The Caxton Printers, Ltd.,
Caldwell, Idaho.

Air Mail:

Dear Jim:

I am enclosing a copy of a letter, which I am acknowledging, but am referring the subject at hand to you. This is not only not down my line, so to speak, but as I recall is covered in my contract with Caxtons.

If you will reply to this I will be most appreciative. And you might give me a briefing on situations like this.

I am well familiar with the exceptionally keen viewpoint on Northwest History, and with the writings of Mrs. McNeilly and have a very high regard for her background in the historical field. You no doubt are more familiar with her Northwest origin.

Do the circumstances warrant sending her a "reader's copy?"

I think you can look for a very good sale in Yakima. I'm a little hazy as to outside of town, because the very human interest stories of the death of Puck Hyah Foot may have been of tremendous local effect, and the same will not pertain elsewhere in the Northwest.

Sincerely
