OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

GOV. ROGERS unquestionably acted wisely in concluding to exercise his veto power on the abominable apportionment bill passed up to him by the majority party in the legislature. As was to be expected the obnoxious measure was promptly passed over his head—and more's the pity—but that fact only tends to place the responsibility where it belongs with the republicans. As we have pointed out before, the spirit of partisan hoggishness of the bill constitutes the least objectionable feature of it. It is the gross favoritism shown certain sections of the state to the detriment of other sections that makes the new law so absolutely distasteful to many people of the commonwealth regardless of political affiliations. As an illustration of its unfairness, the county of Jefferson, which has shown a marked decline in population during the past decade and which now has within its borders less than 6000 people, is given the same representation in the legislature accorded the growing county of Yakima with nearly 14,000. The neighboring county of Klickitat with a population nearly 2000 in excess of that of Jefferson is put off with one representative and a joint senator with Skamania, while Jefferson is given a senator of her own and two representatives. The counties of Cowlitz, Pacific and Wahkiakum barely contain enough population among them to give them one senator, but two were demanded and secured as the price of the support of the southwest combine. This arrangement was made to accommodate Messrs. Megler and Sims, both of whom are determined to break into the next senate. Many good lawyers are of the opinion that the measure is clearly unconstitutional and will never run the gauntlet of the supreme court if tested. This is evidently the view taken by Gov. Rogers who very properly refused to give it his official sanction. The law is a masterpiece of injustice, inequality and false pretenses conceived in the interest of a conscienceless gang of political grafters who are determined regardless of the people's wishes to perpetuate themselves in power. The full text of the governor's veto message will be found in another column.

THE Ruth bill providing for the purchase of the Thurston county court house and the construction of a wing there-to to accommodate the sessions of the legislature, passed the house on the 1st inst by a majority of 14 votes. The bill carried an appropriation of $350,000, $150,000 of which is available for buying the court house and grounds, the balance to be expended in the necessary remodeling of the building and the construction of the legislative wing. Thus the capitol is safely anchored at Olympia for a generation at least and perhaps for all time. It is probably true that a majority of the people of the state did not want it to remain there, but the people nowadays seem to have but mighty little to do with the management of their public affairs. In the fight Olympia completely out-generated the representatives and log-rollers of both Tacoma and Everett. The Pierce county crowd especially, showed itself as being made up of a lot of blunders. The delegation from that county had made an alliance with the democrats to defeat the obnoxious apportionment bill which they subsequently repudiated as soon as they were able to bring their own party to terms and get what they wanted. The democrats left holding the sack were given the laugh when they remonstrated at the treachery of their former allies. It is a long road without a turn, however, and when the Ruth bill came up the democrats took their revenge by knocking the capitol out of Tacoma's grasp and giving it to Olympia. The "smart Alec's" from Pierce have since been kept busy in attempting to explain to their constituents how it happened. Tacoma has the sympathy of many people in her misfortune brought on her by her foolish set of legislators. As for the capitol location the people of the state are doubtless glad that it has been settled for they have wearied nigh unto death with it. For 12 years the question in some form has been agitated, traded on and made the football of politicians. It has often defeated righteous legislation and is responsible for the passage of much that is vicious. It has sent a good many men into political exile and made and unmade U. S. senators. But the vexatious question is settled at last and when Gov. Rogers placed his signature to the Ruth bill it marked the end of the last chapter of a profitless discussion and a wearisome record.

THE ceremonies attending the re-inauguration of President Wm. McKinley on Monday were a decidedly imperialistic tinge unless all the newspaper accounts of the great function were willfully misleading. An associated press correspondent in reporting the memorable event says: "Every presidential inauguration in recent years has had its parade, always credible in size and variety and usually having some distinctive features. That which followed President McKinley today on his return from the capitol to the White House and passed in review there before him was different from all its predecessors in the majestic predominance of the military feature." What a change, what a hateful change is this from the Jeffersonian simplicity of other and better days. Fancy Washington the father or Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln, the mighty pillars in their respective days of this republic, coming back to earth and viewing the gorgeous and awe-inspiring spectacle of William McKinley's second

THE bill providing for the creation of the proposed county of Riverside was killed in the state senate on Tuesday and because of that fact our republican friends hereabouts have been enabled to sleep bet-of nights. They can now go about their usual avocations without assuming the risk of either being summoned hastily to Olympia to join the lobby or the alternative of putting up each his quota of the "needful" for the purpose of sending a substitute. It must be admitted, however, that the North Yakima "push" when it finally discovered itself at the bottom of the pit, which it had itself dugged, made a most determined and laborious effort to get out, and finally succeeded, but not without a bad scare. As for our worthy and esteemed fellow citizens of the "east end," who have for lo these many years secretly nurtured hopes of self-government, they may now go hang, as the push will have no further use for them until the next election. Meanwhile they will have to accept whatever may be meted out to them by the victors, contenting themselves with the reflection that "of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these, it might have been." Br'er Angus will now please pass the hat, while Br'er Brownlow sings the doxology. Father Kemp will dismiss the congregation all save Neighbor Rich, who must needs remain and do penance for his sins.

coronation. Soldiers, soldiers everywhere. Would not those saints in the cause of human liberty be more apt to regard it as rather a contemptible bit of imitation of old Roman splendor in the days of that tottering ancient republic? We are amiss in our estimate of the great emancipator if he did not blush for shame at the sight of his unworthy successor and did not reprove him sharply for his weakness. And what would he think and perhaps say when he heard the sweet and honeyed words of the inaugural address? Would he find a word of hope or cheer in all those oily and smooth reading sentences for poor downtrodden humanity? Could he discover in that ceaseless flow of platitudes any hope or sign of liberty for the Cuban or the Filipino? We think not; he would turn away saddened and weary of heart.

