

WORK OF HIGHWAYMEN.

C. P. Brown Refuses to Give up his Money and is Shot by a Thug—Suspect is in Jail.

Deputy Sheriff Edwards was aroused from his bed at the court house about 1 o'clock Monday morning by a telephone call summoning him to Toppenish. He responded at once, and in company with Deputy Marshal Short proceeded at once to the town on the reservation.

On their arrival there they found that a young man who gave his name as Charles Brown had been shot. The wounded man being cared for at the Toppenish hotel. Dr. McCracken of Zillah, who was in attendance on the wounded man advised that he be brought to a hospital in this city at once in order that he might have better care. Brown told the officers the following story as to how he came to be shot:

He said that he had been working near Ellensburg and had made up his mind to come to this city. Thinking to save the fare he boarded a freight at Ellensburg Sunday night, getting on a coal car loaded with lumber. After settling himself comfortably he fell asleep and did not awaken until the train was leaving the yards of this city. He got off at Toppenish, the first stop and started up the track with his pack of blankets, looking for a hotel. After walking a short distance he came upon two men standing near the train whom he stopped to question. As he started to move on one of the fellows called to him. As he turned around one of the men held a pistol at his head and said, "We want your money."

Brown had on his person about $250 in money, which he had worked hard for. He didn't care to give it up so he concluded to make a run for his money. He tried to dodge behind a freight car, but before he did so the highwayman fired, the bullet striking Brown in the right side and lodging, as it is believed, in the bowels. Brown though badly hurt, kept on running until he reached the depot, where he met the night operator and told him what had happened. Just then a burly looking man walked in and accosted the wounded man, asking him how it happened. Brown said he recognized the man at a glance as the fellow who had held the pistol on him. He therefore said to the fellow, "You ought to know all about it for you was there." This angered the fellow and shaking his fist at the wounded man told him to withdraw the accusation or he would break his face. Brown therefore felt obliged to take back what he said.

The east bound Burlington train pulled in and the hobo ran out and went aboard. The operator saw Sheriff Grant aboard on his way to Spokane and hurriedly told him the story. The two then went through the train in search of the hobo, but failed to find him, as the fellow had left the train and went to the hotel, where he ordered a room and went to bed. As the sheriff could not stop, as he was on his way to Spokane to secure a prisoner, he directed the operator to call up Deputy Sheriff Edwards in this city.

After getting the story Mr. Edwards went to the hotel where he questioned the night clerk and found that the suspect was in bed. He then went to the room placed the man under arrest and assisted by Deputy Short brought the prisoner, who gave his name as G. D. Williams, together with the wounded man Brown to this city on the 7 o'clock train. On their arrival here Williams was lodged in the county jail and Brown was taken to the Deaconess hospital where medical aid was promptly summoned for him. Brown's injuries are serious, and he may die.

Accidentally Shot.

C. E. Marks, who travels for the Yakima Tea company, took a shot at a rabbit while crossing the Horse Heaven country last Sunday, but the bullet went wide of the intended mark and eventually found a resting place in the knee of Lon Kinney, a Horse Heaven rancher, whom Mr. Marks did not see at the time, but of whom he was informed by a deputy sheriff later in the week.

Mr. Marks squared matters by convincing Mr. Kinney that the shot was accidental and by paying the surgeon's bill.

Declared Insane.

Deputy Sheriff Edwards accompanied by Jack Kauffman, took Frank Winchell to Medical Lake hospital, where he will undergo treatment for insanity. Mr. Winchell has not fully recovered from his recent illness, so it is to be hoped that he will soon recover his mental and physical health.

FINE PHYSICAL CONTEST.

Chris Larson, the Yakima Wrestler. Wins From James DeRay, the Middle Weight Champion of Canada.

The wrestling bout at the armory Thursday night between Chris Larson of this city and James DeRay, of Toronto, Canada, was a splendid physical contest from start to finish and was witnessed by a small but enthusiastic audience, about 150 lovers of good sport being present. The first fall was won by DeRay in 18 minutes and the second and third by Larson in 11 and 18 minutes respectively. The preliminary bout between L. E. Wood and Charles Irby, the ball player better known as "Blubber," was a very good amateur performance and was won by Wood. Irby secured the first fall in 11 minutes, Wood winning the second in six and the third in 11 minutes.

After the preliminary the principals in the main event were introduced by A. Wood. By mutual agreement Mr. Wood was selected as referee, the men shook hands and the battle was on. Both were very cautious at first, DeRay finally assuming the aggressive. The Canadian was a stranger here, but the audience soon got next to the fact that he understood the game, quick as a cat in his movements and cool all the while as an iceberg. His burly antagonist, however, was in the best of form and with the prestige of having twice beaten Prof. Lewis, was a favorite in the betting. DeRay won the first fall at the end of 18 minutes, finally getting his favorite hammerlock hold on his man and putting his shoulders to the mat.

