OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

For President,
WM. JENNINGS BRYAN.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON.

NO election within the past forty years has meant so much to the American people as does the one which occurs next Tuesday. If Bryan be elected we will probably hear no more about imperialism—at least not as long as he is president. If McKinley be elected then the people will doubtless see and appreciate what imperialism means. It is logical to assume that an administration that stands convicted of the excesses as does the present one will, in case its record is endorsed by a majority of the people at the polls, feel privileged and licensed to go any length in perfecting its plan of empire. Let no man deceive himself or attempt to deceive others into the belief that empire versus republic is not the supreme issue involved in this election. Any man who does not know this now may find it out later to his sorrow. It is on this subject particularly that we desire to make a final appeal to the voters. Let us stop and reflect that we have heretofore in this country known nothing but free government or what passed as such. We should not forget that we are indebted to our dead forefathers for this great blessing, a blessing that they purchased with their blood. Every fair-minded American who has ever condemned King George for his tyrannical treatment of the colonists, must of necessity if he be an honest man, also condemn Wm. McKinley for his treatment of the Filipinos. Some people say that the two cases are not parallel. As a matter of fact they are not. England had held authority over the American colonies for over 100 years and naturally considered the territory her own and the colonists warring against her as rebels. But how is it with the Filipino? It is absurd to call him a rebel for the reason that he has never acknowledged that we held sovereignty over him. We are trying to take forcible possession of his country and hope to reduce him to a state of vassalage. If our government is permitted to strangle liberty in Asia, while our people look on in idle approval, how long will it be before the same thing is attempted at home? A republic cannot have colonies and big standing armies and remain long a republic. It is for these reasons above all others that we ask and beseech our readers to support Mr. Bryan for the presidency. He is an honest man, he is a great man and is thoroughly wedded to the principles of human liberty.

THE republican candidate for governor, Mr. Frink, is a man of no individuality and no special ability. Whatever prominence he has attained in state politics is due almost entirely to the fact that he has always kept in touch with the political bosses who happened to be dominating King county politics. By thus always standing in with the boss Mr. Frink has always enjoyed a big pull which he has invariably turned skilfully to his own account. As a member of the state senate for two terms he exhibited his corporation leanings on every vote that came up in the interest of the people. During this time Mr. Frink voted against no less than five bills to regulate freight and passenger rates, the passage of which was demanded by the suffering farmers of Eastern Washington. Mr. Frink also voted against the "barefoot" schoolboy act, which he denounced as vicious legislation. Now this man is put forward as a candidate for governor by two disreputable bosses—Wilson and McGraw—who, in the event of Frink's election, count confidently on using the patronage of the office for the purpose of attempting to boost themselves into the United States senatorships. But these shifty gentlemen will find out shortly that the people don't stand in with their scheme. They will find that the people by an emphatic majority will refuse to cast out honest and capable Governor Rogers in order to make a place for a man who is so lacking in independence as to permit himself to be used as the weak tool of unscrupulous and designing politicians.

NELSON RICH may be a very good man as his republican friends claim, but it is evident from what the people know of him that he is not a fit man to represent this county in the legislature. Mr. Rich is a man of strong corporation leanings, and no one need wonder at that for he has been identified with corporations a large portion of his life. Should he go to the legislature it would be natural to assume that he would examine every bill through corporation eye glasses. The people will take no chances with Mr. Rich, however, for they have already made up their minds to elect A. J. Splawn who is a man that they feel that they can trust. For the first time since statehood began a legislature will be chosen that will have no United States senator to elect. For this reason scores of republicans will vote for Mr. Splawn in the belief that he is much the best man for the people.

IN spite of the frenzied assertions of the republican papers, in spite of the bitterly partisan Associated press, Bryan will be elected. This has been in many respects a very peculiar campaign. Men have largely refused to commit themselves in advance as to their intentions at the polls. Quite recently, however, the clouds have begun to lift and voters, especially eastern voters, have been more demonstrative. Later developments show that organized labor in the states of New York and Indiana particularly, and in many other states as well, are warmly in favor of the election of Mr. Bryan. This element alone will have a tremendous influence in determining the result. Yet there are other influences at work almost as potent. The German vote, the Holland vote and the Irish vote will pretty generally support the democratic candidate. Besides this, thousands of old line republicans have left their party on the question of imperialism, which same issue has brought back to the democracy over a half million of gold democrats. The man who says that McKinley will have a walk-away next Tuesday is merely talking through his hat.

EDITOR ROBERTSON, it seems, is the latest victim of the acrostic fiend. Last week the Republic printed some dirty doggerel under the head of a democratic campaign song. The editor, thinking he had something pretty good, run the stuff and remained in ignorance of the delicate compliment paid him in the acrostic until his attention was called to the matter. Here is the way the acrostic reads: "Robertson the grafter."

OWING to the munificence of the Woolgrowers' association the republican campaign committee of this county are in clover and will have money to throw at the birds on election day. The democrats will do well to watch these people closely and see that they don't part with too much of the swag. The sheep men might do well to keep a quiet watch, also, and see where their money goes.

DON'T fail to vote for Judge Davidson, A. J. Splawn, A. J. Shaw, E. W. R. Taylor, A. F. Snelling, D. L. Druse, I. B. Taylor, E. B. Preble, Dr. C. T. Dulin, Miss Carrie Young; and Mathews and Winchester. It is a good, clean list of names, and you can vote for them all without danger of remorse.

THE republicans got another frost on Thursday night. Even John L. Wilson was unable to draw more than 136 people. We can't see what the g. o. p. committee wants of all the halls in town, since it can never get a crowd.

IF you want to simplify matters when you go to the polls just put an X mark opposite the words "Democratic ticket." This will do the business effectually and save you any worry about voting right.

