Suggestions for expediting publication of Treaty pamphlet.

Copy

Deadline for all material, written copy and pictures, April 20, to meet publication deadline of June 1.

Copy should be double spaced and with margin of 1/2 inch all around.

Carbon copy should be made with each set. This would speed up reading by all concerned for constructive criticism and to weed out all possible errors, editing to achieve semblance of style as to capitalization and uniformity of names, etc.

Deadline for copy preparation by individual contributors should be April 9-12. This would permit time for cross re-reading, editing and re-checking.

Map (and any sketches)

Map in pen and ink of Ceded Lands area should be provided to meet copy deadline. This should be drawn proportionately to pamphlet size 8 1/4 inches ~~deep~~ ^{deep} and 12 3/4 inches ~~deep~~ ^{deep} wide. A returnable copy of document is submitted to expedite if this is deemed proper map. The artist should work under direction of proper authority. The entire area covered on the map would not be needed but it is suggested that the northernmost point show "British" possessions and the southernmost point show Columbia River. This would illustrate the extent of territory.

The actual ceded land boundary should be heavy, the same as the reservation boundary in case "color lines" are desired in printing. It appears a simple map would be suitable, no section lines being needed, but key cities, rivers, lakes, mountains etc. should be included for orientation purposes. It is possible the total acreage of ceded lands and the square miles involved, and the same for the reservation, might be lettered at lower right hand of drawing and inside the drawing as a comparison of "what was" with "what is."

Any small drawings, oblong for end pieces of each chapter or headpieces at start of chapter, or of objects, figures, artifacts etc., should be drawn same proportionate size, come up to professional standard and be submitted for same deadline.

Treaty "Photostat."

Photo prints preferable to "photostats" which might be black with white words and might not reproduce well in engraving. These should be of the last portion of the treaty showing "X" marks of the chiefs.

Any critique on material submitted should be returned quickly to expedite re-do by author.

The deadline of all material, to assure June 1 publication, would be a deadline of April 20 to the printer.

Any and all suggestions welcomed.

Pictures

All pictures should be on hand, from which selection is to be made by the same date as the copy, April 9-10, so ~~fixx~~ they may accompany completed copy and to permit dummyming into booklet. Underline material, complete identification should accompany each picture unless a general underline is needed.

Suggestions for Page 1 cover acceptable. Rough sketches and suggested wordage will be submitted to committee for final approval but wordage when approved should be letter perfect as changes would not be easy or economical if re-do is necessary. It is possible some art layout work will be required for this, such as layout of photo, air brush work, lettering etc. Rough estimate is difficult, depending upon amount but this runs from $15 to $35 per cover.

As soon as cost is figured--this being binding upon printer when the actual material is submitted and actual word count, pages, type of cover, art work, number of engravings etc. are known--it should be determined:

1-Is cost price to be on cover. Possibly not best in case extra copies are maintained over a period of time.

2-Needed for advance contact with outlets such as book stores. Book stores should be contacted and advised of markup margin, 60-40 being customary in the trade so they could obtain specified number of advance copies on publication date. They would benefit from advance publicity of publication of booklet.

All "borrowed" photographs should include name and address of owner on the back. All photographs should channel to one individual so he can be responsible for their protection. Photographs, drawings and copy are returned by the printer.

Depending upon photographic circumstances, a small allowance should be made for photographic expenditure to cover such things, if desired, as: Tribal Council showing entire body.

Individual councilmen or individuals who figure in stories.

This could be expedited by having those whose pictures are needed report to agency some afternoon or evening when photographer could take pictures of everyone at the same time. This is suggested to show not that it should be done but how it should be done if desired.

"Agency" copy of "The Story of the Blackfeet" returned herewith, including random costs of engravings in size marked by slips. Proofs of engravings "on hand" and available attached to be considered in photo selection and to save expenditure. Few more no doubt available upon more exacting search of files. [The attached are the only set of proofs]
