CITIZENS TICKET NAMED.

Mass Convention Assembles Tuesday Night and Nominates a Ticket of Representative Citizens to be Voted for at the City
Election, Dec. 8.

In pursuance to a call for a mass convention circulated last week a large and representative body of citizens assembled at the city hall Tuesday evening and placed in nomination the following ticket to be voted for at the annual city election to be held Tuesday, December 8:

For Mayor, Frank Horsley.
For Clerk, H. B. Doust.
For Attorney, W. M. Thompson.
For Health Officer, Dr. P. Frank.
Councilman-at-Large, F. D. Clemmer.
Councilman, first ward, (long term), E. O. Keck.

Councilman, second ward, C. C. Case.
Councilman, third ward, A. N. Short.
The city hall was crowded at the hour named for convening, 8 p. m. The convention was called to order by C. M. Hauser, who called for nominations for permanent chairman. The name of Miles Cannon was the only one presented for that position and that gentleman was elected by acclamation. J. T. Foster was elected secretary.

On motion, a committee of three was appointed by the chair to draft a set of resolutions. W. I. Lince, E. L. Sessions and H. L. Tucker were named by the chair. A motion then prevailed for the appointment of a committee on order of business. J. D. Medill, C. M. Hauser and R. N. Harrison were named and reported that nominations be made in the order named above. The report was adopted.

The committee on platform reported the following resolutions which on being read by the secretary were loudly applauded:

"First—We favor an economical administration of city affairs, a thorough renovation of the city and a strict enforcement of sanitary regulations.

Second—We demand an extension of the sewer and drainage systems by general taxation, to the end that those localities now without sewerage may have it upon the same terms as those who secured its benefits in the same way.

"Third—We favor measures that will tend to build up the city of North Yakima and fully protect its business interests."

After the unanimous adoption of the platform committee's report, nominations for the office of mayor were called for by the chairman and A. J. Shaw, Frank Horsley and E. J. Wyman were placed in nomination in the order named. F. L. Chandler and C. E. Lum were appointed tellers. The first ballot with 104 votes cast, resulted as follows: Shaw 46, Horsley 25, Wyman 31. A majority being required to elect, the second ballot gave Shaw 50, Horsley 42 and Wyman 17. Councilman Wyman's name was then withdrawn and the third ballot ordered which gave Shaw 49, Horsley 64. On motion of Mayor Shaw the nomination of Mr. Horsley was then made unanimous.

For City Clerk H. B. Doust, the present incumbent, was declared the nominee by acclamation.

For city treasurer the name of Charles R. Donovan, who has filled that office for the past year so acceptably, was the only one presented and Mr. Donovan was nominated by acclamation.

For the office of city attorney, W. M. Thompson and Charles E. Forsythe were nominated. The ballot showed 71 votes for Thompson and 20 for Forsythe and the former was declared the nominee.

For city health officer, Dr. P. Frank, Dr. C. J. Lynch, Dr. J. B. Burns, Dr. E. T. Dulin and Dr. Gunn were placed in nomination. The name of Dr. Lynch was withdrawn with the statement that he did not desire the nomination. Before any further nominations could be made a motion was carried that the nominations be closed.

For councilmen at large the names of E. O. Keck, present incumbent, and F. D. Clemmer were presented. On the ballot Clemmer received 49 and Keck 28.

Three candidates were placed in nomination for the two places to be filled on the council from the first ward, Moran, Keck and Harrison, all of whom are members of the present council. One ballot was taken after a motion had been passed to the effect that the candidate receiving the highest vote should receive the nomination for the two year term and the one receiving the next highest the one year term. The ballot resulted as follows: Moran 52, Keck 51, Harrison 43. Moran and Keck were therefore declared the nominees.

For councilman in the second ward, C. C. Case, W. A. Bell and A. B. Sweeney were nominated. The former was nominated on the first ballot receiving 43 votes to 24 for Bell and 8 for Sweeney.

For councilman in the third ward A. N.

ANOTHER TICKET NAMED

Delegate Convention Meets Thursday Night and Places Second Ticket in Field to be Known as "Peoples"
Ticket—Platform Favoring
Sunday Closing Adopted.

PLATFORM

First—We demand a careful, conscientious business management of city affairs.

Second—We demand a thorough renovation of the city along sanitary lines and the extension of the sewerage and drainage districts and systems to those parts of the city now without the same.

Third—We demand that every line of business in the city be given the full protection of the law to which it is entitled; that no special privileges shall be given or favors shown.

Fourth—We demand a thorough and fearless enforcement of all city ordinances and of those state laws applicable to this municipality.

Fifth—We favor an active movement on the part of the city administration in conjunction with the commercial organization of the city for the better advertising of the city and county with the view of inducing immigration and settlement hereabouts.

Ticket.

Mayor—O. A. Fechter.
Clerk—J. C. Brooker.
Attorney, J. O. Cull.
Treasurer—J. W. Sindall.
Health Officer—Dr. W. H. Carver.
Councilman-at-large—L. L. Thorpe.
Councilman, First Ward, long term—H. K. Sinclair.
Councilman, First Ward, short term—D. M. Rand.
Councilman, second Ward—W. B. Dudley.

Councilman, Third Ward—B. L. Bull.
The above is the platform adopted and the ticket named to be voted upon at the city election to be held December 8 by the delegate convention which met at the city hall Thursday night.