The second fall was won by Larson in 11 minutes. It looked once or twice as though the local man was all but out of it, but his tremendous strength saved him at the critical moment. Before the beginning of the third round DeRay stepped to the center of the mat and announced that whether he won or lost this bout he was desirous of a return match with Larson about Thanksgiving day, on his return from Los Angeles, where he has a match on. Larson responded by saying that whether he won or lost, he would accept the challenge, a statement which brought forth cheers.

The third round opened with both men extremely cautious. Larson soon took the aggressive and began to mix matters. The Canadian, however, was as slippery as an eel and when the big fellow would seem to have him in chancery he would suddenly land at the top of the heap. It was a case of endurance, Larson finally winning the fall in 18 minutes amid the yells of the spectators.

It was a great contest between two splendid specimens of physical manhood and every man present felt that he had got his money's worth. The bout was for $100 a side, with 65 per cent of the gate receipts to go to the winner.

Many Stood in Line.

Three new township plats recently surveyed were received Tuesday at the local land office, namely: townships 18 and 19, north of range 16, east W. M., in the vicinity of Easton and township 15, north of range 19, east W. M., near Roza. The above mentioned townships were declared open for filing, at 9 o'clock Wednesday, Oct. 21, and as a result many stood in line all night Tuesday, in front of the land office so as not to lose their places in the line. The rush was so great that the clerks were compelled to issue numbered tickets in order to facilitate matters. The work of filing the applications was thus simplified and in 1 hour and 15 minutes after the doors were thrown open 46 applications had been received and filed.

Formed a Company.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the county auditor Wednesday of the newly organized Sunnyside Construction company. The capital stock is placed at $5,000 and the period of existence at five years. The object of the company is to build or facilitate the building of a line of railway in this county to leave the main line at or near Toppenish to the town of Prosser by way of Sunnyside. The incorporators and board of trustees for the first six months consist of the following: Walter N. Granger, Geo. P. Eaton, Morris Sisk, Wallace Goodsell, G. A. Ide, S. J. Harrison, C. W. Chamberlain, C. E. Woods, F. H. Gloyd and E. F. Benson.

A New Pass Discovered.

Jas. M. Courtwright and party, while going through the mountains into the Cowlitz coal fields, discovered what proved to be a new low pass across the Cascade range near the Cowlitz pass, but north of it. The new pass was found to be considerably less than 4000 feet, while Cowlitz pass is something over 5000 feet. It is so located as to shorten the distance from North Yakima to Tacoma about 50 miles should a road be constructed through it.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The republican press of the country continues to keep busy in the arduous and thankless task of selecting the next democratic nominee for the presidency. 'Tis a fact of course sad to relate, that the great effort made by the brethren along this line is totally unappreciated by the democratic masses, but that can make no great difference with the republican organ grinders as they are engaged in the discharge of a public duty and they mean to do it well.

The Portland Oregonian, with its heretical belief in free trade quite naturally espouses the cause of Grover Cleveland, assuming that the discarded prophet is again the man of the hour, the only man, in fact, who has the ability to again lead the still untried, but divided hosts of democracy to yet another victory. On the other hand, we find the Seattle P.-I., which unlike the Oregonian, is an habitual advocate of extreme protection, ship subsidy steal and all, also engaged in sounding the praises of the Princeton fisherman. That paper, which for years was wont to ridicule the high sounding phrases in the labored speeches and essays of the now ex-president, as "rot" and "dreary platitudes," now quotes his latest utterances with marked approval, testifying in its comments thereon to the wisdom and greatness of the man who once wielded a power greater than that of most kings, but who is now merely a private citizen, an humble toiler in the cause of good government.

Such a policy on the part of republican papers can hardly be explained on the ground of gratitude for past favors, as much as their party is indebted to Mr. Cleveland for gratitude is a scarce commodity in modern politics. It must be then that there is an ulterior motive and that motive a desire as republicans to have the ex-president again nominated. This is the logical conception of their attitude and the only reasonable one that we can conceive.

That Grover Cleveland is again a candidate for the democratic nomination, no close student of current political events can refuse to believe. That an organized, though secret movement having its headquarters in Wall street is already on foot all over the country with the object of creating public sentiment favorable to the nomination of Mr. Cleveland ought not to longer be ignored by democrats who believe that their party should continue to stand for principle and not for pelf; who object to the party of the common people again becoming the hand maiden of plutocracy and organized greed as it was to a great extent during Cleveland's last administration. Another such experience as that would effectually put the party out of business.

Roosevelt is distrusted in Wall street, which is natural enough when we consider the antics of the man. He is most industriously engaged in the attempt to carry water on both shoulders in his efforts to secure another term. What Wall street wants is a fixed policy in government dictated by itself. Roosevelt is to full of pranks and notions to be relied upon, although as yet he has done little to offend the magnates, but in his own inimitable way he would be apt to become offensive, they argue, should he get started on another term.

