YAKIMA WATER SUPPLY PURE

City Council Protests Against Malicious Publication—Physicians' Statements.

Last Saturday there appeared in a Seattle newspaper statements purporting to emanate from the North Yakima correspondent of the paper, which, because of their falsity and evident intent to injure North Yakima and the Yakima valley, attracted wide spread attention of an uncompromising nature. The article in question carried the idea that this city obtained its supply of water from the Tietan river, which was of such a deadly quality as to kill fish life; that dead fish existed in the city's supply in sufficient quantity to contaminate by putrefaction which threatened the health of the city; that the city water had been examined by a Seattle chemist, but the result never made public, thus insinuating that it was of such bad character as to warrant the suppression of the facts; that there was insistence that the sources of the water supply be examined.

Such a state of affairs caused astonishment, for no one here knew such to be the facts. Indeed, they are not facts and there is nothing to base such statements upon. It has been branded as a libel prompted by malice and intended to injure this valley in the estimation of such as might read the statements.

All North Yakima unites in protesting against the slander uttered against the health conditions of this section of the state. While private citizens have discussed the matter and denounced in the strongest terms the maligner and traducer in their midst, official notice was taken by the city council on Monday night by the unanimous adoption of the following resolution:

Whereas, The Seattle Times contained an article in its issue of August 16th, purporting to have been written at North Yakima, in which it was represented that the water supply of this city is putrid, unwholesome and unhealthful and

Whereas, The water supply of this city is as pure and wholesome as any in the state of Washington, and is a matter of special pride among its people, being taken from the Naches river, a swiftly flowing mountain stream fed by the melting snows and glaciers of the Mt. Rainier Forest Reserve and

Whereas, It was represented in said article that the health of this community is bad, owing to the quality of its water supply, whereby the impression is created that the city of North Yakima is an unhealthy locality and

Whereas, False and malicious statements have been persistently written from this city, with the evident intent to do injury to the city and its people and

Whereas, said article has caused much public indignation among the citizens of North Yakima

Therefore, the mayor and the city council, of the city of North Yakima, protest against the false and malicious statements contained in said article, as calculated to create an erroneous impression, both as to the health of the city, and as to its water supply.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Seattle Times, with the request that it be given the same publicity as the scandalous article, no doubt unwittingly published by it, was given.

With a view to ascertaining what the leading practicing physicians think about the city water, as shown by the experience of professional scientific men who daily come in contact with the life of the people of this section, the REPUBLIC has obtained short, pointed expressions from the North Yakima physicians.

Incidental to the general situation as to the purity of the water a glimpse is caught of the number of cases of typhoid fever in the care of North Yakima physicians. Not more than eight cases can be figured out from those statements as existing at the present time, and the trend of the statement is that the majority of those are out of the city, none attributable to the public water supply. Here are the carefully weighed statements of 11 of the leading medical men in North Yakima whose combined practice embraces by far the greater portion of the community.

Dr. Heliker—I have never seen an analysis of the city water and cannot tell anything about it. I have two cases of typhoid, in each case water used by the family being drawn from a well and I attribute the use of that water as the origin of the sickness.

Dr. Burns—I have not analyzed the water, but think it as good as used by any community in the country. I have no cases of typhoid, but have two of malaria. City water is used, but I do not attribute the origin of that.

Dr. Hill—In general, I may say that the city water is good, though I have not analyzed it. I know that well water hereabouts is full of decomposed vegetable matter, as it is visible to the eye if one lets a glass of it remain near a stove for some time. I have no cases of typhoid fever.

Dr. Fletcher—The city water is healthful and not contaminated. I have had several cases of typhoid fever this season, but the most of them have been outside the city, and very, very few have used city water exclusively. I attribute the cause to bad hygienic conditions and infection largely due to evaporation from waste water on the surface which is breathed into the lungs.

Dr. Rosser—I have never seen harm in the city water. I have no typhoid cases now, but have had a recent case in the country. I can not say as to its origin. It has puzzled me, for the family used water from a natural spring on the place.

Dr. Gunn—In my estimation the city water is good, comparatively speaking. I have had no cases of typhoid fever this season, but have had a few cases of malaria which I attribute to the decay of vegetable matter, which is common to all irrigated sections where vegetation is profuse. I have no cases the origin of which I can attribute to use of water from the city's system.

Hardware Cheap for Cash

I do no credit business and so do not have to figure my losses as part of the cost of my goods. I sell hardware at the lowest living prices on actual wholesale prices. I can save you money.

BARTON, the Hardware Man.

Stone Building, South First Street.

Dr. Gorden—The city water is fair, but I would not drink it without filtering or boiling. There is a slight chance for contamination after it enters the ditch this side of the river and the open ditch should be screened. The wells here are contaminated by surface water. I have six cases of typhoid fever now. One came from drinking from the Shanno ditch. I have never seen cases of typhoid which are directly attributable in origin to the city water.

Dr. Wells—There are some impurities in the city water, though I have never made an analysis to find out the chemical or bacteriological matter in it. It is always the case where there are open ditches. I have two cases which are genuine typhoid fever. Both claim that they have drunk nothing but water from the city system, though I imagine that they may have drunk from other sources and forgotten about it. No water is safe this time of year without filtering or boiling. I think it would be better if a closed pipe were used to bring the water instead of an open ditch.

