THE JUBILEE MINSTRELS.

A Large House Grooms the Amateur Company Thursday Night.

Larson's theater was filled almost to its full capacity Thursday evening by an appreciative audience which was kept constantly amused for over two hours with the laughable performance interspersed with good singing and local hits given by the Jubilee Minstrels in aid of the Daisy Boyle fund. The affair seemed to be a complete success in every way and the fact was amply demonstrated that North Yakima has the talent with which to put up any kind of a show.

The curtain raiser, the "Honey Moon of the Reuben and the Maid" tickled the audience because of the originality of the idea. George Tuesday made a splendid Reuben, while Frank Farquhar acted the part of the country maid to perfection. The makeup of the pair was quaint and the received numerous compliments.

The three end men G. S. Vance, A. A. Tylee and H. P. Bell and the trio of ladies on the other end. Mesdames Burns, Arnold and Miss Gilman kept the audience in good humor with an assortment of fresh jokes on local people all of which were "quite warm" and were well received.

The Dextera regrets that lack of both time and space forbids a more extended notice of the presentation. All the members of the company did their work well and each is entitled to special mention. During the intermission between the two parts Miss Daisy Boyle favored the audience with instrumental selections that ought to have satisfied even those inclined to be skeptical of the young lady's musical genius and wonderful execution.

The following is the program as rendered:

Curtain raiser, "Wedding of the Reuben and the Maid." Opening Chorus by the company. "Just Kiss Yourself Goodbye," A. A. Tylee. "If Time was Money," Mrs. Dan Arnold. "I've Got My Eyes on You," W. A. Erwin. "Looking for Another Occupation," George S. Vance. "I Got Mine," Mrs. J. B. Burns. "Oh, Mr. Moon," L. O. Meigs. Grand finale by the entire company. Olio, Quartette. Composed of Luke Linn, bass; C. E. Jones, first tenor; W. A. Erwin, second tenor; L. O. Meigs, baritone. Instrumental. Miss Daisy Boyle. Japanese dance put on by Mrs. Fred Cann, introducing the following dancers: Miss Ethel Burns, Florence Scow, Susie Erwin, Gretchen Crawford, Jessie Snively, and Marion Miller. "Old Black Joe," Bob Frayne. Solo, Miss Alice J. Kimball, mezzo soprano. Luke Linn's double quartette of kids: Jesse Hatfield, Reed Thomas, David Erwin, Homer Gilman, Ray Felton, William Horsley, Percy Green and Robert Ward in numerous selections. Miss Jessie Scott was accompanist. The performance was repeated to a large house last night.

Masonic Love Feast.

Last Saturday was a red letter day in the history of Yakima lodge No. 24, F. & A. M. of this city.

The occasion was the visit of J. M. Taylor who is grand lecturer of the order in this jurisdiction and also editor of the "Pacific Mason," published at Seattle.

After the adjournment of the lodge the members thereof, accompanied by the visiting brethren to the number of about 80, repaired to the dining room of the Hotel Bartholet where a well prepared banquet was spread, the tables reaching nearly around the entire dining room. The repast set before the diners was an elegant one and was enjoyed by all present. After the conclusion of the dinner the speaking began.

Worshipful Master, W. L. Lemon acted as toastmaster and in an opening speech introduced the guest of the evening and paid that gentleman a high compliment for the work that he is doing for the "ancient and honorable" fraternity. Mr. Taylor responded in an eloquent and forcible speech in which he paid a graceful compliment to the officers of Yakima lodge as well as the lodge in general. The visitor was listened to with marked attention and at the conclusion of his remarks was given hearty applause.

Miles Cannon then responded to the toast "Masonry" and made a most interesting ten minute talk. He was followed by J. H. Frazer, whose response to the toast "Practical Masonry" was thoroughly appreciated by his audience even not excepting the bachelors, whom he good naturedly criticised for leading lives of celibacy. He in turn was followed by B. F. Barge who spoke to the subject of "Citizens as Masons." Prof. Barge made a most eloquent talk and warmed his hearers up to a high state of enthusiasm. The next speaker was R. K. Nichols who responded to the toast, "Masonic Work and Workers." Judge Nichols, who has long been a leading worker in the ranks of Masonry made a most excellent talk which was listened to with close attention. J. W. Isham, of Washington, D. C., a visiting member and a Mason of high degree, next responded to the toast "The Good of the Order." Mr. Isham is a most entertaining speaker but owing to the fact the hour was growing late abbreviated his remarks.

The occasion on the whole, so say the old members, was one of the most pleasant in the history of the lodge. The speechmaking concluded about 1:30 p. m.

On the following evening, Sunday, Mr. Taylor delivered a lecture at the lodge room in the Mason block, taking as his subject "The Philosophy of Masonry."

Church Notes.

