CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Routine Business Transacted—Street Improvements Ordered—Stricter Quarantine Regulations Demanded.

Second Street Paving Accepted.

At the regular session of the city council Monday evening, Mayor Shaw and all the councilmen, except Moran, were present.

A petition was read signed by T. D.
Quinn and a number of other property owners on Cherry avenue, asking that the city take steps to condemn a right-of-way for a 60 foot street along that thoroughfare. Referred to city attorney and street and ditch committee.

A petition was read from Kellogg & Ford asking for a permit to erect a two story brick building on lots 13, 14 and 15, block 11. On motion of Liggett the petition was granted.

A petition was read from the Yakima Produce Co. asking for a permit to place scales on Selah street in the rear of their warehouse. Granted.

A petition was read from numerous property owners and business men on Yakima avenue asking that crosswalks be put in on that street between Front and Third. Referred to street and ditch committee.

A petition was read from property owners on South Sixth street asking for a sidewalk to be built on the west side of that street between Walnut and Maple. Granted. A petition for the grading of South Sixth from Spruce to Race was also favorably acted upon.

A report was then read from the street and ditch committee recommending the acceptance of the Second street paving from Contractor McKivor. By unanimous vote the council accepted the report and instructed the city attorney to prepare the assessment roll of abutting property. The city clerk was instructed to draw warrants on the general and district funds and turn the same over to the contractor.

Bids were then opened for the building of a cement sidewalk on the east side of Second street from B to D. W.
F. Powell and Chas. Bruenn submitted bids, that of the former for $1.38 per lineal foot being accepted. Mr. Bruenn's bid was for $1.50 per foot.

The bids to do the city advertising were then opened and read. The Republic's bid was 75 and 37½ cents per square respectively for first and subsequent publications. That of the Herald was 70 and 35 cents. The Washingtonian's bid was 60 and 25, while the DEMO-CRAT's bid was 50 and 25. On motion of Switzer the bid of the DEMOCRAT was accepted.

Chairman Liggett of the committee on cemetery, reported that a committee from the Catholic church had made an offer to purchase the N. W. 10 acres of the Lince tract, now owned by the city, for cemetery purposes, at the rate of $150 per acre in cash. On motion of Wyman the council voted to accept the proposition on behalf of the city.

Switzer stated to the council that he had to some extent investigated the quarantine regulations and had found the same to be entirely lax, giving a number of instances. The board of health was therefore instructed by the council to see that the law was more strictly enforced in the future.

Joe Osborne appeared before the council and filed a complaint against Night Watch Villame for having arrested and jailed him without good cause. Referred to police committee.

City Engineer Wands asked for and was given instructions regarding the fixing of street grades. Adjourned.

Co. E Wins the Trophies.

At last the adjutant general's office at Olympia has given out the following notice of awards fairly won by the militia lowing the crack shots of the state militia are members of Co. E:

the skirmish run 130 points.

THEY TURN IT DOWN.

Mass Meeting of Yakima Citizens Refuse to Endorse the Amended Reservoir Bill.

The assembly room of the Commercial club was crowded Saturday evening with members and other citizens in response to the call for a general meeting to consider the amended reservoir bill as reported by the committee of seven, appointed to redraft the bill at the Tuesday evening meeting.