WHEN "Yakima" Jones speaks here on Monday night he might explain to the people why he voted for the obnoxious Porto Rico bill, especially after he had bitterly denounced it.

ASIATIC LABOR

Danger of a Great Influx is Now Apparent to All.

WHERE STANDS THE TWO GREAT PARTIES.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

We favor the continuation and strict enforcement of the Chinese exclusion law and its application to the same classes of all Asiatic races.

There are the declarations. They speak for themselves. The democratic party is open in its declaration that we do not want the Philippines and should not have them. It has here in this plank declared that it favors the exclusion law to extend to all Asiatic races. The republican platform has no plank on the subject whatever.

We have seen in this country what cheap labor means. We have had on this coast our troubles with the Chinese. More blood has been spilled as a consequence. After years of trouble and against the votes of republican congressmen, the exclusion law was passed. Now another danger menaces us along the same line. The alien contract law has been openly violated and Japs have been brought into this state by the thousands. The federal authorities have refused to prosecute. Japs are employed on the O. R. & N., the Great Northern, the Seattle and International, the Everett and Monte Christo railroads and on portions of other roads on the sections to the complete exclusions of the white men. Fully 3,000 of these Japs are so employed at this time, the aggregate wages for the total for the year beginning about $750,000, not one single cent of which is spent in the community in which they are housed in box cars like so many hogs.

They are used as wipers and tenders in the machine and engine shops. They are employed as car cleaners in the terminal yards at Seattle and Tacoma.

They are engaged as porters in the saloon along the Sound. They are window cleaners for the large stores in Seattle and Tacoma. They are even employed to clean off the tables in many of the big restaurants.

They are engaged in fishing, and in many of the fishing beds of Puget Sound have caused the white men to seek other fields.

They live on an average of $6 per month, in this double discounting the Chinaman who, according to the official statistician of the United States, Carrol D. Wright, requires $12 per month to live.

They seek to engage in higher occupations. It is but a matter of time until, if allowed to do so, they will be in the stores and counting rooms, in the barber shops, and the butcher shops, setting type in the printing offices and handling the keys in the telegrapher's office.

Judge Estee of the federal court has just decided that the exclusion law does not prevent a Chinaman living in Hawaii, from coming to the United States and taking up his abode.

Take the Philippines and the flood gate is down. There will be no barriers. Chinamen, Japanese, Malays of all kinds can come to this country freely. The large corporations and trusts want them. They desire just this kind of labor because they can control it as they do the horses where such are used. The glare and glamor of commercial expansion have been hauled down. The heidious danger of cheap labor is in view.

Laboring men, merchants and others who have at heart the welfare of the wage earner will do well to heed the warning. A vote for McKinley is a vote to let down the barriers and flood this country with cheap Asiatic labor. A vote for Bryan is a vote to exclude them all and make the United States what it is, and should always be, the home of the honest, industrious American laborer; the man with a family, a part of our very being, and honor to our country.

Dr. Wells has rented the rooms formerly occupied by Mrs. Dr. Douglas in the Kershaw block, and fitted up the some most handsomely. These offices in addition to what he formerly had now gives the doctor ample office room.

B. N. Coe & Company's news store on South First street is headquarters for the Seattle Times, Tacoma Ledger and The Tacoma News.

The governing board of the Commercial club at its Saturday night session endorsed the work of numbering the houses in this city and placing the names of streets upon the corners, as being conducted by Messrs. Ornes and Korstad, who are preparing a city directory. The club will have a communication before the council next Monday evening bearing on the subjects.

NORTH YAKIMA, Nov 2, 1900.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT—In the issue of the Yakima Republic of Oct. 26, the editor of that sheet makes the statement that my illiteracy would unfit me to represent Yakima county in the legislature. No honorable man would stoop to make such a statement until he first knew he was right.

My success in life will compare, I think, most favorably with his. I have always tried to be useful to the community in which I live and the public generally, although I never consented to run for office before.

Now as to the Republic man. I realize how difficult it must be for a fourth rate editor trying to run a first class paper. We all know the difficulties he is laboring under. He a democrat trying to run a republican newspaper, and at the same time endeavoring to get his hand into the sack of money so liberally contributed by the sheep men. The mental anxiety under which he labors naturally unfits him to judge my qualifications for the legislature or any other position.

In conclusion I would say to Mr. Robertson that he might retain a portion of the advice which he so freely bestowed upon me, and that is to "cease making a pestiferous ass of himself."

Yours respectfully,

A. J. SPLAWN.

"Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." The impatience, irritation and bad temper exhibited by Mark Hanna and Teddy Roosevelt are signs of desperation. The intemperate and violent language of these republican leaders is not calculated to inspire confidence in the justice of their cause. Mark Hanna's coarse abuse of Bryan in a speech at Lincoln, Neb., last week will make thousands of votes for the democratic candidate.—Walla Walla Argus.

People could forgive the republican party for putting "the dollar above the man" if they did not put it so far above that the average man can't reach it.

It is urged on behalf of trusts that as they increase failures in business will become less numerous. That is probably true. Nobody will be able to go into business for himself when the trusts get complete control.

A. B. Pearson has purchased the Chapman property in the north part of town, consisting of two houses and will occupy one of the dwellings about the 10th. The house he vacates on Moxee avenue will be tenanted by C. W. Liggett.

The republicans have kept up their reputation for poorly attended meetings in this city, throughout the campaign. The great John L. Wilson was billed to speak at Larson's Thursday night, and to say that the g. o. p. leader got an icy reception fails to express it. There was but a few more than a hundred people in the house.