Mrs. Bush, a state worker, will be in North Yakima next Monday afternoon and evening, April 20. She will speak to the ladies at the Christian church, at 3 o'clock p. m., a meeting and rally of the children at 4 p. m. She will give an address at 8 o'clock, same place. Her work is for the children. All are urged to come out and hear something in the interest of the children.

ST. LOUIS FAIR DISPLAY.

Executive Commissioner Johnson Talks on the Subject.

Elmer E. Johnson of Everett, executive commissioner of the Washington commission appointed to prepare an exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair, was in the city Wednesday. Mr. Johnson is now traveling about the state with the object of systematically perfecting an organization for the purpose of gathering together a creditable exhibit from this state. He is very anxious to enlist the farmers and fruit growers of this county and says that if Yakima county is not suitably represented it will be our own fault. He lays particular emphasis on the fact that much of the agricultural portion of the exhibit must be specially grown by the farmers with the view of adding the exhibit.

Regarding the plans for the Washington building at St. Louis, Mr. Johnson had the following to say:

"Yakima county should make a demonstration on the occasion of the big fair to impress indelibly on the minds of the people that it is a wonderful agricultural and horticultural district. There is a natural wealth here that is surprising and the millions living in the east must be brought to an understanding of the possibilities in this favored spot of the great state of Washington."

"It is the purpose of the commission to erect the building this season. Good progress has already been made in this line. The plans for the structure will be completed shortly by Heide & DeNeuf of Seattle. The building will be octagonal in shape and will be a curiosity. Eight pieces of Washington timber 24 inches square and 100 feet long will constitute the eight corners of the building. These 'sticks' will stand on end and the building hang between. The structure will be a practical exhibit of the lumber of the state, which will be contributed by the lumber interests. It is designed to exhibit any article or finished product of the mills and will demonstrate the quality and character of the various products of the state."

FIRE DEPARTMENT ALL RIGHT

In Order to Test Efficiency of Fire Service

Chief Hauser Turns in False Alarm.

A fire alarm was turned in about 4:30 p. m. Thursday from the box at the corner of Yakima and Natchez avenues, and, as usual, a large crowd turned out to locate the scene of the supposed fire. The fire team came galloping down the avenue and in exactly two minutes and 52 seconds from the time the alarm was turned in, were on the spot. In just three minutes and five seconds from the time of sounding the alarm the boys had coupled the hose to the hydrant and had the water turned on.

Chief Hauser pleads guilty to having turned in the false alarm himself, for the reason that he had a purpose in view, and that purpose, according to his own testimony, was to convince the people of this city that they are enjoying, at least, reasonably good fire protection.

"Not a word did I say to any member of the fire department," said the chief, "or to anybody else that I proposed to turn in an alarm. I merely wanted to show the people what the boys could do under usual conditions. We are doing the best we can with what material we have to work with, and the boys have been feeling a little sore because of the remarks that have been made that they were slow, that the team was too slow and that the department on the whole is inefficient."

The team was hooked up and covered six blocks in the time mentioned. The business men generally seemed to be well satisfied with the result of the test.

A Progressive Church.

The members of the Natches Congregational church are nothing if not progressive. During the past year a large addition was built on to their parsonage and last week they received the deed to the land, five acres, on which the church and parsonage are built. Recently the Woman's Home Missionary union, an auxiliary of the church improved the interior of the building with neat, new pews, carpets, and matting, Easter Sunday being the first day that the building had been used since the improvements were put in. A very appropriate Easter service, the cantata, "The Beautiful City," was given by the members of the Sunday school, after which Rev. Whitmore discoursed very instructively and touchingly on the persecution of Christ.

DEATHS.

A. J. Hood, aged 70 years, died at his home in this city Monday, of pneumonia, after a brief illness. The funeral, which was held Wednesday, was largely attended. Deceased was an old soldier, having served in an Iowa regiment throughout the civil war. He leaves a widow and five children.

Dorothy, the six-months-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Dulin, of this city, died Tuesday evening and the funeral was held Wednesday. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of a host of friends in the loss of their little one.

Louise, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cameron, died at the family home on Nob Hill at 9:30 Wednesday evening from the effects of scarlet fever. Owing to the residence being under quarantine, the burial which took place Thursday, was private. Much sympathy has been expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Cameron on account of their misfortune. Louise was a very sweet little girl and was beloved by all who knew her.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The reelection of Tom L. Johnson, as mayor in the normally republican city of Cleveland, is certainly a great personal compliment to the man as well as a vindication of the municipal policies for which he has so valiantly fought.