Dr. Frank—Our water is as good as there can be. I have examined it in times gone by and found it all right and as good as is afforded any community, though some have tried to state otherwise. I have no cases of typhoid and I defy anyone to prove that we have cases of sporadic typhoid fever here.

Dr. Dulin—I think that the city water is as good as that of any other place, though I have not had it analyzed. I know that it is a great deal better than well water about here. I have no cases of typhoid fever and have not had this season. What fever cases I have had this year have not been typhoid.

Dr. Lynch—I believe that our city water is about as good as is free from contamination from typhoid, though I have not examined it analytically. There is some menace in the fact that for a considerable space the water comes through inhabited sections in an open ditch. Care should be taken always to preserve that intact from contamination from dwellings along its route, lest the entire system in the city should be affected. Having just returned from a vacation, I have no typhoid patients at the present time.

BURGLARIES OF CIRCUS TIME

Bold Thieves Entered Five Offices and Broke Three Safes.

Advance agents for the circus broke into five business places in the city early Saturday morning and got away with $150 after smashing three safes and several office doors. The places burglarized were Hulse's blacksmith shop, Jasper Mikkelsen's wood and coal office, the office of the Northwestern Improvement company, the office of the Bartlett-Foote company and that of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber company. About $150 were stolen.

Judging from the methods employed by the burglars, they were experts and knew how to get at a safe or office with dispatch, if their work did not show neatness. No trace was left as to their identity, but it is supposed that the men were those who follow the burglar business in company with circuses. Residents of the vicinity heard something like explosions about 2 o'clock in the morning, but did not think of burglars.

The men evidently went first to Hulse's place where they took a sledgehammer, large monkey wrench and some newly sharpened and tempered stone cutters' chisels left to be jobbed. Thence they went to Mikkelsen's where they pried open the office door but noticed a sign on the safe telling them that it was open.

They pawed over some papers and left the place for the Northwestern Improvement company. Here they broke a window and knocked off the combination lock knob and opened the safe. About $80 and some rare coins were taken. At the Bartlett-Foote company's office they pried up a window and after knocking off the combination knob blew the safe to smithereens with dynamite. The money taken was about $25.

The burglars pried the door open to get out of the place. Across the way is the office of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber company. Nippers applied to the key from the outside slid the bolt and allowed entrance. Pieces of soap showed how the men greased the way for a quill toothpick in the crack between the doors for the introduction of dynamite.

One of the doors was lifted off the hinges by the explosion and access to the cash box and $37.64 was easy. A revolver in a desk drawer was also easy prey. This is the third time within a few months that the St. Paul office has been burglarized. Marshal Grant was called out of bed at 4 o'clock and notified of the burglaries and at once set about the work of locating the perpetrators. He heard of two men toward whom suspicion was directed and watched them for some time. When the detective employed by the circus spotted the men he and Grant consulted with the result that the pair were arrested on suspicion. At the station house they turned in the names of Martin Carter and George Knowles. They were reluctant to tell much of themselves. They said that they hailed from Seattle, but later gave other places as their homes, including Spokane and Portland.

The two men were discharged on Tuesday because of a lack of evidence to connect them with the crimes.

A runaway which caused some damage but did not endanger life occurred on Tuesday at the home of Hon. Miles Cannon. Mr. Cannon's sons were preparing for a drive and had hitched a horse to a carriage, when it was noted that the horse was not properly adjusted. The lads removed the bridle but were too short to reach the animal's head to replace it. They were leading the horse to a place where their mother could put the bit in the animal's mouth when it saw the carriage following it and took fright and ran. The carriage is a complete wreck. One lad who was in the carriage was thrown out but received no serious injury.

BOND ISSUE OF ONLY $23,682 SELAH BRIDGE TO BE BUILT

Another Mass Meeting on School Improvements Must be Called.

Another mass meeting of the taxpayers of school district No. 7 will have to be called and the vote on bonding the district for purposes of making improvements on school buildings and erecting new structures reconsidered. At the time the meeting was held some weeks ago, the decision was reached on the assumption that the assessed valuation of property in the district would aggregate $2,000,000 and that $30,000 more in bonds might be used without going over the statute limit. But such is now found to be not the case.

Acting under the authority of the school board, Frank Bond has gone over the valuation books of the county treasurer in so far as they relate to the school district, and he finds that the assessor's figures aggregate only $1,797,257 in property for the district. This amount is made up of the following items: City lots and improvements, $994,475; ranch property and improvements, $381,792; Yakima W. L. & P. Company's right of way, $3,500; Northern Pacific main and side tracks, $29,970; personal property roll, $378,690; Northern Pacific personal property, $8,830.

It has transpired that the county commissioners in their capacity as tax equalizers, have cut off from the assessor's figures items aggregating $11,615, which leaves the assessed property valuation for the district at $1,785,642, which will not allow of the intended amount of bond issue, but allows of a total bonded indebtedness of only $39,282. As there is already an issue of $65,600, the amount which can be issued at present is only $23,682.

Another element in tending to decrease the assessed valuation is the cutting down of personal property under the new exemption law. Deputy Assessor Coonse estimates the cut-off from that source in the school district at about $20,000, which amount would have raised the total assessed valuation to nearly $2,000,000 and would have allowed $10,000 more bonds to be issued.