Chairman Cornett directed Secretary Chandler to read the bill, which was done, after which Edward Whitson was recognized and made a detailed explanation of the entire measure, especially with reference to the amendments added by the committee. Messrs. Engle-hart, Blaine, Lesh and others followed with speeches in advocacy of the measure, while Fred Parker, R. K. Nichols, Vestal Snyder, W. P. Guthrie, W. M.
Thompson, Richard Strobach, John Cleman and others savagely attacked the proposition. The meeting was pretty warm for awhile and burning oratory flowed like the waters of the Yakima river. Although some of the orators seemed to labor under a good deal of mental excitement, the best of feeling prevailed and humorous remarks interjected at times caused everybody to laugh. This was especially the case when "Uncle" Tim Lynch arose to remark that he did not think it wise to refer the matter to the legislature in the present muddled condition of that body.
At times the meeting seemed to almost get beyond the control of the presiding officer, Mr. Blaine in the course of his remarks, stated that the Rattlesnake and Cold Creek valleys drained into the Yakima river. John Cleman promptly took issue with the speaker, asserting that these valleys drained into the Columbia river directly. The proceedings were delayed long enough to enable Mr. Cleman to offer to bet any man in the house that he was right on the proposition. After the adjournment was taken he was accommodated by U. F.
Ditman who accepted Mr. Cleman's offer to wage the sum of $10.

Consideration of the bill was finally ended by a standing vote on a motion made by W. P. Guthrie to table the bill and also to instruct the Yakima representatives in the legislature to oppose the passage of any and all reservoir legislation at this session. The motion prevailed by the emphatic vote of 54 to 21. The announcement of the vote was greeted with cheers by the victors after which the meeting promptly adjourned.

Plenty of Snow in Cascades.

Oscar Brown, the well known trapper, arrived in town Wednesday from his cabin in Cowlitz Pass. He was accompanied by one of the men employed in the Weikel coal camp. The trip was made on snow shoes the most of the way out to the Nile settlement. He says that there is more snow in the Cascades this winter than has been the case for several years, it being from 20 to 30 feet deep on the mountains above the pass, with a hard crust formed.

Mr. Brown, in speaking of the capacity of Bumping lake as a possible storage reservoir, says that a dam 12 feet high would increase the length of the lake for one mile and its width about the same distance. Nature, he says, furnished all the material necessary close by with which to build such a dam.

Mr. Brown has had good success this season and has disposed of several hundred dollars worth of furs.

A Change of System.

Since City Attorney Snyder ruled that the county and not the city is responsible for the care of indigent smallpox patients and families under quarantine, Dr. Frank, the county physician has had most of the cases, which are now much reduced in number to what they were last month.

City officials seem to assume that the new arrangements ought to very materially reduce the future bills of the city health officer, whose rake-off for the month of January amounted to the sum of $450.

Death of Mr. Barrett.

m. from the residence. Interment will be made in the Masonic cemetery.

most of his life and had taught in the public schools of a number of different states. He was an educator of pronounced ability.

Snively Wins His Case.

Attorney H. J. Snively, who returned from Seattle Tuesday night, feels a good deal elated over the victory that he won the day previous in Judge Hanford's court.

Mr. Snively defended Charles McAllister and James Wright, local sheepmen, in the case brought against them by the interior department for the alleged violation of the rules pertaining to grazing permits in the Rainier reserve. Mr.
Snively set up the defense that congress could not delegate its power to legislate to the secretary of the department, which contention was upheld by Judge Hanford. The decision is in line with that rendered recently by Judge Marshal of Utah.

A Washington dispatch to the Spokane Review of Wednesday, stated that these decisions would be practically ignored by the department, which would continue to enforce the old regulations.

The Reservation Canal.

Hon. Jay Lynch, bonded superintendent of the Yakima Indian reservation, on Thursday afternoon filed with the county auditor an appropriation of 1000 cubic feet of water per second of time from the Yakima river for the purpose of supplying water for a canal to be constructed across the Yakima Indian reservation. The paper recites that the work of constructing the said canal to divert the water will be begun within six months.

Mr. Lynch stated that the filing was made in the ordinary way and merely as a precautionary measure. He feels satisfied, however, that the government has the same rights in the river as any other riparian owner, as the reservation has a frontage on the river of 40 miles.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The much amended bill for the storage of water for use in this valley was defeated at a mass meeting of Yakima citizens held under the auspices of the Commercial club last Saturday night. The vote to table the bill was 54 to 21.