Johnson is of a very unique and unusual type among millionaires. Reared in poverty he succeeded in accumulating before reaching middle life a vast fortune. Possessed of what men call "financial genius" and by means of constant exertion he made his pile. The manufacture of steel rails and the building and equipping of electric roads were the lines of business that he engaged in and he made money almost as fast as he could count it. Being a shrewd observer he foresaw a number years ago that gigantic trusts were destined to control his lines of trade and that he must either become a trust magnate or go out of business. As he had always been in sympathy with the masses and preferred to remain a champion of their interests he sold out his holdings to the trusts at good round figures and retired. It has frequently been charged by his political opponents that he held the trusts up and compelled them to cash up a great deal more than his property was worth. Johnson has never denied this and it is probably true. His friends have explained this charge on the grounds that the trust managers who bought him out among whom was Mark Hanna, feared Johnson as a rival knowing the genius that he possessed for organization. They were therefore willing to pay him well to get him out of the way.

As a political reformer this same class of men fear Johnson more than they did when he was a steel maker and a street car magnate. He is so thoroughly familiar with the methods which they employ, the manner in which they escape taxation and the immense profits that they filch from the people, largely as the result of watered stock, that it never fails to make these public robbers mad as hornets every time the mayor mounts a public rostrum to expose the rottenness of their system. In his recent campaign he demonstrated, evidently to the satisfaction of the public, that the street car trust of Cleveland is able to pay its just share of taxes, give the people three cent fares and then yield its stockholders a reasonable dividend. So extremely anxious was Senator Hanna to defeat Johnson and retire him to private life that he secured the republican nomination for an exceptionally able and clean citizen who stood upon a platform that conceded the most of the things which Johnson had educated the people to demand. The people, however, evidently fearing the Greeks bearing gifts, would have none of him and reinstated Johnson by an increased plurality.

Jom L. Johnson, like that other distinguished democrat, William Randolph Hearst, deserves a great deal of credit for the splendid, preserving fight which he is making to protect the people against the organized efforts of selfish greed and corporate power. Both of these men are multi-millionaires and could, if they wished take life easy, as is usually the case with rich men. Instead of reveling in luxury, however, and leading lives of idleness they seem to toil night and day, doing yeoman service in the cause of pure Jeffersonian democracy.

The plutocratic press never loses an opportunity to sneer at Mayor Johnson and Editor Hearst and attempt to discredit them in the minds of the people. They are persistently charged with having personal ambition, each working with the single purpose of ultimately securing the presidency. Perhaps they are and if that be so it is to their discredit. Has any man ever made his mark in the turbulent field of American politics who was not possessed of ambition in the personal sense? Does any sane man believe that the much lauded Teddy Roosevelt in making his present swing around the circle is doing it for his health or from any motive other than personal ambition?

The mammon serving organs in their pursuit of such men as Johnson and Hearst would do well to hang their criticisms upon a more tenable hook than that of personal ambition.

BERKELEY, Cal., a town of about 20,000 inhabitants, the seat of the state university of California, claims the distinction of being the only city of its size in the United States without a saloon or a policeman.

THE DEMOCRAT, as a rule does not lend itself or make a practice of boosting private enterprises, as many papers seemingly do, for the simple reason that it is not built that way. While Mr. McNaught's proposal to build a system of suburban steam roads through these valleys is in a sense a private enterprise as viewed from the stand point of this community it is a public enterprise and being such is properly within the sphere of newspaper comment.

Every man in North Yakima who is at all conversant with the needs of this locality understands the necessity of railway connection of some kind between this city and the great Sunnyside district south of us. At any rate he ought to understand the necessity for such connection from the view point of this city. The Sunnyside section with a more complete development, which it is sure to have, is destined to become one of the richest agricultural districts in the world and if North Yakima is to gain or even retain the trade that it now has with that promising locality we must be up and doing or the opportunity will pass never perhaps to occur again. In truth Sunnyside does not need us one half as bad as we need Sunnyside. Why not look the facts straight in the face!

Some people in this city seem to have cold feet because they can not get an electric road and if they can not get it they say they do not want any. Even on the assumption that an electric road is what is needed if it cannot be had the thing to do is to take the next best thing that is offered. As a matter of fact an electric road is not what is wanted by a majority of Sunnyside people. Such a road would not answer their purpose at all as compared with a steam road and it should be borne in mind that they are the particular people that this city wants to do business with.

Let us all quit croaking and go to work to get a road built to Sunnyside. If it is not deemed wise to accept Mr. McNaught's proposition what is the matter with organizing a company and building it ourselves, for the money can be had to do it with? The central fact that such a road is an absolute necessity to the future welfare of this town should be conceded even by the croakers. The road is what we want. The kind of a road is not the essential consideration.

A Boston company with a gigantic capital has commenced work in this state on the most stupendous scheme for the development of electric power that has ever been known in this western country. In fact, with the exception of the mighty generating plant operated by the falls of Niagara, the proposition that is to be developed in western Washington will probably be the greatest in the world.