E. C. Cleaver, deputy county clerk was elected to preside over the convention and E. O. Kelso secretary. A. B. Weed, Robert Scott and J. W. Sindall were appointed as a committee on credentials, platform and order of business. After consultation the committee reported 24 delegates entitled to seats and the platform as printed above. The reports were accepted.

O. A. Fechter was nominated for the office of Mayor unanimously. J. C. Brooker won the nomination for clerk over A. S. Dam by the vote of 15 to 9 on the first ballot. For attorney, H. B. Rigg, L. O. Meigs and J. O. Cull were placed in nomination. Three ballots were required which resulted in giving Cull 12, Meigs 11. But 23 votes were cast.

A number of leading citizens dodged the nomination for treasurer. F. C. Hall, Geo. Donald, E. O. Kelso, A. B. Weed and L. O. Janeck all declined the honor in the order named. The convention then voted to leave the place vacant on the ticket, but subsequently on motion of Weed, reconsidered the vote and then unanimously nominated J. W. Sindall for the place.

For health officer Dr. Carver, won out over Dr. Wells by the vote of 14 to 10.

For councilman at large, L. L. Thorpe won out on the second ballot over John Ditter by the vote of 13 to 11. For long term councilman from the first ward, H. K. Sinclair was nominated against his earnest protest, P. Y. Heckman assuring him that it was his duty to make the race as he was the strongest man in the ward. D. M. Rand was then nominated for the short term.

W. B. Dudley was then nominated unanimously for councilman in the second ward. B. L. Bull was likewise nominated for councilman from the third ward. After the passage of a motion granting the chairman and secretary power to fill all vacancies on the ticket the convention then adjourned sine die.

Judge Rudkin Ill.

Judge Rudkin, while holding court at Ellensburg Monday was taken ill and was conveyed to the home of Attorney Hovey. Medical aid was promptly summoned and the physician pronounced his ailment typhoid fever, so it seems that his honor is in for a siege of that dreaded disease. Mrs. Rudkin was sent for and went up to the "burg" Monday to nurse the sick man. His brother, J. J. Rudkin, says that the judge suffered from a severe attack of typhoid in his youth. The many friends of Judge Rudkin hope that he will be able to withstand the present attack successfully.

Judge Rudkin was brought home Thursday.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

Leading republican papers in commenting on the election returns content themselves with the remark that it was a drawn battle, that honors are about even, as it were.

Hardly so. In every close contest whether city or state, where there is any political significance in the result the republican party met with defeat. This is true in the states of Kentucky, Maryland and Rhode Island, and of the cities of greater New York and San Francisco. In the two former states which have been very close in late years the majorities are so emphatic as to indicate a decided reaction against the party in power. In greater New York Tammany was enabled to win by a majority of 63,000 against a combination of republicans, independents and disgruntled democrats on the plea that the party needed the effects of the victory to strengthen it in the national campaign. In San Francisco the labor candidate for mayor was re-elected by a decisive majority by the aid of democratic votes. In fact, the result in Ohio is about the only thing that the republican press is able to extract any comfort from. Ohio is naturally a republican state, the normal majority being about one hundred thousand. That it exceeded that figure this year is due to the fact that the fight between the McLean and Johnson factions of the democratic party has been so bitter that it caused many of the former's followers to bolt. Even with this advantage Hanna was badly scared, so much so, in fact, that he cried wildly for help, causing the state to be lavished by hundreds of outside orators who appealed frantically to the people to vote the republican ticket.

In brief, a careful study of the election returns of last week indicate that public sentiment in many of the populous states of the east is undergoing a marked change. The high tide on which the republican party rode in to power seven years ago has now ebbed away, leaving in its wake a number of states which may hereafter be regarded as doubtful, which the democratic party will doubtless make a determined effort to carry next year. Had there been a congress to elect this year, there can hardly be any doubt but that the republican party would have been dislodged from control of the house.

The idea seems to have been very prevalent in the west, even among democrats, that President Roosevelt has very materially strengthened the republican party and greatly increased its chances of success. It may be that he has succeeded in doing this in the central and western states, but there is good reason to believe that his influence is not nearly so potent in the east and south.

Already there is said to be a well defined movement in certain states to side-track the Roosevelt candidacy in the interest of Mark Hanna, who has just emerged from the heat and mud of his celebrated Ohio campaign with fresh laurels on his brow. Hanna, of course, is too astute a politician to openly announce his aspirations at this time. He will wait until he has been re-elected to the senate and then if he sees that he has a fighting chance to down Roosevelt he will doubtless butt into the presidential fight.

That Hanna would make a stronger and more available candidate than Roosevelt in the doubtful states of the east, is now quite generally believed by many leading politicians, although they are just now chary about saying so. That Hanna is the better representative of the aims and purposes of the republican party of the present day and therefore the logical candidate can hardly be denied by any close and impartial student of current political history.

The editor of our contemporary, the Republic, whether justly or unjustly has acquired the reputation of being a political Jonah. So generally is such a belief shared in this community that it has become an axiom among local politicians that if a man would make sure of being elected to office in this town or county the first great requisite to success is to secure the bitter, unrelenting opposition of Bro. Robertson's sheet. This accomplished, the candidate then has comparatively easy sailing.

It is a matter of common knowledge hereabouts that the Republic's indirect and inexcusable attack upon A. J. Splawn a year ago made that gentleman a senator and defeated Mr. Englehart, a pet of that paper. Shortly after A. J. Shaw was nominated as the Citizens' candidate for mayor and the organ straightway began to belittle and abuse him. The voters responded by electing Mr. Shaw by an emphatic majority turning down Mr. Fechter, whom nearly everyone conceded had made a splendid official. Other incidents might be cited to show the Republic's influence in local affairs, but they are not necessary. The public has caught on.