Manager Fournier says that the engagement of "The Man From Mexico" has been cancelled as the company is not coming to the coast this way. There is a possibility that they will be here later in the season. "Tennessee's Partner" is the next attraction billed. "A Breezy Time will be here on the 26th, and "A Day and a Fight," Dec. 3. "Brown's in Town" is billed for Dec. 17.

To Bunco Farmers.

The final efforts of the trusts to fool the farmers into voting the "prosperity" ticket are looked for in a boom of prices for wheat, oats, corn, cattle, hogs, sheep and other farm products on the eve of the election.

The trusts are in control of the markets and if they choose to push up prices a few notches for campaign effect they will have no difficulty in doing it.

And of course if they can push up prices before election they can push them down again after election.

Will they fail to do it?
Well, hardly.

It is their game to fool the farmers just now when McKinley so urgently and desperately needs their votes.

After November 6 they will recoup themselves and punish the farmers for their folly by smashing prices and putting the screws tighter than ever upon the markets.

Democrats should be alive to these important points and farmers ought to be warned against this trust bunco game.

The Philadelphia Times has deserted the party of trusts and imperialism and is now an avowed advocate of Bryan and Stevenson. The Times is one of the most influential papers in the country, and its new departure has caused the utmost consternation in republican ranks.

Republican Spleen Displayed.

The state fair commission, at the session of the governing board of the Yakima Commercial club on Saturday evening last, presented the proposition to that body that the club appoint a committee to make an investigation of the books and affairs of the State Fair commission in justice to the commission and in justice to the community.

W. W. Robertson of the Republic and Ira P. Englehart, fought and defeated the desire of the Fair commission, and consequently there will be no investigation made.

The statement published in THE DEMOCRAT last week regarding the affairs of the commission, over the signatures of its president and secretary, was honest and fair, and the men who defeated an investigation did so from purely political and partisan reasons, with the intent to make votes for the republican ticket. Had they the good of the community at heart or a desire to do justice to honorable men, they would not have made the bitter fight waged against the Washington State Fair commission at the governing board session. However, the fact that Messrs. Robertson and Englehart succeeded in carrying their point, does not prove that the republican cry of dishonesty and mismanagement is true. It is but one of the extremes used in order to make votes.

Hops are in Better Demand.

Hops in the Yakima valley are selling at from 14½ to 15 cents per pound and the prospect is that they will go higher, at least growers are not over anxious.

B. W. Treat, a buyer for a large Milwaukee house, who is now in Seattle, says: "The hop market is all in the hands of the growers. By this I mean that there is a very heavy demand for hops from all parts of the country and it is well known at this time that there will not be more than enough to supply market needs."

"A year ago at this time it was known that there would be a large surplus on hand. This estimate proved to be correct for it is only within the past thirty days that the last of the 1899 yield has been consumed. In some sections of Oregon there is still a small amount of the old crop on hand but as a rule it is of a poor quality and will not be sold at all unless it should turn out that there is not enough of the new to be had to fill present orders or that someone is found who can use a poor grade. There is every prospect that before very long farmers will be receiving 15 cents for the best quality."

"The sales in this state up to the present have not been heavy. Oregon is supplying more than Washington. One of the reasons for this is that they have more and in many of the Oregon districts contracts were made early in the season and are now being filled."

Roosevelt Insults Farmers and Laborers.

"Ranch Life and the Hunting-Trail," by Theodore Roosevelt, was published by the Century company of New York in 1888. It may be found in any public library. On page 10 of this book, written by the republican candidate for vice-president, may be found this paragraph:

"When drunk on the villainous whisky of the frontier towns, they (the cowboys) cut mad antics, riding their horses into the saloons, firing their pistols right and left, from boisterous light-heartedness rather than from any viciousness, and indulging too often in deadly shooting affrays, brought on either by the accidental contact of the moment or on account of some long-standing grudge, or perhaps because of bad blood between two ranches of localities; but except while on such sprees they are quick, rather self-confident men, perfectly frank and simple, and on their own ground treat a stranger with the most whole-souled hospitality, doing all in their power for him and scorning to take any reward in return. Although prompt to resent an injury they are not at all apt to be rude to outsiders, treating them with what can almost be called grave courtesy. They are much better fellows and pleasanter companions than small farmers or agricultural laborers; nor are the mechanics and workmen of a great city to be mentioned in the same breath."

His "Pint."

The logic of some Bible readers reminds us of the story of an old colored preacher who made the assertion in his pulpit that every woman had seven devils in her. He was promptly challenged by the irate female members of his flock to make good his assertion. He announced that on a certain Sunday he would give scriptural proof of what he had said.

When the time came he gave his proof as follows: "Bruders and sisters, you have all done heard and read dat de Lawd done cast seven debbils out of one woman. But, brudders and sisters, you have not done heard and read dat he cast de debbils out of any udder woman. Derefore ef de Lawd only cast de debbils out of one woman, den all de udder women has de debbils in dem yet. So, accordin' to de plain readin' ob de scriptures, ebbery woman has seven debbils in her. Dat's my pint."—Ram's Horn.

NORTH YAKIMA, NOVEMBER 3, 1900

Why He Works.

Senator Hanna's tremendous personal activity, both on the stump and in the general direction of the republican campaign as chairman of the national committee, is in itself proof of the fact that the trust boss is exceedingly apprehensive of the defeat of Mr. McKinley at the polls.

Another recent indication of this increasing uneasiness in Hanna's mind is his growing proneness to lose his temper, not only when being interviewed on the political situation, but when discussing the issues of the campaign on the stump. This is characteristic of a man of Hanna's overbearing and truculent temperament. The menace of successful opposition enrages him until he loses control of himself. The next step with a man whose fighting nerve is only due to the aggressive rush of pampered blood is panic and dismay.

