

A THOROUGH CLEAN OUT.

The Tenderloin District Raided and the Soiled Doves Run Out of Town.

Last Friday night Sheriff Grant and Marshall Mull assisted by several deputies, raided the houses in the tenderloin district and arrested every inmate to be found. The catch amounted to 21 prostitutes and eight macks. The prostitutes consisted of 10 negroes, 6 Japs and 5 whites.

On Saturday afternoon, with a large crowd of spectators present, they were given their trial at the city hall before Police Magistrate Taggard, who gave them some good advice and a comparatively light fine, with the understanding that they were to get out of town and stay. All left the city but one mack, who will fight the case. His trial is set for Saturday. One of the colored women has since returned, been married and says she will settle down.

The entire gang got off very easy but the next time they are brought up they will receive the limit. The officers having the matter in charge are to be complimented on the very thorough manner in which they conducted the proceedings, and it is to be hoped that the experience of those arrested will have a salutary effect on that element running the street more commonly called "chippies."

A Light Apple Crop.

State Fruit Inspector A. Van Holderbeke has completed his trip through the Yakima, Big Bend and Eastern Washington country, on which he made a careful estimate of the fruit crop for this year. He states there will not be more than a half a crop of apples on an average through the state. In the Big Bend and Spokane countries the crop is especially small and only a few orchards can be found where there are any apples. In the irrigated districts, however, the crop is much better, though even there is a falling off of about one-fourth.

The pear and peach crops, however, are in good shape and a full crop is expected throughout the entire state. In grapes and berries extra good crops are expected, and it is probable that all previous records will be broken. The berry crop is far in advance of that on the Puyallup and much of it has already been marketed.

The reason for the small growth of apples this year, Mr. Van Holderbeke thinks, is the cold weather in June. While the cold did not freeze the apples, this followed by the drought took the life out of the stems.

There has been a great deal of spraying this year by the growers and as a result there is very little San Jose scale left.

In Condolence.

Hall of Yakima Lodge, No. 911, M. E. A., North Yakima, Wash., July 25, 1903.

We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence on the death of our respected brother, Arthur Armsworthy, beg leave to report as follows:

Whereas, the sorrow that pervades the home seems almost unbearable;

Therefore, be it resolved, that the most profound sympathy of this lodge be extended to our brother and family in their bereavement, and all express the hope that their great loss may be overruled by Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the journal of this lodge, a copy under seal of the lodge be forwarded to Bro. Armsworthy, and a copy sent to the county papers for publication. Fraternally submitted in F. L. & P.

Walked off a Cliff.

Wm. Miller, a resident of this county and a former mail carrier on the Wenatchee route, met death by falling off a cliff in the East Selah valley last Tuesday night. Mr. Miller had been to town that day to do some trading and on his way home stopped and took supper with a neighbor, which was the last seen of him alive. He had been working on the Bounds ranch and his wife supposed he was there, consequently did not miss him until Thursday, when a search was instituted, resulting in the finding of his body about 200 feet from the top of a cliff, where he had fallen in the night. The deceased leaves a wife and stepdaughter. The remains were brought to Sessions & Colebaugh's undertaking parlors, where they were examined by the coroner, after which they were interred in Tahoma cemetery.

Co. C Inspected.

Col Geo. B. Lamping, commander of the N. G. W., inspected Co. C. Tuesday night. He found the company in good condition as a whole. He condemned a few worn out uniforms, and Capt. Dulin will make requisition on the state for new ones to replace them.

Cap. Dulin informs us that the company has but 50 members and an attempt will be made to recruit it to 55 by Aug. 14th. He expects to take a company of 70 into camp in September. The time for target practice has been extended to Sept. 1st. The style of target shooting is the same as that of the U. S. army. Co. C. is not only expecting to win the state trophy for good marksmanship but they expect to come home with the championship laurels of the United States on their brow.

THE STREET CARNIVAL.

Much Interest is Being Taken in the Contest for Carnival Queen.

A. H. White, manager of the carnival left Thursday morning for Seattle where he goes to make arrangements for a new act to be put on during the carnival. It is a feat that the Southern Carnival have not in their repertoire and it will prove a drawing card.

The interest in the voting contest continues. The official count up to noon Wednesday was:

Edythe Williamson	1825
Frances Schorn	1011
Mabel Chase	300
Miss Varker	85
Gretchen Crawford	77
Nettie Frye	30
Lizzie Osborne	26
Agnes Van der Ake	20
Scatterling	744

Miss Nellie McKiver has allowed her name to be entered in the contest and Miss Anna Heiser has withdrawn. The list will be open until this evening for the entering of contestants.