The committee, consisting of seven members of the club, had expended a good deal of time in the effort to amend the bill as to make it as satisfactory as possible to that element in the community which objects on principle to corporation ownership of reservoirs. It is safe to assert that a majority of the committee itself was likewise opposed to the principle of corporate ownership, but an analysis of the existing situation convinced them of the necessity of some action looking to the conservation of this valley's water supply being taken immediately and with this end in view the bill was radically modified. It provided that no corporation could take possession of more than one lake and that at any time either the federal or state government could step in and condemn for irrigation purposes the reservoir of any corporation. Other safeguards were engrafted on the bill in order to as fully as possible protect the rights of other appropriators of water as well as the interests of the general public. But, it was all of no avail. An emphatic majority of the people in attendance voted the proposition down and went even further by voting to instruct our representatives in the legislature to oppose any reservoir legislation whatever at this session.

In conclusion, the DEMOCRAT wishes to say that the committee of the club, which recommended the measure repudiated by the meeting, did what it thought was the best thing that could be done at this time for the interests of the whole valley. A majority of the committee was opposed to the principle of corporate ownership of our common water supply, but an investigation of present conditions convinced them of the necessity of doing something at once to relieve the situation. Since this fact is quite generally admitted it is now up to the objectors to propose a better plan. If any of them are able to do so, they will be entitled to the support of the entire community.

REPORTS from Olympia this week would indicate that Speaker Hare makes some professions as to being a pugilist as well as a statesman. At any rate Doc is credited with having invited Lewis of King county into the legislative back yard coupled with the assurance that he, Hare, could lick the Seattle law maker in a holy minute. Lewis, who is the leader of the commission bill forces in the house, seems to have had the temerity to vigorously criticize the alleged fairness of the speaker's rulings regarding the status of that much talked of measure before the house.

The speaker evidently occupies a most unenviable position before the people of the state and all that loose talk about running our Doc for governor may now be dismissed as the veriest moonshine. The speaker's unfortunate predicament has arisen from the attempt on his part to serve two masters at the same time and with equal fidelity. But the scheme wouldn't work. Doc couldn't ride two horses going in opposite directions, for such a feat is morally as well as physically quite impossible.

Doc will be wiser next time, but there is not likely to be a next time in his case.

It is the opinion of the Leader that ere long the question of state division will come up and be given serious consideration. Washington is a large state, almost too large, and there is a natural dividing line.

The industrial fields of eastern and western Washington are dissimilar and in many respects the interests of the residents of the two sections are antagonistic.—Lind Leader.

And that's no idle dream either neighbor. If the clam diggers keep on defeating our commission bills and other legislation sadly needed by central and eastern Washington the people of the whole inland empire will rebel at such treatment and may even go to the extent of demanding division. Of course, we would all rather avoid such an extreme measure, but it may become necessary to carve out a new state.

SEATTLE just now has a big show in the shape of a grand jury that is occupying the boards and at the same time a good deal of space in the daily papers. It is said that there has been a great exodus of "prominent business men" lately to avoid being indicted for having leased their houses for immoral purposes.

An exchange has been studying how to build up a town and make it prosperous, and has the following to say: "Get interested in your town and stand by it. If a rich man starts a project, encourage him; if a poor man, help him. Don't be afraid to stick your hand in your pocket. If you have means, invest in something that will give employment to somebody. Do not kick on every proposed amendment simply because it is not at your own door. Do all you can to beautify the town and your own property also. Be friendly to everybody and courteous to strangers, and never forget that you are a part of the town and that your own department does its share in giving to the town its character. Sell and buy all you can at home. Stand by all enterprising citizens and be ready to do some of the work yourself; and don't gamble or spend your time in prophesying failures."