As it is, the work of the mass meeting is set at naught and it is probable that at the next meeting of the school board a call for another mass meeting will be issued.

County Commissioners Will Have a Part in Building and Observe Law.

Because nothing has been heard recently regarding the construction of the proposed bridge over the Yakima river just above the Naches, it has been understood by some that the project has been abandoned because of some adverse action by the county commissioners. This is not the case, though the construction of the viaduct has been put off for some time. County Commissioner Lince states the following to be the facts in the premises:

The county commissioners felt that the county should not at this time bear the expenses of the bridge, because it will be expensive and be a benefit to only a few people living on the east side of the river. Private individuals then proposed to build the bridge and later sell it to the county when the time should arrive that the county would be in a position to buy the bridge and the population using it justified the expenditure. In order for the county to take such a step as building a bridge, certain formalities must be observed, like advertising for bids by the county. This will necessitate the county being a party to the bidding and the proposition is that the county receive bids and pay down something on its construction, the contractor to look to the individuals interested for the remainder of the cost of the construction. Then, when the county feels itself justified in getting title to the bridge outright it can return the money advanced by the private individuals who now want the bridge and are now willing to advance the money in order to have the use of the viaduct.

NOT A REED MAN IS CHOSEN

Krutz-MacCrimmon-Boyle-Reed Slates Turned Down in Every Ward.

The republican primaries in the three city wards Monday night were well attended, but although keen interest was taken by the voters at each polling place good humor prevailed everywhere. It was expected that the first ward, which is the abiding place of eleven candidates, would be the scene of a titanic struggle, but the workers were pretty well united on two tickets, and there were of comparatively few scattering votes.

Notwithstanding the large number of candidates in the city, interest apparently centered in the struggle between Walter J. Reed and Ira P. Englehart, candidates for senator, and this was the only contest settled by the primaries. So far as any man knows, other candidates have still the bulk of their work to do in hustling for nominations in the convention. In the first ward it is considered probably that Dilley for sheriff and Hall for auditor have the best of their opponents, but neither of them claims the delegation, nor has any apparent advantage elsewhere.

Messrs. Krutz, MacCrimmon and Boyle made a desperate fight for Reed in all three wards, but had their usual luck—only three votes. Only two men on their printed tickets passed under the wire printers, and these two are not considered Reed men. Indeed it is doubtful if they would have had a majority of the three delegations for Reed if the printed slates had won out in their entirety.

Returns from the country precincts indicate that Englehart will be nominated without a struggle tomorrow.

Following are the delegates chosen as far as reported to this office:

A Preacher Stone-Cutter.

If the Rev. Mr. Hayden of the Presbyterian church ever decides to retire from the ministry, he will be able to make a living as a stone-cutter, and will be able to draw the wages of an expert artisan.

The new Presbyterian church building, in which the minister is at present all wrapped up, is a stone structure, and its faces are far from plain. In fact, an unusual amount of ornamental work is necessary if the plans of the architect be conformed to.

The work has been greatly delayed by the inability of the contractor to secure skilled workmen to cut the stone. Some days ago matters came to the point where work would have to be stopped on this account, and then the Rev. Mr. Hayden came to the rescue. He had never had a chisel in his hand but he believed he could do the work. So they gave him tools and a stone and told him to see what he could do. After about ten days' work he has turned out something like a dozen ornamental pieces, and the workmen and the contractor tell him that they are not only acceptable but they are equal in every respect to the work of a skilled cutter. Mr. Hayden is almost as proud of his success in this line as of his good work in his profession. Not only is he glad to be able to contribute his handiwork to the building of the temple, but he is happy in the fact that he has discovered a talent he did not know he possessed.

North Yakima's Growth.

S. M. Percival, claim agent of the Northern Pacific, registered at the Bartholot yesterday. Mr. Percival is one of the oldest men now living in Washington who was born here. His travels take him all over the country and he knows much about its development. Of North Yakima he said: "I am glad to see that your city is growing and outstripping the country round about. In most cases one sees a city away ahead of its country. This has not been true here. I have noted its growth within the past two or three years, but on this trip I note a great improvement. I mean the erection of substantial business blocks, now under construction. This country is bound to be far better than it now is, and I am pleased to note that the city is preparing to take advantage of everything in a business way, and the new buildings indicate this."

Arrested and Let to Bail.

Willie Thorpe, a young man about 23 years of age, was arrested and released on bail yesterday morning by Sheriff Tucker, pending the arrival of the authorities of Waterville. Nothing of charge against Thorpe is conveyed by the telegram requesting the arrest, the sheriff acting as directed by the telegram. Thorpe is not a resident of North Yakima but was here for a few days only. He furnished the bail to be on hand when the Waterville officials reach here.

COUNTY REALTY INCREMENT

Nearly 22,000 Acres Added to the Listed Improved Lands During the Year.

Another element showing the increasing wealth of Yakima county is that indicated by the figures of the assessor relative to the assessable acreage of improved and unimproved land. The tabulation, which has just been completed, is very gratifying, especially in the matter of increase in the acreage of improved lands, which reaches to within a fraction of 22,000 acres.

This year the number of acres of assessable land in the county is 1,016,494.80, while last year there were 1,011,985.70, an increase of 4,509.10. This represents the number of acres of former government land which has been proved up during the past year.