The swift running Puyallup river, which is fed by the glacial waters of Mt. Rainier, is to be utilized to create the power, which it is calculated will in the future turn the most if not all the wheels of industry in the larger cities of western Washington. A great powerhouse will be built near Orting from which the "juice" will be disseminated to Tacoma, Seattle, Everett, and even, it is said, as far away as Portland. Power in sufficient volume, it is claimed, will be furnished to operate not only the street car systems and lighting plants of those cities and intermediate towns, but all the big and little manufacturing plants as well and at such a price that steam power will be driven out of the field of competition.

The name of the corporation that has set out to do this great work is known as the Pierce County Improvement company. Over a thousand men are now employed, which number is to be largely increased in the hope that the work may be completed within the next eighteen months.

If, through the means of electricity, as now promised, cheaper power is secured, manufacturing in many different lines will doubtless receive a great impetus in the cities on Puget Sound with a corresponding benefit to other communities in the state. Not among the least of these will be Yakima, for here are located the broad and fruitful fields that in the nature of things must be looked to to produce many of the necessities of life with which to feed the busy toilers of the Sound region.

THE fruit growers of the Yakima valley without exception should spray their orchards this spring. It is always a disagreeable duty but it ought to be done. The necessity for spraying is manifest and the man who is unwilling or refuses to comply with the law has no right to assume to keep an orchard. Spraying has become as much a part of the care of a commercial orchard in this country as pruning the trees or picking the fruit and any grower who labors under the delusion that he can "cut out" the spraying and make a success would do better to cut out his trees and convert them into firewood.

EDITOR BLETHEN of the Seattle Times weeps tumultuously over the decision of the U. S. circuit court in the "Merger" case. It is entirely too bad, too bad indeed. We can imagine how the salty tears furrowed down the florid countenance of the mighty chieftain of the Times when he first heard the sorrowful news and reflected how unpleasant it would now be for his old friend and patron, "Jim" Hill.

CAPTAIN DULIN of the local militia company has favored the DEMOCRAT with a pamphlet containing the provisions of the recently enacted "Dick" bill, a law passed by the late session of congress with the view "to promote the efficiency of the militia and for other purposes." This pamphlet also contains a number of provisions of the old law which have been repealed.

A more thorough examination of this new law convinces us that in many respects it is a most meritorious piece of legislation, inasmuch as the central object of it is to put the militia of the different states on a more modern footing than it ever has been heretofore and better prepared for war in case such an emergency should arise. The disastrous experiences that many of our volunteer soldiers underwent in the war with Spain, when the lives of hundreds of young men were needlessly sacrificed and the health of hundreds of others permanently impaired because of bad sanitation and a rotten commissary system.

The champions of the new law claim that a repetition of this nightmare of the past, which was due mainly to incompetency among officers and lack of system in the handling of both troops and supplies should not and will not occur again. That under the workings of the "Dick" law the militia of the different states will become better equipped and be more ready for war in the future.

The principle objection urged against the law, however, by this paper, was that it places a tremendous amount of power in the hands of the president regarding control of the militia which it seems to us ought to remain in the hands of the government of the different states. With all due respect to those who may differ with us we still maintain that the main purpose underlying the "Dick" law is to gradually transfer the control of our citizen soldiery from the states to the national government.

There may be a number of good minor reasons why this should be done, but there are a number of more weighty reasons why it should not be done. The militia is or was fundamentally a state institution and was never meant to be merged virtually with the standing army of the United States.

"JIM" Hill's merger seems to have received a very violent shock through the unanimous opinion rendered last week by the U. S. court of appeals, sitting at St. Paul. That body in the lengthy ruling that it has rendered declares that the merger known as the Northwestern Securities company, which was devised in the fertile brain of Mr. Hill to enable him to more easily control the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington roads, is an unlawful creation, that it is in restraint of trade and contrary to public policy. In short, the decision is a body blow to the "merger," all the more surprising because that it was unlooked for by most people who had come to believe that the merger plan had been so ingeniously devised by cunning corporation lawyers that it would doubtless stand the tests to be applied by the courts.

The case, which was brought as a test by the attorney-general of the United States, will now, it is said, be taken to the supreme court for a final decision. There is no telling, of course, how that august tribunal will decide the matter but there seems to be a pretty strong suspicion in Wall street that the supreme court will confirm the decision of the court below. At any rate the merger stock has taken a pretty hard fall in the open market, a fall that already means the loss of a good many millions of dollars.

THE modern Ishmael who conducts the local sheet known as the "Washingtonian," in the first issue after the resurrection takes occasion to misrepresent and vilify his more successful competitors. This too, in spite of the fact that had it not been for the mistaken ideas of professional courtesy held by local publishers the Washingtonian would probably have turned up its toes to the daisies long before it did. In fact, the very rag that contained the ungracious and uncalled for attack referred to, was printed free of charge in this office, and on paper considerably donated by the Republic.