THE DEMOCRAT is pleased to publish this week a communication from Ludwig Engelmann, the manager of the Rockwood Creamery of this city, entitled "Does Dairying Pay?" Mr. Engelmann is a butter maker of acknowledged ability and the points that he presents in this article are without doubt pertinent and timely. Dairying is, or at least ought to be one of the leading industries of the Yakima valley. It is a business that demands intelligent study in order to secure the best results and as this paper aims to be a vehicle of information we take pleasure in presenting the views of Mr. Engelmann.

The people of this state want a rail way commission. Their interests require that they have such a commission. They are entitled to it and will have it if not at this session of the legislature, at the next. And the defeat of this bill shows that they cannot hope to get what they want—and are entitled to—through the aid of a republican legislature. In this emergency the alternative will be to elect a democratic legislature—a legislature that the people can rely upon to carry out the promises and pledges of the platform on which they are elected. The governor the people trust.—Sumner Herald.

REV. C. M. LANE, formerly of Tacoma and Sumner, has been convicted of bigamy at Gibson, Miss. In addition to the deception he practiced on his parishioners, he seems to have made women and insurance companies the special objects of his insinuating manners and fluency of speech. He had been married to seven women when his career was cut short by a prosaic arrest, followed by an equally prosaic conviction, and some half dozen insurance companies, for which, under different aliases, he had acted as agent, were anxiously awaiting news of his final rounding-up.—Centralia Examiner.

THE annual homeseekers excursions have now begun from the east and it behooves the people of this city to do something toward directing the stream of travel hither. Spokane's Chamber of Commerce is making strenuous efforts to induce the newcomers to settle in territory tributary to that place. Last year Spokane succeeded in keeping a good many of the new people from coming here and without doubt the same tactics will be repeated this year. The Commercial club ought to wake up and, at least, look into the matter.

THE bill to make the running of a gambling house or game a felony, with a penalty attached of from one to three years in the penitentiary, passed the house at Olympia Monday, by a vote of 49 to 26. Speaker Hare and Representative Dunn of this county both went on record in favor of the bill, in spite of the fact that they had the almost united support of the local sporting fraternity at the polls in November.

THERE are no two men in public life in whom Mr. Roosevelt has greater confidence than he has in Senator Lodge and Secretary Root. To select Senator Turner as an associate of these men on the Alaskan boundary commission is therefore about as high a compliment as could have been paid by a republican president.—Spokesman-Review.

Gov. McBride is a stalwart fighter, whatever may be said. While he acknowledges defeat in his conscientious endeavor to subserve the interests of the people, he rises valiantly to the occasion with the declaration, "The fight is only begun," and has strapped on his armor for renewed endeavor.—Olympia Standard.

It is reported that "Ga." Addicks has spent $250,000 in trying to buy a senatorship in Delaware, and yet he seems to be as far from the goal as ever. He should engage the services of George Stevenson, who knows just how to place money where it will do the most good.—Walla Walla Statesman.

It seems pretty tough when a republican house at Olympia refuses to even consider a bill that the republican state platform declared for in the most unmistakable language. But republican promises is one thing and republican performance is quite another thing.

HOOPER Young's father is to marry again, says the Tacoma Ledger, but it is to be fervently hoped that no more Hoopers result.

It is quite evident that no new counties will be created by the present legislature. Wednesday night the House committee by a vote of 7 to 2 reported adversely the bill to create the county of "McKinley." Representatives Hare and Dunn both vigorously opposed the measure. The same evening the Senate committee voted to report adversely the bill to cut Whitman into three counties. The advocates of both bills have therefore thrown up the sponge and given up the fight for this session.

THE many friends of the DEMOCRAT will no doubt be pleased to learn that this paper will continue as the official organ of the city for the ensuing year, the city council of North Yakima having awarded this paper the contract at Monday night's meeting.

COMPANY E of this city can boast of having more and better marksmen than any other militia company in the state. At any rate, as may be seen in another column, our boys get the medals and the money.

They Name It "McKinley."

Doc Angus, who was up from Prosser the first of the week, was pressed by the DEMOCRAT man for an interview and was found to be chock full of enthusiasm as well as information regarding the new county of "McKinley."