The number of acres of improved land in the county last year was 45,398.70, as against 67,398.63 this year, a gain of 21,999.93. In making these figures the work of the assessor has been based on a very conservative definition of what constitutes an improvement and in his own words, "there are many more acres of improved lands and more, too."

Special Fair Days.

In response to a request by Agent Meeks of the railroad Secretary Gunn of the State Fair commission has forwarded his estimates of the number of persons who will be in North Yakima from the Sound on the three special days of fair week. Dr. Gunn estimates a total of 3,000, distributed as follows: September 30th, Tacoma day, 750; October 1st, Seattle day, 1,000; October 2nd, Odd Fellows' day, with the dedication of the new Odd Fellows' building, 1,250. Arrangements are already being made for entertaining the visitors.

Ready for the Convention.

Candidates for the county offices have been hustling incessantly since the primaries, which appear to be decisive only so far as senatorial nomination was concerned.

Interest centers mainly about the contest for sheriff. Messrs. Sindall, Dilley, Leach, Lum and Ker are interested in that, and no man can pick the winner. Ker came in with the Moxee delegation. Lum claims a sprinkling of the city delegates and a bunch from the lower end of the county. He went down Wednesday to see about the lower valley men. Sindall makes no claims, but he undoubtedly will come into the convention with considerable support. Dilley is working hard and is making headway. Leach relies upon his long residence in the county and the friendship of many of the old timers who will be in the convention for his support. It is occasionally reported that Tilt Phillips will again be in the race.

The legislative ticket is in the same doubt. Harrison is said to have been shut out at Sunnyside, and thus will probably not be a factor. This leaves Dr. Hare and Capt. Dann the only outspoken candidates, with W. B. Dudley, W. H. Redman, Tilt Phillips and an unknown from Prosser to be figured on as possibilities. Rich of Prosser may want a renomination, but need not be seriously considered.

Congdon Ditch Extension.

The work of surveying the extension of four miles of the Congdon ditch into Wide Hollow has been completed and the right of way practically secured for the entire distance of the extension. MATTERS OF CITY ROUTINE

Sunnyside Telephone and Electric Road Franchises Before the City Council.

Monday evening's meeting of the city council, the first held in several weeks because no quorum had been obtained on previous occasions, was a very busy one. Aside from the matter of liquor licenses and the publication of an article libelling the city, considerable business of a routine and special character was disposed of.

The ordinance granting an operative and constructive franchise to the Christian Cooperative Telephone company of Sunnyside, passed the third reading and became an accomplished fact.

A petition from the Ontario Land company, asking for the closing of certain parts of Pasco, Walnut and Reed streets in the southwestern part of the city, was referred to the committee on streets and ditches to report at the next meeting.

Certification was asked by E. C. Burlingame & Co., of a bill against the Northern Pacific for macadamizing property of the railroad on Front street at the time the city pavement was put down. The bill calls for $1,241.06 and was certified to.

A petition, which had been before the council for four months, asking for a plank sidewalk six feet wide, north for four blocks from St. Elizabeth's hospital, was granted after it had been amended on motion of Councilman Liggett to have the width eight feet.

A petition for permission to hold a special election at which the question of annexing to the city a part of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 18 was received and favorably acted upon. It is that land now outside of the city which will be affected by the sewer to be put through Seventh street. The election is to be held on the 29th of September.

A draft of an ordinance granting permission to Joseph F. McNaught, his heirs or assigns, to operate a street railway in North Yakima, barring Naches and Yakima avenues, was read and referred to the city attorney for examination and report. The proposed ordinance provides that the route or route be running by November 1, 1902, motive power at first to be steam and later electricity. The ordinance is broad enough to cover both a street railway and the suburban lines of the Yakima Valley Central Railroad.

John J. Rudkin, special counsel employed by the city to give an opinion on the existing ordinances relating to payment for sewer construction, submitted his opinion, which is contrary to that of City Attorney Snyder, who held some time ago that the present system of assessing could be enforced. Mr. Rudkin proposes that the city should define the limits of the part of a sewer system which it would build out of the general fund, and then the remainder of the work could be paid for by assessment districts. It was his suggestion as to the manner in which the city could help out on the construction of public works calling for aid from the general fund. As the matter of the Seventh street sewer will remain pending until after a special election, the opinion was tabled until after such election.

Mayor Fechter brought up the matter of the necessity of establishing a city drainage system and suggested that correspondence be opened with such cities as Los Angeles and Fresno, Cal., and Boise, Idaho, which are located similarly with North Yakima in irrigated sections of arid belts. The mayor was instructed to correspond for information regarding drainage with the officials of other cities.

Police Judge R. K. Nichols was granted twenty days leave of absence. It was reported that $198 poll tax had been collected.

Alexander Miller appeared and on behalf of the Yakima Milling company and owners of warehouses in the northwestern part of the city, asked for the establishment of a fire alarm box and of an extension of the hydrant system in that part of the city. The matter was referred to the committee on fire and fire limits.

On motion of Councilman Liggett a reward of $50 was offered for the apprehension and conviction of any person who sends in false fire alarms or meddles in any way with the fire alarm system.

