OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

WE reproduce herewith an excerpt from the McKinley memorial address delivered by Senator Dolliver of Iowa at Chicago. It will be noted that the republican partisan press or that portion of it that endeavors to make party capital out of the assassination of the late president, has never quoted this sensible speech. Senator Dolliver, who is one of the greatest orators and brainiest statesmen in the republican party, utters sentiments here that all good Americans can heartily approve of: "A government like ours is always slow to move and often awkward in its motions, but it can be trusted to find effective remedies for conditions like these, at least after they become intolerable. But these remedies, in order to become effective, must not evade the sense of justice which is universal, nor the traditions of civil liberty, which we have inherited from our fathers. The bill of rights written in the English language, stands for too many centuries of sacrifice, too many battlefields sanctified by blood, too many hopes of mankind reaching toward the ages to come, to be mutilated in the least in order to meet the case of a handful of miscreants whose names nobody can pronounce. It ought not to be forgotten that conspirators, working out their nefarious plans in secret, in the dens and caves of the earth, enjoy an unconscious co-operation and side partnership with every lawless influence abroad in the world. Legislatures who betray the commonwealth, judges who poison the fountains of justice, city governments which come to terms with crime—all these are regular contributors to the campaign fund of anarchy."

THE erratic genius who presides over the editorial columns of the Ellensburg Localizer, seems to have a grudge at this community. A year ago he sought to begin an agitation for the removal of the State Fair. On having the turn sharply called on him by this paper he promptly desisted. He now tries a different tack. Its too bad, he says, that Yakima is such an unhealthy place. That people die off here like sheep with the scourge, that the hospitals are full of sick men and women. That the doctors themselves are sick, and that those who can are scurrying out of the country to avoid the epidemic. Editor Schnebly says so many silly things that he is usually amusing. In this case the misinformation he gives his readers is so palpably based on a lie that he is simply disgusting. Why bless his old foggy soul there were only eleven funerals in the last month, out of a population here of 12000! Does not that fact alone sufficiently answer his tissue of brazen falsehoods? What can it profit him or the community which he assumes to serve to publish such venomous lies about conditions here? Is he paid for it or is it simply the work of the green eyed monster?

IT'S a dull week now in the politics of this state when three or four republican candidates for the senatorship fail to bob up serenely. According to the newspapers, H. C. Preston of Seattle, and Ex-Governor Miles C Moore of Walla Walla, are avowedly in the race for the toga now worn so gracefully by Senator Turner. Chas. B. Sweeney, a mining operator and alleged millionaire of Spokane, has also, it is said, placed himself in a receptive position behind his principal John L. Wilson, in order to fall heir to that gentleman's political property in case he falls in the fight. Preston of course, hailing as he does from King county, can hardly be said to have a show for success, handicapped as he is by the kindergarten school of politics in vogue there. Besides he lives on the wrong side of the mountains. Neither is the candidacy of Ex-Governor Moore to be regarded seriously. Especially so, if he sticks to his expressed intention of making the race without the use of money, since he lacks apparently the backing of any machine. Moore's party record too, it must be remembered, is a trifle shady since it has been but a short time since he was lined up with the fusionists and was flirting only a year ago with the democrats in the hope of procuring their gubernatorial nomination. Besides all the avowed candidates a number of dark horses are in the field, among whom is classed Congressman Jones of this city. Like Barkis they are all willing. In this connection it may not be amiss to suggest that the people of this state may have something to say as to who shall be senator. Sometimes the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft a-glee.

BR'ER JOHN MILLER MURPHY, the able editor of the esteemed Standard of Olympia, is alarmed after perusing a ghost story in the Tacoma Ledger. The story referred to is made up wholly out of the lively imagination of the Ledger's Walla Walla correspondent, who sees in every move of the state administration a dark, deep laid scheme to shelve Senator Turner and elevate either Gov. Rogers or H. J. Snively to his seat in the American "house of lords." At this suggestion Br'er Murphy literally tears his hair and refuses to be comforted. Editor Murphy is a veteran player in the game of politics and ought not to be so easily imposed upon. Let him rest his soul in peace. There is no danger of anybody but a republican stealing the senatorship.