THE membership of the present legislature is 114, which the republican majority proposes to increase to 142. This increase was vigorously opposed, as was the whole scheme of apportionment by the compact democratic minority and they were right. The logical result of an increased membership will be to make room for more grafters in the legislature and every tax-paying citizen who is not a fool, knows that we have a big surplus of that kind of cattle as the matter now stands.

THE Yakima Daily News is dead. Poor thing, its troubles are over. Peace to its ashes.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Peter Nooner, and aged county charge, was buried last Sunday.

A. J. Shaw last week lost his fine stallion Billy Wagner from horse fever.

The brick building recently vacated by Kellogg & Ford is being refitted for occupancy by Frank Nagler's cigar factory and M. Probach's tailor shop.

On Wednesday Angus McPherson sold 160 acres under the new Moxee ditch to Tunis Prins, Jonh Zinterhorst and John Wayenberg, all new comers, for $4600.

S. Huntington is the father of a bright bouncing boy who came to his home one day last week. The youngster is said to be well posted on the price of hops already.

The chain gang under supervision of Street Commissioner Chappell, has been improving the public thoroughfare around the Columbia school building this week.

The nine-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Eschbach, of the Natches, died at the home of her grandmother in this city on Saturday after a prolonged illness. The funeral was held on Monday.

The people of Prosser, it is understood, incensed at the opposition of Senator Herb Baker to county division, on Tuesday night rigged up an effigy of that gentleman and derisively burned it at the stake.

Sarah Parton will shortly file suit against the Northern Pacific for $450 for stock killed at Toppenish. The question involved is the liability of the railroad for stock killed at unfenced stations of the company.

The welcome sunshine of the past few days has caused the peach and apricot buds to swell. Fruitgrowers accordingly have begun the annual cleansing and spraying in their orchards, recognizing the necessity of doing the work while the trees are yet comparatively dormant.

A social entertainment given by the school at Parker recently was a highly successful affair. The sum of $35 was realized which will be invested in necessary school paraphernalia. The school under the direction of Principal Stephenson is in a highly prosperous condition.

A party consisting of nearly 100 new settlers, mostly Hollanders, arrived on Friday evening of last week from Iowa. They came here mostly at the suggestion of Mr. Wyneberg, of the Moxee, who has been east for several months working up the colony. A number have already purchased land under the new Selah-Moxee canal.

Principal Kingsbury, of the Prosser schools contributed a most excellent article to the Record, of that place last week on the importance of parents keeping their children in school steadily throughout the term. It would seem that what applies to Prosser parents would apply with equal force to the heads of families in North Yakima and elsewhere.

Chas. Ernest Matthews, an employee of H. J. Rand and a nephew of Mrs. Rand, and Miss Grace May Ross were united in the bonds of matrimony on Friday evening of last week. After the wedding an elegant supper was served to the happy couple and a number of invited guests, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rand. The fair bride is a sister of Mrs. Geo. Tuesley.

R. Strobach, proprietor of the Yakima Bottling Works, is making this spring a number of improvements to his plant, which, when completed will make it one of the most up-to-date institutions of its kind in the state. Mr. Strobach's bottling business has increased so materially in recent years that the extensions now being made became a positive necessity.

The rumor was spread on the streets last Saturday that a well known business man and a popular society lady of this city had been married the evening previous. On this assumption a number of the gentleman's friends are said to have called on him promptly to tender their congratulations, but felt rather sold when informed that the story was all a hoax and had no other foundation than a vivid imagination.

The evaporator will start up again next week and will begin on potatoes. When running with a full force the institution employs about 35 hands. Mr. Stoner, the proprietor, contemplates the establishment of a branch at Yakima City, utilizing the structure built by Alex. McAllister for a woolen mill, for his purpose. Mr. Stoner stated that the report in circulation that he was to move his machinery from this city was not true.

Col. Thos. M. Fisher, Chinese inspector, from Port Townsend, on Tuesday night arrested Sam Ching in Chinatown for being illegally in the country. The Chinaman has resided in this county for a number of years, having worked for several prominent people in the neighborhood. He claims he lost his certificate, but nevertheless U. S. Commissioner Howlett ordered him deported. Ira P. Englehart, his attorney, gave notice of appeal to U. S. Judge Hanford.

W. B. Matthews and E. Kemp stopped in the city Wednesday on their return to Prosser from Olympia, where they spent some time in the interest of the county division bill. They are thoroughly disgusted with the defeat of the plan, and say there was never a lot of more venal or log-rolling schemers than the aggregation assembled at the capitol city. "What is deferred is not lost," says Mr. Matthews, "and you will find us again in the field two years hence."

Agakitio Garcia, better known in this city as "Pete Lemon," the 16-year old Filipino youth who was brought home a year and a half ago by Lieut. Will Lemon when he returned from the Philippines, started for his home on Saturday night, going via San Francisco. "Pete" stated before his departure that he liked America very much, that he had been treated very kindly by everybody, but that he had grown very homesick and longed to see his native land again.

Ada Smith has filed suit for divorce in the superior court against her husband Frank J. Smith, alleging abandonment and non-support. The couple were married in Klickitat county in 1895.

Sam McCaw has filed application to have set aside the decree of divorce granted his wife last December, and asks for a new hearing. His former attorneys withdrew from the case, he claims, at a critical period, leaving him unrepresented. He thinks a new trial will radically change the decree.

Edith E. McAllister has perfected her appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the lower court refusing her a divorce from Alex McAllister.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" never grows old. There runs through it a vein of pathos peculiarly touching and sweet. It speaks the universal language of the heart. It reflects like the prism the innermost phases of the human emotion. It is more than a play. It is moral classic. It argues for two of the greatest themes that can engage the mind; human liberty and immortality of the soul. Notwithstanding its frequent production, it is seldom that one sees the play as it is now presented by the Ed F. Davis' colossal spectacular.

It is like meeting an old friend after many years. The management doubtless believes in the maxim, "What's worth doing is worth doing well." They have brought together in this production all the requisites that go to make up a first class entertainment.

