Sen. Richard Neuberger,
United States Senate Building,
Washington, D.C.

June 3, 1955

Dear Senator Neuberger:

The Yakima Nation's Centennial committee has indicated that I should send a copy of the Treaty Centennial booklet, which I edited and wrote a couple of sections for, to you.

My only regret, in sending it to a senator with the writing background that you possess, is that I had less than 12 days time (off duty hours) to prepare the material for the printers.

The Yakimas have never before authorized a publication but they felt this is a "once in a hundred years" event and that the item would pay for itself, thereby costing the tribe nothing. I believe it will do that in the Yakima Valley.

Your copy, a 64 pp. wraps deal is being sent under separate cover and may come in handy in your collection.

I am sure that if you have use for another copy or so, there will be a few surplus hanging around and that Alex Saluskin, chairman of the Centennial Committee and secretary of the Yakima Tribal Council would be most happy to take care of your request.

Sincerely