THIS being an off year in politics there is but little significance in a national sense in the different state and municipal elections held Tuesday. The contests everywhere, except in Ohio, were determined by local issues. Tammany is badly beaten in New York. Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa are republican as usual, while the border states of Virginia, Maryland and Kentucky have all gone democratic. In each of the latter two states the republicans lose an U. S. senator. The defeat of Shepard for the New York mayoralty is wholly due to the present unpopularity of Tammany rule, as greater New York is normally democratic by an overwhelming majority.

POOR old man Morton, who once enjoyed the distinction of being vice president of the United States and subsequently governor of New York, is the latest millionaire American to invest in a titled husband for his daughter. The young woman it seems, has corralled a French duke who though long on pedigree was short of cash. A bargain was quickly struck and the "Juke" fairly caught. Levi P. Morton, so the dispatches say, consummated the deal by putting up enough coin to buy back the the young man's ancestral estate and pay his gambling debts. Titled husbands come high but our rich American girls must have them.

RICHARD CROKER, corrupt though he may be, is not half so bad a man as his venomous critics among the pharisees of New York try to make him appear. There is a good deal of rugged manhood in Croker and he carries within his breast a big heart. He has probably done more for the poor people of New York than all the googoo-pharisee crowd combined. Besides Croker is a game loser. If the googoo's had lost they would keep squealing for the next four years.

SEVERAL of our readers have commended the position taken by this paper last week in advocating the repair of certain county roads before winter sets in. In local affairs particularly, it is the aim of this paper to reflect the sentiment of the people and there is no question but what we did do so in this case. Now let the honorable board of county commissioners take the hint and act on it promptly.

THE first issue of the "Washingtonian" appeared this week. The new paper is bright in appearance though diminutive in size. As the Irishman said to the butcher in speaking of his runty pig, it's wee, but it's mighty good eating. The Washingtonian is wee, but it's mighty interesting reading.

THE American Fraternal Club is bound to be a success because it had its inception in Yakima and will ever maintain its headquarters here.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT by proclamation, has named Thursday, Nov. 28th as the day for national thanksgiving.

Charles Carpenter has sold his Ahtanum ranch of 60 acres which included a 10 acre hop yard, to A. H. Purviance.

A Washington dispatch states that Congressman Jones and family have arrived in that city and are comfortably settled for the winter.

Some mischievous boys on Halloween night, took down and exchanged a number of the newly placed street signs that had just been put up for the city by Merwin & Hazel.

The Guiland house, an old land mark in this city, changed hands Nov. 1st, some parties from Toppenish having purchased the lease and contents from A. C. Bollenbach.

The contracting firm of Sisk & Allen are engaged at present in putting in a new sidetrack for the N. P., at Roza. This firm also have contracts for sidetracks at Toppenish, Alfalfa and Badger.

The county auditor on Saturday issued a marriage license to James Albert Oates and Miss Daisy M. Keller. On Monday to Andrew Mikota and Miss Hannah P. Hunt and on Tuesday to Marshal S. Scudder and Miss Anna Meyer.

Messrs. Zimmer and Geisel have bought the blacksmith shop of J. H. Lockwood on South Second street opposite the O. K. barn. The new proprietors have the reputation of being first class workmen. Read their announcement in this paper.

Dr. S. B. Nelson of the Pullman college faculty and state veterinarian, passed through on Wednesday enroute to Tacoma. He informed the DEMOCRAT that he expected to be here later in the season for the purpose of delivering a lecture on the live stock industry before the Cattle Growers' association.

The local lodge of Modern Woodmen being temporarily without a home, have made arrangements to meet in the Commercial club rooms in order to comply with the provisions of its charter. The probabilities are that as soon as the club vacates its present quarters the rooms will be leased by several fraternal orders.

The evangelical services held nightly under the auspices of the M. E. church in the Switzer block terminated Sunday night. Rev. Guy M. Martin and the Beck family of jubilee singers left the following day for Seattle, where the same work is being pursued. Rev. Martin was quite successful in his work here, quite a large number of converts having been secured.

The old saying, "that it's an ill wind that blows nobody good" particularly applied to goose hunters last Tuesday. The high wind brought the birds to the ground and the sportsmen who were on hand that day in the Horse Heaven hills were richly rewarded. Tom Fisher and his brother brought back 50 on Wednesday and others are said to have done nearly as well.

