GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGATE

A Drainage Expert to Examine into Irrigation in this Valley.

Congressman Jones has written parties here to the effect that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has informed him of his intention to send a drainage expert to the Yakima valley at an early day to examine fully into the question of drainage and outline a general plan for the disposal of seepage water, which is beginning to be a source of very serious annoyance, especially to the people of this city. The expert engineer assigned for this particular work is Mr. C. G. Elliott, who is said to rank high in his profession. He is expected to arrive here during the coming month.

Last year the bureau of soils made a soil survey of the Yakima district and the map of the area showing the condition of the soil as regards alkali and underground water has recently been published in the third report of the field operations of the bureau of soils for 1901.

This bureau has already reclaimed a tract of land in the vicinity of Salt Lake City, Utah, and is now working on the reclamation of a small tract at Fresno, Cal., for the purpose of illustrating to the people of those states the feasibility and economic importance, as well as the commercial possibilities of reclaiming lands from alkali and seepage waters and show them the best methods of doing the work. The work at Fresno will be finished in April, at which time the secretary promised Mr. Jones that the party, in charge of Mr. Means, would be directed come go to Yakima.

New Ownership of Republic.

Mr. E. L. Boardman, former business manager and part owner of the Helena (Mont.) Evening Herald, has purchased a half interest in the Yakima Republic and will hereafter be associated with W. W. Robertson in the publication of that paper.

Mr. Boardman arrived from Spokane Thursday morning and entered on his new duties at once, the deal having been closed a few days ago while Col. Robertson was in the Falls City. Mr. Boardman's family will join him here in a few days.

The proprietors of the Republic deny that there is any truth in the current rumor that they intend to begin the publication of a daily paper in this city.

Another Murder Trial.

Judge Rudkin returned the latter part of last week from Wenatchee where he presided at the recent term of court. The most important case heard was that of the state vs. Frank Dorn, who was tried for the murder of a man named Cloninger at Mission last summer. Dorn was defended by Judge Graves of Ellensburg and was acquitted by the jury.

Speaking of Judge Rudkin, the Wenatchee Advance says: "Several terms of the superior court of Chelan county have been held by Judge Rudkin, of Yakima, and the attorneys and others in attendance have nothing but words of praise for him in connection with the manner in which he disposes of business. He is unquestionably in the front rank of jurists in this state, and it is only a question of time when he will be on the state supreme bench."

Another Damage Suit.

This seems to be a period of large-sized damage suits, the last one being filed in the United States court on behalf of Joseph Vomaska and against the Northern Pacific Railway company. Vomaska claims to have been damaged to the extent of $30,000, while braking on the road, and that his injuries were due to the negligence of the defendants through not furnishing proper safeguards to employees in the performance of their duties.

Grant is After Them.

City Marshal Grant says that he is determined to break up the habit of street walking on the part of certain young girls of this town who seem disposed to trod the downward path.

Mr. Grant states that he has warned the parents of these wayward girls to keep them under closer surveillance with the result that in some cases he was simply insulted for his pains and told that they, the parents, were able to look out for the welfare of their own daughters. The marshal declares that henceforth if these naughty girls, who range in age from 13 to 16, are found on the streets after the curfew rings at 9 p. m., they will be arrested and locked up, as patience has ceased to be a virtue in dealing with the misguided girls.

The Chinaman who runs the "Kangaroo" has been given to understand that if he keeps out of the meshes of the law he must keep these little girls out of that house, where they are said to have been in the habit of meeting men. A certain young fellow, who the officers say has been acting as a go-between, was collared by Marshal Grant Thursday and given until Friday noon to pack up his traps and get out of town. If he shows up here again, the marshal told him, he will certainly be prosecuted.

THE FARMERS INSTITUTE.

To Convene in this City January 13, 14, 15—A Good Program Formulated.

The active members of the Fruit Growers' Union have been busy during the past week in completing arrangements for the farmers' institute which is announced to convene in Woodmen's hall over the postoffice at 9 a. m. Tuesday, January 13, to continue three days. Some disappointment is felt over the fact that none of the professors of the State Agricultural College will be able to attend. Notwithstanding that fact, however, an interesting program has been arranged. All farmers are urged to attend. The program as mapped out follows:

JANUARY 13, 9 A. M.