The Ed F. Davis colossal spectacular Uncle Tom's Cabin company will appear at Larson's theater March 14th at popular prices; 25c, 50c, and 75c.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT

NORTH YAKIMA, MARCH 9, 1901

No Regrets.

Now that the Hanna ship subsidy bill has again been laid aside by a decisive senate vote of 45 to 2, with a prospect of increased opposition to its passage during the life of the present congress, it may safely be asserted that no popular regret will arise. There is, as a matter of course, a deep chagrin on the part of Mark Hanna and the monopoly syndicate behind this subsidy grab. This is as natural as has been Hanna's repeated loss of temper during the debate on the measure. The administration is pledged to the passage of the ship subsidy bill and it enrages Hanna that he is prevented from paying the administration's campaign debts.

The American people, however, are not in favor of this payment. The money would necessarily come out of their pockets—some $180,000,000 in all—it would vastly enrich the subsidy syndicate, but it would do the people no good whatever. They cannot see why they should be thus colossally taxed because certain multi-millionaires put up the money which re-elected Mr. McKinley to the presidency.

Viewed from the standpoint of the taxpayers of the United States, the present situation of the ship subsidy bill is gratifying. It will be materially improved if the present congress now in session shall adjourn sine die with the bill still awaiting action. It will be improved even more if the succeeding congress shall defeat the bill. For the thing is a subsidy steal, out and out, and would have been defeated long ago if the American government were not now under the domination of syndicate influences.—St. Louis Republic.

The Billion Behemoth.

Although the figures are somewhat staggering in their vast volume, there is really no ground for surprise at Wall streets estimates that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan will personally make a profit of over $25,000,000 on his deal to consolidate the great steel industries of this country.

You must remember that is a billion dollar trust which this man is organizing. Pause just a moment and try to realize what a billion dollars means in its possibilities of power and vast enrichment for the men who deal in such colossal amounts. Then, when you turn to the $25,000,000 which Mr. Morgan is thought to have cleared at the very outset of the deal, your original feeling of surprise will have vanished. It's a mere bagatelle, this little $25,000,000.

And, dismissing this initial rakeoff with a wave of the hand, turn again to a contemplation of the steel "combine" which represents the consolidation of one billion dollars for monopoly purposes. What is not possible to such a combine? What chance may labor or lesser capital or individual manufacturers possess against this behemoth? What show of fair prices, regulated by the law of supply and demand, will the buyer of this trust's products find in the monopolized markets? These questions are worth while thinking over. The billion dollar steel trust is so big that it casts an ominous shadow across the face of the entire industrial world.—St. Louis Republic.

A WOMAN'S MINE.

Mrs. Adams, of Boise, Idaho, Made it Pay.

Mrs. Hortense Adams, of Boise, Idaho, passed through the city yesterday on her way to New York, to close a deal for the Ironside mine of Boise district, Idaho, for $250,000 cash.

Mrs. Adams is a unique personality. She is probably the only woman in the United States who has discovered a valuable mining property, developed it to a paying basis and sold it for a sum approximating $250,000.

The mine is located about 12 miles from Boise and was discovered by Mrs. Adams under peculiar circumstances. She is a widow still on the sunny side of forty, and a few years ago attended a picnic of some society of Boise. The lunch was spread on a flat rock and to the inquiring mind of Mrs. Adams it was soon apparent that the rock which served as a table was different in appearance from that of the neighboring ground. She put a piece in her pocket and had it assayed in Boise, with the result that a few days afterward she located a group of claims and commenced their development.

The results were beyond her expectations. She opened a vein of high grade sulphides which ran from $40 to $60 per ton. A block of this ore about four feet square and weighing a ton was brought to Denver and exhibited at the rooms of the old Mining Bureau, of this city, in the hope of attracting capital to the enterprise, and the energetic lady during her trips to this city was surrounded by local miners three deep. Mr. Ingersoll, secretary of the bureau, went to Idaho and started the opening of the mine for her, but as soon as she caught on to the system Mr. Ingersoll was discharged and she assumed the management herself.—Denver Times.

The Country Editor.

One of the highest tributes ever paid, if not the very highest, to a most deserving class of people, is that of Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine, to the country editor. In discussing the subject of postage on newspapers the senator from Maine remarked of the country editor: "He is a packhorse of every community, the promoter of every laudable enterprise, the worst underpaid laborer in the vineyard. Counting his space as capital, he gives more to charity, his means considered, than any other member of society. He is a power in politics, a pillar of the church, a leader in the crusade for better morals. He is pre-eminently the friend of humanity. Line upon line, paragraph upon paragraph, day by day, he is embalming in cold type facts from which the Herodotus, Tacitus, Sismondi, Macauley of the future, will write the history of our times. He fully chronicles our advent into the world, briefly notes our uprisings and our downittings, and sorrowfully records our exit.

We are all more or less—generally more—his handiwork, and the creature should not be ungrateful to his creator. Without his generous and enthusiastic labors most of us would never have been here; and, when he tires of us, most of us will return to private life amid rural scenes propitious for secret meditation and silent prayer. Working night and day during the campaign, when the election is over and the time comes for distribution of the loaves and fishes—now vulgarly called pie—by some strange lapse of memory he is generally forgotten.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1901.

The Cuban amendment to the army appropriation bill, which had the remarkable merit of being approved as a whole by all the senators regardless of party, left Mr. McKinley no choice. He was compelled to announce the abandonment of his intention to call an early extra session of congress. The amendment leaves nothing in connection with Cuba to call an extra session for. But his heart is true to Hanna and the ship subsidy job, and he will not wait until the next regular session of congress to get it through, if any reasonable excuse for calling an extra session can be discovered in the next four or five months.

