Mr. Wilson Charley,
Care: Deschutes Trailer Courts,
Madras, Ore.

Dear Wilson:

I'm like you, still behind the eight ball, trying to catch up, so hope this catches you while you are still at Madras. I hope that things are looking better for you there and you have been hauling many loads of spuds. (I guess that is what you are hauling)

Well, as you know, the election has been set. And as also you should know, I wrote to Mr. Wilton some time in the past, suggesting that if he had things to say and explain so I could understand about them, that he should drop into the office when he was over this way. But I never heard from him. I asked him to send material like he was sending out, but he never sent it. One copy came to the office, a memographed copy I believe. I copied down his address. It was left in the basket on my desk --the copy that is--and was gone next day or got brushed off. I had never a chance to read it, only glance at it and copy down the address in my date book.

I am planning to go down to the election and maybe there I will hear things explained. I really do not understand them now. Everything seems quite mixed up. At the other election I understood he was there and passed word around I wanted to see Mr. Wilton, but no one ever came up.

I will have to let my writings of the past speak for me. I wrote what I believed. I think it made many friends around for our neighbors and brothers. I try not to make it appear my business, only where human tribulations are concerned or injustice. So it looks like I have to keep on fighting as you do.

Hope the weather has been better down there. It has been good here. Apple picking is going strong now.

I found the clippings you wanted and sent them to Jimmie, also a copy of your picture he requested. If you like the picture I will get one like it for you one of these days.

I owe Jimmie a letter. He made some very nice little drawings for me and I have to thank him for them, they were so good.

I hope our circulation department hasn't been bothering you again, by sending you .

I have found that the agent has answered every question I asked him . I would think it very difficult to be an agent now days but I guess they can only do the best they can.

I will be writing other announcements of the election in the paper to help get the word around of the election.

Hope this letter catches up with you. So, until I see you,

kind regards