Address of Welcome.....Mayor Shaw
Address by president of Commercial Club.....Ira P. Englehart
"Eating Fruit, What Has It Done for Mankind?".....Joseph Lannin
1:30 to 2 p. m., music by Junior Orchestra.

"How to Treat Bearing Orchards".....Prof. J. A. Balmer of CleElum

JANUARY 14, 9 A. M.

"Irrigation".....A. Van Holdebeke
1:30 p. m. music by Orchestra
"What to Consider in Tree planting".....A. Van Holdebeke
"Dairying and Feeding".....Guy M. Richards

JANUARY 15, 9 A. M.

"Elements of Successful Fruit Growing".....F. Walden
"Benefit of the Horticultural Union to the Fruit Industry of the State".....A. Van Holdebeke
"Packing and Grading Fruit".....L. B. Kinyon
Miscellaneous.

Committed to the Asylum.

Judge Rudkin last Saturday committed Lorenzo Williams, a farmer living below Zillah to the Medical Lake asylum and Officers Leach and Starrett left the same night with the unfortunate man. Williams is 47 years of age and has a wife and family. During his lucid spells he is said to talk most intelligently. At his examination the fact developed that he had previously been an inmate of an asylum and had been discharged as cured.

Wednesday of this week, Mrs. Maud Zachary, aged 20 years, who has been residing with her father, J. A. Davis, of this city, was examined as to her mental condition and pronounced insane. She was therefore committed by Judge Rudkin and the same night Sheriff Tucker, with the woman's father, left with the patient for the asylum. The woman is said to have a worthless husband, who is the primary cause of her troubles.

Prosser Pick-ups.

Miss Anna, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Evans of Prosser, was married at the parental home Christmas eve, to Mr. M. Brown of Ellensburg.

A grand mask ball was given at Rich's hall, Prosser, Xmas night, by the Kuhnly orchestra of that place.

Prosser has some people who are wintering in tents, and they seem to be comfortable too.

Steps have been taken to organize a Masonic lodge at Prosser. It will be instituted some time next month.

Miss Bessie Carey is visiting friends in North Yakima.

Ed T. Reed sold last Friday 800 acres of Horse Heaven land at $10 per acre. The purchaser being Mr. Kinder of Waukegan.

Horse Heaven and Rattlesnake ranchers were in town Tuesday when the snow began to fall and were loud in their approval of the presence of the fleecy. The more snow we have the more crops, and the less liability there is of a freeze out.—Bulletin.

The Minnesota society will meet in Woodmen's hall on the evening of January 9 at which time a program of recitation and music will be carried out. All natives of the state of Minnesota are invited to attend. A series of such events will take place during the winter. Following is the program: Toastmaster, Dr. H. R. Wells; welcome, Prof. B. F. Barge; instrumental duet, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson; reading, Miss Clara Bullen; "The Lightning Rod Business in Early Minnesota," Claude Briggs; vocal solo, Miss Sherwood; reading, Miss C. Pierce; speech, T. S. Kennedy.

F. J. Tickner formerly of Bronson, Mich., has purchased E. E. James photographic business, taking possession Jan. 1. Mr. James will remove to Seattle with his family where he is opening up a fine studio in the Arcade block. Mr. Tickner who succeeds to the business here is a finished artist who has been here for several months in the employ of Mr. James. Read his announcement in another column.

As Touching Humbuggery.

A contemporary remarks that one of the reasons why Speaker Reed quit public life was because he became disgusted with the emptiness and charlatanism of it. He had been in it long enough to discover that it was not merit so much as newspaper advertising and gall that kept men in public position. He saw men all about him, leaders in congress and in eminent executive positions, making and executing laws of the land, who were failures in private life, who had no business and often no moral sense, who were all mouth and pocket, and who kept themselves in place by having learned the art of posing before and fooling the people.

The art of humbuggery is a very prevalent and successful one in public life. The people do not think they are easily fooled. But they are. This is one thing about which Mr. Lincoln was mistaken. Mr. Reed knew, and every other public man knows, that there are plenty of men in official positions in this country who keep themselves there by pure chicanery.