It is now announced that Seattle and Everett will be connected with an electric line of railway before snow flies next winter.

An Arizona Cow Case.
THE DEMOCRAT's attention has been called to the following decision rendered by an "Arizona" justice in a cow case: "In this cow case it seems Smith wanted a cow and his neighbor told him he would have some for sale soon. He informed him when they arrived. Smith and buy a cow, never being told that it was not a good family cow. If I go into a store to buy an article and tell the storekeeper I want a good article he most likely will give me a good one or lose my trade. I think his neighbor should have told him the shortcomings of the cow. I really believe if my friend Jones had been selling the cow he would told Smith it was not the cow he wanted. Now Smith has got some money and no cow and Smith has got no cow and no money. I expect strictly by law Jones might have judgment, but on hearing of testimony and circumstances therein, the Court finds for defendant for his costs herein."

Announcement.
This is to inform the public that I have opened a real estate office in my own building, erected for the purpose, corner North Wenas avenue and West A street, 4th block west of R. R. depot, North Yakima, Wash., where we shall be pleased to list for sale all classes of real estate and personal property, which may be offered at a salable value.
We take property to rent on commission and collect and remit promptly and shall be able to prove to those who favor us with their business, that real estate business can and will be conducted on as high a plane as any other business.
Having had 16 years successful experience in this line, as well as in farming, fruit growing, market gardening, dairying and creamery lines, will be apt to locate buyers more intelligently than some who have not such practical experience. But to do so to best advantage buyers should favor me with a plain statement of their wants, that I may have a proper chance to serve them faithfully. We aim to earn our commissions fairly. If you have property to sell, or wish to purchase, drop in and get acquainted with us and our methods. "The Buyers Home."

Washington Letter.

(From our regular correspondent.)

Washington, April 9, 1903.

There is no longer any question of the tariff policy of the present administration nor of the platform on which the president expects to make his campaign for reelection. From a member of the president's cabinet your correspondent learns the following facts: Every since he became president Mr. Roosevelt has believed that certain of the Dingley duties were too high and should be revised. This was evidenced by his advocacy of a commission to make recommendations to congress regarding necessary tariff changes. When Governor Cummins of Iowa came to Washington some time ago the president was strongly impressed with the former's exposition of the "Iowa idea." Before he left Washington, however, Mr. Roosevelt conferred with many of the leaders of his party. They urged upon him the impossibility of securing any reduction of the tariff because of the uncompromising attitude of a number of republican senators, probably eighteen. They pointed out that an attempt at revision would disturb business and, however beneficial the result might eventually prove, the immediate consequence would be the defeat of the party which undertook to change the tariff schedules. After listening to these arguments Mr. Roosevelt was reluctantly though none the less certainly convinced.

Just before the president went west he presented the situation to the cabinet saying that he feared tariff revision would be impracticable. This view was heartily endorsed by every member save Secretaries Shaw and Wilson who expressed no opinion. It was then and there determined that Secretary Shaw should, at Peoria and Secretary Root should at Boston, announce the keynote of the campaign as the "stand pat" policy. The president also determined to make his policy clear at Minneapolis. Senator Allison, who was a party to the agreement, also stated that he would make public his approval of the plan in the near future. This policy has been carried out in detail, Senator Allison having given an interview to a western newspaper "knocking" the Iowa idea. The president read and approved the Shaw and Root speeches. In his own speech it was noticed by careful observers that he did not deprecate tariff revision with the force he usually exhibits in discussing public questions and in view of the inside history the reason is plain. Mr. Roosevelt's heart is not with the "stand pat" policy. He believes in a revision of the tariff and has adopted the contrary position only as a matter of expediency. Secretary Wilson believes it is too early to adopt such a policy. He regards the Cummins faction in Iowa as more powerful than it is believed to be by other members of the cabinet and is following his usual policy of "sitting on the fence."

Great surprise is expressed at the fact that has just leaked out that Secretary Hay has pledged the United States to pay the expense incurred by the Panama Canal company in maintaining its concession, which necessitates the continuous excavation of a minimum amount of earth. In order to comply with the terms of this concession, which necessitates the continuous excavation of a minimum amount of earth. In order to comply with the terms of this concession the French company now has employed a force consisting of 160 engineers, 45 surgeons, and approximately 2,500 men. The expense of maintaining this force, for which Mr. Hay has made the United States liable, is estimated at $5,000 per day. It is largely with a view to inspect the work being done that Admiral Walker and other members of the Isthmian Canal commission will sail for the isthmus at an early date. Contrary to a published report, the commission will not go to Bogota or make any attempt to influence the Colombian congress to ratify the treaty. It is reported that a party of New York capitalists may go to Bogota for that purpose but they will go on their own responsibility and without any authorization from the government.