No man in this country commands the respect of Wall street as does Grover Cleveland. He has been thoroughly tried by the magnates and found not wanting. What could be more natural then that they should support him heartily, although disguisedly. The once great Harper's Weekly, now owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, says that Cleveland is the greatest man in America today and the only one who can hope to cope successfully with Theodore Roosevelt next year. This opinion is shared by the Post, the Brooklyn Eagle and other papers and magazines, which in late years have drawn their political inspiration from Wall street.

Added to this powerful support are a number of gold democratic papers like the Chicago Chronicle and lesser lights, that have been barking continuously for over seven years in Cleveland's honor and last, but not least, almost the entire republican press, the members of which are probably laughing in their sleeves at Grover's candidacy.

The Democrat is not an alarmist, but being a real democrat regards it as fitting that its readers should know of the concerted efforts being made thus early to force the nomination of a thoroughly discredited leader upon the party. Democrats, be on your guard!

SENATOR WARREN W. TOLMAN of Spokane, who is as good a democrat as walks in shoe leather in this state has written a letter to the Seattle Mail and Herald defining the attitude which the democracy of this state has always assumed and will doubtless continue to take. The letter follows:

"In a struggle between the people upon one side and the corporations and their lobbyists upon the other, there can be no doubt as to which side the democratic party should espouse. If democracy means anything, the party must in the future, as in the past, be upon the side of the plain people. That some portion of the republican party should try to get upon the side of the people, or should attempt to make it so appear, for campaign purposes, could not in any way change the duty of the democracy. No matter what the republican platform declares on this subject, no matter whom they may nominate for governor, the only hope of accomplishing anything lies in the democratic party. That this is true was amply demonstrated by the history of the past year. Did not the last republican state platform declare for a railroad commission? Were not both houses of the legislature republican by a two-thirds majority? Was not Gov. McBride in the executive chair? What more need be expected if re-elected? Can he write a stronger platform than he did before? Will he have any greater influence over a republican legislature in 1905 than he did in 1903? The republican party of this state is lobby ridden, and the only way the people can obtain relief from present conditions is to cease believing republican campaign promises and turn that party out of every department of the state government."

THERE is but one class of persons left in this country, says the American Press, who are still imbued with the ancient idea that it is disreputable to advertise and that class is doctors of the so-called regular school. Every student who graduates from the regular schools of medicine is presumed to pledge himself not to advertise.

This is a matter, continues that paper of which the press of the country should take cognizance. In California the medical fraternity is endeavoring to have a law passed making it a misdemeanor for any man to advertise in the public prints that he can cure disease. Some of the doctors have went so far as to advocate abolishing by law, professional cards as being "unprofessional." This attitude on the part of the physicians has naturally raised the ire of the newspaper men of that state and they threaten to retaliate if this form of persecution is pushed further. "Our method of retaliation is simple enough and would prove effective," says Editor Richardson, of the California Press association, "We mean to simply eliminate the title, Dr., from our local columns and if we have occasion to mention Dr. John Smith we will simply refer to him as John Smith, as we would any other citizen. Experience has taught every editor that doctors, as a rule, hunger for free advertising and local puffs like a babe for the bottle."

YAKIMA county never had a better sheriff in its entire history than the present incumbent, Ronald A. Grant. This statement is made advisedly too as that office has been filled in the past by a number of very able men. Some of our republican friends assert that Mr. Grant exhibited good judgment in the selection of his deputies and to that fact ascribe the success of his administration. The sheriff unquestionably has good men but as it was he who appointed them, some credit is certainly due the chief on that score. Aside from this, however, the sheriff is making a record to be proud of. When he goes after a man he gets him or knows the reason why, and when he has got his man he treats him humanely. He is a man in every sense adapted to the position. Nature fitted the man for the place and the people gave him the office, and it might be added in passing that the people have no regrets for having done so, and will undoubtedly give it to him again.

GEN. FREDDY FUNSTON, commanding the department of the Columbia, in his annual report makes some rather startling recommendations. He says that the army post at Walla Walla has outlived its usefulness and should be abandoned and that Fort Lawton near Seattle is no place for an army post and that no more money should be spent upon it. He recommended that the site at American Lake be purchased for permanent encampment purposes and that more money be spent at Fort Wright near Spokane. The little general's report accordingly is very highly eulogized at Tacoma and Spokane while very much disparaged at Seattle and Walla Walla, where they are mean enough to say that General Freddy is only a tin soldier anyway.

The genial Col. Robertson seems to be as proud of his new daily as a cackling hen with a brood of chicks. He thinks that the youngster's advent marks an epoch in the history of the town and so it does, although it is very much to be feared that it will likewise mark an epoch in the colonel's bank account. However, there is no stock for sale and "now is the time to subscribe."

CERTAIN politicians of this town who are advocating a municipal government on a partisan basis are using the argument that political control is necessary in city affairs in order that responsibility for the acts of the officials may be fixed on party rather than individuals.