Many men make a business of hunting and holding jobs. They have learned how to scent and keep them. The truth is that a very large number hold their positions not by the faithful discharge of duty, but by fooling the people.

No wonder a man of brains and merit like Reed was disgusted.—Sumner Herald.

Death of Henry W. Brooke.
The Seattle Post-Intelligencer makes announcement of the death in Baltimore of Henry W. Brooke, son-in-law of Henry H. Allen of this city. Mr. Brooke was known and held in high esteem by many in Yakima where his marriage, at St. Michael's Episcopal church, to Miss Dora D. Allen, in June, 1892, was one of the most important social events chronicled at that period. Mrs. Brooke and her father were in attendance at the bedside of the deceased. The remains will be brought west and the interment take place at Seattle.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT.

JOHN DAVID MEDILL,

Editor and Publisher.

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

One Dollar Per Year—In Advance.

Published every Saturday morning at the Democrat Printing House on First Street, North Yakima, Washington.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

Will the Democrat of North Yakima please speak out in stentorian tones and let an anxious public know whether it is "fur" or "agin" us on county division? It is as much as an oyster on the subject.

Prosser Bulletin.
No one has ever before accused this paper of being "mum as an oyster" on this subject as the Bulletin certainly was during the late campaign. However, we wish to be perfectly frank with our benighted contemporary as we always aim to be with the public generally.

We make no bones of saying, and not for the first time either, that we are opposed to county division on any such lines as are now proposed, which fixes the boundary line near the town of Zillah. The editor of the Bulletin and everybody else in Prosser knows that the line as now drawn is unfair to the people of the west end of Yakima county and likewise unfair to the people of Zillah precinct especially, who prefer to remain in Yakima county. This much was generally admitted by Prosser people after the adjournment of the convention held there last July, at which time the Sunnyside delegates forced the Zillah line upon Prosser against the emphatic protest of the people of that town. They objected then to a line drawn so far west for the reason that "North Yakima would bitterly fight it."

It is safe to assume, however, that there will be no county division authorized by the coming session of the legislature on any line drawn through Zillah precinct, and there ought to be none. All three members of the legislature from this county, if their several promises are any good and we believe that they are, will fight such a bill and we believe that they can fight it successfully.

If the divisionists would be a little more modest in their demands and could agree on a fair boundary line without complicating that important matter with county seat aspirations there would be a good chance for division to succeed this winter. The people of North Yakima, of course, have no interest in forwarding such a purpose, but knowing that sooner or later it will become a necessity, will not capiously oppose it if the plan proposed is fair.

Prosser's original line of demarkation was a fair one and we believe it would now be satisfactory to 90 per cent of the people of the whole county. Why does Prosser now repudiate it?

SEATTLE is a good deal elated and justly so over the decision of the secretary of war to award that port a good share of the transport business to the Philippines. Regarding this matter our Washington correspondent has the following to say:

"The decision of Secretary Root, to give Mr. James J. Hill the contract for the transportation of troops across the Pacific has caused the utmost consternation and indignation on the part of Mr. Harriman, who represents the Chicago & Alton and Southern Pacific systems. Mr. Harriman, after expressing himself in violent terms as to the action of the secretary of war, left Washington, but he has rented a house here and it is believed will return after the holidays and will instigate a fight which may carry the contract onto the floors of congress. He is indignant that he has been outwitted by his rival, Mr. Hill, and he alleges bad faith on the part of Mr. Root."

The people of Yakima county are lining up and preparing a bill to be put before the legislature this winter for another graft in the way of a wagon road through the Natches pass. In 1894 the state legislature appropriated $20,000 for the purpose of opening up this road. The money was expended on about 100 feet of road around a point on the Natches river. The Snoqualmie wagon road is all that is necessary to connect eastern and western Washington. It is located in a central place and will accommodate the whole state. An appropriation of $20,000 will put it in perfect condition if properly expended.—Ellensburg Localizer.

It is no wonder that Ellensburg is a dead slow town with all the knockers that live there, the worst of which is the Localizer. Take a tumble to yourself neighbor and turn over a new leaf with the beginning of the new year.

