OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

THE president's annual message to Congress was given out last Monday and has probably been read with a keener and more lively interest, not only by the people of this country, but by the inhabitants of the civilized world, than any similar state paper that has preceded it. Many patriotic but anxious people in this country have no doubt looked forward to this message to give them some light as to the views and intent of the chief executive, relative to the program to be followed by the government in governing our new possessions, particularly the Philippines. Millions of people in America are now desirous of knowing how far our late brush with Spain is going to change our national destiny. Europeans expected to see a national policy defined which would relieve the world of a feeling of uncertainty, caused by our recent change of front. All who had such hopes and expectations will be sadly disappointed. The president is as silent as the grave on this all absorbing question. His failure to even mention the terms of the Paris treaty, whereby we are to become possessed of the Philippines, will lead many to believe that the president, for reasons of his own, does not desire a general discussion of this all important question at this time. Neither is the message satisfactory to the ultra-goldbugs of the east. The capitalistic element, which so effectually rules the party in power, had confidently expected this year an executive endorsement of the pernicious McCleary Bill, the passage of which by congress, the mugwumps have been persistently clamoring for. In fact, the whole financial subject, vast as it is, is treated very lamely and briefly, which shows that Mr. McKinley is the same "artful dodger" as of old upon the financial subject. As a whole, the message is dull, verbose and commonplace. The lengthy sketch given of the late war reads like a rehash of press-dispatches with which the country was deluged last summer. Unimportant subjects, the discussion of which former presidents have left to their secretaries, are treated at great length in this long and dreary state paper. The document reflects the weakness of its maker in leadership, and his lack of originality, for it contains not a new idea. It is remarkable only for its extreme length and great verbosity—"a diarrhea of words." It will occupy but a pitiful place in history.

LEVY ANKENY, the rich Jew of Walla Walla, whose wife is said to have an undying ambition to see her husband safely ensconced in one of Washington's two seats in the American house of Lords, in order that she may enjoy the pleasure of Washington City "society," is said to have opened up his barrel in good shape recently in preparation for the great fight scheduled to take place at Olympia in January. The Walla Walla banker is said to have made a neat little stake of two-hundred-thousand dollars, by judicious speculation in wheat, since he last took a shy at the senatorial prize four years ago, and therefore quite naturally feels that he has a much longer pole with which to reach the senatorial perambulation than before. It is currently reported that he practically owns the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, which journal, the politicians say, will sing the praises of the Walla Walla millionaire just as soon as Mayor Humes' little boom is dead and decently interred. So many rich men have bought their way into the national senate, that many of that class assume, and with some reason, that a poor man has no business there. The people of the state will watch this contest closely, however, and legislative members who cannot show a pretty good reason for voting for Ankeny, a man who is generally known to have no qualifications for the place, outside of his sack, will have explanations to make during the balance of their political lives.

YAKIMA should bestir itself and investigate the rumors constantly floating this way from Goldendale, relative to the possibility of a railroad being built into this city from some point on the Columbia river. We need a competing line of road, and we need it bad. Our eyes naturally turn to the south for the realization of the hope of relief from the despotism of the N. P. Co. Yakima's wide and fruitful fields offer substantial inducements to the building of a road that will connect us with the O. R. & N. or the navigable waters of the majestic Columbia. The people of this country may be prevailed on to even give some material aid to a legitimate corporation who will give them the desired connection, providing, of course, that the fact is made plain that there is no disposition to flim-flam them by the construction of a competing line for the purpose of being turned over to the Northern Pacific for the purpose of operation. A territorial war is now on between the giant corporations above mentioned, and the old adage well applies: "When rogues fall out, honest men sometimes get their dues."

THE proposition advanced and advocated by the Ellensburg Dawn for the disintegration of the present three parties, which together composed the late Fusion monstrosity, and organize as a new party, is a chimerical and impracticable idea, impossible of fulfillment. The people of this generation have had all they want of new parties, which are born only to soon fade away and die, and leave nothing behind them but wasted ambitions and dead hopes. Let our valiant brother of The Dawn wash his feet, and enter the temple of Democracy, where his ability will entitle him to recognition, and where his keen pen can do splendid service for the cause of humanity, instead of fooling away his time, and the opportunities of others, in agitating a new party which is not needed; and which, if organized, would yield to its promoters, as have all other such organizations in the past,—nothing but dead sea fruit.