The Hon. Secretary of the Interior has designated and instructed Engineer W. H. Redman to classify the allotted lands of Yakima reservation for leasing purposes. No leases will be made for more than three years until this work has been completed and approved by the department. Classification will settle the question of length of term for which leases can be made.

It is announced that work will soon be commenced on the I. O. O. F. temple. Work on the superstructure, however, will be deferred until early spring. Coffin Bros., it is understood, have signed a 10 year lease of the lower floor, which that firm will use for mercantile purposes in connection with the building they expect to erect on their property adjoining.

Messrs. Smoldon and Sammons have purchased the livery business of G. McL. Richards of the O. K. stable and will run the same hereafter. Mr. Smoldon is the man who was in charge of the string of fast horses owned by "Lord" Kennedy the English turfman, who won so many prizes at the State Fair here two years ago. He thinks that the Yakima valley is an ideal place for the breeding and training of fast stock.

Justice Taggard heard a case Tuesday and Wednesday which probably made him feel much as old King Solomon is supposed to have felt when called on to decide a vexed question between two women. It was between two men in this case and neighbors, Messrs. Greenwalt and Tweedy, of the Ahtanum, each of whom brought a suit against the other. A very interesting legal battle was fought over the matter between Messrs. Snyder and Delle on one side and W. M. Thompson on the other.

don and Caroline E. Steward of Ellensburg. On Monday filings were made by Oliver Imes, F. Carstens and Chas. Norman all of Lucas, Klickitat county.

Dr. C. E. White of this city, made a desert filing Monday on a valuable tract of 160 acres under the Selah-Moxee canal. The land has been under contest for several years and Dr. White purchased a relinquishment from both litigants.

Homestead filings were made later in the week by the following parties: Valentine Rettig, North Yakima; Frank Sampson, Willis R. Birge, Alfred Bedouin and Herman Herberg, Prosser; I. M. Mitchell, Mabton. All of these filings with the exception of the first named, were on land situated in the Rattlesnake country.

The Scudder-Meyer Nuptials.

As announced, the marriage ceremony uniting for life Captain Marshal S. Scudder and Miss Anna R. Meyer, took place at the Episcopal church in this city at high noon Wednesday. The little church was a perfect bower of beauty, having been specially decorated for the occasion by an artist from the Sound.

Miss Bessie Scudder, a sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, while Dell Hiscock gracefully acted the part of best man. The beautiful marriage ceremony of the Episcopal church was read in a most impressive manner by Bishop Wells. The charming bride was given away by her brother, Cort Meyer.

After the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal couple followed by a host of friends, repaired to the home of Mr. Meyer, where an elegantly prepared lunch was in waiting. Mr. and Mrs. Scudder left on the afternoon west bound train. They will be at home to their friends in this city after November 25th.

"The Casino Girl," Nov. 14th.

Manager Fournier announces that he has secured "The Casino Girl," which has proved the chiefest of the musical comedy successes of the New York Casino. The extravaganza or gayety, as it may be termed, is of the usual texture of that distinctive and delightful class of musical conceits that have, within the past half dozen years, become so popular throughout the country. Comics, clever melodies, and vaudevilles are blended with pagentry and spectacle. The result is an entertainment of sufficient variety to satisfy the most carping theatre goer. The story has to do with the adventures of an American comedienne, sojourning in Cairo, her sweetheart, a young Englishman, two comic opera robbers, a German brewer, who becomes a pasha of Egypt and incidentally is the prime mover in the hilarious fun making, and in addition there are the countless characters, whose efforts add to the general merriment. The scenes pass in modern Cairo and are superbly decorated. The feminine choristers are all young and attractive, both in face and figure.

Please allow me to tender my resignation as school clerk of District No. 7, to take effect November 14th 1901.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

E. E. James the popular photographer, has bought and will conduct in the future a gallery in Ellensburg.

Howard Dirk went to Ellensburg Friday to take a position as stenographer in a lawyer's office in that city.

J. W. Spahr has resigned his position as manager of the Hotel Lape at Prosser, and returned to this city Friday.

The Yakima county teachers' institute will meet in the High school building on the 18th and continue in session four days.