This is a rather gauzy pretense when analyzed and there is nothing in it but pretense. Partisan responsibility, what rot! Do these men not know that party organizations are the cause of the disgusting rottenness that exists in municipal government all over this country to day? And candor compels us to admit in this connection that there is not very much difference in parties, although democratic New York and Chicago have never emitted so foul a smell as have republican Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Every well informed man knows or ought to know, that there are greater opportunities for theft and corruption in city government than there is in county or state or even the national government, for in all these a check system is in vogue, which makes for honesty, a system which for some reason does not seem to work as well in municipal government.

The fact that a man is a republican, a democrat or a socialist has, of course, nothing to do with his honesty or lack of it, except that political parties almost invariably flock with the party in power in order to find the opportunities they seek. With this class politics is not a matter of principle but strictly a matter of business.

North Yakima has so far prospered under non-partisan government. Men of all parties have contributed to make the town what it is to day. Heretofore, as a rule, good men have invariably been selected to fill the different positions, which for the most part are purely honorary. Will conditions be made any better by injecting party politics into the city government? In other words, how is it going to help the town to turn the municipal government over to A. B. Weed, W. I. Lince and two or three kindred spirits?

THE newspapers of this state are going after the dairymen who have made it a practice to mix in their milk, a dangerous drug known to science as formaldehyde, which is nothing more nor less than rank poison, being a preserving fluid used to some extent by undertakers for embalming purposes. As a result of this pernicious practice one babe has died at Seattle and two are reported to have succumbed from the same trouble at Portland, all on account of milk having been fed poisoned milk purchased from rascally dealers.

The men who sold the poisonous milk ought to be caught and made to drink the damnable stuff with which they poisoned innocent babes and if the vile deception failed to work on them they should be placed on trial and made to face the charge of murder.

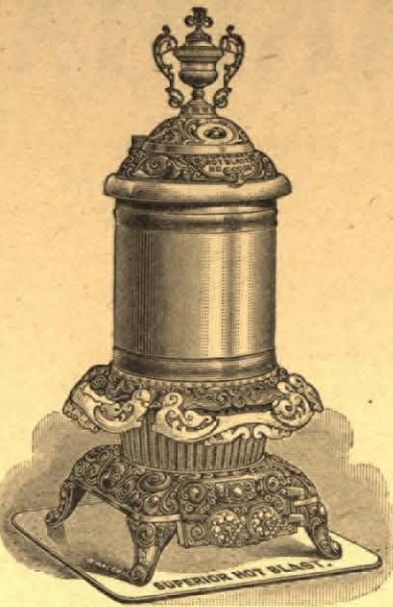

The milk that is dealt out daily to city customers is a very essential element in the family diet and the consumer ought to be protected against the adulterator. In short, the milk should be inspected frequently by the city health officers and analyzed occasionally. Milk dealers, as a rule, are probably as honest as any other class of people but a dishonest or careless one has it in his power to spread disease like a pestilence. The epidemic of typhoid fever that recently raged with such violence at Berkeley, California, causing many deaths, was found to be caused by the presence of typhoid germs in the milk supply of that city. The same cause is said to have produced the same effect among the students of Cornell College at Ithaca, N. Y., two years ago.

THE destruction of a large portion of the city of Aberdeen with the resulting loss of life has properly excited the sympathy of the people of the entire Pacific Northwest. Fortunately none of the great lumber interests of that city were lost—a fact that will doubtless enable the city to rebuild on a more permanent basis than before. As was the case with Seattle 14 years ago Aberdeen's fire means heavy loss to individuals, but it will probably result in a great and permanent good to the city. Seattle's great fire proved a blessing in disguise, a fact now universally conceded.

The old Aberdeen was simply a mass of frame firetraps built on a foundation of sawdust and the great wonder is that the evil day was postponed as long as it was. The new city will doubtless be constructed of more substantial material after such an experience and will endure. North Yakima has a few old fire traps left in her business district and a lesson might well be drawn from the disaster at Aberdeen.

THE Canadians evidently do not take kindly to the decision of the international tribunal in the Alaskan boundary case. In the decision Canada is permitted to retain jurisdiction over the Portland canal and a few small and unimportant islands, her claim of sovereignty over the Lynn Canal and the towns of Skagway and Dyea being denied. The decision is a great victory for the United States, due in large measure to the high class character and ability of the American commissioners, among whom was ex-Senator George Turner, of this state. The president certainly exhibited good sense when he appointed these such able men as Senator Lodge, Secretary of War Root and ex-Senator Turner to present the claims of this country.

THE Seattle Times is booming Booker Washington for the republican vice presidential nomination. The idea is a good one and ought to be pushed along. Booker, with the entire colored race at his back, ought to make a most formidable candidate and one with a claim entitled to recognition. Campaign buttons are said to be already in existence bearing a picture of the president and Mr. Washington at lunch together, discussing affairs of state. The free use of this button ought to get the negro delegates.