Secretary Shaw is making sweeping changes in the personnel of the treaty department and anticipates making still more. Assistant Secretary Ailes has resigned to take the vice-presidency of a Washington bank and it is probable that his successor will be appointed at an early date. At the present time it is regarded as probable that the present chief clerk, Wallace H. Hills of New York, will succeed Mr. Ailes. He is regarded as competent to fill the place and has strong backing among the New York congressional delegation. It is generally understood that Assistant Secretary Taylor is slated to go out and it is known that Walter S. Chance, chief of the division of special agents, will be removed although it is probable that he will be given another assignment involving less responsibility and less salary in the treasury service.

Although members of the administration are a unit in declaring the currency question closed, preparations for the meeting of the commission which is charged with devising a scheme for establishing a gold standard in silver using countries and colonies still continue. Incidentally the commission hopes to "do something for silver." The commission now on consists of H. H. Hanna chairman of the executive committee of the Indianapolis monetary convention, just appointed, and Charles A.

Conant and Professor Jeremiah W. Jenks, previously appointed. The commission will meet with the representative of Mexico in London the latter part of May. The plan under consideration will be that adopted for the consideration of the Philippines, namely the issue of a limited amount of silver tokens redeemable in gold at a ratio of 32 to 1. It is significant that even this plan has not put into operation for the Philippines has already enhanced the price of silver, which has gone up a cent since the war department attempted to purchase the bullion necessary to coin the $3,000,000 silver pesos authorized by the last congress.

The post office investigation still continues, the latest development being charges filed by Bingham & Company of Philadelphia alleging that under the administration of the division of supplies which has heretofore existed, no firm has had opportunity of selling rubber stamps to the government save Herman Baumgarten of Washington. The charges are being investigated.

HOPPICKERS WIN.

The Local Club Takes the Windy City
Nine Into Camp at Ellensburg.

The Hoppickers accompanied by about 65 local rooters went to Ellensburg Sunday morning to size up the baseball aggregation of the Windy City. A splendid game was played before a large crowd resulting in a victory for the Hoppick-ers by the score of 7 to 3. Those who went up say that the local team played an almost errorless game. Taylor and Williams formed the battery for the Hoppickers while Starkell and Crawford were pitcher and catcher respectively for Ellensburg.

Tomorrow the Ellensburg team will be here to play the return game. The two clubs are apparently pretty evenly matched and a rattling game may be looked for.

Next Friday the Hoppickers will go to Walla Walla to play a series of two return games with the club of that city.

Gibson, the Hoppickers' first baseman thus far this season, leaves for the Northwest Territory early next week to look after mining interests there. He does not expect to return.

C. F. Irby, until recently center fielder of the Hoppickers, has gone to Walla Walla to play with the club of that city.

Commissioners Court.

The board of county commissioners after being in session eight days adjourned
Tuesday afternoon to convene again
May 18. During the session a large amount of business was dispatched especially with reference to county roads.
A large batch of petitions asking for roads in different parts of the county were granted and viewers appointed.

A saloon license was granted to Messrs.
Hawkins & Wilke to conduct a saloon at Kennewick, which makes two for that town. A renewal of license was also granted to D. H. Correll at Zillah against a very large petition signed by residents of that vicinity. A license was refused to Al Beilstone of this city who wished to establish a saloon at Mabton. A delegation of prominent citizens of Sunnyside appeared to fight the proposition to start a saloon at Mabton.

The board approved the following plans: Highland addition to Prosser, Second addition to Kennewick, Hoyer's villa tracts, Kennewick, and the first addition to Mabton.

A large number of petitions to change property assessments were heard and for the most part were granted. The contract for the county printing for the ensuing year was let to the Yakima Republic.

The matter of building a new court house was discussed only informally, it being understood that that subject would be taken up at the next meeting of the board. Letters urgently favoring the erection of a new courthouse were read from H. J. Snively, A. L. Atkins, Dr. P. Frank and Edward Remy, all of whom dwelt upon the great risk being taken by the county in case of fire attacking the present frame building. Mr.
Snively in his communication stated that if the records should be destroyed the loss to the county would aggregate more than the cost of a dozen new court houses.

A New Champion.

An unusually large number of shooting enthusiasts were out to the traps of the Yakima Rod & Gun Club on Sunday afternoon. Eight events were on the card and, though there was some "streaky" shooting, good scores were made.
Sutton, winner of the club championship medal the previous week, was not in good form and lost the trophy to Mark W. Pennington, who has been trapshooting for only a few weeks. Pennington has gradually brought himself up to a mark where he is making some of the older heads in the club think several times before becoming complacent regarding their own prowess.

An analysis of the shooting of the afternoon shows that Stacy made the best general record of the day, with 93 targets broken out of 115 thrown, a percentage of 80.9. Councilman T. R. Fisher was second in general results, with 71.1 per cent broken.