The crafty manager who was put in public life by the trusts for the purpose of electing a president subservient to the trust, and of holding the president and his party faithful to the bidding of the trusts, now clearly sees a prospect of disaster for the trusts and the trust party. The outlook is so ominous, indeed, that Hanna himself has plunged into the thick of things, stumping certain districts with feverish eagerness, counting on his personal prestige as chairman of the republican national committee to lend a weight to his speeches which they might not otherwise possess.

Mr. Hanna's zeal, however, is not so much for the republican party as for the trusts in whose behalf he assumed the leadership of the republican party. The man himself, as a trust magnate, has vast monopoly interests at stake in the issue of this campaign. For himself and his fellow trust magnates, therefore, he is working overtime to re-elect Mr. McKinley to the presidency. He and the other multimillionaire monopolists need Mr. McKinley in their business. In this great and significant truth lies the secret of Hanna's tremendous activity in the present crisis.—St. Louis Republic.

About Oriental Labor.

Judge Estee's recent decision, supplemented by that of the Hawaiian supreme court, makes it certain that the retention of the Philippine Islands opens the United States to the millions of Filipinos, as well as the hordes of other Asiatics, who would gladly come to this coast at the small stipend of twenty-five cents a day!

The Chinese exclusion treaty expires in 1902.

The republican national platform is silent on Asiatic labor.

The democratic platform and William J. Bryan demand the exclusion of all Asiatic labor, and especially the 600,000 Chinese and 11,000,000 Malays whose free entry would inevitably follow annexation.

Under McKinley's administration 10,000 Japanese coolies have come into the state of Washington and have displaced white laborers. The trusts want cheap labor.

Bryan's policy would give us Philippine trade and friendship without opening our gates to the millions of Philippine coolies.—Seattle Review.

The Power Behind McKinley.

The following extract is taken from the Nevada Chronicle and illustrates the power behind McKinley:

"We need a stronger government; the wealth of the country demands it. Without capital and the capitalist government would not be worth a fig. The capital of the country demands protection. Its rights are as sacred as the rights of the paupers, who are continually prating about the encroachments of capital, and against centralization. The wealth of the country has to bear the burdens of the government, and it shall control it. The people are becoming educated up to this theory rapidly, and the sooner this theory is recognized in the constitution and laws, the better it will be for the people. Without blood shed, and rivers of it, there will be no political change of administration. The monied interests of the country for self-preservation, must sustain the republican party. The railroads, the banks, the manufactories, the heavy importers, and all classes of business in which millions are invested will maintain the supremacy of the republican party. To avert fearful bloodshed, a strong central government should be established as soon as possible."

Germans Resolve.

If the action of the Milwaukee Turner society can be taken as an indication as to how the German vote is going there is a dark outlook for President McKinley.

The following resolutions were adopted, and they will have a wide affect on the German vote as the society is one of the most prominent organizations in the northwest.

"We recognize in all nations the right to defend their liberty and to assert their independence by force of arms.

"We consider every war for the purpose of territorial expansion to be an act of brutal force, hostile to our American spirit of civilization and humanity.

"We condemn any and every attempt to spread the blessing of civilization at the point of the sword, because it is hypocritical pretext merely, behind which there are lurking the greed and avarice of concentrated wealth.

"We protest against the policy of conquest pursued by our administration and against all expansion of territory of the United States by force of arms."

On a Pretty Face

Glasses are often an improvement—always so on the face of one who really needs them. They drive away that squinting, drawn, unnatural expression seen in defective eyes. The old style, heavy bowed, ill-fitting and ill-looking spectacles, fitted by one's self or incompetents, have given people the idea that glasses detract from one's appearance. Our light, strong, serviceable glasses enhance rather than spoil the looks of the wearer. Eye defects a specialty.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26, 1900.

When old Zach Chandler made Hayes a possibility by claiming his election after the returns showed Tildens' election, he established a precedent that has been slavishly followed by the republican managers of every national campaign since. The republicans have already re-elected McKinley, according to their claims, and the voting ten days hence will be a mere formality. The object of this bluff and bluster is so plain that he who runs may read it. Once get that large portion of the public which takes no personal part in politics other than to vote to accept the idea that McKinley's election is assured, and the way will be paved to work Hanna's plans to secure the election by the corrupt use of money and any other crooked way that presents itself, and those who know little or nothing about the manipulation of the political machinery will be more apt to accept the result so obtained because it had been so confidently claimed before election. "He laughs best who laughs last." The democratic managers could shatter some of the "surface indications," which the republicans are pointing out as assuring McKinley's election, but to do so they would have to show where many thousand Bryan votes are which the republican bosses are fondly counting for McKinley, and that they do not deem it good policy to do. It is the "silent vote" which they are depending upon to elect Bryan and Stevenson, and to locate that vote for the republicans would be to make trouble for the voters and to lose much of it. Just let every democrat keep his shoulder to the wheel and remember that November 6 is the day on which the president will be elected.

The slobbering—the word isn't elegant, but it is exactly expressive in this case—of the men who first kicked the late John Sherman out of the senate to make room for Hanna and then kicked him out of the cabinet, where he had only been a figure head while Day performed the duties of secretary of state, over the death of Mr. Sherman, which occurred in Washington this week, is about as disgusting an episode as the political world has seen on this side of the Atlantic. It was killing a man and then praising him for his many virtues. Mr. Sherman was not a political paragon. He belonged to the school which follows the motto, "The end justifies the means," and he left a long string of his political friends in the ditches he crossed in his extended political career, but it is certain that he never treated any of them as badly as he was treated by the Hanna-McKinley crowd. Some think that Mr. Sherman died from a broken heart, but there is no evidence that his heart was the kind that breaks. That he had been a soured and disgusted man ever since his failure to capture the presidential nomination of his party everybody knows, as he advertised the fact in his book of recollections; but as he always was glacial and ungenial it is not likely that disappointment shortened his life. He was seventy-eight and he had been a hard worker. That is enough to account for a death from natural causes.

