Northwest Federation of Mineralogical Societies

Sept. 4, 1965

Dear "Rockhounds"

It is my privilege, on the Silver Anniversary of Northwest Federation Gem and Mineral Shows, to welcome you to this, the biggest and best show yet. As hosts to the American Federation of Mineralogical Societies this year, it is my particular pleasure to welcome the many amateur mineralogists from all other Federations.

Our host society, the Yakima Rock and Mineral Club, has been preparing for this one week-end for three long years. Facilities and special features have been most carefully planned to make this show the most enjoyable one possible. I would like to express my sincere thanks to these people who have put aside their personal interests these past three years to spend their spare moments in preparation.

Many genuine thanks also to the artisans and collectors who have worked so hard preparing their displays for the education and enjoyment of everyone.

We hope you will spend the next three days pleasantly absorbing the ideas and suggestions of your fellow hobbyists and that you will return home with renewed inspiration and vigor to attack your hobby.

Sincerely,

S/S George C. Williams

SPECIAL TO PARTICIPANTS OF FIELD TRIPS

Persons should not wander off alone from the group.

Watch the smoking so as not to start a grass fire. (Clear water jugs with liquid in them can also start a fire real fast like.)

Watch for cave ins — do not burrow like a gopher.

Leave your diggings as clean as you would like to find them.

Have fun and keep smiling.

Sincerely yours,

NOTES

Dear Friends and Fellow Hobbyists:

From the founding meeting of seven clubs in Olympia, Washington, the Northwest Federation of Mineralogical Societies has grown under the guidance and able leadership of its many fine officers. The first years were full of heartaches and also gratifying feelings of achievement.

Ten years ago the fifteenth meeting of the Northwest Federation of Mineralogical Societies was held in Yakima, Washington. That show will long be remembered by many for various reasons – it was warm, tons of very good material was obtained on the field trips and many friends were made.

Now, ten years later, another fine show and meeting is being held on these same premises. It is almost unbelievable to see the growth, prominence and achievement the members and clubs of the Northwest Federation of Mineralogical Societies have made in so few years. May this 25th show be an inspiration and stepping stone for many fine shows of the future.

The hard and endless hours of the following committee chairmen and their committees have made this, your Silver Anniversary (1965), show.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

At this time, we want to thank the host of friends, both personal and business, and the members of other Rock & Mineral Clubs. Without their help and assistance, this show would not be the success that it is. Space does not permit us to list and thank the individuals and businesses for their splendid response and spirit of cooperation that the Yakima Rock & Mineral Club has received in staging this show.

Again, many thanks from all of us.