Bids received for constructing a sewer in Selah avenue, were thrown out on the ground that they were exorbitant, and bids will be readvertised for.

City Marshal Grant's request that a new floor be put in the city jail was accorded.

S. A. DICKEY.

WE favor the indorsement of Mr. Cushman as well as Mr. Jones by Yakima republicans. We do not enthusiastically admire Mr. Cushman, but there are two reasons why he should receive the support of Yakima county in the convention. One is that Pierce county has handsomely indorsed Mr. Jones, and the other is that Cushman will have so opponent in the state convention who is equal to him in ability.

THE CITY WATER SUPPLY.

The city council Monday night by resolution condemned the publication by the Seattle Times of an article in which it was alleged that the water supply of this city is impure, and that an epidemic of disease is feared as a consequence. The article was the work of a "knocker" whom the Times has maintained here, apparently for the purpose of injuring the town, for some months past, and the council is to be commended for expressing its opinion of a part of his work and forwarding it to his paper. The REPUBLIC prints the resolution, and also the opinions of all the physicians of the city who are in town this week regarding the character of the city water. In addition to this, the physicians were asked to state the number of cases of typhoid fever here, and their opinion as to the origin of the disease. Some of the physicians deny that there is typhoid fever here; others assert that it is found here. With that controversy we have nothing to do. But it is a fact that all of the physicians agree substantially that the city water supply is good, and none of them assert that any case of fever was ever traced to the use of it.

The REPUBLIC does not profess to speak scientifically, but it will say that the water supply of North Yakima ought to be as good as can be had anywhere. It comes from the Naches river, which with all its tributaries comes from the snow covered peaks but a few miles away, and which has a fall of more than 40 feet to the mile. Before it enters the city mains the water passes through the meshes of fine screens, and every reasonable precaution seems to be taken by the company to furnish good water. We do not see how it would be possible to furnish a better supply.

IRA P. ENGLEHART.

One result in the county convention plainly foreshadowed by the voting at the primaries Monday night is the nomination by acclamation of Ira P. Englehart for senator.

Last week the newspaper owned by Mr. Englehart's competitor attacked him bitterly, and made charges which if true were enough to disqualify him for the nomination, or for election if he were nominated. Mr. Englehart offered no defense to these charges, preferring that the republicans here, who have known him during his residence in the county, should accept or reject his candidacy without a word from him in his own behalf. They accepted it, and the opponent who published the charges failed to secure a single delegate out of the 28 elected in the three wards.

In the opinion of the REPUBLIC the party has chosen wisely. Mr. Englehart has served two years in the legislature, and for that reason will be more useful to the county than any inexperienced man who might have been chosen. During his term in the house he was at the head of the most important committee of that body, and in that capacity saved the taxpayers of the state hundreds of thousands of dollars. He was one of the influential and useful members of the legislature of 1899. His record is without a blemish. He voted for a railroad commission bill. He voted for a reduction of passenger fares. He voted against a freight rate reduction bill which would have benefited the people of Eastern Washington at the expense of his own constituents, but he secured material reductions for the producers of this valley which are still in effect and other valuable concessions of which they are still reaping the benefits. On every important question then before the legislature for settlement he voted right, and he usually spoke as he voted.

Mr. Englehart will be nominated by the convention tomorrow and he will receive one of the largest republican majorities recorded on election night.

ACCORDING to one of the daily papers, not particularly friendly to the Hon. W. L. Jones, the political situation in Yakima county is badly mixed, and the admirers of Mr. Jones throughout the state are deeply concerned. Well, the republican primaries were held in this county Monday night, and the political situation here does not appear to be much mixed, and the friends of Mr. Jones, if they ever had any dark forebodings, may cease to worry. If there was ever any opposition to Mr. Jones in this county, it was buried so deep at the primaries that it will not be able to separate itself from the rest of the debris for some little time to come. As we have said before, Mr. Jones will be indorsed by the Yakima county republican convention without a dissenting voice.

This is Mr. Jones's county, and his people are satisfied with him, and as long as he conducts himself in the manly, straightforward manner heretofore characteristic of him, incidentally making himself useful to his constituents to the best of his ability, his friends throughout the state may rest assured that Yakima republicans will continue to support him.

RETURNS from the primaries of all but four or five remote precincts are in, and the list of delegates is one which may well cause any republican in Yakima county to take pride in his party. The men who will appear at the convention hall tomorrow for the party are in the main representative citizens, and we have no hesitation about predicting that their deliberations will be governed by the spirit of fairness and a desire to act for the best interests of the party. We expect to see a strong, winning ticket nominated.

THIRTY-SEVEN states have railroad commissions. Washington should have one. The republican state convention this year will declare for it. Yakima county should be in line, instructing its delegation to support a commission plank, and pledging its legislative nominees to vote for a commission bill.

IT MIGHT not be out of place for the county convention tomorrow to instruct its nominees for the legislature as to their position on the division of the county. The republican party can afford to declare itself unequivocally on this question. If it does so, its opponents cannot afford to do otherwise.

YAKIMA county farmers should take an interest in the state fair. Yakima people cannot expect those of other parts of the state to concern themselves about the success or failure of the fair if they neglect it themselves.

The Price of Hoppicking.