GENERAL Joe Wheeler done a very graceful and commendable act in introducing during the first day's session of Congress a bill authorizing the director of the mint to have struck, and the president to present to Miss Helen Gould, a beautifully engraved gold medal as a slight evidence of the gratitude of the nation for the goodness and liberality of the young lady during the late unpleasantness with Spain. Many people dislike the disposition shown by many of the rich to rush in and attempt to exercise the functions of government, as some did last summer in raising regiments. Yet no one will blame Miss Gould, the kind-hearted little soul. That young lady, by the way, is the only one of the Gould family who is worth remembering.

THE Republic serves notice this week on the incoming county officials that they are making a serious mistake in attempting to select their own deputies, without advice or consent of the "Boss." This is none of our funeral, but still we believe the people will hold the officials responsible for the conduct of public business, rather than any "Boss," and such being the case the principals have the inalienable right to select their own assistants. Our editor's brother seems to have again "put his foot in it."

Fruit Tree Pests.

EDITOR EPIGRAM:—I will give you a few facts in regard to the progress in combatting the fruit pests in this country. I am satisfied that the scale and red spider can soon be cleared from our orchards. I made several tests of different strengths. The one made of the following formula gave the desired results—killed all the scale on the two trees that I sprayed: Twenty pounds lime, 20 gal. water, 20 pounds sulphur, 15 pounds stock salt, 3 pounds Babbitt's lye; boil two hours, till all is thoroughly dissolved; stir constantly; then add 40 pounds slack-lime and 40 gallons more water; bring to a boil, then strain and use warm. I made several other tests of weaker strength, but found it did not kill the scale. The work that was done thoroughly in this country last spring gave good satisfaction and it will be prosecuted with more vigor than ever in the early spring. Our fruit growers are realizing the need of proper action and they are equal to the occasion. The codling moth is beyond question the worst pest we have to contend with so far and it is to be hoped that we may never have any worse. I am trying to familiarize myself with that insect. I searched several the past season and got some valuable information and now I have under construction some larger cages which will enable me to keep them longer and determine more accurately about the real life of the insect. I will give you my opinion of its work so far as I am able to determine. The moth appeared in my orchard about the 10th of May. I sprayed the 6th day of May, also the 20th day of May and the third of June. No signs of the work of the moth showed on my orchard till in July. My summer apples were all sound and I began to think that I had the best of Mr. Moth, but later on I found that my winter apples were one third wormy, and the rest were sound and saleable. As far as I am able to say, the moth begins hatching about May 1st, arriving at maturity in about 15 to 20 days; then eggs are being deposited from the 15th of May until the 15th of September; consequently, you will observe, that it will be necessary to spray from the 10th of May till the 15th of September, regularly every two weeks, to insure a sound crop of apples, and it is to be hoped that every fruit grower will take active part in so important a matter as this is to this country. I sincerely hope that everybody any wise connected with the interests of this valley will lead an encouraging work to the cause.

ORLANDO BECK,

Fruit Inspector for Yakima County, North Yakima, Nov. 29th.

Letter from Honolulu.

HONOLULU, NOV. 6, 1898.

DEAR FATHER AND MOTHER:—I arrived here safely and in good health yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. I was not seasick one minute, and enjoyed the trip thoroughly. Honolulu is all right. The natives are a better and smarter class of people than most Americans suppose and apparently they can do anything that we can; they are as stylish as Americans. The men wear stylish tailor-made clothes, while the women are always dressed in white, and they all talk as good English as any body; and are very energetic. This must be the garden spot of the world. I have seen orange, lemon, banana, coconut and pineapple groves here. Everything looks nice and the fruit is good. The buildings are nearly all of brick or stone and built just like in America. The streets are as smooth as the sidewalks in Yakima. I rented a bicycle and rode all over this island for two days and never struck a rock or a chuckhole. I have seen more of the island than any body else on the boat. I went all through the Queen's palace and sat in the Queen's chair. I have seen the volcano and the rice and sugar cane fields. I send you some nice and some cards from the Queen's palace, which I desire you to keep for me. I tell you that things are pretty nice here. I could tell you for a week about this country and then only have just begun. Give my regards to all my friends.

PEOPLE'S PARTY DEAD. So Says Senator Plummer of Spokane.

State Senator W. H. Plummer, of Spokane, Populist, representing the Third district, has written a letter declaring that his party is dead and declaring himself a free lance. Senator Plummer is president pro tem, of the state senate, and has long been regarded as a man who was not heartily in favor of all the principles of the Populist party. His letter has created some comment in political circles, and many are wondering what he intends to do. The letter reads:

"The silver forces will never again be successful in the state of Washington until they have a political overhauling and platform house-cleaning. No party can have anything but temporary success unless constructed and formed upon some high, exalted, national foundation. When any party or parties consolidate and build a platform composed of the whims, caprices and isms of every loud-mouthed world savor, and planks embracing principles which are, to say the least, speculative, and upon which not one-hundredth part of the people are prepared to vote, just as quickly as the people can get to the ballot box that party will go down to defeat.