E. M. Reed, former editor of the Herald, bobbed up serenely Thursday, having come over from Walla Walla for a few days' visit.

The DEMOCRAT's job office turned out some wedding cards this week, but as we are pledged to secrecy we can't give the news away.

Young Clarence Roaf broke his arm Saturday by falling from a turning pole on which he was practicing. The fracture is now mending nicely.

Thomas Jefferson, a son of the famous actor, Joe Jefferson, will appear at Larson's theatre, November 15th, in "Rip Van Winkle". The indications are that he will get a big house.

The American Fraternal Club initiated another large class of candidates Thursday evening, some sixty odd being taken in. Members for the most part received their insurance certificates.

A marriage license was issued Thursday to Sam Foster and Miss Bertha McMullen. The couple were married the same evening by Justice Taggard. The groom is in the employ of E. C. Burlingame.

Postmistress Sperry announces that box rents must be paid promptly before the 10th of each month when due, otherwise the boxes will be rented to other parties. There are more applications than boxes to rent in the local office.

It is understood that several of the property owners on Moxee avenue, through Attorney Guthrie, are preparing to file injunction proceedings against the grading of that street by the city on the ground that the estimated cost is excessive.

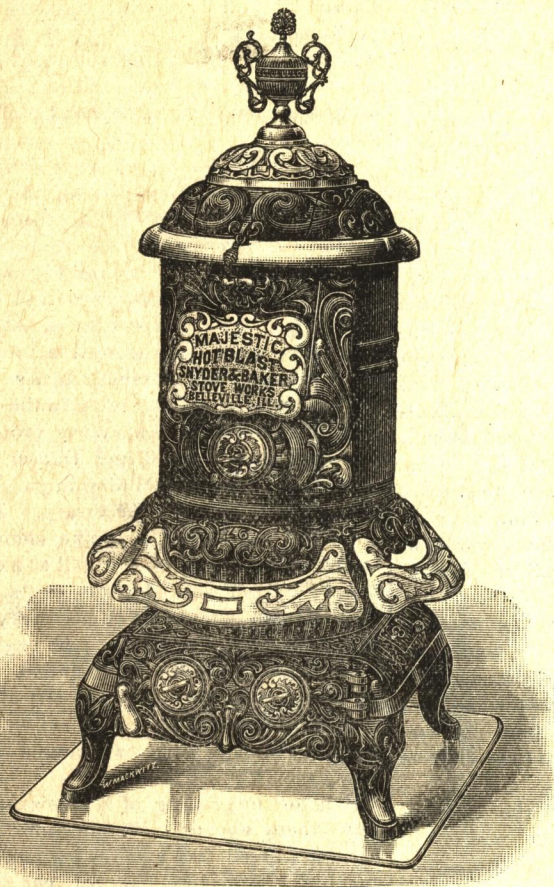

There is but little change this week in local market conditions. Only a few small sales of hops are reported at from 9½ to 10c. Potatoes still remain about the $15 mark. The freight congestion still continues and all warehouses are chuck-a-block with produce.

The French settlers in the Moxee have petitioned the county superintendent to establish for them a new school district. There are now about 30 scholars in the proposed new district, but this number will be considerably augmented on the arrival of seven new families, who are now on their way from Minnesota.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Council Disposes of a Large Grist of Business.

The city solons met in regular session Monday night, the mayor and all members of the council being present except Sinclair. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read by Clerk Doust and were approved.

Chairman Hall of the street and ditch committee, asked that a warrant for $150 be issued to pay Wm. McKivor, the contract price for changing the course of the Schanno ditch after the work had been formally accepted by the committee. The warrant was ordered issued.

Hall, as a member of the committee on fire limits reported the cost estimate made by Electrician Arru-smith for installing a complete fire alarm system at $251.35. On motion of Hall the council appropriated that amount.

Mrs. B. B. Coombs as a committee from the Red Cross society, appeared before the council and asked that a public drinking fountain be established and maintained by the city at some point on Yakima avenue. Referred to committee on public improvements.