Doc, who is an avowed socialist, admits that he, himself, balked when it was first suggested that the name of the late lamented president be given to the new county, but says that he was forced to take his medicine. Prosser wanted to call it "Riverside," the pretty name that he and Editor Brownlow had decided upon two years ago, but the Sunnyside people wouldn't stand for that and insisted on lending the good name of their own town as a cognomen for the new county. Then it was Prosser's turn to buck and her people kicked so vigorously that the Sunnysiders finally agreed to compromise. Somebody suggested that it be called Roosevelt, in honor of the rough rider president, but a number of people were afraid that the name might degenerate into "Rosy" and therefore didn't want that. It was finally concluded that it would be safer to name the new county after a dead statesman than a very live one, so the name of McKinley was finally adopted as a compromise.

Doc says that he has experienced more trouble and perturbation of mind over the birth of the new county than he ever knew before during the course of a long and successful medical practice.

It Comes High.

Drunk with success and arrogantly confident of the future, the big republican majority in the state legislature has thrown all pretense of economy to the winds and is running things on the same extravagant system which plunged the state so deeply in debt before the administration of John R. Rogers.

The number of employees of the present legislature breaks all records. The first four weeks (28 days) of the session has cost the people of the state $37,836.49. The first three weeks cost $30,220.49. This amount included the mileage of members coming to and going from the session. The straight weekly payroll, exclusive of any mileage charges, is $7,616.00. In short, each day of the legislative session is costing $1,092. There is a total of house and senate employees of 105 and the average wage paid them is $4 per day.—Columbia Commonwealth.

Addicks's Commentary on Addicks.

With that utter insensibility to moral considerations which has marked his whole course in Delaware politics the Gasman avows his trick in "withdrawing" from the senatorial contest.

It was his avowed plan to end the deadlock by the election of one of his creatures, two if possible, to the senate, and to continue the debauchery of the electorate to win a majority of the legislature next year and a senatorial election for himself. His unavowed purpose is revealed in the cynical remark to a World reporter: "Of course, if two senators were elected and one of them should die or be killed, the governor would have to fill his place." And so he would, this Addicks governor, if one of the two were to resign!

Better that Delaware should remain unrepresented in the senate than be misrepresented there by a "moral defective."—N. Y. World.

Sentenced to Penitentiary.

Judge Rudkin Monday afternoon sentenced the following prisoners found guilty at the recent term of court. Geo. Finley, (colored) four years in the penitentiary; Jess Reade, four years; Will Hall, one year; Chas. Hodge, two and one-half years.

The two first named were convicted of larceny from the person; Hall for complicity in stealing a harness, and Hodge for embezzling the funds of the Yakima Tea Co., for whom he once acted as collector. Lawyer Thompson made a touching appeal for mercy in the case of Hodge, on the ground that the prisoner was not of sound mind. In the case of Reade, Attorney Crowder gave notice of appeal to the Supreme court. The prisoners were taken to the Walla Walla penitentiary Wednesday night by Sheriff Grant and two guards.

WANTED—500 choppers to chop at the Woodmen's third annual ball, Tuesday, Feb. 24th, 1903. 23-1t

Hanford and Company in "Much Ado About Nothing," Feb. 23.

Charles B. Hanford, that excellent Shakespearean player, with a good company, appeared at the Broadway theatre last night in Shakespeare's most brilliant and witty comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing." Mr. Hanford is a model Benedick and his admirers and everyone in last night's audience approved his good judgment in adding the comedy to his repertoire of Shakespearean plays. He is fully as acceptable a Benedick as he is a Petruchio, and it is a rare pleasure and delight to sit under his reading of Shakespeare. He speaks it as a man who feels it and lives the part, and his pure enunciation and expression is one of the arts possessed too rarely by Shakespearean readers.