THE holdup business has been worked to a standstill in this neck of the woods and the time has come to call a halt. The outrage at Toppenish this week where murder was probably added to the crime of highway robbery ought to have the effect of arousing public sentiment. The great majority of men who go forth to rob are murderers at heart only requiring an opportunity to become such. More frequent legal necktie parties are needed in this state to purify the atmosphere.

Foster Gets the Double Cross.

During the recent visit of Ed. Hamilton to this city one thing was obvious to any man of discernment who gave any attention to the movements of the railroad state senator from Pierce county. The Ankeny push is back of Hamilton and is preparing to give Senator Foster the double cross. Senator Ankeny is professing neutrality in the contest between Hamilton and Foster, but while the senator remained at Colfax ostensibly keeping hands off, his henchmen in this city had evidently been given the tip to line up with Hamilton and they did so with great alacrity. They would not have shown such love for Hamilton if they had not been given orders from headquarters to show him every courtesy and attention.

Senator Ankeny does not dare openly to oppose Senator Foster for the reason that he is under obligations to Foster for federal patronage and other favors received that aided him in securing the long coveted seat in the United States senate. Through Foster Pierce county lined up solidly in support of Ankeny's senatorial candidacy. Without that support his election would have been impossible. Ankeny does not want to be accused of base ingratitude, as he will be under the necessity of sitting with Foster in the senate until 1905, and he does not want his association with his colleague made strained and uncomfortable. However, the railroad lobby with which Ankeny is allied, prefers Hamilton to Foster, and there is nothing for the Levites to do but get in line. Foster is to be lured to a sense of security by professions of friendship and neutrality, but when the time comes he will be impaled on the Ankeny harpoon.—Walla Walla Statesman.

A Warning Voice.

The Washington Post claims to be an independent paper. It believes religiously in the high protective tariff and the single gold standard. Nevertheless it sounds this friendly warning to the republican Mark Tapleys who are looking so cheerfully to next years elections:

"There will be much discussion during the approaching session of congress concerning the tariff and the finances and reciprocity and other grave questions of state. Politicians from the rural districts will orate solemnly upon the relations between the United States and the rest of the world, and issues warranted to stir the popular heart will be forged with tremendous blows upon the legislative anvil.

"The leaders of both parties will be wise, however, if they will realize that the average citizen does not feel the slightest interest in abstract positions. The republican party lost the election which followed the enactment of the McKinley bill—overwhelmingly lost it, in fact—because of the rapid and universal increase in the cost of the necessities of life. Conditions which exist today recall that famous campaign. It is a fact that the salary of the wage worker now procures for him the minimum of necessary things. The cost of living is abnormally high. The grocery bills and the meat bills are out of all proportion to reason. The man who would live decently on a small salary, who would provide sufficient food and proper clothing for his family, finds it impossible to save.

"There would be some satisfaction for the wage worker if he knew that the money thus wrung from his pocket went into the purse of his fellow laborers throughout the country, but he knows that labor does not get the benefit. He might even be content if the proprietor of the corner grocery profited by the high prices, but he knows that the merchant is selling on the smallest margin of profit. With neither the producer nor the merchant benefiting from the rise in prices the question is naturally being asked, who is the beneficiary? If there shall be a very general belief that the extortioner is a syndicate or corporation which controls the output of beef or sugar or canned goods or other necessary of life, there will be a swing of the political pendulum equal to that which brought the democrats into power some years ago. To the average citizen the price which he is compelled to pay for the things he is in need of for his table or upon his back is of more vital and personal concern than the enactment of financial legislation or a policy of the Philippines. The constantly increasing cost of living is a political factor not to be overlooked."

A Great Clubbing Offer.

For the large numbers of people in the northwest whose mail facilities will not permit them to take a daily newspaper the Weekly Oregonian is especially designed. It is edited especially for readers in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, containing besides all the important news of the Columbia river basin, a systematic presentation of the news of the world, supplemented and elucidated by editorial comment, written from the beginning to the close of every week. Illustrated stories, traveling correspondence and feature articles add to the attractiveness of The Oregonian. The regular subscription price of The Weekly Oregonian is $1.50 per year. Given in connection with the YAKIMA DEMOCRAT for 12 months for only $1.50; a saving on the subscription price of the two papers of one dollar.

Ordered Deported.

Tung, a Chinaman unlawfully in the United States, was arrested by U. S. Deputy Marshal N. Short about 12 o'clock last Sunday night in North Yakima. The case was called at 10 o'clock Tuesday, but was continued till Wednesday in order to give Tung a chance to prepare his defence and to secure an interpreter. Chinese Inspector H. Edsel was present at the trial. As a result of the hearing, Tung was ordered deported, under a writ issued by Commissioner Howlett.

John Alexander Dowie, a religious fanatic of Chicago, who claims to be "Elijah the prophet," with nearly 4000 followers, has descended upon New York for the purpose, as he alleges of converting the heathen. The family of deceased will contest the will.

A Mob at Pasco.