The price of hop picking is agitating many minds just now. Many pickers have said that they will demand $1.25 a box, and a movement is reported to be on foot among the Indians to hold out for this figure. One man who always goes into the yards during the harvest said yesterday: "The price of hops is away out of sight now, and the growers can afford to pay $1.25. For my part I shall ask $1.25, and that seems to be the general opinion of pickers with whom I have talked."

D. E. Lesh was asked yesterday morning what the price of picking would be. He said:

"I don't know. The Moxee company will pay whatever other growers pay. We shall not raise the price above the going scale. Many growers can afford to pay $1.25 this year, and it will not be a great calamity if they are compelled to do so. On the other hand, while the market rules high now, pickers should remember that that is for hops on which there are no strings. A large portion of the Yakima crop has been contracted at figures considerably below the present market, and a great many growers are unfortunate enough to be tied up by contracts at 10 to 12 cents. Pickers should take this fact into consideration when they talk about raising the price. The man who has contracted at these low prices cannot pay $1.25. He would give up practically all the season's profits if he did. I want it distinctly understood that the Moxee company has not offered any picker more than $1 per box."

YAKIMA AVENUE LICENSES

Remonstrances Against Saloons Outweigh Petitions of Three Concerns.

Remonstrances representing the protests of a greater part of the property affected killed the petitions of Olaf Sandberg, Bert Fletcher and Kellogg & Ford for licenses to run liquor houses on Yakima avenue, and the much talked of contest between the property owners and the saloon keepers was decided Monday night in favor of the former. As a result, it is said that Kellogg & Ford will close their place when their present license expires on the 25th and not try to do business in North Yakima, that Sandberg will try for a license to open a saloon on the east side of south First street in the stone building he has recently purchased, and that Fletcher has not definitely determined his future course. It is also prophesied that Lund and Shadlow, on the corner on either side of Yakima avenue, will have to close their front doors and entrance will be gained only through the front street entrances.

Councilmen Aikens, Keck, Liggett, Moran, Reed and Wyman were present when Mayor Fichter called the meeting of the body in the assembly room of the fire department, the council chamber being occupied for primary purposes by the republicans of the Third ward. The matter of licenses was first taken up and the petitions of Sandberg and Fletcher read.

Councilman Reed immediately moved to grant the licenses, but, the mayor asked for remonstrances. Clerk Doust said that he had received none. A. D. Sloan stated to the council that he had led remonstrances with the clerk and took a witness with him when he delivered them to the clerk.

"That's what that was in that envelope?" observed the clerk. "It is in my safe at my office. I just put it in there without examining the contents."

The mayor instructed the clerk to go to his office and get the papers, while he acted as clerk and presiding officer, and some routine business was taken up. On Mr. Doust's advice the remonstrances were read and the clerk announced that in both cases 14 lots in the blocks affected were ranged on the side of the remonstrances.

The matter was then dropped for a time, after City Attorney Snyder gave his opinion that nothing further need be done, as the lack of sufficient support to the petition made them fail without any action of the council.

Then the petition of Kellogg & Ford was read later and the remonstrances accompanying contained the name of S. J. Lowe, owner and lessor of the building occupied by the firm. The protest mustered 15 of the lots affected. The mayor raised the question again about the necessity of action by the council. Councilman Keck moved that the matter be not submitted by the council. The mayor declared the motion out of order and Mr. Keck withdrew the motion.

The mayor called for a motion to the effect that the licenses be not granted. A long silence ensued, no councilman caring to father such a motion and the mayor asking for an expression of opinion from the board.

Councilman Keck moved that the roll be called on the question of not granting the licenses and the mayor explained that an affirmative vote would be a vote against granting the license. Nevertheless, the councilmen voted unanimously in the negative. The mayor declared that the vote had been taken "under misapprehension," and called for a new vote. The councilmen said that they had not understood the question and then all voted in the affirmative and the mayor declared that the license had been defeated.

ABOUT IRRIGATION PROJECTS

Yakima Citizens Confer With Chief Engineer and Choose a Committee.

Nearly 100 members of the Commercial club and citizens of North Yakima responded to the call on Friday night to listen to the statement of the government's policy for action under the new irrigation law made by Chief Engineer F. H. Newell of the reclamation service of the division of forestry of the department of agriculture. After Mr. Newell had told of the general scope of the work and of the desires of the government for assistance in the form of suggestions by the people of experience in irrigation, President Englehart appointed as a committee to formulate plans and furnish data for the work in the Yakima valley the following named: D. E. Lesh, George Donald, Walter N. Granger, Hon. W. L. Jones, H. B. Scudder, A. J. Splawn and Wallace Wiley.

In opening his remarks Mr. Newell referred to the work already done under the arid land law of 1888, which is available for facts and figures for the coming work. He said that the passage of the recent bills marked a new epoch for the arid land states and that now something definite could be done. The object of the meeting, which was but one of a train of gatherings held all through the western states, was to get into touch with local sentiment and consult with a view to receiving advice and suggestions. The government owns the greater part of the land in the western states and desires to utilize all that land for the benefit of the people. He stated that the immediate work he had was to make surveys and examinations of feasible projects and when they were found to be feasible to construct them with the money at hand, which is ultimately to be turned back into the treasury to be used over again in the reclamation work. Chief Newell pointed out that there had been left, hardly a large territory in which government land had not been taken up, so that every large scheme had to take into consideration the rights of private individuals in land already secured from the government. As a consequence, it falls upon individuals to devise some plan whereby the government may meet on a footing of community of interest and equitable bearing of the expense of turning back the money into the hands of the government.