There are several special features. joint Woodmen's day being one them. Wednesday August 19th will be their day and a joint committee from the two orders is perfecting plans for a big day. A grand parade and ball game in the morning, races and sports in the morning and a grand ball at the armory in the evening, is but a part of the attractions billed for that day.

Another great drawing card for the carnival is the free exhibitions which will occur each day. Prominent among these being a high dive and a thrilling stairway ride on a bicycle.

Methodist Reunion.

Last Friday evening was a notable one in the history of the Methodist society in this city, it being the reunion of that church. There over 500 present, including Methodists and their friends. The affair was managed through the official board and the auxiliary branches of the church, the Ladies' Aid society providing the refreshments and the Ruth Circle attending to the serving. Presiding Elder Booth, Rev. Anderson of CleElum and Rev. Calloway of Toppenish were present. At the conclusion of a short program B. F. Kumler and L. O. Meigs were chosen as lay delegates to the annual conference at Spokane.

Rivers Being Measured.

Prof. O. L. Waller last week completed the work of placing gauges in the Yakima river and its various tributaries for the measurement of the water supply and left for his home at Pullman. The work has been left in charge of Mr. Jayne, a student of Pullman, who will record the data during the summer season. Prof. Waller will make a report in the fall of the actual available water supply in the Yakima system, the amount of water that is now used and also the amount that has been acquired by appropriations.

To Build New Temple.

The members of the M. E. church in this city, finding the present building inadequate have decided to build a new temple of worship. If the society can sell their property on the corner of Chestnut and Third streets they will purchase a new location, otherwise they will build on the site now occupied by their present church building. G. W. Bullard of Tacoma is now preparing the plans.

A Fair Wheat Crop.

The wheat crop of central and eastern Washington will not fall much below last year according to the state grain inspector's report. The favorable weather that prevailed during the heading out of the grain made a surprising change in the yield. An average yield is the result, and with the present prospect for high prices, the wheat farmer is feeling rather jubilant.

Reservation Grain.

We have at this office a bundle of oats taken from the field of John Iles, on the reservation, that is six feet high and well filled with grain. Mr. Iles will get 100 bushel per acre on a part of his ranch. Other grain is reported as being a fine crop.

Washington Letter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington D. C. July 23, 1903.

What promises to be an exceedingly interesting fracas and possibly a serious one appears to be brewing for the next session of congress. It will be remembered that in the closing hours of the last session Speaker Cannon indulged in harsh criticism on the rules for doing business in the senate and charged that body with highwayman methods, saying he had been "held up and robbed." No sooner had the senate assembled in special session than some of the leading senators took occasion to severely criticize Mr. Cannon and predicted that he would live to regret his "ill chosen criticism." Since then, Mr. Cannon has referred to the subject on many occasions and apparently with increasing bitterness. There has long been a more or less covert antagonism between the two houses of congress and there are many indications that it will break out with no inconsiderable rancor on both sides at the approaching session.

It now appears that the subject of financial legislation will be the occasion of the first break. As has been stated in these letters, the senate, before adjournment, appointed a subcommittee of the committee on finance to draft a financial measure to be considered immediately on the reconvening of congress. While the exact provisions of the measure are not known, it is known that the senate committee has always opposed an asset currency while the House has favored that expedient. In fact that was the gist of the Fowler bill. During a recent visit to Washington Mr. Cannon made it known that he would oppose all financial legislation at the next session and it is believed his course in so doing would be largely dictated by his determination not to yield anything to the leadership of Senate. Since then however, the president has caused to be given out an authorized statement which was made by Senator Lodge in which the latter says that time will be found for the consideration of some financial measure at the extraordinary session which will be called to convene on Monday, November 9, and he further expresses the hope that a law which will provide a remedy for existing defects in the financial system will be enacted. Following the issue of this statement the president indicated to Mr. Cannon his desire to confer with him at Oyster Bay and accordingly the Speaker-to-be has responded and has had a long conference with the president on the subject. What the outcome of that discussion has not yet been learned. It is also believed that Mr. Cannon has been summoned to appear before the Senate subcommittee and explain his objections to the bill that committee is preparing.