Pasco at last has shown signs of awakening and the people there are calling loudly for water, not for drinking purposes, but to slake the thirst of the surrounding desert and make it blossom as the rose. Last Monday night a largely attended mass meeting was held at the court house to take the initiatory steps for the formation of a company with the object of taking a ditch out of Snake river to irrigate the dry plains about Pasco, the people there, it seems, having lost faith in the Utopian scheme of certain Seattle speculators to pipe Yakima river water across the Columbia.

Editor Greene of the Pasco Express in his own unique way has been doing his utmost to get a boom started at Pasco and is now, it is thought, in a fair way to succeed. In issuing hand bills for the meeting under the head, "Mob Warning" Editor Greene says: "It is rumored that a mob has threatened to take possession of the court house Monday night, Oct. 19 and rescue Pasco. Every good citizen and lover of prosperity is requested to be present ready for action. By order of Vigilantes."

Hops Beginning to Move.

The movement in hops has been quite brisk this week, although the local market has shown a downward tendency, due, the buyers claim, to the marked increase in the yield over what it was assumed that the crop would be before picking time.

The deals this week have been as follows: S. Huntington purchased 127 bales from Campbell Bros. at 20c. McNeff Bros. bought 125 bales from Cameron Bros. at 20 1/4 cents, Fred Alter bought 71 bales from Wm. Simpson at 20 1/4 c. Del Hiseock has been receiving numerous congratulations as the result of having sold the balance of his crop, amounting to about 25 tons to the New York brewers with whom he has a contract, the price to be paid being 26 cents on board the cars here.

Stupidity of Men.

A group of women were talking about the stupidity of men at all times and their enormous denseness when their wives were trying to give them a hint.

"You know one day we had company unexpectedly, and we hardly had enough to go around," said one woman. "I tried to catch my husband's eye to convey to him that he was serving the meat too generously. But he would not take the hint. When he had given out the last bit, there were two plates still unfilled. What do you suppose that shameless man did? He simply called all the plates back again and scooped enough off each one to fill the remaining two."

"I shall always take my husband aside beforehand and tell him a few things," said an engaged girl.

"Well, that won't work," said an experienced matron. "I did that one day, and when I asked my husband whether he would have pudding or pie for dessert he blurted out, 'Good gracious, Helen, I've forgotten which you told me to take.'"—Pittsburg Press.

Gloves and Kisses.

The claim of gloves by ladies as a reward when they have stolen a kiss from a sleeping man is alluded to by Gay (1688-1732):

Cleely, brisk maid, steps forth before the And kissed with smacking lips the snoring out; For custom says, "Whoe'er this venture proves For such a kiss demands a pair of gloves."

In chapter 5 of "The Fair Maid of Perth," by Sir Walter Scott, Catherine leaves her chamber on St. Valentine's morning and finding Henry Smith asleep gives him a kiss. The glover says to him:

"Come into the booth with me, my son, and I will furnish thee with a fitting theme. Thou knowest the maiden who ventures to kiss a sleeping man wins of him a pair of gloves."

And in the following chapter she accepts it.—Notes and Queries.

A Lost Necklace.

Quantities of ornaments are lost each year at the drawing rooms or courts at Buckingham palace, and only a very small proportion is recovered.

A very strange story is still told about a diamond necklace which was found at one of the state balls some years ago. It happened that one of Queen Victoria's ladies in waiting picked up a diamond necklace from the floor. As she stood with it in her hand a lady came quickly forward and claimed it.

The finder was very firm, however, and declared it was her duty to give it in to the lord chamberlain's office, as this was the rule with regard to anything found in the palace. The lady protested in vain, but the oldest thing was that this necklace never was claimed and is probably still at the lord chamberlain's office.

The Reporter and the Doctor.

The following conversation between a doctor and a newspaper man was overheard the other day:

"I've met some newspaper men," said the doctor, "and I don't like their ways. They're always trying to pry into other people's business."

"Well," responded the reporter, "There's but one difference between newspaper men and doctors that I can see."

"And what's that?" asked the doctor. "You fellows dissect bodies and we dissect brains. For my part I like the brain end of it."

Then the doctor sat down and thought for several minutes.

Dividing the Honors.

A North Carolina congressman relates an amusing story of an old justice of the peace in his county. It seems that two young attorneys were trying a case before him. After the arguments had followed the testimony of the witnesses and the case was closed the old fellow, awakening from deep reveries into which he had fallen, said, addressing one of the lawyers: "You know, Hank, I gave you the decision in the last two cases, so I will give this one to Tom. You can't expect to get them all."

Motion to Adjourn Carried.

"Who made the motion to adjourn this meeting?" asked the inquisitive chap after the free for all battle was over.

"Well, I ain't sure," replied Cactus Jim, "but I reckon it was Hairtrigger Charley. I seen him make one at Three Fingered Ike—with a gun—and after that the rush for open air come."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

A Large Grist of Miscellaneous Business put Through the Municipal Mill Monday Night.