An innovation came in the fourth event of the afternoon when the shooters lined up against 10 singles and five pair of doubles. Fisher won this event with 16 out of the 20, Walker and Churchill tying at 14. The score of the club championship event follows, the first number being the added birds allowed for handicap, and the second the final score: Pennington, 2, 24; Fisher,
3, 22; Bilger, 7, 22; Stacy, 20 straight;
Walker, 3, 20; Barnes, 6, 18; Sutton, 16 straight.

The Local Round-Up.

The contractors commenced grading N. Fourth street Monday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leach of this city Monday.

D. J. Deyo has been employed by the city to take care of the railroad yards.

The Presbyterian congregation of the Upper Natches is building a parsonage for the use of its new pastor, Rev. James Irvine.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fraser of Fruitvale, lost their little son, aged 18 months, April 9. The child died of pneumonia.

The dedication of the Presbyterian church has been postponed, owing to the fact that the pews have not yet arrived from the east.

Most impressive Easter services were held in all the churches of this city last Sunday. The seating capacity of all the churches was taxed to the utmost.

Wynne Erickson of this city found it necessary to have the middle finger of his left hand removed last week. The operation was deemed necessary to avert blood poisoning.

Fred C. Fear and Miss Cora Davis, Lester N. Sperry and Miss Mabel Labhee, Benjamin Miller and Mrs. Ada Wison, all received marriage licenses from the auditor this week.

The farmers of the lower Natches valley are agitating a farmers' telephone system to connect with this city. It is hoped that they will succeed as a telephone line is needed in that direction.

C. A. Abbe of Nob Hill and Miss Mary H. Manley of this city were married by Rev. J. H. Wood at the parsonage Saturday evening. The bride was formerly connected with the Deaconess home of this city.

C. P. Wilcox has just finished a one story brick extension 50x50 feet, to the rear of his fine block on Second street, which will be occupied as a store room and workshop by the firm of Cowling & Wilcox.

North Seventh street is building up at a rapid rate this spring, 13 houses having been finished or are now under course of construction. Of this number there is a store building, a laundry and a boarding house.

Owing to the improvements being made in the present Yakima National Bank building, the upstairs tenants have all been compelled to move. Atorney Selvey has located across the street in the Ward building, while H. B. Rigg has gone to the Sloan block.

Messrs. Weikel, Rankin, Bell and Clark have a force of men at work in the upper Cowichee digging a ditch to conduct the water from their storage reservoir. The ditch is four feet wide on the bottom and will be seven miles in length.

It is reported that a large head of water was turned into the Wanapum ditch in the upper Natches the first of the week, which caused considerable damage to flumes and weak, unseasoned spots, consequently it will be some time before that ditch will again resume operations.

Water was turned into the Selah ditch Tuesday, which is about two weeks earlier than last year. Manager Englehart has had a large crew at work this spring making permanent and much needed improvements on that popular canal and he feels sanguine that there will not be any trouble with water this season.

The Yakima Land and Livestock company has finished the preliminary survey for its proposed high line canal in the Moxee. Mr. Knuppenberg, the manager of the enterprise, says that his canal, when built, will cover about 50,000 acres of land. His plan is to take the water from the Natches and construct a storage reservoir at Bumping lake.

Ryan & Newton, the large commission firm that has contracted to market the produce of the Yakima Horticultural Union, has appointed Fred E. Thompson of Parker to represent them here. As Mr. Thompson is thoroughly posted in all matters pertaining to fruit and has a wide acquaintance in this section, his selection is said to be very satisfactory to the members of the Union.

E. L. Sessions and Dan Libby tell the biggest fish story of the season so far. They report having caught a 9-pound steel-head salmon in the Natches the first of the week. At any rate that is the exact figure registered when the story was properly investigated by weighing the fish. The first reports that went abroad to the effect that the fish weighed 48 pounds and had nearly succeeded in drowning the two men, can now be safely discredited.

The opening announcement of the Rainier Cash Grocery, Messrs. Orchard & Bartlett proprietors, appears in this issue. This firm is located in the new Laswell building on West Yakima avenue and propose to keep everything carried in a first class grocery store. The senior member especially is well known throughout the town and county, having been the democratic candidate for assessor last fall. The Democrat suspects for the new firm a fair share of the public patronage.

A New Dental Office.

The Democrat scribe was shown through the operating rooms and laboratory of the Yakima Dental Parlors, in the Sloan block, Wednesday, and was rather surprised to see how beautifully and thoroughly equipped they are.

This new office is in charge of Dr. S. A. Fulton, who is assisted by Dr. A. T. Campbell, both of whom came here recently from Seattle. They are pleasant gentlemen to meet and have the reputation of being accomplished dentists. These gentlemen evidently take much pride in their profession and believe in being strictly up-to-date. Their parlors are not only fitted up most sumptuously, but contain nearly all the latest appliances known to dentistry, in fact, they are believed to be as well equipped as any to be found in the larger cities of the state.