Much thoughtless criticism of democratic senators is heard because they did not prevent a vote on the Philippine amendment—making Mr. McKinley "Ruler of the seas"—to the army appropriation bill, and some very ridiculous stories are being told as to why they did not. Few democrats who will consider the situation as it was will admit the justice of this criticism. It is perfectly true that the democratic senators could easily have spent the short remainder of this session in discussing this amendment, which is unquestionably bad and vicious legislation. But that would have thrown the responsibility for the failure of the army and other appropriation bills and the consequent necessary extra session on the democrats. It was not fear that caused the democratic senators to avoid that responsibility, but good political sense. The Hanna-McKinley crowd are fairly itching for an excuse for an extra session, because in the next congress there will be a much larger republican majority in the senate, in order to pass the ship subsidy bill and other jobs which the democrats have successfully blocked in this congress, and the democratic senators declined to play into their hands, knowing that even if they did so it would only make a difference of a few weeks in the date of the act giving Mr. McKinley autocratic civil power in the Philippines. In exposing the viciousness of the Philippine amendment, which they did thoroughly, the democratic senators did all that could be expected of the minority. The majority is responsible for legislation.

Senator Allen's denunciation of Admiral Sampson for having written a letter opposing the promotion of warrant officers in the navy because they had not enjoyed the social advantages which he considered requisite for a commissioned officer in the navy was one of the most severe ever heard on the floor of the senate, but it was fully deserved, and it is hoped will be an effectual bar to any further promotion of Sampson. Mr. Allen said: "If William T. Sampson is the author of those endorsements he is a conceited ass and he ought to be marked down as such. We are not bringing up in this country a race of snobs. If I am correctly informed, there was a time when Sampson was no better than Charles Morgan, the gunner. He came from no better stock. I am glad to repeat that we are not raising in the U. S. a class of brass jeweled aristocrats. If this rank and arrogant coward is to be believed, the time may never come in this country when a poor boy may attain to such a position as his abilities warrant him in holding. I want to say to Sampson and to his friends that I am responsible for what I say." In the house the matter was referred to by Representative Berry, of Kentucky, who said that Sampson was of extremely humble origin himself, and whatever refinement he had obtained was due to his service in the navy, and Sulzer, of New York, who, after strongly endorsing all that had been said by Mr. Berry, had read a newspaper clipping denouncing Sampson, which he also endorsed.

There was a sensational scene on the floor of the house this week, and nothing but blind partisanship saved Speaker Henderson from being censured by a resolution offered by Representative Richardson, for having exceeded his authority by having a speech on the Philippines which Representative Lentz has sent to the government printing office for publication in the congressional record, under a general "leave to print" order of the house, sent to him instead of being printed, and for turning the same over to Representative Grosvenor, supposedly to be edited. By a party vote of 127 to 115 the house refused to consider the resolution of censure. While the matter was pending and the house was in a great uproar, Mr. Lentz said in a speech demanding why his speech had not been published: "Is my speech to be edited? Is congress to have a censorship such as exists in the Philippine islands? I supposed every member had the right to have his speech printed in record, but my speech has been withheld by some one." Later the speech was handed to Mr. Lentz on the floor of the house, but he declined to receive it, and demanded that it be returned to the government printing office, from where it had wrongfully been taken in order that it might appear in the record. He had his way, too.

"Comrade" Hanna should help to settle the wrangle which is on between the G. A. R., in which he now holds a commission, and the grand marshal of the inaugural parade, who has assigned others to the duty of escorting Mr. McKinley to the capitol to be sworn in. Officers of the G. A. R. say they will not parade at all unless they can be Mr. McKinley's escort, and the grand marshal says that they shall not be. Gen. Dan Sickles, who was to have been marshal of the veteran division, has asked to be relieved and given notice that there will be no veteran organizations in the parade. The trouble is that the veterans are not showy enough to meet the imperial ideas of Gen. Greene, the grand marshal, whose ideas are much more gorgeous since he joined the asphalt trust than they used to be when he was an army officer.

A Spotless Skin

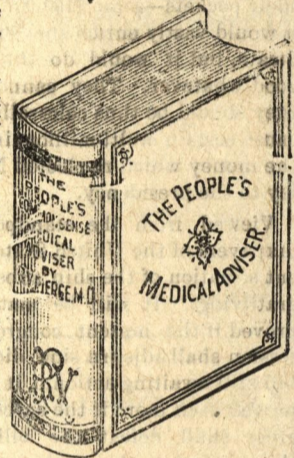

And a clear complexion are desired by every woman and admired by every man. Many a physical defect may be hidden by the aid and art of fashion. But there is no art can hide the blemishes which mark and mar the skin. The usual cause of eruptions, pimples, boils and similar blemishes, is an impure condition of the blood. For this reason lotions or washes applied externally can never cure the defect. Indeed they often aggravate the disease after a time, and render the skin more sensitive and irritable. The one thing which will cleanse the skin and brighten the complexion is pure blood, and this means that the blood must be cleansed from the corrupting causes of disease. This blood cleansing and purifying is perfectly accomplished by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It entirely eliminates from the blood the poisonous elements by which eruptions are originated and perpetuated. It makes pure blood and pure blood makes a pure complexion.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic. It is a purely vegetable preparation, and cannot disagree with the weakest system when used as directed.

Do not experiment with other medicines. There is no experiment in the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It stands on its record of cures. It is an experiment to try a substitute medicine, because there is no evidence of curative power behind it which compares with that behind the "Discovery."

"For about one year and a half my face was badly broken out," writes Miss Carrie Adams, of 116 West Main Street, Battlecreek, Mich. "I spent a great deal of money with doctors and for different kinds of medicine, but received no benefit. At last I read one of your advertisements in a paper, and obtained a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before I had taken one bottle of this medicine I noticed a change, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured."

Free. The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, and over 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to cover expense of mailing only. It is a book for every woman, old or young, married or single, who wishes to make the most and best of life. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered book, or 31 stamps for cloth binding. STATE PRESS OPINION

When Gov. Rogers speaks to the legislature his words can not be misconstrued and are not minced.—Cheney Free Press.