A regular meeting of the city fathers was held Monday night with Mayor Shaw presiding and all the councilmen present except Keck. The minutes of preceding meeting were read and approved.

The clerk read petitions from various citizens asking for arc lights to be placed at the intersection of South First and Walnut streets and South Third and Chestnut. Referred.

Attorney Snively addressed the council stating that he had procured deeds for the right of way to open up Cherry avenue from all the property owners with the exception of W. J. Reed and J. J. Lowe, it being mutually understood that the city should undertake to procure right of way from those parties. This matter, on motion was referred to the street and ditch committee with power to act.

A communication was read from the county auditor regarding the city and county tax levy for 1904. City Clerk Doust then read his own annual report. The council after debating the matter on motions made by Liggett and Moran fixed the tax levy at 11 mills. This includes a levy of 8 1/4 mills for the current expense fund. 1/4 of one mill for the interest on the bonded indebtedness and two mills for the sewer indebtedness fund. The total levy of 11 mills is a reduction of one mill from the levy made one year ago, which was 12 mills.

Mrs. Joseph Stephenson, who was in waiting, then addressed the council asking that the Fashion Livery stable adjacent to her home be declared a public nuisance. The lady said that the request was made on the ground of health and asked that the council take action. The matter was discussed at length and finally on motion of Switzer was referred to the board of health with instructions to investigate the complaint and report.

R. N. Gordon asked permission to change the channel of the Union ditch at corner of Yakima and Natches. Referred to street committee with power to act.

The belated reports of the police judge and the city marshal for September were read. These reports showed that $650 in fines had been collected, 27 cases tried, 125 meals furnished city prisoners and numerous vags run out of town.

Bids were then read for the construction of a sidewalk on the west side of Natches avenue. The bidders were J. V. Bartine, G. H. Moulton and John LaChance. Mr. Moulton's bid of 40 1/2 cents per foot being the lowest. The same parties also made bids for the construction of a side walk on the west side of South First street. Moulton's bid of 40 1/2 cents was again found to be the lowest and he was awarded the contract. Harrison moved that city attorney be instructed to draw an ordinance compelling property owners to connect with sewers. Carried.

Harrison moved that city attorney be instructed to commence suit condemning right of way to the city dumping grounds. Carried.

The matter of the unpaid assessments of the Second street paving was next considered at length. Switzer moved that the finance committee be instructed to investigate the status of the matter and report. Carried. The council on motion of Fisher then adjourned.

CHURCHES OF MEXICO.

They Are Great Curiosities From an Architectural Standpoint.

From an architectural standpoint the churches of Mexico are the most wonderful churches in the world. Architects from all over the world have been astonished and puzzled by the miracles in stone. There are great arches and domes composed entirely of small pieces of stone cemented together. According to all the rules of construction, these arches and domes could not have been built in the first place, and in the second would not hold together for a minute, yet they are there and are as solid as though built of steel.

It remained for an assayer from Denver who had settled in northern Mexico to solve the mystery. He cultivated the friendship of a priest and persuaded him to aid in his investigations. Together they went through the dusty records stored in the church vaults, which run back for two or three centuries, and there they found what appears to be a truthful and very plausible explanation of the wonderful feats of architecture.

It was recorded that when one tier of stone was laid about the base of the building earth was carried and heaped up to the level of the highest stones; another tier was then added and more earth piled up on each side of it. This process was repeated until the dome and arches were reached. Then the earth was rounded off to the desired shape and the stone cemented together on the surface of the ground. When sufficient time had elapsed for the mortar to set and become as hard as the stone itself, the workmen dug out the dirt from the church, and it was ready for the finishing touches.

Labor must have been cheap and plentiful in those days to perform such a stupendous task, and there is ample reason to believe that it was cheap and plentiful.—Washington Star.

How to Sell Goods.

"You must know how to talk with a customer so that she will buy," is one of the things the buyer says over and over again in his lectures down in the basement. Even when the girl is behind the counter at work the buyer will often step up and give her a hint. For instance, he will give a new name to an old piece of goods. There is everything in a name. He came up to me one day and said, "Call that line of goods the Marlborough," and it was not long before I had sold the entire stock. The sweller a name is the better, of course. Cumberland pins will sell much better than plain pins even if they are the same thing. French names are much in vogue, too, and they are sometimes coined. Names taken from swell sports are also very good sellers. Another thing, of course, which helps a girl sell the goods is genuine knowledge of them."—Leslie's Monthly.

Australians' Big Appetite.

Perhaps the most astonishing statistics in Mr. Coughlan's book, "Seven Colonies of Australasia," are those that describe what the average Australian eats and drinks. Apparently he has the best appetite, if not the best digestion, of any human being on the planet. He eats every year 264 pounds of meat, which works out an average of two sheep and one-fifth of a bullock for every man, woman and baby in Australasia. He eats more than twice as much meat as the average Englishman, three times as much as the average Frenchman and four times as much as the average German or Swiss. He eats, in addition, about 375 pounds of wheat, 225 pounds of potatoes and almost 100 pounds of sugar. If he is a Tasmanian, he eats a quarter of a ton of potatoes in a year, a quite surprising feat.