The Roosevelt administration seems to have at least aided and abetted the revolution movement in Panama which has resulted in proclaiming a new republic on the isthmus. The press of that party has been kept busy during the past week in commending the diplomacy of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay over the sharp diplomatic game that has been worked on Colombia, of which country Panama formerly formed a part.

But Colombia is not taking her medicine as meekly as had been expected. Colombia, naturally enough, has to be shown before she will admit the right of Uncle Sam to interfere in her domestic relations. Certainly our government would seriously object if any foreign nation were to offer encouragement to Florida, for instance, to secede from the union and set up for itself a separate government. In fact, if any foreigner should attempt to enact such a role in Florida our government would lose no time in preparing for war. Colombia, however, is a weak and barbarous state and can go hang. There is nothing in this Panama business calculated to shed honor or glory on American diplomacy.

The Washingtonian if it has any charge of dishonesty or incompetency to make against any city official should make it and quit beating about the bush with insinuations and innuendoes. The present city administration is composed of reputable citizens and business men who, the Democrat believes have all been conscientious in the discharge of their public duties. If, however, there has been any case of malfeasance in office the public has a right to know it. This thing of publicly branding public officials, especially where they are well known and respected members of the community, in a vague and general way as a lot of deep dyed villains, is, to say least, reprehensible. If our contemporary has knowledge of wrongdoing on the part of any member of the present city government let it come forward with a bill of particulars; failing in that it ought to hold its peace.

The mass meeting of the citizens' party held Tuesday evening to name a municipal ticket was well attended and was what might be termed a representative gathering of tax payers and voters. To be sure a number of "prominent citizens" did not grace the occasion with their presence, but then it must be remembered that the average prominent citizen, especially of the kid glove variety, is not in the habit of attending primaries and conventions where government begins but usually takes it out in kicking afterwards.

The ticket nominated on the whole is a good one and one that ought to appeal to the tax payers. It is made up of good, hard headed business men who will, if elected, give the city good government along progressive lines as the platform adopted pledges them to do.

General regret is expressed all over the state at the death of state Senator Edward S. Hamilton, which occurred at his home in Tacoma Wednesday morning, the cause of his demise being typhoid pneumonia.

Senator Hamilton, although one of the leading members of the railroad lobby, was a bright and brainy man. He was a commanding figure in the last two legislatures and had he lived would probably sooner or later secured a seat in the U. S. senate.

Senator Splawn of this county, who although politically opposed to Hamilton, says that he learned to admire the man because of his splendid fighting qualities and the fact that he never failed to keep his word when once given. The death of Senator Hamilton at this time is apt to have an important bearing on the senatorial campaign.

The Yakima Republic has come out against Roosevelt and McBride. This speaks volumes in favor of the accidental president and the accidental governor. They must be pretty good men when the Republic prefers not to support them. Like the crow in quest of carrion the editor of the Republic has smelled the sinews of war across the stream and the sinews are what he wants. This is a more plausible theory on which to account for the erratic editorial policy of Col. Robertson than to assume that that gentleman intends to again support Grover Cleveland.

The Democrat in the issue of last week did not refer to the editor of the Washingtonian as being "youthful". Instead, we applied that term to his newspaper, which although young in years has had as varied an experience as the man who has been seven times through the divorce courts. We are quite willing to admit that the beardless youth who so ably edits that journal is young and that he may "know a thing or two." Still, we are not willing to take him at his own estimate, to-wit: that he is a good judge of drinking water.

It would probably be a good scheme to turn the management of this town over to the Washingtonian for a year. Of course, the editor of the junior organ would be likely to depopulate the place within the time mentioned by means of his scare head articles and labored editorials explaining why Yakima is such an extremely unhealthy place to live in. But the Washingtonian man would reform things no doubt. The editor of our contemporary is unquestionably a very smart man for he himself admits it.

Roosevelt sends for Hanna and plaintively invites that gentleman to conduct the campaign for him next year. Hanna scratches his head and demurs because, forsooth, he thinks he may have a campaign of his own to conduct next year.

Goose-necked Panama it about the smallest thing that ever happened in the way of a republic. It extends from sea to sea, however.

For the large numbers of people in the northwest whose mail facilities will not permit them to take a daily newspaper the Weekly Oregonian is especially designed. It is edited especially for readers in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, containing besides all the important news of the Columbia river basin, a systematic presentation of the news of the world, supplemented and elucidated by editorial comment, written from the beginning to the close of every week. Illustrated stories, traveling correspondence and feature articles add to the attractiveness of The Oregonian. The regular subscription price of The Weekly Oregonian is $1.50 per year. Given in connection with the YAKIMA DEMOCRAT for 12 months for only $1.50; a saving on the subscription price of the two papers of one dollar.

Short and T. D. Quinn were placed in nomination. On the ballot the former received 49 votes to 16 for Mr. Quinn. Mr. Short was declared the nominee.

After the passage of motions christening the ticket as "The Citizens' ticket" and giving the chairman and secretary power to fill any vacancies the convention adjourned.

The convention was a most orderly one and passed off without a hitch. Notwithstanding the fact that the night was stormy there was a large attendance. The highest number of votes cast was 104.

district court at Seattle in December.

It is reported on good authority that Joseph Metzger has purchased a half interest in the Mechtel Bakery and Restaurant, the same to take effect next Monday. Mr. Metzger owns the building in which the business is conducted and at one time owned the business also, but sold the same to Ditter and Mechtel five years ago.