Miss Marie Dronah, who is this season Mr. Hanford's leading lady, gives a fine portrayal of Beatrice, combining womanly grace with strong dramatic effect. Another splendid piece of work was done by Ferd Hight as Dogberry. The remaining members of the company were entirely efficient and satisfactory.

The play is magnificently costumed and elaborately staged. The performance of "Much Ado About Nothing" will be repeated at the matinee this afternoon, and this evening for the final performance in Butte the "Taming of the Shrew" will be given.—Anaconda Standard.

DEATHS.

Mrs. L. M. Scroggs, wife of Professor Scroggs of the High school, died quite suddenly at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning from the effect of diabetes. The funeral services were held at the Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon, the remains being shipped from here the following day to the former home of the deceased, at Marshall, Michigan, accompanied by the bereaved husband. Mrs. Scroggs, though a resident of Yakima but a few months, coming here from Alaska with her husband, had made a host of sincere friends, on account of her lovable nature. She was a woman of high intellectual attainments and a writer of pronounced ability. Her contributions to local papers on many different topics were invariably interesting as well as instructive. Prof. Scroggs has the sympathy of the entire community in his great loss. The funeral will probably be held at Marshall next Monday, when all the immediate family of the deceased are expected to be present.

George, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Powell of the west side, died about 10 o'clock Sunday morning as the result of uraemia or blood poisoning. The young man was presumed to be recovering from a mild attack of smallpox when the other complications set in. The patient on Thursday night relapsed into a state of coma, from which the medical attendants were unable to rally him. The funeral was held Sunday under quarantine regulations. The deceased was 27 years of age and had a large circle of friends who regret his untimely taking off.

John McNaughton, aged 75 years, who resided with his niece, Mrs. Geo. Prior, on N. Seventh, died Monday night of diseases incident to old age. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the Baptist church.

Cancer Cured!

Mr. W. W. Prickett, Smithfield, Ill., writes, Sept. 10th, 1901: "I had been suffering several years with a cancer on my face which gave me great annoyance and unbearable itching. I was using Ballard's Snow Liniment for a sore leg, and through an accident, I rubbed some of the liniment on the cancer, and as it gave almost instant relief, I decided to continue to use the liniment on the cancer. In a short time the cancer out, my face healed up and there is not the slightest scar left. I have implicit faith in the merits of this preparation, and it cannot be too highly recommended." 25c, 50c and $1.00. For sale by Fred L. Janeck.

Blackfish Crushers.

"I have watched the blackfish feeding on shrimp and young rock crabs among the stones of the cribwork of the old pier that formerly stood at Holland's Landing, Jansica bay," says Henry Brand in Rod and Gun. "They approach their prey very slowly and without showing any motion of their fins and body, and after succeeding in catching a shrimp they would not dart away the same as other fish do after securing food, but would remain still for awhile and begin to chew and then slowly swim away, looking for more."

"The blackfish is provided with a pair of crushers situated in the back part of its mouth and consisting of two flat groups of ball shaped teeth between which they crush small crustaceans and mussels before swallowing them. The crushing apparatus of a four pound blackfish is about as large as a dime. The blackfish seemingly uses its teeth for loosening mussels from their fastenings and to draw small crustaceans from their hiding places. After the food is secured it is passed to the crushers. When it takes an angler's bait and passes it to the crusher, a peculiar succession of bites is felt by the fisherman, and many a fine one is missed by the angler being too hasty to pull after the first indication of a bite."

Man and Beast.

Nothing can be so terrible to an animal as a human being. They are tamed when the brute seems to recognize instinctively that man belongs to a higher order of creation and is stricken with a feeling akin to awe in his presence.

In a small African village, some years ago, there was a scare about some leopards which were said to have killed a number of goats. Accordingly two white men, accompanied by several natives, set off to hunt them. Presently they found a place in the long grass where it was evident that one of the brutes had recently lain, for the ground was still warm.