Personal.

Lawyer Parker made a trip to Seattle Friday.

H. F. Marble was in Spokane the first of the week.

Geo. Donald made a business trip to Seattle, leaving here Monday.

Mrs. J. V. McCurdy returned this week from her visit to Chicago.

Miss Mockler left this week for San Francisco to accept a position as stenographer.

Wm. McMillan returned Sunday night from a visit to his family at Tacoma.

Mr. Montgomery the genial Crab creek ferryman, was in the city the first of the week.

Jack Campbell came down this week from the Swan, where he spent most of the winter at mining.

W. H. Oakes of M-yers' Falls, Stevens county, was here last Saturday, the guest of Orlando Beck.

William Lewis, an old Wenatchee boy, now a resident of Ellensburg, was greeting old friends here Monday.

C. F. Irby, the late Hoppickers' center folder, has gone to Walla Walla to play ball with the club of that city.

Harry Brown of Fairview returned home from Spokane Thursday, where he has been attending a business college.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Schindler returned Sunday night from attending the funeral of the late Mr. Rehnke at Ellensburg.

J. T. Foster and W. C. Jones were among those who went from here to Ellensburg to take in the ball game Sunday.

Thomas Lund returned from a visit to Seattle Tuesday. He attended the "Jefferson Day" banquet in that city Monday, being the only guest present from Yakima.

Mrs. Anita Lemon, daughter of Hon. D. E. Lesh, arrived Thursday afternoon from Elk Creek, Cal., having been sent for by her father on account of the serious illness of her sister, Miss Alma.

Postmaster "Tilt" Phillips of Mabton, was in town Thursday. Mr. Phillips stated that Mabton was getting to be a dead hard town, but that nobody had thought it worth while, as yet, to hold him up.

Noah J. Beckner, the well-known Mabton merchant who was held up in his store three weeks ago and relieved of $300 was in the city Tuesday. He stated that there no new developments in the case that would lead to the identity of the robbers.

Judge Erwin and wife passed through this city on their way to Seattle Sunday morning, having spent the winter in the east and south. The judge stated to a number of old time friends whom he met at the station that he expected to go into the Tanana country this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooker returned home Wednesday after a three months visit at different points in California and Oregon. Mr. Brooker brought the tame pacer, "Mark Hanna," bought at auction at Portland, home with him. "Mark Hanna" was formerly owned by the late Congressman Tongue of Oregon.

R. B. Hughes and family of Deadwood S. Dak., are here this week the guests of J. H. Lewis who is a brother to Mrs. Hughes. Mr. Hughes is a very prominent mining man of the Black Hills, being superintendent of the "Holy Terror" and "Cleopatra" mines, both of which are well-known gold producers. Mr. Hughes who has spent the winter in southern California, is much pleased with the Yakima Valley. This office acknowledges a pleasant call from the gentleman.

Attorney Edward Whitson and Senator Edward Parker, who has been here for the past month the guest of his brother, Fred Parker, will leave on or about the 25th of this month for Kentucky. Enroute they will visit St. Louis to attend the dedicatory exercises of the great Fair. Senator Parker expects to settle here for the practice of his profession. When he returns here in June he will be accompanied by his daughter who will graduate in a few weeks at a Baltimore seminary. Mr. Whitson expects to be absent about 30 days.

"When Knighthood was in Flower" April 23.

Undoubtedly the dramatic treat of our theatrical season will be the appearance very soon, of Edith Ellis as Mary Tudor in Julia Marlowe's original New York Criterion Theatre production of "When Knighthood was in Flower." Miss Ellis' pre-eminence as a histrionic artist of the highest type has long since been conceded by America's greatest critics, and the public at large. Miss Ellis' marvelous versatility has always been a constant source of wonder to her most ardent admirers. Her name is indelibly linked with her former creations of the characters of Rosalind, Juliet, Camille, etc., and recently Barbara in "Barbara Franchise" and Glory Quayle in "The Christian." and now as Mary Tudor she is adding fresh laurels to her yet unfaded wreath. The complete original Julia Marlowe production of "When Knighthood was in Flower" with its gorgeous scenic investiture will positively be seen in this city under the direction of that well-known manager, Frank L. Perley, who is fortunate in having so gifted an artist as Miss Ellis in the title role of "When Knighthood was in Flower." The curtain will rise at 8:15, owing to the magnitude of this production on April 23.

Boy Killed at Toppenish.

Jimmie, the 12-year-old son of E. G. Fleming, of Toppenish, was kicked to death by a wild horse Monday morning while assisting his father to round up cattle on the reservation.

The boy, it seems, was "bucked" off the horse, which kicked him repeatedly. When his father reached him the lad was unconscious and died soon after.