It is hard to whip republics, as Great Britain and the United States have both found out, and as many other nations who tried to conquer them in the past have also found out. Republics have always had an amazing vitality.—Olympia Standard.

Considering that Guy Robertson, a Seattle university senior, was knocked out in a bare knuckles mill by a junior, it is to be presumed that the seniors have been considerably guyed by the young upstarts of the school.—Walla Walla Union.

The state legislature has been in session forty days, and while it has had no United States senator to elect. It seems to have accomplished very little.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

There is no seeming about it, it is a fact.—Everett News.

The fight in the house over the Thurston county court house purchase was one of prime importance. The success of Ruth's measure meant the permanent settlement of the capitol building question—while its defeat left the matter open for future strife such as has been carried on for the last four years.—Seattle Times.

Since the result of the senatorial election in Oregon, we find the Oregonian given to poetry and supporting a woman in a more or less fierce contest for school director of Multnomah county. The world is not after all so dark as we had thought.—Vancouver Register.

The tariff war with Russia, into which the administration has dragged this country, may be a very serious affair; and it is not calculated to increase the people's respect for the administration to know that its beginning was prompted by favoritism toward the sugar trust.—Chehalis Advocate.

There should be a halt called on the nefarious method of holding up law-breakers in this city. Either close up gambling or let it alone. If the city authorities are willing to accept the monthly bonuses from the gamblers, then they should at least give them some protection. Do one or the other; either shut up or quit holding up.—Seattle Review.

We cannot but admire the frankness of the Republicans in the state senate in discussing the legislative apportionment bill. Senator Wilshire declared that he had "no disposition to be fair with the minority," while Senator Crow said "this is a republican legislature, and the republicans should secure all advantages." The way they have increased the representation in some republican districts, regardless of insufficient population, looks like they were afraid an equitable apportionment might leave them in the minority in the next legislature.—Mt. Vernon Argus.

The Troubles of Our Eden.

Of Uncle Sam's first disobedience and the fruit Of that forbidden tree, whose mortal taste Brought trouble to our land and, also, shame.

Professor Becker, of the United States geological survey, reports from the Philippines that he has become convinced that the Garden of Eden was located somewhere in those islands—most probably in Luzon. Is it any wonder, then, that so much trouble has risen, and is still rising, to give us shame from that corner of the earth? In truth, our troubles in those distant isles may well be paralleled and illustrated in an allegory of Eden.

Uncle Sam and the Goddess of Victory providentially find themselves in Luzon. Samuel had never heard of the place before, but he found it a wonderful and beautiful country—a veritable garden spot, abounding in many pleasant fruits whereof they both might eat, especially of the fruits of commerce and of kindness, for all the creatures of the land were grateful that they came, and looked to them for further help and counsel. There was one tree, only, of which they might not eat—the tree of sovereignty; for that belonged to the creatures of the land—and Samuel himself had often said so. But Victory, being tempted by the serpent Avarice, said: "Let us enjoy sovereignty, also, for it is ours if we but take it; and we shall be as the great rulers of the earth, and through this garden shall hold the door to China and the golden east, and shall wax great and rule the world for good." And Samuel answered, while his soul misgave him; "And perchance for evil!" But Victory, with her mailed hand, took the fruit; and Samuel, tempted to Victory, took also, and ate of it; and lo! a voice is thundering through the garden, and there is a cherubim with a flaming sword, whose name is Liberty and against whom Samuel cannot stand, neither can Victory, nor yet Death.—Sumner Herald.

A Royal Egotist.

In his maiden speech before parliament, last Monday week, King Edward VII voluminously indulged in such expressions as "My troops in Southern Africa," "My Interests in India," etc., much to the nervous unrest of many an old veteran who had borne the burden and heat of the day years before the lately exalted scion of royalty was born. An Olympia hardware clerk was a little more considerate a few years ago, for he began at the lower end of the ladder. When first employed he was accustomed to say, "No, sir; Mr. Williams has not the article you want, but he will have it in a few days." Pretty soon it was "No, sir, we have not the article, etc. When finally he was promoted and his wages increased, it was a bland, "No, sir, I have not the article you want, but I will have it in a few days." So much for the trend of poor human nature.—Olympia Standard.

Whither are We Drifting.

J. Pierpont Morgan and John D. Rockefeller control between them properties valued at about three billions of dollars. It is just possible that Rockefeller is the moving spirit behind Morgan, in which it would appear that one syndicate controlled by one man besides absorbing the oil and the steel business of the country, might in a short while acquire control of the sugar trust, the salt, and beef trusts—indeed, of all the necessities of life—and then consolidate the railroads of the country.

The formation of a number of trusts was bad enough, but now that the trusts have begun to gobble one another, it is like a war of the worlds, with no telling what will be the outcome. That the greed of the billionaires will bring them to grief some day, is reasonably certain; and they are surely tempting fate in thus drifting towards one gigantic corporation that will control everything and hold millions of people in bondage.—Walla Walla Argus.

Influence of the Press.

The members of the Correspondents' club, of New York, have recently invited an expression of opinion by distinguished men all over the country as to the present status and future possibilities of the newspaper press, and have made public the many replies which they have received in response to that request. Taking the great majority of these replies together, it appears that the writers are in substantial agreement as to the qualities which the press of the country should exhibit in order to increase their influence; and these are in order named—truth, sobriety, fairness and competency. The most precise statement of these requisites to extend the influence of the press is given by Whitelaw Reid, who says:

"By the most scrupulous effort in giving the news to tell the exact truth, without exaggeration and without guess work, and by discussion based upon fair minded study, and conducted with the courtesy that commands a respectful hearing."

It is but fair to state that, with the exception of a few notoriously sensational newspapers, whose influence has never been worth mentioning, the great majority of the newspapers of the United States are today earnestly and honestly seeking to live up to this ideal. It is also true that the newspapers of today, with the exceptions noted, are approaching nearer to that ideal than ever before.—Seattle P.-I.