The Yakima high school football team won new laurels at Ellensburg last Saturday, defeated the Ellensburg normal school team by a score of 18 to 5.

Mr. Horsley Declines.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

North Yakima, Wash., Nov., 13, 1903. Miles Cannon, Chairman Citizens' Convention, North Yakima Wash.

Dear sir:—While I greatly appreciate the honor of being chosen as the candidate for Mayor on the Citizens' ticket, I feel that owing to the fact that my time is fully occupied in private matters, it would be useless for me to undertake to discharge the duties of Mayor the coming year. I therefore most respectfully decline the nomination, and in so doing will say that I cannot possibly be a candidate and if elected would not serve. Very respectfully,

Frank Horsley.

New Blacksmith and Wood-Working Shop.

T. A. Davis has recently finished his new two-story frame building 24-42 in dimension on west Yakima avenue.

Mr. Davis has erected this new building for the purpose of conducting therein a general blacksmith shop with horseshoeing a specialty. In addition to the blacksmith shop a wood-working department and a paint shop will be added, the latter part of the business being located in the second story of the new building especially adapted for that purpose.

The proprietor of the new establishment has sent to Pennsylvania, where he has secured a practical blacksmith and wood-worker to superintend the new establishment.

Mr. Davis solicits the patronage of the public generally and feels that he can safely guarantee all work in his line.

MacMillan Felled Again.

The wrestling bout at the armory Saturday night between Duncan MacMillan of Whatcom and F. S. Lewis and Cris Larson of this city drew a large house, the admission fee being but 50 cents.

MacMillan undertook to throw both Lewis and Larson taking a fall out of each one in an hour. He succeeded in throwing Lewis at the end of 27 minutes but with Larson he had a tougher job on his hands. He devoted 33 minutes in hard work at trying to get a fall out of the big Scandinavian but he didn't succeed. Just before the close of the game the lights suddenly went out and the two big fellows were obliged to finish the game by the light of matches held up by the spectators. A. Wood, who was referee gave the decision to Lewis and Larson.

It was a good clean contest presumably, for the gate receipts, for nobody believed that the forfeit money changed hands.

Superior Court Notes.

In the case of C. J. Lynch vs. M. H. Grover, Judge Rudkin last Saturday granted a motion to file an amended complaint.

In the case of Clara A. Greening vs. Christopher Greening, a decree of divorce was granted Mrs. Greening on November 6, desertion being the cause of complaint.

It was suggested by the court in case of St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber Co. vs. J. W. Russell in the matter of foreclosure of mechanics lien, that a responsible person be appointed to collect the rents accruing from the property in question, and hold until final decision in the case has been reached.

MY ONE DETECTIVE CASE

(Original.)

"I had been ill and had lost my position. When I recovered, I started out to find another. My plucky wife gave me a kiss and cheered me as well as she could.

I resolved to go from door to door in the business part of the town, without reference to the kind of business. I had visited some twenty stores and manufacturing places when I struck the headquarters of the police department. True to my resolution, I went in. The inspector was in a bad humor about something, and I considered it a mere waste of time to apply to him, but I would not go back on my resolution.

"What do you want?" he asked gruffly.

"Anything. Detective work, if you have any."

"Detectives! Blunderers rather. I want a good detective right now, and I can't get one. How much experience have you?"

"None."

He sat for a moment thinking, then said: "My detectives are all known to the crooks. I have a mind to try you on a case because you're not known. The —th National bank was robbed last night, and the robbers are trying to get out of town with the swag. If I arrest them, they won't have the money on them, so I'm letting them run. Suppose I put you on to one of them, do you think you could make yourself out stupid enough for him to send the stuff out of town by you?"

"I can do a very hard job of trying," I replied.

He considered awhile, then instructed me to go to a certain cheap hotel and put up as a guest from the country. Bill O'Neil, one who was suspected of the robbery, was there, or had been there. I was to gain his confidence in the hope that he would send me out with at least a part of what had been taken from the bank. I fixed myself up in country costume and went to the place designated. A man answering the description of Bill O'Neil was sitting in the office when I went up to register. I paid no attention to him nor he to me. I went into the dining room, ate a good meal and on going out saw O'Neil sitting where I had left him. I bought a five cent cigar and while I was smoking it walked up to O'Neil and asked him if he knew when the next train left for Spottswood, a village twenty miles out. He answered very gruffly that he didn't, but I sat down beside him and began to talk about the price of corn, hay and other country commodities. Presently he called out to the clerk, asking him about the Spottswood train, and received a reply that it would leave in an hour. He then asked what road it was on and on being informed said to me that he was going to a station on the hither side of Spottswood and we would go together. "That is," he added, "if I can see a man before train time." He couldn't see "a man" before train time and asked me if I would take a parcel to Cottonwood. He would telegraph his partner to be on the look-out when the train stopped to receive it.

It looked as if the man had fallen into the trap, but I suspected he hadn't. At any rate I knew there was a game to be played and my eyes must be like a myriad of telescopes.

"All right," I said. "Gimme yer bundle."

"Come up to my room. I've a bottle there, and I'll blow you off."

It was plain he wouldn't act where others could see. We went to the room and he gave me the bundle. While he was getting out his bottle with his back toward me I jabbed a sharp knife into the package. The blade met with no resistance and I caught sand and sawdust in my hand. I had just time to put up the knife and thrust the bundle into my pocket when O'Neil turned, and I received my liquor with a smile.

