

Feb-7, 1963

Dear Nut:

Enclosed, the production, 63,000 words, size of customary book!

Enclosed, too, slight residual of publication, in interests of promotion. It can be utilized in any way that comes to your mind, from small add, to buying drinks for Indian fans and boring them with details of Strangers on the Land. And it is meant, use as you desire.

If you have occasion to turn over book to reviewer for some comments, it will be appreciated, if he thinks it worthy of comments.

Jim Quick of J.K. Gill Co. book dept. who was at Frederick Nelson when D and Dreamers came out is handling it, and Yakimas tell me they might "float" in there eventually when in Pd on biz trip to Area office, and take along some of their buckskins and beads.

Pretty rushed now. Hope you aren't having it as fast as I, but want to get this moving if possible. Such was always my disposition, to make a success of anything that was worth a try and give it ten to 1 in efforts to do so.

Do n't think you'd be interested in any pix. Have them of Indians, galore of course, and print of plaque, Chief Moses recently worked up in sculpture. My Friend, Dr. Bob Ruby of Moses Lake, medical doc., already author, and John Brown, prof of history at Wenatchee Valley College have been researching on him for months, have much material and msct circulating on little publicized NW chief, tops of all in post Indian war period, (for a while).

Thebest

1212 N. 32nd Ave., Yakima

Click Relander