Bank examiners that can detect fraudulent manipulation of bank books by crooked employes is a needed reform which has been emphasized by the news of a $700,000 defalcation of an employe of the First National bank of New York city. Secretary Gage was inclined to treat the matter rather lightly, when asked why the bank examiners employed at high salaries by his department had not discovered the big defalcation in their examinations of the bank's books. He said, nonchalantly, as though it were a matter of no consequence: "Our examiners cannot be expected to discover an old defalcation when the bank officers themselves have not found or suspected it. The First National bank can stand it easily, with a surplus of $6,000,000." These few words of Secretary Gage are a strong indictment of the national bank system, as it is now run. If the bank examiners "cannot be expected" to find crookedness until it is pointed out to them by the bank officers, pray, how do they earn their salaries? If the people elect Mr. Bryan president, he will get a secretary of the treasury who will expect more of the bank examiners, and will see to it that they are men with knowledge and skill enough to meet his expectations. This particular bank has been such a pet of republican secretaries of the treasury, since 1877, when it jumped into prominence as one of the most successful New York banks, through favors given it by the treasury department, that the bank examiners may have been afraid to look too closely into its books.

The government service is in a crippled condition in all the departments and is likely to remain so until after the election, owing to the absence of nearly all of the responsible officials, who are in the field doing political work of some kind, or putting up a bluff that they are, while their salaries are going right along. A man filling a scientific position in the department of agriculture thus voiced his disgust: "This is our busy time, and we need our full force. The service is being neglected by the very men, and by their orders, who prate about 'giving the people a business-like administration.'"

Brave Explorers.

Like Stanley and Livingstone, found it harder to overcome malaria, fever and ague, and typhoid disease germs than savage cannibals; but thousands have found that Electric Bitters is a wonderful cure for all malarial diseases. If you have chills with fever, aches in back of neck and head, and tired, worn out feeling, a trial will convince you of their merit. W. A. Null of Webb, Ill., writes: "My children suffered for more than a year with chills and fever; then two bottles of Electric Bitters cured them." Only 50 cents. Try them. Guaranteed. A Reliable Cowcatcher.

By this whimsical incident the Chicago News reminds us that in real life as well as in the dictionary words have more than one meaning:

"Pardon me," said the tourist as he gazed at the country's first locomotive, "but why is that lasso hanging under the smokestack?"

"That," responded Amber Pete, acting engineer, "is the cowcatcher. That was an iron concern that came with the engine, but the boys didn't exactly understand how it could catch a cow, so they unscrewed it and put on one that they knew something about. It's the best cowcatcher this side of Denver too."

A Text Book for the Campaign of 1900

BY W. H. HARVEY,

Author of "Coin's Financial School."

This Book is Now Having a Wonderful Circulation.

The retail price is 25 cents. In size it is 35 pages larger than "Coin's Financial School," profusely illustrated, with best paper, enameled cover in two colors. Its treatment of the subjects of Money, Trusts and Imperialism is exhaustive and yet simple and plain as A B C's. It will educate and arouse the American people to a common defense of their homes and the heritage of free institutions. It teaches organization and points out the remedy. It is educational and practical. It should be in the hands of every man, woman, boy and girl in the United States.

The book is a school, and the little boy COIN is the teacher. His school in May, 1894, "Coin's Financial School," electrified a nation and moulded the political sentiment of a National Political Party.

COIN ON MONEY, TRUSTS AND IMPERIALISM may be expected to rally anew the forces of human liberty.

The "Thrifty Citizen's" Interest.

A red hot organ of McKinleyism asks, "What are trusts and militarism and imperialism to any thrifty citizen of New York?" And its answer is, "A painted devil and a mares nest."

The trusts have made it impossible for the "thrifty citizen" to engage in any one of a hundred kinds of business that used to be open to everybody. The mercilessly close works and factories throw thrifty citizens out of employment. They arbitrarily fix the prices of hundreds of articles which merchants are permitted to sell only by their grace, and they forbid the thrifty citizen from selling any article which they do not control, under penalty of proscription and ruin to his business. They make the thrifty citizen who is a consumer pay higher prices for their products than they are sold for in foreign markets. And they corrupt politics and pervert to their own selfish ends the government which the thrifty citizen pays to support.

The victims of trusts—who include nearly the whole people—will be interested in learning, on the eve of election, that in the view of a McKinley organ these monopolies are merely a painted figment of the imagination.

What militarism and imperialism do to thrifty citizens is equally plain. It is they who have supplied the 5,321 soldiers sacrificed in the war in the Philippines. Has any jingo politician or commercial statesman or money seeking "expansionist" lost his life in the attempt to reap glory and extend trade in the east? No! The victims of this wretched war of criminal aggression have all been brave regular soldiers of "thrifty citizens" who volunteered. Imperialism everywhere and always plays with the lives of the common people as pawns.

Were the 51 corpses, the 467 sick soldiers, the 58 convalescents and the 12 insane who arrived at San Francisco on the latest transport from Manila, and the "2,000 physical wrecks left behind," merely the victims of a "mare's nest?"

But it is not lives and health alone that are sacrificed in Mr. McKinley's policy of imperialism and militarism. The "thrifty citizens" are called upon to pay the expenses of his war. This has already amounted to $200,000,000 and is costing $4,000,000 a week. When the jingo statesmen at Washington voted war taxes did they lay them on incomes or on wealth in any form, as their imperialist brothers in England did to sustain their war against freedom in South Africa? Not at all! Nineteenths of our national taxes are collected from consumption—the most of it from the common necessities of life.

