Dear Click :

Enclosed is a letter which I hope will be of some use for your purpose.

On my trip I have seen your books on the shelves in many bookstores. Also have talked to many book dealers. I do hope it has done some good.

The copy of The Tragedy of the Wahk-shun which you gave me to give to some museum I still have. While in Tulsa I missed Mr. Gilcrease and also Forrest, the director of the Museum, was out of town, so I decided to keep it and give it to them on my next trip.

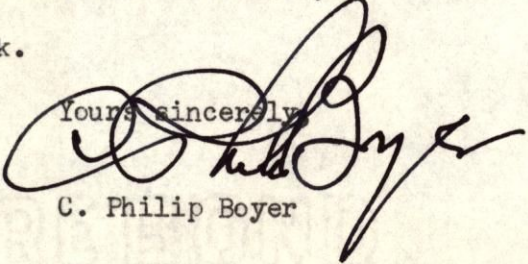

The books you have of Remington, Russell and Catlin, if you care to make a list of them and tell me what price you would like to have for them, I think we could come to some deal. You have also, a great many prints as well as the large size Russell. I would like also to have them.

This could be done two ways, either sell to me direct or give them to me on consignment. When you decide I would like to know as soon as possible.

If there is any thing I can do to be of any assistance please do not hesitate to write me. There is no charge to you at any time for any service I can be of to you.

With kind regards and good luck.

Yours sincerely,

C. Philip Boyer