Charles Hedges, the intimate friend and business associate of H. H. Rand, confidential clerk to the Postmaster General, was yesterday summarily dismissed from his $3,000 position as superintendent of the city delivery because evidence has been secured of his having falsified his pay accounts. The Fourth Assistant Postmaster General issued a statement showing several instances in which Hedges had made oath that he was in certain towns attending to government business and had drawn a per diem of $4, allowed him only when traveling on government business, when, as a matter of fact, he was attending to private business, examining mining property in which he was interested, etc. There are other and even graver charges against Hedges which it is alleged are being investigated. They involve his having, in connection with H. H. Rand, lobbied the Parish claim bill through Congress, a statutory offense carrying an extreme penalty of $5,000 fine and one year's imprisonment. It is generally believed that the only reason that this charge has not been pushed more vigorously is because Rand, who in addition to being an intimate friend of Machen and Hedges, is confidential clerk to Postmaster General Payne, is involved in the matter and it will probably be impossible to expose Hedges without exposing Rand. Since the last regular letter, George W. Beavers, former superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances, has been indicted but has not been arrested. That his arrest has not been effected is due to the fact that he left Brooklyn and took refuge in New York where, if he is arrested, it will be necessary to grant a preliminary hearing which would amount almost to a trial, before a commissioner. The government is reluctant to grant this hearing as it is claimed, it would reveal evidence already collected against other suspects. It is also rumored that there is considerable reluctance to trusting the case to the New York courts.

An extremely interesting situation has been predicted by the president's action in the case of W. A. Miller, assistant foreman in the bookbinding department of the public printer's office. It appears that Miller incurred the displeasure of the local bookbinders' union and was expelled. Public Printer Palmer when notified of this fact, promptly discharged Miller but he appealed to the Civil Service Commission and to the president and the former finding that there was no warrant for his discharge on the ground named, the president ordered his reinstatement. The public printer's office has long been a "union office" and the bookbinders immediately held a meeting and drew up a petition which they forwarded to the president representing that the grounds on which Miller was expelled from the union were ample to warrant his discharge and while they appreciate that he could not be discharged because he has been expelled from the union, they urged that he be discharged for the same reason that had impelled the union's action.

Incidentally, however, the union gave the president notice that none of their members could work in the office with a non-union man and that if he were to return to Washington and resume his duties they would "walk out on a strike." What the outcome will be is not known but there are grave indications that the president is likely to find himself in a very delicate position and one likely to lose to him the support of all organized labor.

COUNTY AUDITOR'S ANNUAL REPORT

Makes Interesting Reading For Taxpayers.

County Auditor Newcomb has just completed his annual statement for 1903. It gives some interesting statistics. The total value of taxable property is $7,094,821, as returned by County Assessor Coonse, and $7,064,561 as given by the county commissioners, and $6,275,085 by the state board. BIG INCREASE IN VALUATIONS

County Assessor Coonse Completes His Labors.

County Assessor Harry Coonse and his assistant J. W. Sindall, have completed their labors upon the 1903 tax rolls. There are five big books, four for realty and one for personal property, and now these have been turned over to the county commissioners, who are in session as a board of equalization. It has been a big undertaking and one requiring the closest of attention.

A glance at some of the figures which Assessor Coonse has obtained will be more than passing interest and as compared with those of last year the increase is quite marked and very flattering to Yakima county. For instance the valuation of real estate last year was $1,521,425, this year $1,907,695, an increase of $386,270; city lots, last year $584,087, improvements on same $567,345, total $1,151,432; while this year the figures are $597,596, $779,965 and $1,377,561, an increase of $226,129; number of assessable acres, last year 1,016,495; improved acreage 63,398; this year 1,054,150 and 65,368, making an increase in number of assessable acres of 37,655 and 1,970 in improved acreage; valuation of land in county, last year $4,483,054, improvements on same $482,115, total $4,965,169; this year $4,536,515 and $567,955, a total of $5,104,470, an increase of $139,301. Thus it will be seen that there has been an increase of about 25 percent in the personal property assessment and a very material increase in land values, which is caused by the new acreage and improvements on realty. In round numbers the increase in assessed valuation over last year foots up something like $750,000, a splendid showing.

Campbell Bros Big Shows are coming to North Yakima one day only, Thursday, Aug. 6.

To Our Friends:—The Eagles, to make sure that they were getting a high-class attraction for their 4th of July celebration in the shape of a circus, sent me to Fargo, N. D., for the express purpose of witnessing the performance as given by the Campbell Bros. The following is my opinion of the exhibition:

It is certainly a good show and well worth attending. Whoever pays to see the Campbell show will receive their money's worth and the right change back. There are no skin games of any description allowed with the aggregation. Everything is of a high standard and strictly first-class. The show itself was great and its every act was applauded. Campbell Bros show is the cleanest exhibition I ever saw. You and your family can take in the slide-show and you will find nothing there to be offended at. I must not forget the menagerie with its latest attractions of rare and valuable animals. The have the largest elephant I ever saw and I think they know what they are taking about when they say it is the largest world.