As our imperial plutocrats protected their persons from the perils of war, so they guarded their pockets from the levies of the tax gatherer to support the war.

If the imperialists had been compelled to fight their own war and the trade expansionists obliged to pay the bills, the trouble in the Philippines would never have happened. — Eew York World.

Public School Notes.

The High school opens Monday morning in the new High school building.

The board has passed an order for another first grade teacher, to be employed in the High school building. This will swell the corps of teachers to 25.

The grades in the new school building will be the first, second, third, fourth and fifth. The city is to be redistricted, so as to make it as convenient for pupils as possible, and also to avoid the little ones having to cross the railroad tracks going to and from school.

Miss Meed, the assistant teacher in the eighth grade arrived last week and Monday took up her work.

Miss Cass, the fifth grade teacher, Central school, has been confined to her home by illness.

The enrollment for the month has reached 864, and is fast approaching the 900 mark. This is an increase of 21 per cent over the corresponding month of last year.

The per cent of attendance is 97, which is exceedingly good, and the enrollment is remarkably good when the fact that the new books had to be purchased is taken into consideration.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six terrible failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. M. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and that he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of throat, chest and lungs, including coughs, colds, la grippe, pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough. 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at Quiett & Ayres Drug store.

Promise of the New Democracy.

The promise of the new democracy is constitutional government. The most casual observer of current events cannot but see that our present national administration considers the constitution as an instrument to nullify undesirable legislation, rather than as a guide for the action of the ruling powers.

No candid republican but admits that Wm. McKinley has stretched the constitution to the breaking point, if he has not openly disregarded its plainest provisions.

He may deplore this action, like Senator Hoar, while hoping, or pretending to hope, that this action may be only temporary; that the administration will see the error of its ways and return to legitimate government. He may sneer at constitutional law, like Congressman Cannon, and let his hearers draw the inference that the constitution is a "has been"—a back number—and that any one who takes the trouble to study its provisions and apply them to present conditions is an old fogey. Whatever course he may take, he cannot shut his eyes to the fact that the present administration has violated both the letter and the spirit of the fundamental law of the land.

The new democracy promises to abide by the constitution. True, it acknowledges its intention, should the necessity arise, of taking advantage of the constitutional method for its amendment. But until then, it promises to obey it.

The new democracy promises that the declaration of independence shall not be ignored; that it shall continue to occupy its time honored place, from which "new" republicanism would hurl it, as a living declaration of the duty of man to man.

The promise of the new democracy is the equality of all men before the law. It is a protest against government by injunction for the people, and no government at all for the trust.

The new democracy is progressive. The spirit of the times is at work among its members, and the writer makes bold to say that it will not be far behind the issues which changing conditions are daily and hourly thrusting to the fore.

Under its banner are arrayed men of radical thought, men it is true, at present, who are far ahead of the principles enunciated in its platform, but who see in those principles the stepping stones to grander and greater possibilities.

The promise of the new democracy is that manhood shall not be subservient to money, nor commerce elevated above humanity.

The new democracy yields to none in its respect and veneration for the stars and stripes. To force it upon alien and unwilling subjects, is as far from its intention as to haul it down from above willing and loyal citizens.

Political prophesy is not in our line. We cannot give you the political complexion of the next electoral college nor name the next governor of the state of Washington, but this much is plain.

The United States, the world, will be the better for the campaign the new democracy is now waging. Whether it wins a glorious victory, or sustains a no less glorious defeat, the cause of true democracy, of genuine republicanism, will have made a marked advance.

This is an object worth fighting for. It is a battle in which a presidential campaign is a mere incident, the leaders of today incidental. It is a struggle as old as right and wrong, the final outcome as certain as the rising of tomorrow's sun.

The new democracy is, perforce, the exponent of the masses. Plutocracy is too well served to think of, or desire, a change. Democracy has no other course but to serve the people.

The promise of new democracy is democracy.—Olympia Standard.

Either Bryan or McKinley.

Either Bryan or McKinley will be elected president the first Tuesday after the first Monday of next month.

Either the republic or the empire will be endorsed.

If Bryan wins it will mean the end of a war of conquest for unholy greed.

If McKinley wins it will mean that that war will go on; that American ideals will be repudiated; that national faith will be betrayed; that the rights of man will be denied; that the declaration of independence will become a mere mockery; that the constitution will be ignored; that polygamy and slavery will be endorsed; that Asiatic labor will take the place of the American laboring man, and that all for which we have stood and of which we have boasted and of which we have been honestly proud during a hundred and twenty-five years of glorious national history will be put behind us for a mean and ignoble ambition.

The citizen must choose. He may affect to believe that there is some other duty before him but that of deciding between the republic and the empire. But if he shall vote for any other man than for Bryan he will vote to strengthen the arm of imperialism and to cripple that of free government.

The issue cannot be dodged. It is either the republic or the empire. Which shall it be? Which does the citizen want?

If he desires the republic to stand he must vote for Bryan.

If he is careless whether it stand or fall he may vote for anybody else or fail or refuse to vote at all. And that will be his contribution to the coming of the Man on Horseback.—New York Journal.

Editor Sees Wonders.

Editor W. V. Barry of Lexington, Tenn., in exploring Mammoth Cave, contracted a severe case of piles. His quick cure through using Bucklen's Arnica Salve convinced him it is another world's wonder. Cures piles, injuries, inflammation, and all bodily eruptions. Only 25c at Quiett & Ayre's Drug store.

Broiling a Steak.