One of the things which the engineer supposed would be done, would be the issuance on the part of the department of small allotments of the government land, the exact amount being in the hands of the secretary of the interior for decision. Experience has shown that the greatest agricultural prosperity follows where there are small farms and the owner puts all their efforts to bring out the best from the land. He pointed out that the law provides that there must be enough money in the treasury to complete any particular work, before that work was commenced, and that the work would be pushed to completion and not left half done. Mr. Newell then asked those present to ask questions.

In response to a call from the chair, Congressman Jones said that the state of Washington had paid in at the close of the fiscal year 1901 $257,000 from the sale of public lands, and he supposed that a similar amount had been paid in this year. He viewed that in view of past opposition to irrigation legislation from the eastern states, which had been overcome by the active efforts of President Roosevelt, only the very best project be presented for future development so that the east might have nothing of failure in results upon which to base an effort to repeal the new law.

Col. L. S. Howlett, former arid land commissioner, stated that it had been the consensus of opinion of the commissioners in this section of the country that only a large scheme, such as the government alone could undertake, would bring the fullest development.

On motion of Mr. Lesh a committee, as above, was named by the chair. Engineer Newell said that he was glad that a committee had been appointed. He said that the committee should proceed with reasonable expedition but at the same time with caution. He suggested that the plan of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, whether good or bad he did not care to state his opinion, to unite all bodies in the state in a general plan of work in this state, might be heard from with reference to the Yakima valley. Mr. Newell then devoted himself to answering questions, some of the chief replies being as follows:

To Mr. Jones, who asked how far the work had gone, in the Yakima valley—We have a map of more than half of the basin and we have the facts about every catchment basin and reservoir site and the stream measurement. We can survey to find out the capacity of the reservoirs. But we want facts about land ownership and the amount of water now used. We must have accurate figures. I hope you will not look at this as a county work merely but as of the development of all the resources of the whole valley.

To Mr. Cannon—I cannot tell how many acres it is possible to irrigate in this valley. It may be best to keep the water at the head of the valley and use all the upper river water in Kittitas county. The seepage will allow the usual amount to run in the river through the canyon. I believe in using all the water of this valley in this valley.

To Mr. Whitson—Those men who benefit by the water must be in a position to pay. They might as well begin to form associations now to assure the government that the water will be used and returns made for it.

To Mr. Snyder—The matter of dealing with combinations owning large areas, I assume, will be settled by the secretary of the interior, and it is my opinion that he will feel that he must deal with government lands first. Your matter is a detail which can be worked out later.

To Mr. Cannon—The water year by year varies greatly at Union gap. I think the storage of water should be based on the lowest fall and consider extra water in wet years as surplusage. The general flow through the Union gap is about 1,500 cubic feet per second. The Sunnyside ditch takes 700 or 800 of this leaving to go in its natural course the remainder. I think that we should conserve the big flow in the spring, for use later in the season.

To Mr. Miller—I think that there is ample storage in the Naches and Tietan basins. I do not think it feasible to bring the waters of the Klickitat into this basin and over the dividing ridge. It would be expensive.

On motion of Mr. Whitson, seconded by Mr. Miller, a vote of thanks was given Mr. Newell and the meeting adjourned, but many individuals remained to ask questions of a specific character in an informal manner.

Mr. Newell left North Yakima Friday night for Helena, where he will meet Director Walcott of the bureau and talk over plans and consult over what Mr. Newell has learned on his trip.

Mr. Fitch, the division engineer who will have charge of the work in this section, left on Saturday morning for Cle Elum where he will meet George O. Smith of the geological survey who has facts regarding formation of the earth, which will be valuable in considering sites for reservoirs.

Jean and Jessie Sinclair.

Seldom has there been a more impressive funeral ceremony than the double service held Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sinclair, when their two young daughters were laid to rest—Jen who died last week at San Francisco and Jessie who followed her so quickly, succumbing early Monday morning to the ravages of fever followed by a paralytic shock. The services at the house were of the simplest character and were conducted by Rev. J. M. Thompson, assisted by Dr. L. Hayden of the Presbyterian church. The house was not large enough to accommodate all who desired to listen to the words of the clergymen, and the large throng of people who paid their last respects to the memory of the young lives was also an earnest of the sympathy felt by the community for the bereaved and now childless parents. Interment was in Tahoma cemetery, where a short burial service was held. The pall bearers, who did duty at the coffin of each of the deceased were boys who had been playmates and friends of the girls. They were Herman Crawford, Virgil Dudley, Ernest Pentz, Ben Whitson, Arthur Dennis and Philo Haxtable.

IRRIGATION COMMITTEE MET

Informal Gathering to Commend Work and Arrange for Plans.

With a celerity which bespeaks earnestness of work the members of the Commercial club's committee appointed to cooperate with the government in the matter of new irrigation plans for this valley and state met informally on Tuesday and commenced a general review of the situation. All that was done was done in a tentative and informal manner. H. B. Scudder occupied the chair.