I asked for a second drink and a third and so on as long as O'Neil would give me one. I waxed merry as I drank, and I soon saw by the expression of O'Neil's face that he was quite willing I should get drunk. At last instead of taking my train I fell over on the bed in an apparent stupor. Had I not possessed a strong head I would have been all I appeared. It was now quite dark, and I was snoring lustily. O'Neil turned off the light, and I heard a key turn and a drawer open. Then he went out, locking the door on the outside. I jumped up, glanced out the window, hung outside on the sill and let myself drop twenty feet or more to an extension and then down another big drop to the street, taking position on a corner where I could see every egress. I waited half an hour and was about to give up the job when I saw a "hayseed" like myself go out through a side door. Something—I don't know what—induced me to shadow him. I tracked him to a railway station, where I directed a depot official to call a policeman while I watched my man. In a few minutes the "hayseed" was arrested. On him was found the plunder done up in a bundle similar to the one that had been given to me.

O'Neil was also arrested. He told me that as mine was a new face he was uncertain whether I was a detective or not. Finally he concluded that whatever I was he would send me off with a dummy bundle. Then seeing a chance to lock me in he transferred the money to one of his gang made up to play my part.

My work so pleased the inspector that he wanted me to remain with him, but as I received a $5,000 reward I invested it in business and am now making money.

ADDITIONAL PERSONAL AND LOCAL

Jim Columbus and Spokane Louie, two Indian horse thieves, were caught Monday by Sheriff Grant the horses were recovered later.

Nov. 21st The Brotherhood of American Yeoman will hold their annual meeting for the nomination of officers. Election will follow two weeks later Dec. 5.

The committees of the various churches who are interested in getting up the "Trip Around the World" are requested to meet at the home of Mrs. Mert Martin at no 9 Natches avenue Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

T. M. Elliott of Brewster, Okanogan Co. has been in this city for the past two weeks buying horses for eastern shipment. One car load was sent to North Dakota and another for Ontario Canada. According to Mr. Elliott, horses of all grades, find a ready market in eastern cities.

Chas Finberg, a local bartender, was brought down from CleElum Monday by Frank Bryant. Finberg had received a broken limb the night before as the result of a fall caused by stepping through an open window while walking in his sleep.

The vacancy on the Citizens ticket caused by the declination of Frank Horsley, the nominee for Mayor, will probably be filled today. Mayor A. J. Shaw, E. J. Wyman and Ira P. Englehart are being talked of for the place. Miles Cannon, chairman, and J. T. Foster, secretary of the late convention have authority to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Jennie Wiscome of Spokane, department inspector, met with W. R. C. last Saturday afternoon for the purpose of inspecting that body. Her work was much enjoyed by all present. At the close of the session a banquet was served in honor of Mrs. Wiscome. Mead Corps now numbers nearly fifty members with a prospect of many new ones.

Cline-Scott Nuptials.

The marriage ceremony uniting for life Alfred B. Cline and Miss Jessie Scott, was performed at St. Michael's church Wednesday evening by Rev. Hamilton M. Bartlett in the presence of a large party of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The church was most beautifully decorated for the occasion.

At a little after 8 o'clock the bride appeared leaning on the arm of her father. They were preceded up the aisle by the ushers, Mr. Edward Carpenter and Mr. James Loudon, while the wedding march was played by Miss Blanche Read. At the chancel rail they were met by the groom and his best man, Mr. Del Hisecock. The beautiful ceremony of the Episcopal church was then recited, the bride being given away by her father.

After the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the Scott home followed by the guests, where congratulations were received.

A large number of society people attended the reception at the Scott home on D street. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The ladies who served the guests were Mesdames Whitson, Weed, Vance, Fraser, Stair, Bartholet, Schindeler and Macdonald, assisted by the Misses Snively, Moran, Fraser and Krutz.

The bride and groom took their departure on the early west bound train Thursday. They will make a wedding trip to California.

Handed Out Sentences.

Last Saturday a number of sentences were handed down in the superior court. George A. Miller alias George H. Emerson, was sentenced to three years imprisonment at Walla Walla. Miller received his sentence without apparent concern, and did not even shed a tear when Judge Rudkin remarked, "I am sorry you have lost your wife so many times."

It is reported on good authority that E. L. Sessions is not the only victim of the prisoner's crimes here in North Yakima, for before leaving the city, Miller went to the furniture store of Shaw & Flint, where he bought about $64 worth of furniture, stating that he had just been married and was starting up house-keeping and in exchange for the furniture he gave Mr. Shaw a $70 check, who in return gave him $6 in cash. When the check was found to be of no value, the furniture was not delivered, but Mr. Shaw was still minus the $6.

Fred Crow and Frank Esbenshade pleaded guilty of the crime of horse stealing. Although both were quite young. Crow was sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary, he having done time before, both at the state reform school and at Walla Walla, while Esbenshade was sent to the reform school.

Darrel Dymond was sentenced to three years imprisonment at Walla Walla, but Dymond will not mind that very much as he has been there before.

Monroe Cushman received a sentence of one year for stealing a bride.

TIM DONNAN'S LUCK

By D. H. TALMADGE

Copyright, 1902, by the
S. S. McClure Company

There are people who scoff at the theory of luck, but Tim Donnan is not one of them.