A Republican Wall.

During the final five days of the legislative session it will be the duty of the governor to clean the Augean stables. The pet measures involving personal interests, the extravagant appropriations, the questionable bills, should be vetoed right and left. The people must depend upon the governor to have a conscience, to do the right thing and to save the reputation of the state.—Tacoma News.

Wouldn't that jar you, to have a republican newspaper appealing to a democratic governor to do the right thing and save the reputation of the state from the fool legislation of the republicans. Only a few years ago we were informed by these same republicans that the state's credit would be ruined to elect such a man as Rogers governor.—Everett News.

AN EXPOSITION BOOKLET.

Another Fine Production from the Bureau of Publicity of the Pan-American at Buffalo.

We are in receipt of another of the beautiful booklets from the bureau of publicity of the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, N. Y. It consists of 16 pages and a cover in light green. The unique feature of it is the miniature reproduction of the famous poster, "The Spirit of Niagara," which has had a remarkable demand. The envelope in which the poster booklet is mailed also bears a reproduction of this artistic work. The booklet is a popular picture book, the first page having an engraving of the magnificent Electric Tower, which is 391 feet high, and which will form the glorious center piece of the great exposition. On the same page is a miniature of one of the torch bearers which will adorn the wings of the electric tower, and beside it a picture of Niagara Falls. The second page shows a picture of the electricity building and five other small illustrations of the uses of electricity. The third page shows the splendid group of buildings erected by the national government and which will contain the government exhibit, also five miniature illustrations, one of them showing the life saving station, where exhibitions will be given daily by a picked crew of ten men, during the exposition. The fourth page is devoted to the wonderful displays of government ordnance; the fifth to the machinery and transportation building and four other illustrations of modern machines and vehicles. The center of the booklet shows a birdseye view of the exposition, and gives one some idea of the great extent of the enterprise upon which about $10,000,000 is being expended. The grounds contain 350 acres, being half a mile wide, and a mile and a quarter long. Other pages show horticulture, graphic arts and mines, manufactures and liberal arts, the music temple, the Plaza and its beautiful surroundings, the stadium or athletic field, the agricultural, live stock and ethnology features, and a few of the 30 or 40 ingenious and novel exhibits which promise to make the midway the most wonderful that has ever been prepared for exposition visitors. The last page shows a ground plan of the exposition, whereon the location of different buildings is indicated. The railroads will make low rates from all parts of the country during the exposition, which opens May 1st and continues six months, and the people of Buffalo are preparing to entertain comfortably the millions who will attend. Anyone desiring a copy of this booklet may have it free by addressing the Pan-American Bureau of Publicity.

A VISIT TO SUNNYDALE RANCH

Pencil-Pushers Take a Day off and Hie Themselves to the Wenas.

In response to a cordial invitation extended recently by Mr. J. M. Arrington, to visit him at his pleasant country home in the Wenas the DEMOCRAT scribe in company with Col. W. W. Robertson of the Republic, set off hopefully for Sunnydale ranch on Wednesday morning. G. A. Graham, the well known N. P. potentate at this place, was to have made the third member of the visiting party, but as his official duties precluded him leaving his office on the day mentioned he was regretfully left behind.

On arrival at the cosy home of Mr. and Mrs. Arrington and a hearty welcome had been received from the jovial host, a tour of inspection of the place was begun, which extended over the alfalfa meadow and the young and thrifty 55-acre orchard growing on the farm, much of which is now beginning to bear fruit. Sunnydale ranch contains in all 240 acres, which aside from the orchard is mostly devoted to meadow and pasture.

Mr. Arrington explained to his guests how he had succeeded in rearing his thrifty orchard with only a minimum supply of water for use in irrigation. This result was achieved by constant turning of the soil by using either a disc harrow or a planet jr. cultivator, the ground being given no opportunity to bake or crack thus allowing the moisture underneath to remain largely where needed.

The owner of Sunnydale ranch has been making an earnest and most commendable effort during the past year to procure a flow of artesian water, but as yet without success. A hole was sunk to the depth of 400 feet, when unfortunately a piece of casing became fast in the well and further efforts had to be abandoned. The water, however, arose to a depth of 250 feet, which fact induced the owner to put in a deep well pump which is operated when the water is needed for irrigation by a 10-horse power traction engine which is a necessary part of the well boring machinery. The well will furnish 30,000 gallons of water per hour, which can be made to answer the necessities of the ranch until a natural flow is secured. A second well has been started 10 feet distant from the first and is now down 350 feet, work on it has been abandoned for the present, but will be resumed later.

The visitors were informed that many evidences of a subterranean flow of oil were obtained in the sinking of these wells. In certain deposits pierced the earth on being allowed to dry presented a gummy appearance—as all oil sand is said to do. The workmen also claimed they could at times detect the presence of oil in the water pumped out.

An inspection of the blooded stock on the ranch was next made, which included some full blood Jersey cattle which were much admired. The poultry came next which include beautiful Black Minorcas and White Brahmas from the Hazlewood stock in Spokane.

By this time the noonday meal was announced and the hungry scribes were taken in out of the cold and well fed. The repast in fact was a most elegant one and was certainly most creditable to the charming hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Arrington moved over from their Seattle home on Dec. 5th, and in spite of bad weather and other drawbacks, had their tasty new house completed and were comfortably settled therein by Jan. 10th.

The time at last came for a reluctant departure and the weary pencil-pushers as they jogged back to town through the mud, agreed that the well ordered life of a farmer was after all the most satisfactory and independent one to lead, and mutually resolving to save their money henceforth and buy a farm.

THE CITY SCHOOLS.

Art Exhibition Planned for Mch. 11-15 at Congregational Church.

The school art benefit exhibition pictures of famous European and American artists to be held in the Congregational church March 11 to 16, is rapidly growing in interest among the school children and citizens.

