting the new officials with details of the routine work of the office. The new officials are: Sheriff, Ronald A. Grant, W. A. Cox, and John M. Edwards, deputies; auditor, W. B. Newcomb and Wilbur Crocker, deputy; treasurer, E. G. Peck and A. A. Clark, deputy; clerk, J. W. Day and E. E. Cleaver, deputy; assessor, Harry Coonse who has not yet named a deputy. Mr. Lince is the chairman of the new board.

The Stockmen Meet.

Sheep men and cattle men who desired permits for grazing on the Rainier and Washington forest reserves met Superintendent D. B. Shellar and Supervisor Allen on Tuesday and Wednesday and made application for grazing. It is understood that applications for one-half more sheep and one-third more cattle have been received this year than in 1902, owing to the taking up of range land for farming purposes. At the meeting on Tuesday of the Washington Wool Growers' Association, S. J. Cameron was made inspector to look out for scab. Secretary Nichols said that all other business was routine.