Yours respectfully,
J. S. CRAIG.

Smoke
The first of Thursday very forcibly illustrates the need of fire hydrants where ever there are water mains. A report is made that the Ellensburg Brewing company would put in a bottling works on the west side. A petition has been circulated among the ranchers near Prosser, asking for a free rural mail route out of that city. Government land under the high line ditch proposed by the Yakima Development company is rapidly being filed on. The Ryan & Newton Fruit company are going to put in a cold storage room for the purpose of keeping imported fruits. A new bank has been incorporated at Prosser by Nelson Rich, Prince E. Harris and J. W. Carey. The capital stock is $25,000. One of our progressive farmers came to market yesterday with a fat hog, three sheep and a prime beef cow—a variety hard to beat. Over 70 new names were added to the subscription list of the Democrat during July, and that, too, without any bait or allurements. There will be no services at the Congregational church until September, as the pastor, Rev. James, is in Vermont spending his vacation. Yakima has plenty of attractions in store for the amusement loving public, among them being a circus, street carnival and the state fair. A warrant was issued Wednesday for the arrest of John Healy, charging him with criminally assaulting the eighteen year old daughter of Charles Crispell. The minstrel show that held the boards at Larson's opera house Monday evening, with the exception of two or three specialties, was a regular frolic. That dairying in this county pays is beyond the question of a doubt. A skeptical person can be fully convinced by visiting the creameries and looking at their pay rolls. A horse belonging to R. S. Morgan was operated on last week by Dr. Duncan and a splinter eight inches long removed from his neck. The splinter had annoyed the horse for over a year. There will be regular services at the Christian church Sunday. Rev. Leon Green will fill the pulpit in the morning and in the evening Mrs. Jennie F. White will speak on Judgment—God's and man's. Coffin Bros. have sold their seasons wool clip, amounting to 50,000 pounds, to the Botany Worsted Mills for 11 1/2 cents. Dan Goodman sold his clip, 40,000 pounds to the same firm for the same price. The Ladies Aid of the Baptist church will give a Camp Fire social on Monday evening, Aug. 3, at W. W. Feltons on Nob Hill. Everyone is cordially invited to come and help in making the fire burn bright. At an adjourned meeting of the school board Tuesday evening plans submitted by W. W. Felton were accepted for the new west side school house. Nothing definite was done with the contemplated addition to the Columbia building. An examination was made at the armory Saturday night by Adj. Gen. Drain when Capt. Lemon took the examination for promotion to the rank of Major and Sergeant Walter Tiesley for Second Lieutenant. Both passed successfully. One of our Isaac Waltons, a man in whom we have unbounded faith, reports that while fishing on the Satus, he hooked one trout four times, throwing it high out of the water each time, before he landed it. The fish weighed some less than 10 pounds. Next. The engineer from the east, representing the capitalists who are figuring on financing the proposed railroad from here to Sunnyside, is expected to day, when with Mr. McNaught he will go over the proposed line and make a report that will settle the matter. The high water of last spring made many changes in the river beds, the most important one to Yakima people being the cutting out of the Mahaffy ford up the Natches. It is now necessary for those wishing to camp above the Nile to go over the Wenas road. The Cascade Lumber Co. is erecting a tower 60 feet high on which they will place a tank with a capacity of 1,000 barrels, which will be connected with the city mains, and also with the pipes running through that firm's property, thus giving them an independent water works system. Monday Judge Radkin sentenced E. F. Zaspel to one year in the penitentiary for defrauding his hay customers by changing the weighmaster's checks. J. R. Clayton will reside one year in the suburbs of Walla Walla for passing a forged check. John Lyons was fined $193 for stealing out of box cars. Chas. F. Hanke died Sunday from blood poisoning caused by becoming infected with the mixture used while spraying fruit trees. The funeral was held at the M. E. church Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Deceased was well known here. He leaves a wife and seven children. He was a member of the Order of Eagles. The fire department was called out Thursday evening by the burning of J. G. Boyle's home at the lower end of N. G. es avenue. When the chemical arrived it was too late of any use and as there were no hydrants within 4 blocks nothing could be done to subdue the flames. The house and contents, except a piano were entirely consumed and as there was but a small insurance it will be a severe loss to Mr. Boyle.