The broiling of steak often fills the house with smoke and the meat odor. In many cases this can be avoided by as simple an expedient as opening the dampers of the stove or range when the broiler is put on and letting the draft carry the fumes up the chimney. A great many things that are odious in housekeeping may be avoided by "knowing how."

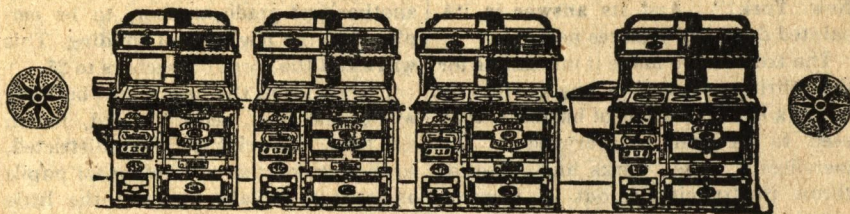

An Unmentioned Gift.

A gift that was not included in the published list of wedding presents received by a newly married Missouri couple was a receipt for ten years' back subscription due from the groom to one of the neighboring county papers, the generous contribution of the big hearted publisher.—Kansas City Journal.

A new time card went into effect on the Northern Pacific Sunday last. The North Coast Limited trains have been taken off and in their place the Burlington is operating a train service between Billings and Portland. The new time card is as follows: Train No. 3 west bound arrives at 5:46 a. m.; No. 11, west bound, 4:35 p. m.; No. 4, east bound, 3:21 p. m.; No. 12, east bound 2:10 a. m.

The authorities are in possession of facts, which they claim are positive, that the man who murdered W. W. Scott at Prosser is named Jos. Wilson alias Harry Miller and that there is evidence at hand that Miller and Mike Nooner, who is now in the county jail, were the two men who held up Cleman and Brooker on a Northern Pacific train this spring. Miller, Nooner and Harry Morgan have been operating along the lines of the Great Northern, O. R. & N. and

N. P. for the past two years. Morgan is the man recently taken from here by the sheriff of Walla Walla county, and who was convicted of highway robbery and given a sentence of twelve years in the penitentiary.

Edward Baxter Perry is coming to give a piano recital in North Yakima, Nov. 24. He is the greatest blind pianist known and no such artist ever has been secured here before. To the ladies musical club is due the opportunity to hear a musician who is known as an artist on two continents, and it is to be hoped the good people of North Yakima will assist them to secure the $100 it takes to get him to stop here on his way to Seattle.

The Catholic fair held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week was well patronized and a decided success. There was a program rendered each evening consisting of vocal and instrumental music, drills by the children of the Sister's school. Little Miss Annie Nevin captured the first prize doll, while Vivian Englehart was awarded the second doll. The contest to decide who was the most popular young lady was participated in by Misses Birdie Bartholet and Clara Tucker. The former secured the first prize—a diamond ring, while the latter received the second prize—an opal ring. Probably no fair or bazar ever held in this city was so well patronized as was this one. The handsome set of dishes raffled off was won by Miss Blew.

Naturalization papers were taken out Monday by the following persons: James Wright and Albert Wright, natives of Canada; Thos. H. Larson and James Demott, natives of Denmark; Frank Stahl, of Germany; James Rowan, of Ireland; George Stading, of Russia, and Jan Hendrick Dyksterhuis, of the Netherlands.

The four year old daughter of W. J. Foster, living on the Upper Cowichie was burned to death on Saturday last. Mrs. Foster was alone with her two small children and had to leave the house to do some outside work. Hearing the children screaming she hurried to the house to find the clothing of the eldest child in flames. She endeavored to tear the burning clothing from the body of the little one, but being unsuccessful, carried her into the yard to a water trough. The burns were of such a serious nature that life soon fled. The little girl was a niece of Henry Stutsman, of this city, who lost a son in a burning building recently.

One of the Most Difficult of Languages to Learn.

It is well known that the Chinese language is one of the most difficult to master, and for us to attempt this task after we have finished our school years is excessively trying and difficult. Certainly the mistakes one hears of as being made by those who begin to talk and, worse still, preach in a language they fondly imagine they have mastered are ludicrous in the extreme.

I heard of a clergyman who was preaching to a Chinese congregation in the vernacular. "Come to God, oh, my friends; come to God!" he cried (or thought he did) and was considerably surprised to find some of the congregation with broad grins on their faces, while others were frowning blackly. Great was the good man's consternation when he found he had been saying, "Call the pigs, oh, my friends; call the pigs!" His mistake, I believe, was due entirely to putting the accent on the wrong syllable, which altered the whole sense of the words.

The Chinese seem to regard a foreigner speaking Chinese like Dr. Johnson regarded women preaching. "It is like a dog standing on his hind legs," said the learned doctor. "You are not struck with admiration at how well he does it, but you are surprised he can do it at all."—Leslie's Weekly.

Where Wool Is Grown.

The most significant movement in textile industry is the rapid building of cotton mills in the south. It pays to manufacture the cotton where it is grown, and Orange Judd Farmer asks, "How long before the west and southwest will wake up to the fact that it pays to manufacture woollens where the wool is grown?" At present more than half (56 per cent) of the wool produced in the United States is hauled across the continent to New England mills.

"It's a false report," replied Rottingdean. "He married a cashgirl."—Detroit Free Press.

Killed at Toppenish.

A man named Littlefield, who has been in the employ of Wallace & Coburn at Fort Simcoe, was run over by the east-bound passenger train Thursday evening and tearfully mangled. He was seen under the cars by Thomas Robbins, a resident of Toppenish, who, just as the train was pulling out, succeeded in pulling the man out from underneath the train. The unfortunate man lived about three hours. Littlefield has a wife living at Bedford, Maine. He had letters on his person from his wife, and $160 in money.