Tim was a brakeman on the P. and T. railway six months ago, and a freight brakeman at that, with a pretty slim prospect ahead of him. He despaired whenever he thought of a certain girl who was so practical that she refused to marry him until his salary was adequate for an establishment. The fact that she called it an "establishment" showed plainly that her emotions were under control of her intellect. A sentimental, impulsive creature who loved a man as this girl loved
Tim would have called it a little home.

Tim isn't a brakeman on the P. and
T. now. He is a conductor on the F.
and L., and he and the girl have their "establishment" and are deliriously
happy.

Luck did it, Tim says, and he proves
it by telling the story.

"Mebby you know and meebby you don't," he begins in a subtle brogue,
"that the windows of heaven were opened over a small spot in the northern part of Missouri one night last June. Meebby, again, you know and meebby you don't that the P. and T.
road runs parallel with the F. and L.
for about six miles after leavin' St.
James. They cross the Blue river each on its own nice little bridge within two miles of each other, the P. and T.
bridge bein' up stream from the bridge
of the F. and L."

"'Twas lucky for me they fixed it so.
I was sittin' on the back platform of the caboose the night when the cloud busted. My work was finished for the minute, and I was restin' and nursin'
a bad fit of melancholy. My hopes were blacker than the night just then,
and the night was blacker than the inside of a brunette cat. I saw nothin' to look forward to, and that's a worse state to be in than Arkansas. I was sayin' to myself that I believed I'd commit suicide and end the agony
when all of a quick sudden the train stopped."

"Mebby you never experienced the sensation of bein' on a freight train

I wanted. I crawled off at the first end I come to, and that was luck
again.

"There was a station a ways up the track, and after I'd found my land legs
again I hustled along till I got to it."

"The night operator was surprised to see me. Bein' a young chap, he reached nervously for his gun."

"Put it away," says I to him, 'put it away, Willy, and get a wringer.'

"Heavens!" says he. 'Is it rainin' again? You're soppin' wet.'

"Am I?" says I. 'Sure 'tis the true nose for news you've got. You should be in newspaper work. But tell me,' says I, 'how soon the train's due.' I knew a train was about due, else he'd been snoozin'."

"The flier goin' south," says he, lookin' at his watch, 'will be along in three minutes.'

"Does she stop at this station?"
says I.

"No," says he.

"Then," says I, 'you'd better get out your red lamp, for the bridge is all but gone.' And he did it.

"With the flier came more luck for me. The general manager's car was on and the general manager himself, artistically arrayed in a suit of pink pajamas, was up and rubberin' around almost before I'd told the conductor
about the bridge. 'Tis the way of general managers. They're mostly built so."

"He looked me over with his sharp eyes, all the time spittin' out questions as a rapid fire gun spits lead, and I answered him as intelligently as was possible without my teeth. He seemed impressed. 'You'd better go and get
dry. I'll look you up and remember you,' says he. 'Thank you, sir,' says I.

"'Twas about a week after that I got an invitation to the general offices of the F. and L. at St. Jim. The doctor said I might go if I'd be careful.
Another touch of pneumonia, he said,
might prove disastrous. So I went,
and they didn't do a thing after I got there but put me through an examination and give me one of the best runs on their system, though why they did it I'll be blessed if I can understand."

"Luck? Well, say!"

A Matter of Gloves.

"Did you never notice how much better men's gloves look than women's?"
said the man. "Go into any public conveyance and look at the gloves of the passengers and you will be impressed by the superior condition of those worn by men. Two-thirds of the women you meet cover their hands with suedes and dogskins that are shockingly soiled and worn. It is not only women of generally shabby appearance who are guilty of wornout finger tips and ragged seams; many who are otherwise well groomed and who could afford to put on a fresh pair
of gloves every day are equally culpable.
Men would be ashamed to go on the street wearing such disreputable things, but women flaunt them unblushingly."

"That sweeping condemnation is unfair," protested the woman. "The condition is easily explained. Women wear their gloves much more than men, and besides it is awfully destructive to finger tips to dig around in purses for change and samples and to handle
candy, to turn over books and to examine dry goods."

"Now you have jumped the subject,"
said the man. "I am not talking about cause. I am talking about effect. The majority of men certainly do wear better gloves than the majority of women.
You cannot deny that."

"That is true," the woman admitted.
"I cannot deny it; they can better afford it also."—Philadelphia Times.

Pride Had a Fall.

"Yes, it is a pretty good cigar," said
Brown, as he held it up and looked at it critically. "Jones bought it, but if he thinks he bought my silence with it he is mistaken, as the story is too good to keep. Jones, as you know, considers himself a great ladies' man, although he is old enough to know better. I was walking with him this afternoon, and he could talk of nothing but his 'latest.'
Suddenly he exclaimed:

"'By Jove! There she is now, across the street. Isn't she a peach?'"

"Off came his hat with a flourish, exposing his bald pate, and an idiotic grin
spread over his features."

"Much to my surprise, for she did not look like a girl who would indulge in a street flirtation, she waved her hand, hesitated a moment and then started to cross the street where we were."

"They can't resist me," said the beaming Jones. "Excuse me, old man;
see you later, ta, ta!"

"Hat in hand and grinning like a monkey, Jones approached the young lady, who suddenly stopped, looked startled for a moment and then gasped:
"'Goodness! I mistook you for my grandfather!'"—Detroit Free Press.

'the beard of my master is growing. I think maybe he like to cut it off.'"

I thanked him for his thoughtfulness, trouble about me. Have your cue braided, and then lie down on your pooka and take a nap."

Of course if a democrat occupied the White House now the republican organs
would have other reasons to advance
why so many banks are being closed.