Mr. Omes, of Spokane, art dealer and importer from whom the loan is obtained writes, "I will bring to your place a much larger and finer collection than I exhibited in Spokane last fall where the school authorities are urging a second exhibition soon. The showing will benefit all your citizens. I will display some colored pictures and will have low priced pictures as well as expensive ones."

Mr. Omes will be here in person to put up the exhibit, explain pictures and attend to sales. The profits go to the school for the purchase of pictures for study. Let no one fail to see the exhibit. The advance sale of tickets has so far been most satisfactory. The schools confidently hope for the sale of 3000 tickets before the exhibit opens.

MAKING IT UP.

Mandy an me fell out today;
Both of us wuz to blame, I guess.
I got riled, an I said my say,
An she put a word in, more or less.
So, as I started for town, thinks I,
"She'll come round an make up by noon;"
So I tried to whistle an put it by,
But somehow the music wuz out of tune.

Some of the bitter things she said
By an by to my memory come,
Till I couldn't get 'em out of my head
An hardened my heart as I started home.
I took my time, so 'twas pretty late
When I cleared the pasture an reached the stile,
An I missed her meetin me at the gate,
As she did to please me, once in awhile.

Thinks I, "She's puttin on airs," an so
I told myself that I didn't care.
An closed the gate with a bang to show
That I wuz the lord an the master there!
I stamped right into her tidy room
An stood there a minute, too 'shamed to speak;
She sat alone in the twilight gloom,
An the tears wuz wet on her careworn cheek.

An in her hands wuz some little things
We had laid away 'bout a year ago
When our baby changed 'em for angel wings—
(An our hearts nigh broke, 'cause we missed him so).
I knelt beside her, an in her lap
I laid my head, as the child might do,
Who had worn the tidy, faded cap
She held, an the little worn out shoe.

I thought of all that us two had borne,
I looked at the empty trundle bed,
An my kisses fell on the garments worn
That were stained with the tears we both had shed.
I held her close, an I tried to speak
Of love an comfort as best I could;
I pressed my lips to her tear wet cheek,
An Mandy an me made up for good.

Bona Fide "American."

Eduard Remenyi, the Hungarian violinist, was very entertaining and so full of fun that he would have made a tiptop Irishman. He was at home in the gypsy music of his own country, and this was the main characteristic of his playing. He had also a fad for playing Schubert melodies on the violin with the most attenuated pianissimo effects, and occasionally his hearers would listen intently after the tone had ceased, imagining that they still heard a "trace" of it.

Not long before leaving Weimar I had some fun with him by asking if he had ever heard "any bona fide American spoken." He replied that he did not know there was such a language. "Well," said I, "listen to this for a specimen: 'Ching-a-ling-a-dar-dee, Chebung cum Susan.'" I did not meet him again until 1878, 24 years after leaving Weimar. I was going up stairs to my studio in the Steinway building when some one told me that Remenyi had arrived and was rehearsing for his concert in one of the rooms above. So, going up, I followed the sounds of the violin, gave a quick knock, opened the door and went in. Remenyi looked at me for a moment, rushed forward and seized my hand and as he wrong it cried out: "Ching-a-ling-a-dar-dee, Chebung cum Susan!" He had remembered it all those years. — Dr. William Mason in Century.

When Tea Was Dear.

The use of tea is said to have been introduced into China itself from Korea about the fourth century of the Christian era, and to have extended to Japan about the ninth century. Tea first became known to Europeans about 1610. The first reference to it by a native of Britain is in a letter dated June 27, 1615, written by a Mr. Wickham, which is in the records of the East India company. From this time it became gradually known to the wealthy inhabitants of London, fetching sometimes as much as £10 the pound and never less than £5. Samuel Pepys records his first "cup of tea" Sept. 25, 1660. Tea at this period was imported from Holland and generally sold for 60 shillings per pound till the East India company took up the trade.—London Standard.

Henry C. Kohls, of Shakopee, Minn., on Friday purchased the interest of Casper Schott in the Schott Shoe Co., and will hereafter carry on the business in company with his brother George.

All arrangements are now complete for the school art exhibit to be given next week in the Congregational church. The exhibition will open on Monday and will continue throughout the week. Short programs will be rendered each evening by local talent.

After a troubled and precarious existence of less than four months, the Yakima Daily News turned up its toes to the daisies on Thursday. Mr. Pinney representing the American Type Founders Co., of Portland arrived on Wednesday and formally took over the plant. It is understood that it will be shipped back to Portland. Col. Maxwell as yet is somewhat undecided as to his future, but will probably conclude to remove to The Dalles.

A number of Yakima valley farmers who make the production of potatoes a specialty are figuring on an entire change of seed this spring. There is no disguising the fact that the once famous Yakima Burbank stock is about played out as the market reports clearly indicate. As spuds form a considerable part of Yakima's export product it is to be hoped that the growers will all see that it is to their advantage to entirely change their seed this season.

Tacoma for once has scored against Seattle. The city of destiny's bid for the lease of a warehouse and wharf to be used as headquarters for government shipping was accepted at Washington on Thursday, over that of Seattle. This means that all government vessels plying to Alaska and the Orient will hereafter outfit at Tacoma instead of Seattle as has been the case heretofore. The Tacoma papers are highly elated over the award, while the Seattle papers have little to say on the subject.

The many friends in this section of Attorney Fred Miller will be pleased to learn of the deserved success which the young man is earning in his new home in Spokane. We understand that the legal firm of which he is the junior member, recently won a damage suit in the supreme court on a contingent fee, securing for their client a verdict of $50,000. The defendant in the suit is said to be a millionaire mine owner, while the plaintiff was a laboring man who was crippled for life in his service.

The Nurse.