A FORMULA for health: "Above all, wear clean clothes and take deep breaths. Place your hands tightly upon your knees, close your mouth and eyes, leave your spine free, wear no compressing garments, and then inflate the abdominal regions while you count seven, repeat seven times, and go through the process at least twice a day."—Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in her latest work, "The Heart of the New Thought."

A good deal has been said in this city recently about minors drinking in the saloons and certain saloon men have been roundly denounced for permitting boys under the legal age to patronize their bars, and certainly with justice, if they knew or had reason to believe that such customers were under 21 years of age. It is but justice to that class of business men, however, to state that they do not desire to violate the law in this respect and that the fault lies mainly with the boys themselves who when questioned regarding their age assert untruthfully that they are over 21. The Democrat has no apology to make for the saloon men and it believes that any willful violation of the law in this particular ought to be punished. But there are two sides to every question and it is a poor rule that won't work both ways. The average young man who stands up to the bar and prevaricates about his age probably is not aware of the fact that he is grossly violating the law, but he is, as the following quotation from the laws of this state will show:

"Any minor over the age of eighteen years and under twenty-one, who shall represent to any person dealing in spirituous, malt or fermented liquors that he is of lawful age and by means of such misrepresentation procure from such dealer spirituous, malt or fermented liquors, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail any length of time not exceeding three months."—From Ballinger's Code, page 2003.

At the caucus of representatives of eastern Washington held at Spokane last Monday, no agreement of any kind seems to have been reached relative to the speakership, the meeting, in fact, came very near breaking up in a row. The caucus was called by the Ankeny workers with the object of giving the speakership boom of S. A. Wells of Spokane a boost, but a minority headed by Doc Hare of this county, refused to be branded and run into the Wells corral, a fact worth noting, and that caused the meeting to be a fizzle.

Representative Hare, while classed as an Ankeny supporter, has no particular love for Representative Wells, who had previous to the late caucus somewhat aroused the ire of the Yakima legislator by indiscreet and premature boasting of how he proposed to divide Yakima county. As representative Hare is emphatically opposed to division on any lines, it is not to be presumed that he would be willing to place such a powerful club as the speakership of the house in the hands of the member from Spokane county.

SENATOR GRAVES of Spokane has announced his intention of introducing in the legislature a bill with the object of taking the judiciary out of politics and to largely reduce the cost of litigation both to interested parties and the county and state. The senator would create an intermediate court having jurisdiction in civil cases up to $300 and would do away with a number of the present superior judges. He would also elect all judges in a non-partisan way and by a special election. There would seem to be a good deal of merit in Senator Graves' proposal, but there is little likelihood of such a bill passing this legislature.

SENATOR TURNER and D. C. Corbin of Spokane and Jacob Furth, the well known capitalist of Seattle, have organized two new railway companies the object of which seems to be connect the three principal cities of this state with the main line of the Canadian Pacific road. It is given out that new lines will be built from Spokane to Kootenai and also from Tacoma and Seattle to Sumas during the coming year. It is thought by well informed persons that the Canadian road is behind the new projects with the object of retaliating for injuries received by reason of Jim Hill's merger.

ONE of the things that the coming session of the legislature should do is to pass a sensible road law. If there is anything that the state of Washington is behind other states in it is in the important matter of public roads. Still there is no other state that has better raw material and as much of it out of which to make roads as has Washington. It is a difficult subject to legislate upon, however, for the reason that conditions differ so materially east and west of the Cascade mountains.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER has presented the University of Chicago with one million dollars. On Monday the Standard Oil company declared a dividend of $10,000,000. Last week the Standard Oil company raised the price of oil one cent a gallon, which increases its annual revenue by $8,000,000. Mr. Rockefeller is pretty near the whole thing in the Standard Oil company. Who presented one million dollars to the University of Chicago?—Sumner Herald.

SIXTEEN brick and stone business houses and one hundred and eighty-one residences is the building record of North Yakima for the eventful year just closed. It's a fine record but it is very likely to be surpassed by the one to be made the coming year.

"Doc" HARE might go farther and do worse than to vote for the Hon. Ira P. Englehart of this city for the U. S. senatorship. We believe that that gentleman is better equipped both by nature and by training for such a lofty position than are any of the standing candidates of the g. o. p. in this state. Keep your eye on Mr. Englehart. He is a very promising dark horse in this race.