"We must uphold President Roosevelt and his policy," shout the republican bosses. But not one of them can tell us what the "president's policy" is.

Mr. Bristows report does not specifically mention the name of Perry Heath, but undoubtedly Perry Heath knows that Mr Bristow had him in mind.

The supply of dummy directors is still

Now that it is over perhaps Mr.
Hanna's friends will admit that his "notes of warning" were what they would call "calamity howls" if uttered
by their political opponents.

We are informed by the administration press that it is "unlikely that any senators are involved" in the land frauds. However this may be only another way of saying that it is unlikely that any of the senators will be exposed.

People who advocate letting the trusts
alone until they swamp themselves overlook the fact that many of the victims are unable to swim.

It seems that when a trust fails to secure injunctive in a court of law it closes its mills as a warning to people not to interfere with trust graft.

Congressman Curtis says that certain Indians have leased the same land "o-nineteen different people. This is what comes of permitting the Indians to associate too intimately with officials of the land department."

It seems that the Chicago reception to Mr Cleveland was planned, executed and delivered by Mr. Eckels. The attan-dance was small, but the papers said that 300 millions were represented at the table. This was a delicate observance of the proprieties. Mr Cleveland feels more at home with money than with men.

PAINTING THE WORLD.

Indian Legend of the Way Spring
Came Into Existence.

Once, long before there were men in the world, all the earth was covered with snow and ice.

White and frozen lay the rivers and the seas; white and frozen lay the plains. The mountains stood tall and dead, like ghosts in white gowns.
There was no color except white in all the world except in the sky, and it was almost black. At night the stars looked through it like angry eyes.

Then God sent the spring down into the world—the spring with red lips and curling yellow hair.

In his arms he bore sprays of apple
blossoms and the first flowers—crocus,
anemones and violets, red, pink, blue,
purple, violet and yellow.

The first animal to greet the spring
was the white rabbit. The spring dropped a red crocus on his head, and ever since then all white rabbits have red eyes.

Then the spring dropped a blue violet on a white bird, the first bird to greet the spring, and that is the way the bluebird was made. Ever since then it is the first bird to arrive when the spring comes down from heaven.

So the spring went through the world,
Wherever he tossed the blossoms on the frozen seas, and the ice melted, and the fish became painted with all the tint of his flowers. That is the way the trout and the minnows and the salmon became gaudy.

Only the high mountains would not bow to the spring. So their summits remain white and dead, for they would let the spring paint only the sides.

The snow owls and the white geese and the polar bears fled from the spring, so they, too, remain white to this day.

A Tiger Story.

There is a story current at Kuloang,
central China, about a tiger which gave trouble in that quarter. A missionary and his wife had been worried by the tiger prowling nightly around their home. They determined to be rid of it and one night tied a cow up in the back yard and a dog at the front of the house. Then they armed themselves with guns and kept watch. The tiger appeared. The missionary fired and killed the cow. The wife rushed to see what had happened, and in her absence the tiger ate the dog.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ACTS.

Passes a Resolution Against Turning Over the Water Supply of Yakima to Private Corporation.

A general meeting of the Commercial Club was held Thursday night for the purpose of considering the question of water supply at the head of the Yakima river. A general discussion of the subject took place among those present, and then the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Whereas, It is reported that the state land commissioner has entered into a contract with the Washington Irrigation company for the extension of its canal
for the irrigation of a tract of state land to be selected under the Carey act; and,
Whereas, The counties of Yakima and Kittitas are interested in the conservation of the water supply in order that the same may be made available for the reclamation of the largest possible area
of land; and,

Whereas, Under said plan a comparatively small area, less than one-fifth as much as can be reclaimed by a higher line canal, would be reclaimed, and a vast body of high land in said counties would remain arid and unavailable for agricultural purposes for an indefinite period,
and perhaps permanently, thus producing the productive area of this state by nearly a half million acres—therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Commercial Club of the city of North Yakima, in general meeting assembled, that we protest against the making of such selection of lands by the state, and against entering into such contract, as favoring a private corporation against the best interests of the people of this state, and as preventing the full development of the resources of these counties, and as rendering the further reclamation of large areas of land impracticable.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the honorable secretary of the interior; to Hon. S. A. Call-vert, state land commissioner, and to Hon. W. L. Jones; and we respectfully request that the honorable secretary fix a date for the hearing of said matter, at which time all interested parties may be heard.

Will Extend Their Canal.

For some months the flume and ditch on the north side of the river have been kept up at the expense of some of the farmers down the river. The flume particularly is in need of extensive repairs, and the ranchers have been anxious to find out if the Moore Investment Co.
really intended to do anything with it.

Mr. C. N. Bickle, Prosser, Wash.

My Dear Sir—In reply to your letter favor of recent date which arrived
my absence from the city, would state that we have decided to go ahead with the work on our original proposition within the next sixty days. We will water first the Kennewick lands, amounting to 20,000 acres, and when this is done and completed, we will take up the Prosser proposition. Mr. Owens will probably be in Prosser within the next thirty days to arrange for the new work.

Yours very respectfully,

Snow Fall Does Damage.

The big snowstorm of Tuesday night
made work and worry for the line men.
Telegraph, telephone and electric light wires went down that night and the working forces of the different companies had to hustle continuously until the damage was repaired.

Such a heavy fall of snow at this time of the year is unprecedented in the Yakima valley, so the old timers say.

Death of Joe Faltermeyer.