"There is no doubt but what the single taxers defeated the silver forces in Washington, and I am not now discussing whether or not the disciples of Henry George are right or wrong. If theoretically right, it has been demonstrated by the recent election that they are practically, politically wrong. It also defeated Mr. Maguire in California.

"From what investigations I can make through the country, I believe the People's party, founded at Omaha convention, in which I had the honor of being an humble participant, has passed into history, among the causes for which are:

"First—A few self appointed delegates nominating two of the most notorious political montebanks (who cannot carry their own precincts for any office) for president and vice-president, three years prior to election, for fear some one might steal their party.

"Second—A universal demand by every voter to boss the job, regardless of bias, experience or ability.

"Third—The universal accusation of every officer elected by the party with dishonesty, treason, bribery and jobbing and without any proof whatever.

"Fourth—The epidemic known as the jealousy itch. So soon as a member of the party, by hard work, sacrifice of time, money and patience, shows any ability as a political manager, everybody becomes envious of his success and immediately commences to 'smash the machine'.

"Fifth—And there are others. "I believe there will line up for 1900 only two parties—the Democratic as the silver, and the Republicans as the gold party. I shall stand by the party that elected me state senator, the fusion party. When my term expires I shall be a free lance, and shall join such party, if any there be, as is founded upon broad American principles of the school of Abraham Lincoln"—Ledger.

Hope For the Democracy.

There is every indication that the Democracy of the state of Washington will be organized at once and thoroughly equipped in time for the contest of 1900. In almost every locality a firm and united stand has been taken, and the determination to win on party principles is gaining ground every day among Democrats. With thorough organization, and perfect harmony and unanimity on the issues, there is no reason why victory should not be ours at the next election. On the issues of the Chicago platform, Democracy will gain a large following from the fusion wreck among the allied forces of the Populists and Silver Republicans.—Seattle Review.

The two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Saunders, who live opposite the court house, while playing with a wire on Wednesday, managed to run the sharp instrument up his nostril to such an extent as to evidently pierce the brain. Physicians were promptly called in, and everything possible done for the little sufferer, but without avail as death soon came to his relief.

The conclusion reached at the last meeting of the city council to advance the salary of the marshal and night watchman to $100 per month is generally approved by citizens. Considering the present salaries of them, the present salaries are too low for men who have families to support. The present marshal and his assistant have rendered the public good and honest service and have earned their raise.

The "Somers Family Musical Comedy Co.," that were here about a year ago, will play at the Mason Opera house Monday night, Dec. 12th. Those who witnessed their performance last year were in high praise of Miss Nellie's beautiful soprano voice and the antics and singing of this talented family. They have added a "funny comedian" Fred C. Fink and they say he is as funny as La. S. Schoolcraft, of minstrel fame. They promise us a better program than last year and if they do we cannot help being satisfied. We bespeak for them a good house.

Council Proceedings.

City Council met Monday night in regular session, Mayor Rechter presiding, and all councilmen present except Bartholet and Schindeler.

Judge Lewis appeared before the Council and asked permission to take out water for his lots in Park addition at a different point from which he was entitled to take it; petition granted on condition that petitioner stand all the expense of the change.

The petition of Thomas Lund for a saloon license was then placed before the Council and a motion to grant the license was made, notwithstanding the ordinance being declared out of order, and the city attorney was instructed to draw up a new ordinance amending the former ordinance on that subject.

The City Marshal was instructed to go out and bring in the absent Councilmen Bartholet and Schindeler, dead or alive. The marshal subsequently returned, bringing with him the two councilmen, and the ordinance, after various amendments, was accepted and passed by the following vote: aye—Bartholet, Schindeler, Keck, Leggett and Wilgus; no—Dulley and Poole. (The provisions of this ordinance are to be found in another column.)

The Council also passed resolutions declaring its intention to construct a sidewalk on Yakima Avenue, from Third street to Natchez Avenue, thence north along the west side of Natchez Avenue to C street. Also along the east side of Third street in front of block 69 and a portion of block 68 and along the south side of B street in front of lot 9, block 69.

The city clerk was instructed to give notice to bidders for a contract for grading Front street and First street, which notice appears in this paper.