AMONG the sporty politicians all over the state there seems to be plenty of money to wager with no takers that Ankeny will be elected senator and that the commission bill will be defeated. If these two crimes be perpetrated by the republicans of the legislature their party will suffer for it and it will richly deserve its punishment.

At the special election held in Lewis county recently to select a member of the legislature to succeed Representative Martin, deceased, Austin Zenker, a democrat, was elected over H. M. Ingraham, the republican candidate.

THE Kennewick Courier issued a special edition last week printed in "pea green," which is a very creditable production both from the stand point of Editor Green and the growing town of Kennewick.

THE Spokane Review on New Years day issued a special edition of 64 pages which contains a vast amount of interesting matter pertaining to Spokane and the Inland Empire.

A HAPPY and prosperous New Year to all of our readers.

Democratic Leadership.
W. J. Bryan in the Commoner makes answer to the stock-in-trade wail of the republican press that the democratic party is dead because it has no new leader, in the following language:

"The Eastern papers—especially those which helped to elect a republican president—are just now much concerned about a leader for the democratic party. They are searching high and low for a Moses to conduct the party into a promised land. They with one accord declare that the elections have killed the money question again and that no one can be considered a leader who stands upon the Kansas City platform; they are also agreed that Tom Johnson is out of the question because his state went republican. If some state controlled by the democrats had only gone democratic they would have smooth sailing, but they cannot find anyone who can promise success—and with them success is the only thing to be considered."

"The trouble is that the metropolitan papers have been corrupted by the commercial spirit which dominates the republican party and which dominated the democratic party under Mr. Cleveland's administration. Instead of regarding politics as the science of government, they look upon it as a game in which offices are awarded as prizes to the most skillful players. Instead of discussing as leaders those who study public questions and seek to discover the best solution of each new problem, they measure men by their shrewdness in political management or by their success in a state campaign, overlooking the fact that circumstances over which the leader has no control may determine the result."

"The democratic party does not need leaders so much as it needs voters. The masses do not need anyone to think for them; they think for themselves and they will have no difficulty in selecting fit persons to act for them when the time for action arrives. They do not need the services of a self-appointed committee on nominations and they will not award the position of standard-bearer to the highest bidder. They are glad to hear all that can be said for and against each presidential possibility, but they are not apt to be influenced by advisors who think more of a candidate's availability during a campaign than they do of his reliability in office."

"The democrats who know why they are democrats, will see to it, first, that the democratic party stands for democratic principles and applies them to every question before the people, and, second, that the candidates are sound on those principles and will stand by them both before and after the election."

"The democratic party recognizes no boss and is seeking no leader in the sense in which the metropolitan papers use the term."

The Local Round-Up.

Bounds & Meyer shipped two cars of beef cattle to Seattle the first part of the week.

J. M. Dunham and Miss Helen M. Graves took out a license to wed on Friday.

A good many of the Yakima merchants begun work this week on their annual invoices.

Claude Briggs, the well known piano man, has leased one of the store rooms in the new Wilson block.

J. A. Walker, the expressman, is an applicant for the city marshalship, having decided this week to enter the race.

The New Years ball given Thursday evening at Wisconsin hall by the Band boys was a great success socially and financially.

Snyder & Preble will shortly remove their law office to the new Sloan block, where they have secured handsome and commodious quarters.

C. W. Badger feels richer by several hundred dollars on account of the arrival of a vigorous young son at his home on the west side, Saturday.

A series of revival meetings will begin at the Christian church tomorrow. Services will be held each evening during the coming week.

H. J. Bicknell has sold his valuable ranch on Parker Bottom to a Mr. McCurdy of Iowa. The consideration is said to have been $18,000.

J. A. Orchard has concluded a lease of the second story of the new Wilson block, which he will convert into a lodging house.

The Eagles at their last meeting decided to observe the eleventh anniversary of the founding of the order, with a banquet and ball on the evening of Feb. 3rd.

Rev. J. B. Early, recently from Salem, Or., has succeeded L. P. Vandermark in the management of the Mabton hotel, having leased the property from the owner, Frank Martin.