Washington Letter.

(From our special correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21, 1903

The presidential boom of William Randolph Hearst continues to grow. Representative Shober of New York, who has just arrived here, says, "North, South, East and West there has been a great deal of talk about Representative Hearst, and with good reason. He is in touch with the president-makers—the people—everywhere. I know that there is a large number of practical politicians in New York State and elsewhere who think that with the New York State endorsement Mr. Hearst is the only man who can capture the democratic national convention. Mr. Hearst's large and valuable business interests would attract to him a good proportion of the independent vote and his popularity among the industrial classes in the East would mean his election. The reports from Georgia and elsewhere in the south all go to show that Mr. Hearst is rapidly gaining strength."

On account of the Hearst boom Senator Gorman's chances in the south do not look quite so bright, but it is said that his friends are not worrying. They declare it is good policy to create a little diversion at this time, while Mr. Gorman all along has been inclined to keep himself in the background. He believes that it is best to have the other fellows talked about. Owing to personal rivalries and to the lack of that harmony which comes from party loyalty in the final contest, early booms are dangerous to the candidate proposed and Senator Gorman is politician enough to realize this. Furthermore if Maryland, where the race question is made the issue, should be carried by the democrats, Mr. Gorman would be regarded as a strong candidate against President Roosevelt. Therefore while Hearst's press bureaus and labor agents continue to boom his candidacy, Gorman's friends are awaiting the results of the election.

It is now generally believed that the extra session of Congress will pass a bill, enabling the treaty, which grants the slight reduction of twenty per cent on Cuban imports, to become effective. The beet sugar men seem to have withdrawn their opposition, but the independent cigar manufacturers will oppose bitterly the change in the tobacco duties which they claim is in the interest of the trust which now owns the Havana factories, and will destroy the domestic industry of making cigars from the imported leaf. The discussion of the treaty will furnish the democrats with an opportunity to make a number of speeches denouncing the tariff, and it is expected that much time will be consumed in the debate. The state department expects that the president will also submit the Chinese American commercial treaty, which was signed last week by our minister at Peking. This treaty provides for the abolition of the likin, or internal tariff, of China; the right of residence for missionary work; the protection of patents, trademarks and copyrights; the permission for Americans to develop the mineral resources of China; a uniform coinage throughout the empire, and the opening of two ports in Manchuria.

Owing to serious violations of the new naturalization law, which have just been discovered by a special agent of the department of justice, President Roosevelt, it is said, will recommend to Congress such a change in the law as will limit the right of conferring naturalization to the Federal courts. He will favor also a permanent commission to question the applicant for citizenship papers, to take other necessary testimony, and to report the result of the examination to the judge. It has been found that the provision of the new law which prevents anyone with anarchistic beliefs, inclinations or tendencies from becoming a citizen, has in many cases been violated. In Chicago a judge admitted 1800 foreigners to full citizenship in one evening, which would have been a physical impossibility, and he administered the oath personally to each applicant as the law presumes.

It is rumored here that Judge Henderson M. Somerville, chairman of the board of general appraisers at New York, is to be removed, ostensibly because of a difference of opinion between him and Secretary Shaw with reference to judicial decisions, but in reality because of an article he wrote for a magazine, in which he criticized the president. The judge condemned the appointment of Dr. Crum as collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., and said that the disturbing effect of President Roosevelt's attitude toward the negro can never be adequately estimated in its retardation of the solution of the race problem. Judge Somerville is a man of great independence of opinion and he does not feel that an apology is needed for his article.

Importing firms in New York, Baltimore, New Orleans and other cities are already learning by direct experience the workings of the new pure food law. In consequence of the analysis by the bureau of chemistry cargoes of foreign goods just imported to these cities have been officially condemned and notice to this effect has been forwarded to the treasury department for final action. Dr. H. W. Wiley, who has been well known as the government chemist in the agricultural department, has charge of these investigations. He says: "We are enforcing the law from three points of view as provided in the act. We are excluding food products which have any foreign substance added to them which is injurious to health, such as certain preservatives, bleaching agents and artificial colors. We are also trying to exclude articles which are forbidden entry or restricted in sale in the country from which they came. This is in accordance with the specific provision of the law. We are trying besides to exclude articles which are falsely branded. The first of these grounds is easily determined by chemical analysis. The provision resting on the laws of the country from which the goods come, we get at by constant study of those enactments as forwarded to us by our consuls on request of the state department. The question of false labels is more troublesome. We can sometimes determine it by chemical means, as has already happened in several cases where our importation of oils, such as cotton or peanut. Other false labels are easily detected for geographic reasons, such as a sherry made in @reece or a Cognac in Hamburg. Cognac is produced only in certain districts of France and sherry only in Spain. It is generally admitted that large quantities of misbranded wines, brandies, and whisky come to this country."