The Finance committee were authorized to employ an expert to examine the books of the City Treasurer and Clerk, as this has not been done for several years and several members of the Council expressed the opinion that it had ought to be done yearly.

The City Attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance prescribing a salary for the police justice leaving, the amount blank, also an ordinance fixing the salary of the City Marshal at $65 per month and the night watch at $50.

Committee on streets and ditches were instructed to make arrangements for the permanent location of an arc light on the corner of Yakima Avenue and Second street.

City attorney was instructed to foreclose the lien for a sidewalk on lot 13, block 69.

Decides Against the Road.

OLYMPIA, Dec. 5—(Special)—The supreme court today handed down a decision in the case of J. M. Moore, appellant vs. John Cormode, respondent.

This action was brought from Garfield county for the possession of land held by the respondent under homestead patent, and is within the indemnity limits of the grant to the Northern Pacific Railroad company. The appellant, who is the grantee of the railroad company, brought this action to cancel the patent issued, and to obtain possession of the land. A demurrer interposed by the respondent was sustained in the lower court and appellant vs. John H. Needham et al, respondents from Yakima county, was affirmed; also the cases of J. M. Moore, appellant, vs. D. B. Stone, et al, respondents from Garfield county; William L. Powers, et al, appellants, vs. Jacob Slight, respondent, from Whitman county.

These cases all fall within the same rule and are all decided against the Northern Pacific Railroad company.

The tract of land affected by the above decision of John H. Needham, vs. N. P. R. R. Co., is the 30 acres known as the Lindsay, Lones and west of the track, and is a valuable piece of property. A considerable proportion of its title remains in the hands of J. H. Needham. Local attorneys do not think it probable that the company will carry the matter further.

Yakima City Election.

The municipal election at Yakima City on Tuesday resulted in the election of J. F. Courtwright for mayor, P. T. Gevais, E. B. Ferris and Geo. Holloway as councilmen and J. J. Courtwright as treasurer, which makes known about even between the two tickets that were in the field.

WORLD'S BIGGEST SKELETON.

Remains of an Animal 130 Feet in Length Found in Wyoming.

It has been long known, says a Cheyenne dispatch, that Wyoming was the graveyard of the largest animals which have at any time inhabited the earth. Professor W. H. Reid, of the department of geology of the state university, while exploiting the fossil fields of Albany county, about 90 miles northwest of Laramie, during last August, discovered the fossil skeleton of the largest animal yet found in the world. The monster was a dweller in the jurassic age, known to science as a dinosaur, measuring nearly 130 feet in length, estimated to have been 30 feet in height at the hips and 25 feet at the shoulders, its petrified skeleton weighing more than 40,000 pounds. The only known fossil which approximates this dinosaur in size is the celebrated brontosaurus in the Yale college museum, discovered some years ago in Wyoming by Professor O. C. Marsh. This monster unearthed by Professor Marsh is said to have been 70 feet in length, the new discovery by Professor Reid eclipsing it by 60 feet in length. The recent discovery is said to put the reptilian fossil collection of the Wyoming university ahead of any in the world. When this dinosaur is completely restored and mounted it will adorn the university campus and become one of the wonders of the world.—Oregonian.

THE OLYMPIA FUND.

Yakima Patriotic People are now Invited to Contribute.

The movement inaugurated throughout the state by Miss Ada Levering Harford which has for its object the presentation of a silver service to the Olympia, has met with encouraging results, $3,000 having been already raised. This is a worthy and patriotic cause, and ought to be cheerfully aided by every citizen of the state. There must be raised $10,000, and that promptly, as it is not a compliment to the ship to allow the matter to drag along. I reflect now upon the honor of the whole state.

The officers and crew of the ship have been caused much embarrassment by visitors to the ship requesting to see the tribute which they were supposed to possess. They have made excuses for this neglect long enough. This tribute must be presented now as a spontaneous jubilee tribute from the state of Washington. Such an act of courtesy is customary at the launching of the ship, or soon after, and the Olympia remains today the only cruiser in the whole glorious American navy which has never received a gift of some sort.

This mark of appreciation is even more appropriate now that there is such reason to be proud of this gallant ship for the prominent part played in the battle of Manila bay. The state of Washington has a brilliant future before her, and as this tribute will be carried around the world by the Olympia and will last for all time as a monument to the patriotism of the state, it should be one which will be, in years to come, as well as at the present time, an honor to the donors.