The fire department turned out early Saturday morning to extinguish a blaze that caught accidentally in the rear of Beck's photo studio on South First street. The fire was soon stamped out. The loss approximated about $100.

Workmen on the Congdon ditch in the Natches this week while excavating uncovered bones that are supposed to be a part of some gigantic prehistoric animal. Engineer Bannister brought some of the fragments to town for exhibition.

Frank Williams, of Toppenish, spent Saturday and Sunday in the city and reports that his 600 head of cattle as well as the 400 head owned by his brother, are wintering well, and that apparently there is sufficient feed for all the stock in that section.

Last Sunday being St. John's day in Masonic annals, a goodly number of the members of that "ancient and honorable" order repaired to St. Michael's church that evening, where Rev. H. M. Bartlett delivered an eloquent memorial sermon.

The following marriage licenses were issued by the county auditor this week: Fred Cheney and Miss Nellie Peck; Fred W. Kenney and Miss Viola Reed; Nathan M. Lacey and Miss Myrtle M. Myers; Albert M. Dean and Miss Elvora A. Morgan.

The local lodge of Royal Arch Masons elected the following officers at the last meeting: High priest, R. K. Nichols; king, P. Y. Heckman; scribe, James Greene; treasurer, W. J. Reed; secretary, A. B. Weed. The officers will be installed on January 13, at which time a banquet will be held.

All the city schools have opened with an increased attendance over last year. Two new rooms were added in the Columbia building with Miss Ethel Burns and Miss Bessie Amiller in charge. These rooms will relieve, to some extent, the crowded condition of the schools of the city.

J. W. Thomas of the Yakima-Swauk Mining company, is exhibiting a couple of gold nuggets to the value of about $20 which Wm. Taylor brought down last week. The property is looking well, and L. L. Thorpe, E. B. Preble, Mr. Thomas and the Taylors, who are among the principal stockholders, are confidently looking forward to the coming season as proving one of realized anticipations and great prosperity.

H. A. Hoover, a prominent real estate man of Kennewick, was in the city Saturday conferring with Representatives Hare and Dunn and other parties, relative to the division of Yakima county on lines favorable to Kennewick. The Kennewick idea, it is said, is to divide the county three miles west of Prosser and it is understood that a bill will be introduced in the legislature and pushed providing for division along such lines.

"Fiddle Dee Dee" drew the best house of the season Tuesday night and nearly everyone seemed to be pleased with the performance. The twenty odd chorus girls in their abbreviated costumes were a constant source of delight, apparently, to the bald heads, armed as they were with opera glasses. This company played to large houses nine nights successively in Seattle.

Personal.

P. J. Lynch is a Spokane visitor this week.

Geo. Taylor of Selah is reported to be quite ill.

Robert Scott left Wednesday on a visit to Everett.

Harry Mull has been to Seattle this week on business.

Hon. H. D. Jory of Sunnyside was in the city last Monday.

W. T. Clark was over from Seattle the first of the week, returning Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lauderdale spent New Years day with relatives at Ellensburg.

Miss Annie Probach, who spent Christmas at home, returned to Ellensburg Monday.

Mrs. Guy McL. Richards is entertaining her father, Rev. James Cheal, who rived Monday.

Miss Nora Plumb began her duties as teacher in one of the lower Ahtanum districts Monday.

Alex McCredy and wife of Wapato spent Sunday with the lady's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Barge.

T. L. Martin, brother of Mrs. H. J. Snively, arrived from Tacoma on Monday for a short visit.

George Stephenson left on Sunday to attend the session of the State Teachers' Association at Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sloan left Wednesday for Roslyn, to spend New Years with Dr. Geo. Sloan and family.

The Messrs Tandy, uncles of A. F. Snelling, returned on Sunday from a pleasant visit with relatives in Oregon.

Geo. Gandy and J. L. Hayden returned from a hunt on the reservation Tuesday with a record of 67 ducks to their credit.

Mr. and Mrs. U. F. Diteman arrived home on Wednesday afternoon from their five weeks visit to their old home in Maine.