Littlefield was in North Yakima Thursday afternoon and was shaved at the O. K. barber shop, and it was understood here that he intended beating his way east and must have been on the trucks, and in some unaccountable manner got under the wheels.

Fooled the Foreman.

At one of the iron works in the north of England a good story is told at the expense of one of the foremen at the blast furnaces.

The men known as the barrow men have a certain number of rounds or barrows of ore to wheel to the furnace during their eight hours of labor.

One stormy night the foreman, who was suffering from a severe headache, retired to his cabin; but, being of a suspicious nature, he left the door open that he might hear if anything unusual took place.

The men had worked steadily on for some time, passing the cabin with each barrow of ore on their way to the lift. At last one man in passing the door remarked loudly to another, "One more round, Pat, and then"—But the foreman, overhearing the remark and knowing it was a long way of "knocking off" time, rushed to the door, exclaiming:

"And then what, my man?"

"And then another," coolly replied the barrow man, and the foreman retired. —Liverpool Mercury.

THE JAP. LABOR QUESTION.

From our special correspondent, Seattle, Oct. 31.

Judge Estee of the federal court has just rendered a decision at Honolulu to the effect that a citizen of the isle of Guam is a citizen of the United States and does not need to be naturalized to vote. Under this decision the Chinese, Japanese and Malays in the Philippines can come to the United States and vote as long as our flag remains over these islands.

This decision, together with the other decision of Judge Estee, that these people can come to the United States being citizens of the United States, no matter what may be their nationality or what restriction laws now exist to keep them out, places the white laborer of this country on a basis with the coolie labor of the Philippines.

The policy of the democratic party is to shut them out entirely; the policy of the republican party is to throw down the bars and permit them all to enter. These decisions have caused the laboring men all over the United States to arise in revolt against the McKinley policy. Mayor Phelan, of San Francisco, has wired to Chicago that as a result of these two decisions California will go democratic by over 20,000 as the laboring men and small merchants recognize that their sole salvation from a tidal wave of this cheap labor is the election of Mr. Bryan.

At Seattle, Friday evening, over 5,000 union labor men and business men crowded into the armory to protest against the policy of the present administration with reference to this Asiatic labor, and as a result resolutions were passed pledging this meeting to support for congress the men who would see that restriction laws along this line were both passed and enforced.

Laboring men and business men of the state of Washington you have never yet been called upon by your ballots to determine so important a question. Bear in mind and repeat often this terse, but expressive sentence: "More McKinley, more Japs; no McKinley, no Japs."

It behooves every democrat in the state to watch carefully for political lies which are sure to be sprung by the republicans a day or two before election. While this has been a practice in the past it is liable to be indulged in more freely this year since the republican party in this campaign is controlled absolutely by John L. Wilson and John H. McGraw who have descended, and will continue to descend to anything in a political campaign. The Seattle P.-I., owned by Wilson, has filled its columns with the basest falsehoods since the beginning of the campaign. Instructions have actually gone to its reporters that they "must not tell the truth." Stories sprung at the last moment are never to be relied upon, and if they emanate from the office of the P.-I., they can be safely branded as absolute and malicious falsehoods.

Word has come from the east that the republican campaign committee of Washington will be furnished with plenty of money to be used on the day of election and the night before. The national committee is greatly worried lest the state of Washington go democratic. They figure so closely that the loss of Washington may, perhaps, mean the defeat of McKinley and they propose to save the state if money can do the job. To corrupt voters upon the day of election has been a trick practiced by the republican party for many campaigns. It can be said to the credit of the voters of this state, however, that this kind of politics has always been rebuked and it should be rebuked this year. Every democrat, however, should bear in mind that this money will be on hand for bribery but a sharp lookout will prevent its use.

Case of too Much Tucker.

Local democratic politicians have had the laugh this week on two pious appearing young men who are candidates on the republican county ticket. These two young men, it seems, went in cahoots with a third candidate on the ticket for the purpose of having a big blowout in a front street saloon on Saturday night last. A large number including the three candidates sat down to the feast which not only included all the delicacies of the season, but the choicest refreshments in the shape of wines and liquors.

All went as happily as a marriage bell until towards the close when some of the guests when under the influence of Johnson's best commenced to get hilarious and began to shout for Tucker as the most popular of the trinity of office seekers present. The laudation of Tucker kept up for some time it is said; long enough to make the other two candidates quite white in the face. Finally one of them arose and said angrily, "See here you fellows, what does all this glorifying of Tucker mean? Don't you know that I put up my share for this blowout?" The other candidate also took occasion to say that he had put his good money into this thing and thought he wasn't getting a square deal. Things were then fixed up and the boys' wounded feelings assuaged and the merriment went on.

Run Into a Hole.

Betting on the election reached quite an exciting stage in town this week, several hundred dollars being posted on the result mainly on the gubernatorial candidates.

Wm. Steward made an additional wager with Doc Hill on the governorship which makes $850 in all that was up between the two. John Clerf, a republican of Ellensburg, who is at the same time a supporter of Gov. Rogers, was in town Monday, and hearing that Chairman Hill of the g. o. p. committee, had money to bet on Frink lost no time in looking that important official up. Mr. Clerf said that he would wager from one to five thousand dollars on the election of Rogers. The chairman replied that he did not have that amount to wager. Mr. Clerf then politely intimated that he would be glad to cover any amount that could be conveniently put up. Hill then offered the excuse that as it was after banking hours it would be impossible to arrange a wager that day. On being assured that it was not yet too late the august chairman stated that he wouldn't bet anyway and that settled the matter.

This action on the part of g. o. p. officials is in strong contrast with what it was a month ago, when they wanted to bet everybody that Frink would win.