The care of the sick can scarcely reach its highest ideal save where personal attachment supplements knowledge and skill. Therefore, it belongs to the life of every woman. There are few households indeed where any girl can grow up without some opportunities for this experience. Such opportunities may well be supplemented by lectures, courses of reading and well planned demonstrations. If every woman could (as she should) under ordinary circumstances undertake the care of the sick in her own home, this would but accentuate the value and raise the status of the "born nurses" who, never happy save in the special exercise of their gift, would then quite suffice for hospital cases and the grand occasions of major operations. The sight of the cap and veil of the hired trained nurse when imported into a household with women members scarcely raises one's idea of the family morale!—Chambers Journal.

APPORTIONMENT BILL, VETO

Full Text of the Veto Sent in by Gov. Rogers.

State of Washington, executive department.

OLYMPIA, March 4, 1901.

To the Honorable,
The senate and the house of the State of Washington.

Gentlemen—I herewith return, without my approval, senate bill No. 9, entitled: "An act to redistrict and reapportion the members of the senate and house of representatives of the State of Washington."

The increase in membership of the state legislature, numbering 22, provided for in this bill, will largely add to the cost of governing the state and materially augment the difficulties incident to legislation. This increase in legislative membership is entirely disproportionate to our population and wealth, when compared with that of other states, far exceeding ours in these particulars, and in my opinion is unnecessary and uncalled for by the people.

An even more serious objection is the fact that the allotment of senators and representatives made is not in accordance with the population of the state, as required by the constitution, the apportionment made giving certain parts and portions of the state undue advantage and restricting others, in the matter of legislative membership, thus vitiating at the very fountain head of law the equity of future legislation in the State of Washington.

Resp. submitted,
JOHN R. ROGERS, Governor.

STEER BY THE STAR.

Night on the sea, and one lone ship
In the midst of the darkness there;
A trackless waste spread all about,
And the blackness everywhere.
But gleaming in the sky above
Are seen the beacons of the night,
Set there to guide that lonely ship
Across the pathless sea aright.

The waves roll high and toss the ship,
A plaything on their turbid crest;
The sea lifts up its eager arms
And opens wide its heaving breast.
But safely still the vessel rides,
For one there is who guides aright,
Because his eyes are fixed upon
Those faithful beacons of the night.

No vessel sailing o'er life's sea
But safely may the harbor find
If the Great Beacon of the sky
Be ever kept in sight and mind.
The light at times may shine but dim,
The way seem dark, the harbor far,
But he cannot get off the course
Who guides his vessel by the Star.

THE CITY LEGISLATURE

Paving of Yakima Avenue Ordered—S. Chappell Elected Street Commissioner.

The city fathers met in regular session Monday evening and disposed of a large amount of accumulated business; Mayor Fechter presided and all the aldermen were present except Lombard.

After reading the minutes of the preceding meeting the written resignation of Alderman Sam Chappell was read and on motion of Sinclair was accepted. The Mayor in a few well chosen words expressed the regret of himself and the council on his retirement.

Among the petitions read was one from G. W. Sutton and others asking for the appointment of a building inspector, and one from the residents of North Third street asking that a side walk be laid on that street.

The application of Alex Miller for a building permit to construct a two-story brick structure on lots 3 and 4, block 50, was read and placed on file.

The report of Police Judge Taggard for the month of February was read and showed a total of $202 collected in fines. The sexton's report showed seven burials for the month and $39 in collections.

Marshal Boyte read his own report which was somewhat voluminous in extent. The work accomplished for the month was narrated in detail.

The written statement of ex-Marshall Grant regarding the collection of poll taxes for the past year, was read and referred to the finance committee.

Chairman Hall of the street and ditch committee reported that he had ordered 500 shade trees from Oregon, for street planting. Alderman Sinclair moved that the sum of $65 be appropriated to construct a bridge across the Union ditch on Sixth street. The motion was opposed by Hall who wanted instead an underground flume, but on a vote being taken the motion of Sinclair prevailed.

Bills for salaries due the different officials were then read and having been audited by the finance committee were ordered paid.

A resolution of intention for the grading of Yakima avenue from Natches easterly to the city limits, was then read and passed by unanimous vote. A second resolution providing for the paving or macadamizing of Yakima avenue from Front street to Natches avenue was reported and was likewise passed by unanimous vote. The estimated cost of this latter improvement was placed at $7000.

The returns of the special election held on Feb. 25 were then formally canvassed. The result showed that 85 votes had been cast of which 54 favored the disincorporation of Park addition, while 32 were against. A resolution prepared by City Attorney Snyder, formally disincorporating Park addition was passed by the council.

The matter of electing a street commissioner for the ensuing year was then taken up and the written applications of Messrs. Chappell, Leach, Oliver and C. M. Hauser were read. The first ballot gave Chappell two and the others one vote each. The second ballot gave Chappell three and Leach and Hauser one each. Mr. Chappell having received a majority was declared elected by the mayor.

On motion of Alderman Shaw the council then proceeded to the election of an alderman from the Third ward to fill the place left vacant by the retirement of Mr. Chappell. Shaw nominated County Clerk Geo. L. Allen to fill the place and that gentleman was elected by a unanimous vote.

A. E. Larson, a member of the school board, appeared before the council and asked that the street commissioner be instructed to remove a rock pile from in front of the Columbia school building. He was supplemented by Chas. Krause who complained that the west side had never received considerate treatment from the city authorities. The street commissioner was instructed to remove the rock pile.

A. P. Oliver said that he had come to make a kick also. He stated that some residents of North Seventh street had fenced up that thoroughfare and were farming it, and he wanted it to stop and the street restored to traffic. After a general laugh it was ordered that his request be complied with.

The report of E. G. Peck, who was employed to expert the books of City Treasurer Howard for the past year, was then read. It was shown that the work was thoroughly done and the results showed that the city was indebted to Mr. Howard in the sum of three cents.

Health Officer Frank addressed the council on the subject of quarantine regulations and the support of poor persons so quarantined. The board of health was instructed to interview the county commissioners and endeavor to make an arrangement whereby the county would stand one-half of the expense in small-pox cases.

The council then adjourned.