Mrs. Dave Guillard and two children left Monday for Orofino, Idaho, where they will remain for the next two or three months.

L. B. Rinehart returned home Christmas day from Seattle, where he has been for some time engaged in building a residence for his son Arthur.

Fred Chandler returned Thursday morning from Tacoma where for the past month he has been engaged as a clerk in the internal revenue collector's office.

Thomas Lund and family were delighted Tuesday by the arrival of Mr. Lund's nephew, Ernest, from Portland, whom they had not seen for eleven years.

Councilmen Aikins and Fisher returned from a duck hunting expedition to the reservation Saturday with forty odd fine specimens of mallards as evidence of their skill.

Fruit Inspector Beck, R. W. Johnson and Edward Remy will leave on Monday for Spokane to attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Fruit Growers' Association.

Prosecuting Attorney Guthrie and Representative Hare left for Seattle Wednesday morning. Dr. Hare will remain on the Sound until the legislature convenes Jan. 12.

I. B. Taylor of the Wenas, having sold his ranch has taken up his residence at 104 South Ahtanum avenue. Mr. Taylor returned Sunday from a visit among friends and relatives on the Sound.

E. M. Beed left Wednesday to spend a few weeks with his relatives at Tacoma. While here Mr. Beed did considerable writing for the DEMOCRAT, a portion of which was probably easily recognized as his handiwork by old time readers of the Herald.

Byron Young, of Tacoma, who was formerly a frequent visitor in Yakima, dropped in on Tuesday, after an absence of several years, and although somewhat prepared to note great changes, was astonished to find the advancement far exceeding his expectations.

Martin J. Malony, representative in the legislature from Stevens county, arrived in this city Tuesday accompanied by his wife and son, on a visit to their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmett Ryan. Mr. Malony has gone to the Sound, but Mrs. Malony will remain here most of the time during the legislative session.

Joel Shomaker arrived from Tacoma Tuesday to meet his family who for the past two months have been visiting at their former home, Salt Lake. Mr. Shomaker is employed on the editorial staff of the Tacoma News and is the author of the interesting column of that paper headed "Curb and Corridor." While here Mr. S. will write up the resources of Yakima valley for the News.

John W. Goodwin has returned from Whatcom, where he went to visit his aged father. He was too late, however, as he met his sister who had just returned from The Dalles where the funeral of his father had been held a few days previous. Mr. Goodwin was greatly shocked over the sad event and in having no previous intimation of his father's illness and death.

A Happy And Prosperous New Year...

Mrs. Jay Lynch of Fort Simcoe was a Seattle visitor last week.

Attorney Carroll B. Graves was down from Ellensburg Friday.

Mrs. M. B. Miles returned the first of the week from a visit with relatives at Butte, Mont.

Edgar Gunn returned home this week from Coos county, Oregon, where he has been working in the mines.

Floyd Hatfield, who is teaching the Belma school this winter, spent the holidays with his parents in this city.

Senator and Mrs. Splawn are stopping at Hot Springs for a few days previous to the assembling of the legislature on the 12th.

A. E. and Ruby Poole this week enjoyed a visit from their brother, C. O. Poole, a prominent business man of Denver. The visitor was very favorably impressed with the Yakima country.

The building firm of Wise & Co., composed of Messrs Wise, Thacker and Collins dissolved the first of the year. It is understood, however, that all the parties will continue in the contracting business.

Florence Roberts in Zaza, Jan. 8.
Miss Roberts with her wonderful ability presents a singularly strong and vital Zaza. Boiling blood runs in the veins of this, at first imperious, then submissive woman. She is what she was taught to be from infancy. Yet a warm womanliness pervades her, a noble generosity betrays itself at this opportunity. Miss Roberts is full of sensibility, holds herself under excellent restraint, makes her telling points with a quiet, thrilling force. In the last two scenes, at both partings with her lover Bernard she does work of tremendous strength, and again in the heartrending sadness of the last act, which in point of artistic detail and finish is the gem of the entire play. Throughout Miss Roberts never rants. She shows us a living, breathing, loving, passionate, unreasoning and suffering woman, a type not uncommon, yet which given a concrete personality by this splendid artist, presents itself to us as a sentient striking creature, whom to know is to love.