Joe Faltermeyer, a well known young man of this city, died at the Deaconess hospital early Saturday morning from a complication of diseases but principally liver trouble. His age was 23 years.

Deceased had been ill for some time
but quit work in Nagler's cigar factory three weeks ago. He was taken to the hospital last Saturday. He was a cousin of Frank X. Nagler and a popular young man. The funeral will probably be held Sunday.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7, 1903.

Democratic politicians here are pleased with the result of the elections. While the party did not succeed in defeating Senator Hanna in Ohio, it had a splendid victory in Maryland, where President Roosevelt's attitude on the race question formed the principal issue and in New York City it prevented the Republicans, under the guise of Fusionists from retaining control of the city. McClellan's majority of over 63,000 is sure to bring the state to the Democrats next fall, and Maryland's reputation of the Republican party and especially of President Roosevelt has caused the present administration much alarm. In the Senate, Gorman will have the prestige of having administered a severe defeat to the party in power, and in the House, Hearst will recall the fact that his papers succeeded in bringing the Democrats into line in New York City. These men will be the champions of the Democratic cause and one of them may possibly lead the party in the campaign next fall. Senator Gorman will attack the negro policy of the President and Representative Hearst will show the laboring men how little they have to expect from the Republican party. The "open shop" controversy is by no means settled in the eyes of the labor leaders and they are very liable to turn to Mr. Hearst to lead their opposition to the President. Hanna will come to the Senate and it is believed by many that his victory in Ohio will lead him to believe that he is destined for greater things. There is an ominous unanimity in agreeing to Colonel Roosevelt's re-nomination and many politicians, who seem to know, declare that it is all on the surface. There is no denying the fact that the President is popular with certain sections of the country, but the old party leaders would welcome an opportunity to defeat him. Senators Hanna, Spooner, Cullom and Secretary Hay have been mentioned quietly in Republican circles as available men and if opportunity presents itself there will be a sharp opposition to the President at the next Republican convention. The Republican defeat in Maryland where the President was an issue may serve as a pretext for the opposition in his party. At all events the loss of New York and Maryland will weaken the present administration.

Secretary Hitchcock has issued a statement regarding the land frauds in the Interior Department, and it must be conceded that it is a very skillful document in that it says practically nothing on a subject on which the public has a right to know all. However it is a marked improvement on Postmaster General Payne's "hot air, stump speech" comment on the postal frauds. He says in substance; Nearly a year ago strong indications of very serious land frauds by speculators on the Pacific coast, under the forest reserve land act of June 4 1897, reached the Department. An investigation was started last January and the work is now going on "with great care and with all possible expedition consistent with thoroughness". The matter is to be probed to the bottom regardless of the influential character of some of the men involved. Several hundred thousand acres are involved in the illegal transactions, but the reports have been "more or less exaggerated." "At the proper time a full statement will be made covering the results of the entire investigation, and the whole matter will be given to the public; but for obvious reasons it is not deemed expedient that a detailed statement of the facts should be given at the present time."

Perhaps like tariff revision and financial legislation, this statement ought to be postponed until after the presidential election. The investigations have taken ten months now and by the time another investigation commission is formed, a million word report handed in, and then read and annotated by the President, another twelve months may be consumed. However there is the Secretary's authority for the statement that great frauds exist and that influential men are involved. Furthermore he declares that anyone who says that there are more than several hundred thousand acres of land involved is exaggerating.

Revolution is the arbiter of all disputes in South America countries. Panama wants the canal built, and quickly; the central government at Bogota saw fit to reject the canal treaty and now Panama has declared her independence of Columbia and unless the revolution in the Isthmus is crushed at once, which seems very improbable, a representative of the new republic of Panama will no doubt soon be on his way to Washington to take up direct negotiations for the construction of the trans-isthmian water way. Our State Department is much embarrassed as to the attitude it should adopt toward the Colombian union. The Administration is anxious to build the canal and the majority of the American people will sympathize with Panama, yet this country should not encourage strife among the South American republics. The session of Panama was more or less expected here, as the interests of that state and Columbia are in many ways opposed to each other and their geographical connection it not a close one. If Columbia should finally recognize the independence of Panama, there would be no objection to our treating direct with the latter country, or even guaranteeing its independence. If by any chance it might decide to become a part of our possessions, no one could foretell the political effects of our getting possession of southern territory.

Secretary Shaw's activities in distributing surplus funds will be seriously curtailed, according to the treasury report for the first four months of the fiscal year, which shows that while there was last year a surplus of about $18,500,000, this year it is practically eliminated owing to the decline in custom receipts and the increase in expenditures. The decline in the custom receipts is chiefly in the steel and sugar schedules. The importation of sugar has been lessened by the anticipation of the passage of the Cuban reciprocity resolution. There has also been a marked decline in the importation of articles of luxury. There has been an increase in the expenditure in many of the departments, especially in the navy. The $5,000,000 appropriation for the St. Louis Exposition added also to the expenditure. The sale of public lands has been phenomenal, but returns from this source go to the irrigation fund. The falling off in custom receipts indicate a lull in our "boom" times, and it is said that the Republican leaders in Congress will attempt to make this session a very economical one, so as to make a good impression on the voters next fall.

The Way to Speak.

"I love you, pretty maid," he said;
"but should you say me nay, I would not die as others have, whom you have turned away. I would not go and kill myself—a foolish thing to do—I'd give some other pretty maid the love I offered you." She sat awhile, all wrapt in thought. What else was there to do?
She heaved a sigh, and shyly said, "I guess, I'll marry you."—Ex.