Patriotic sentiment demands this tribute. It was from the bridge of the Olympia that Admiral Dewey, most illustrious of naval commanders, directed the attack upon the Spanish fleet at Manila bay. He received instructions to destroy the Spanish fleet in the Philippines. His plans were formed accordingly, and these plans were never changed. The Spanish fleet was not only entirely destroyed, but not one American life was sacrificed in the conflict. This brilliant victory stands unsurpassed in history, and was due to the careful planning of Admiral Dewey and the intelligence and gallantry of the American seamen. Will not the people of this state express by some graceful act their admiration of this brave conduct?

Other states have not been backward in paying tributes to the heroes of the war, and the matter of making a tribute to the Olympia has attracted general attention. Mr. Irving M. Scott, of the Union Iron Works, at San Francisco, has asked for the privilege of subscribing as an evidence of his interest in having the ship receive a splendid service. Mr. James J. Hill has subscribed $500 to the fund. Mr. H. O. Armour, of New York, at a lunch party in that city recently, put down $50 as a contribution, and others joined in making up the sum of $75.

It is desired to honor the gallant crew as well as the admiral and officers. There will be one piece especially designed as a trophy, illustrating the battle of Manila bay, and engraved upon it will be the names of the admiral, officers and crew of the ship. This will be some day an object of great historic interest and will serve to keep in the hearts of the American people remembrance of all those brave men who fought so valiantly for the glory of the American flag.—Seattle P. I.

Mrs. H. J. Suively, of this city, has been delegated to superintend the work of collecting what the generous people of Yakima feel disposed to contribute toward the raising of this fund. That lady informs THE EPIGRAM that the bank of this city have kindly consented to receive any report and donations that are left with them for this purpose.—EDITOR EPIGRAM

Once upon a time a tramp was sorely in need of something to eat and approaching a farmhouse, he spake unto the farmer, saying: "If you will give me the wherewithal to satisfy the cravings of the inner man I will kill all the rats about the place." "Agreed," said the tiler of the soil, and he ordered his good wife to give the tramp a square meal. After the tramp had devoured everything in sight he went to the wood pile and selected a stout club, then seating himself on the porch, he said to the farmer: "Now bring on your rats."

Local commission men have lately received some very flattering letters from Minneapolis commission merchants, relative to the several cars of apples that have been shipped them from Yakima this fall. For looks, quality and good packing they say Yakima's easily excel any thing on the market.

Most of the incoming county officials have now selected their deputies. Treasurer-elect Dudley has appointed Earl G. Walt; Auditor-elect Kelso has selected Thomas Dingle, of Prosser, while Sheriff-elect Tucker will have the services of John W. Sindall as chief deputy. His second assistant has not yet been decided upon.

A back number or an old timer, just as you would choose to call it, and one that may possibly prove valuable, fell into the hands of William F. Peddicord, clerk for E. M. Harris, grocer, one day last week. It was a fifty cent United States silver coin, and bears date of having been minted in 1833. The coin is but little effaced after circulating 65 years.

Chicken thieves have lately been getting in their work on Nob Hill ranches, the hen houses of A. W. The governing board of the Commercial Club have concluded to give their usual monthly entertainments through the social season. The club has always been a royal entertainer and it is expected that the parties will be more popular this year than ever. The first social of the season was given Wednesday evening. The program consisted of card playing and dancing.

The Red Cross entertainment Friday night was largely attended and a handsome amount was netted for the benefit of Company E. In addition to numerous tents, provided over by ladies in uniform, there was an express booth and a post-office booth. The fair fortune tellers were a very attractive feature of the entertainment and taked in a goodly number of sheets from those curious to peer into the future.

"Alone in Greater New York," which appeared at Mason's on Wednesday night, gave a very entertaining exhibition. The company is a good one, and carries with them splendid scenery, but the plot is weak. Dorothy Lewis, as "Tiny Traddles," the star, however, is an unqualified success. Warner, as Sharkey the "Tenderloin Politician," and Lingard, as the heavy villain, were both good. The balance of the company were not above mediocrity.

Hon. L. B. Rinehart, of Union, Or., was in the city the first of the week and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Rinehart is a director and superintendent of construction of the Summerville, Blue Mountain and Walla Walla railroad Co., which proposes to build a line of road eighty miles long, commencing at Union in the Grande Ronde Valley, to Walla Walla, utilizing a portion of the old Hunt grade. Mr. Rinehart reports that the road will open up a rich agricultural district and that active construction work will begin in the early spring, arrangements having already been made with New York capitalists for ample means to construct the road. Mr. Rinehart left for Walla Walla Monday night.