The natives formed a ring round it, and the hunters got their guns ready. After a little while the leopard emerged from the long grass and was fired at and wounded, but not fatally. With a great bound he sprang on one of the white men and brought him to the ground. Holding his victim, he turned and growled savagely at the others.

The natives gave a wild yell of fear, and then like a shot the leopard sprang away. He had not been frightened by the guns, but the yell terrified him. Youth's Companion.

A Drop of Water.

A gallon of distilled water weighs 8.333 pounds, and there being four quarts to the gallon and two pints to the quart, and 16 fluid ounces to the pint, and two table-spoonfuls to the fluid ounce, and four teaspoonfuls to the table-spoon, and 45 drops to the teaspoon, a drop of water weighs 0.00018057 pound, slightly more.

A Pathetic Bereavement.

Miss Singer—I saw in the paper that there is to be an entertainment for a "musical orphanage." Pray, what may a musical orphanage be?

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

DOES DAIRYING PAY?

Manager Englemann of the Rockwood

Creamery Gives the Farmers Some Practical Hints as to the Treatment of Their Cows.

A dairyman has three avenues which he may follow in order to convert the product of his herd into cash, viz:

1. Condensery.
2. Making butter or cheese at home.
3. Creamery or cheese factory.

Generally speaking the condensery pays the highest price for milk, and for a farmer who does not look ahead, patronizing a condensery seems to him the best way. In selling "whole milk" the farmer is selling a good deal of the fertility of his farm, and while a farmer during one year receives more for his milk by patronizing a condensery than from a creamery, the latter will pay him more in a series of years; this may sound absurd to the "shallow" thinker but not to the careful, in the future looking dairyman. Without going into details, we will enumerate some important factors which are in favor of the creamery:

1. A patron sells to the creamery simply butter fat, worth at an average 25 cents.
2. He can replace this butter fat by buying flaxseed or linseed at a cost of 10 to 15 cents.

3. He keeps at home the bone and muscle building elements, so necessary for raising young stock, and these elements are the dearest in the market.
4. He has an opportunity of building up a fine herd, thus realizing more for his stock.

5. Additional value of the manure. Now we don't wish to be misunderstood here; and must say that the condensery has done lots of good for the dairymen and will add that in certain cases a condensery is better than a creamery, especially if the farmers don't care to raise calves, as for instance in the Elgin district; there every year hundreds and hundreds of cows are imported from Wisconsin and Minnesota, raised by creamery patrons.

Making butter or cheese at home has many drawbacks. Consider the labor involved in making butter or cheese, the cash outlay for supplies, unavoidable loss in selling the finished product, time consumed in selling etc., and the little advantages that are gained by making butter at home, you will soon find out that the latter are more than balanced; also we admit that making butter at home would be the ideal way, considering this in the light of the doctrine of modern economies, viz: "You must sell the finished product in order to get full value. I refer my reader, for instance to the man who sells flour, and to the man who sells wheat, to the man who sells bacon, ham, and to the man who sells the whole animal, to the man who sells ore and to the man who sells steel and so on.

Taking our middle and northern states as a guide, creameries have increased remarkably, especially in South Dakota, known in former years as a wheat producing state only. The dairy products of the state of Wisconsin were valued in the year 1900 at $32,900,000, of which sum the creamery patrons received $27,000,000; the balance represents the sale of milk and cream. While this factor is quite an item for eastern states, we do not intend in this article to consider the same. Selling milk or cream from the farm is similar to patronizing a condensery, besides local circumstances have such a great influence that it is impossible to treat this subject fully and fairly.

We do not wish to speak on the conditions of the creameries of this state, or of North Yakima in particular, but feel obliged to mention only one point, viz: That the farmers of this valley receive every month in the neighborhood of $15,000 at the present from the five creameries. The money comes practically all from the Sound and is a factor well worth considering carefully, not alone from the standpoint of the farmer, but also from the standpoint of all business men of North Yakima.