It is plain that the members of the committee desire to be of all the service they can be to both the government and to the citizens of Yakima. In speaking to a REPUBLICAN reporter at the close of the meeting, one of the committee stated that it should be understood that Mr. Newell as the representative of the department of the interior had made it plain that only such schemes as had definite data could be considered, as it was not the province of the government to investigate schemes which were suggested at haphazard or were not clear in detail in the mind of the suggestor or were not accompanied by figures. In short, the government does not care to investigate the scheme of anyone who had not faith enough in his scheme to have put in work or to have gone to some expense in withdrawing it from the realm of mere theory or guesswork.

The local committee will not hold meetings at stated intervals, but will be ready to hold a meeting at any time as which any citizen is prepared to place before it figures and data which contain a well organized and worked out plan. The committee wishes it understood that it is ready to listen to every plan suggested. It wants to be in possession of all the facts in the case, but it calls attention to the necessity of having the plan presented with a wealth of detail of cold, hard facts which will admit of no contradiction and which have a basis upon which calculations may be made.

Landed in Jail.

Paul Jonoskow was sent to the county jail for 90 days by Justice of the Peace Taggard on Monday upon conviction of petit larceny in stealing goods from the office of Dr. H. H. Brock. The charge might have been burglary and grand larceny, because Jonoskow forcibly entered the dentist's office and took considerable gold, which he sold to Keene, the jeweler. The prisoner refused to tell where he got the gold. A case of hypodermic goods was found on Jonoskow's person. Dr. Brock asked for leniency.

Death from Epilepsy.

Everett Stewart, a young man well known about town and whose parents reside near Tahoma cemetery, was found dead in a retiring room in a saloon on Yakima avenue where he had worked at different intervals. Stewart was a victim of epilepsy and there is no doubt but that he was seized with an attack soon after entering the room. It was some time later when his cold body was found. His parents were immediately notified and took charge of the body.

New Company Formed.

Articles of the incorporation of the Yakima Agricultural company have been filed with the county auditor. The papers state that the company is capitalized at $20,000 and will do a business at North Yakima in purchasing, leasing and developing wild, arid, pasture and agricultural lands and will also raise and deal in cattle, sheep and swine, and promote irrigation schemes. The trustees named are C. Dameyer, F. C. Dameyer and Henry Hoveling.

Quiet Circus Day.

Aside from the burglaries of the night before circus day in North Yakima was very free from lawlessness. There was some drunkenness, but Marshal Grant issued orders to arrest everyone who showed the least inclination to fight. In all 37 were arrested, half of whom were Indians. Some received sentences and some were sent out of town.

Experienced Men in Congress.

Perhaps no branch of the government is so free from political entanglement in its working as the geological survey and its subordinate bureaus, yet the men in its employ note the effect of political changes in the work. Chief Engineer Newell of the irrigation work made this unqualified statement to the REPUBLICAN: "I have no personal interest in the matter but I hope that Washington will return Mr. Jones to congress, for this reason. He has had experience there and that counts. The first year a man is in congress he cannot get recognition from the speaker. If you will note closely you will find that the states which control national legislation are those which keep their congressmen in office. A mediocre man with experience is of far more benefit to his state than a more brilliant man who cannot be recognized. Maine and others of the Eastern states maintain their eminence in congress by returning men who know the ropes and are acquainted with the ways and means of getting what they want. It is experience which counts and any man with experience is better than a new man, no matter how brilliant he may be. So I hope that while plans for developing this state are in progress, Washington will keep her experienced men where they can do her good."

REPORT OF YAKIMA MARKETS

Yakima Stable

Weekly Summary of Conditions in Principal Agricultural Lines.

Scarcely any change is noted this week in the rulings of the local produce market. In one or two instances fruits have taken a drop, owing to the increased quantity on hand. Prunes, plums and sugar pears have put in an appearance, but are little seen, what few boxes reaching town being shipped. Dealers quote no prices on them. Shipments from North Yakima have increased in bulk as the season advanced.

Good hop weather has continued and the outlook is brighter than ever for the local output. It is now stated that there will be no picking in the Yakima yards until after the first of September, and in some yards it may be ten days later before the harvest will commence. No actual sales of hops have been reported this week, though D. E. Lesh told the REPUBLIC that he had been offered 25 cents for his entire crop, stating that he was thinking of letting about 300 bales go for that amount. He expected to see still higher prices and would hold off the rest of his product. It is reported on the best of authority that Mr. Lesh had been offered from 27 to 28 cents after having practically given an option at 25c.

New York growers continue to bewail the shortness of the crop in the hop belt of that state. The Waterbury Times had this to say last week:

"There are lice in most yards but how disastrous this may be cannot be told now. They may disappear and there be no particular trouble. If they increase and the weather is hot and muggy the yards will suffer. The blight has caused damage already but it is believed it is not extending further. There are a number of good yards hereabouts and if nothing occurs to damage them there will be good crops harvested but there are so many poor and almost worthless yards the general average will not go above to one-third of a crop."

The last of the season's wool clip, a small quantity, was sold by Coffin Bros., this week to S. Koshland & Co. of San Francisco, for 9 1/2 cents.

Coffin Bros. will ship 15 carloads of sheep to the Chicago market tomorrow.

Catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Dr. Chas. H. Uter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything that I prescribed for her proved ineffectual, and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by all druggists.