If a farmer says dairying don't pay, he certainly don't know how to run a dairy. The Wisconsin farmer has paid his mortgage by his creamery—and hog check. Show me one prosperous farm in the New England states and it is certainly a dairy farm. Why are many of those farmers there poor? Simply because they sold hay, hemp, flax, etc., and never replaced any manure, which they sold in those products.

The greatest misunderstanding prevails about secretion of milk, breeds and test. On the first subject the writer has seen lately an excellent article by Dr. Richards, V. S., which article should be read by every farmer. On the different breeds the writer will publish an article later on, as a subject like this one needs more than a few words.

The creamery man has the most trouble with his patrons about the test. Every farmer wants a high test, not thinking that the total amount of butterfat within a year is the only scale to go by. Let me illustrate this; as an example: Suppose one cow tests 5 per cent and gives 3000 lbs. of milk in a year, or a total of 150 lbs. butterfat, at 25c, means a gross receipt of $37.50. Another cow gives 6000 lbs. a year, testing only 3.8 per cent, giving a total of 228 lbs. of fat, which at the same price means a gross receipt of $57. Now, please, don't look after a high testing cow, but after a "deep and long" milking cow.

The true relation between test, feeds and the nervous system of a cow are not fully understood. As it is beyond the scope of this article to treat scientific matters, we confine ourselves to only a few words. All the experiments conducted in this line have proven that different feeds have little or nothing to do with the test of each individual cow. Any observant farmer will find out that the test is entirely dependent on the nervous system of a cow and is influenced by such factors as change of climate, drinking water, milking and handling cows, and surroundings. Sudden changes of food, of course, influence the test, because it has an effect on the general condition of a cow. For instance, a cow fed on hay and suddenly put on a heavy grain ration will often shrink in milk and lower her test until she gets used to the change of food. We may truly say that foods rich in fat do not increase the percentage of fat in milk.

The higher bred a cow, the more will her test vary, should anything happen. For this reason we do not recommend Jerseys to the average farmer. A Holstein or Durham will answer his purpose better.

The variation of the test of hand separator cream is easily explained and should be understood by every farmer. We will mention the main factors: Temperature of milk, (the warmer the milk, the thinner the cream.) Speed of bowl, (the faster the bowl revolves, the thicker the cream.) Feed, (the more you feed a separator, the thinner the cream,) general condition and richness of milk.

In order to make a success out of dairying, a man must use his muscles as well as his brain, he must know how to manage, to think, to plan for the future, he must study the secretion of milk, feeds, feeding and breeding, he must be a good judge of cows and manage his farm in such a way as to get good results for his labor and time.

Try to build up a herd that will yield 300 lbs. of fat per year per cow and dairying will pay for you.

Vestal Virginia.

Ovid tells us that the first temple of Vesta at Rome was constructed of walled walls and roofed with thatch, like the primitive huts of the inhabitants. It was little other than a circular covered fireplace and was tended by the unmarried girls of the infant community. It served as the public hearth of Rome, and on it glowed, unextinguished throughout the year, the sacred fire which was supposed to have been brought from Troy and the continuance of which was thought to be linked with the fortunes of the city.

The name Vesta is believed to be derived from the same root as the Sanskrit was, which means "to dwell, to inhabit," and shows that she was the goddess of home, and home had the hearth as its focus. A town, a state, is but a large family, and what the domestic hearth was to the house that, the temple of the perpetual fire, became to the city. Every town had its Vesta, or common hearth, and the colonies derived their fire from the mother hearth.

Should a vestal maiden allow the sacred fire to become extinguished she was beaten by the grand pontiff till her blood flowed, and the new fire was solemnly rekindled by rubbing together of dry wood, or by focusing of sun's rays. The circular form and domed roof of the temple of Vesta were survivals of the prehistoric huts of the aborigines, which were invariably round.—Cornhill Magazine.