The clerk then read the grist of monthly bills, among which was one of $195.50 from the State Fair commission. This bill represented a portion of the expense assumed by the commission in the way of bedding purchased for the use of visitors during Fair week. Allen and Reed vigorously opposed the payment of this bill and a rather acrimonious discussion ensued. On a roll call the bill was allowed, Donald, Weed, Shaw and Hall voting in the affirmation and Allen and Reed in the negative.

A resolution of intention for the grading of South First street from Chestnut to Spruce was read and passed unanimously.

An ordinance for the grading of Moxee avenue for a distance of seven blocks, was passed unanimously after considerable discussion.

Reports for October of various city officials were then read, that of the sexton showed 11 burials and $22 collected for the month.

Police Judge Lince reported $384 collected in fines and nine saddles held in hock as security for the payment of fines levied.

Marshal Boyle's report showed that 63 nuisances had been abated, 132 arrests made and 93 meals fed to prisoners.

After the reading of the reports a rather acrimonious tilt occurred between the marshal and city attorney and police judge. The tempest in a teapot arose over what was deemed a proper construction of the marshal's duties.

The matter of making room in the city hall for the new fire apparatus ordered was next discussed. Chief Hauser addressed the council outlining in part the changes he thought necessary. The chief was authorized to make changes in the second story of the hall at a cost not to exceed $25. It was explained that changes would also be necessary on the lower floor before the new engine, hose cart and horses were installed. On motion of Hall the mayor and city clerk were authorized to close the deal for the purchase of the chemical engine and hose cart.

Bids for the grading of Moxee avenue were then opened. Burlingame bid $1.08 per lineal foot and 15c per foot for curbing. McKivors bid 89c per foot for the grading and 12c for curbing, after a good deal of talk the contract was awarded to McKivor.

Flushing the city sewers was the next point considered. Weed made a red hot speech urging the immediate necessity of flushing. After he had concluded his remarks Engineer Marble arose and stated that he had performed that work three weeks ago.

Allen moved that an order be made for the repair of all leaking hydrants before cold weather set in—carried.

Donald moved that the services of the street commissioner and his force be dispensed with for the season and that work turned over to the city marshal—carried.

Councilman Allen then tendered his resignation stating that he was about to remove from the third ward. Several of the councilmen urged him to reconsider the matter and paid that gentleman some nice compliments regarding his value as a city official. Mr. Allen finally agreed to withdraw his resignation and serve the remainder of his term.

Marshal Boyle reported that Policeman Marchidon had been off duty most of the month on account of illness and asked that his full salary for the month be allowed, which after some argument was finally agreed to.

No further business appearing, the council then adjourned.

Cole's Hot Blast "Air-Tight" ...Stoves...

This stove is built on scientific principles. It has the following points of superiority over old fashioned stoves:

FIRST—It can be regulated so as to give entire control over the fire.

SECOND—It is air-tight and therefore the most economical, as the heat is prevented from going up the flue.

THIRD—It will burn any kind of fuel and without a change of fixtures.

FOURTH—It will hold a fire for 36 hours, a fact which every housekeeper knows, saves much work and worry.

FIFTH—It is so constructed as to do away with the smoke nuisance, thereby saving much annoyance.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31, 1901.

President Roosevelt is doing some very hard thinking these days and the results are by no means reassuring. A month ago he had no conception of the dilemmas a man who desired above all else to be true to his country, his party and his own chances of a second term would find in the White House. He is, however, having these things thrust upon him. He finds a growing demand in the west for a reduction of those schedules of the tariff which are protecting the trusts and this demand is being fed by such men as Babcock to whom local issues and the demand of his own constituents seem to be all important. On the other hand he finds that he is almost powerless to effect any relief from present conditions. He is beginning to realize that, after all, a president's power is limited in many ways and in many directions.

The party leaders have, in response to the president's request, been coming to Washington and most of them tell him that it will be simply impossible to secure any legislation by the coming congress that does not meet with the entire approval of the trusts. They tell him that while reciprocity is excellent as "a talking point" it will not "go" with the senate. They tell him that he must not try to effect any legislation which will prove of advantage to Cuba because the party is pledged to protect the sugar interests in this country. On the other hand he is too keen a judge of human nature to minimize the danger of permitting the coming, eminently republican, congress to pass into history with a record of having invariably either legislated or failed to legislate in accordance with the desires of the vested interests.

Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island "read the riot act" to the president on the subject of those reciprocity treaties and Mr. Roosevelt appreciates that practically all hope of their ratification must be abandoned. He spoke very plainly on the subject of Cuba and pointed to the party platforms of the last decade as evidence that sugar interests must be protected. Mr. Henry P. Oxnard has been in Washington this week and has given notice that any legislation inimical to the sugar interests will be met with a bitter fight. Mr. R. C. Kerens, the member of the Republican National Committee from Missouri, called at the White House and dwelt with much stress upon the western demand for tariff revision. The president has, it is said, requested Secretary Wilson to go out west and try and forestall criticism based on the failure of the reciprocity treaties. At all events Mr. Wilson left for Iowa yesterday and before going he told me that he intended to explain to the people of Iowa the situation in regard to "the continued need of protection" and "the true basis of reciprocity."

The president has taken the bull by the horns and instructed Secretary Root to try and get along without sending any more troops to the Philippines to take the place of the 10,000 men whose terms of enlistment are about to expire. I understand the president spoke pretty plainly about the reports that had been given out as to "pacification," etc., and also called attention to the fact that the Samar affair showed a sad lack of precaution on the part of the officers.

The commission for codifying the federal statutes will, I understand, report to the next session of congress a law covering all attacks on the president. It was found on examination that in parts of the country an attack on the president which did not prove fatal could not be punished and to remedy this peculiar condition this law was drafted. The law concerns only attacks made on the chief executive as such, for any attack made upon personal grounds would come under state jurisdiction. The law provides that any threat against the president, whether verbal or made in writing, shall be regarded as a felony and punishable by a fine of $5,000 and any attack upon his person, whether successful or otherwise, shall meet with capital punishment. The bill further provides that accessories before the fact shall be held to an equal responsibility with the direct assailant.

Great interest is being manifested in Washington this week in the state campaigns. The efforts of the better element of Philadelphia to obtain a respectable city government and the struggle of the respectable element throughout the state to throw off the yoke of Matt Quay and the republican machine is attracting much attention. The situation had become so bad in Philadelphia that it became imperative for the better element of the republican party to join forces with the democrats in their struggle against municipal corruption.

The Maryland campaign also has a greater interest than would be usual in an off year because of the fact that if the state goes democratic it will mean the return of Arthur P. Gorman to the United States senate, and his election to the senate would mean his return to a position very near the head of the list of democratic leaders and, in the opinion of some good democrats, his nomination in 1904.

A Good Thing For Kennewick.

Judge Rudkin on Saturday signed an order which completes the dissolution of the old Dell Haven Irrigation district at Kennewick. The bond holders under the old regime now have possession of the property and have, it is understood, a well defined plan for the rehabilitation of the ditch and the reclamation of the vast tract of land under it. Active work will probably be inaugurated in the early spring. It is expected that Kennewick and the surrounding country which has been almost entirely deserted during the last five years, will again begin to show signs of life and grow by leaps and bounds.

Arsenic Eaters.

Styria, a duchy having a population of about 1,500,000 and lying south of Gratz, in the mountainous portion of the great German confederation, is noted for its arsenic eaters. Arsenic eaters abound in every city, village and neighborhood, and in thousands of cases every adult in a family uses it almost the same as sugar, consuming about five and a half grains in the 24 hours.

His Marksmanship.

"Did—did you ever shoot a man?" questioned the tenderfoot timidly of Pepperhole Pete.

"See here, young feller," bawled Pepperhole Pete in a voice that shook Pike's peak, "don't you never reflect on my marksmanship ag'in. Shoot a man! I never missed one, you dern galoot!"—Ohio State Journal.

Irving and the Imprecation.

Irving was always severely accurate. Shortly before he put on the "Merchant of Venice" he inquired of a brother actor if he could supply some stage "business" for the part of Shylock. The actor being, like Shylock, a Jew, thought he might, and asked Irving how he meant to do the "imprecation scene," which occurs upon Shylock discovering that Jessica has fled with Lorenzo and the jewelry of her late mother, Mrs. Shylock.

Irving knelt, held his hands prayer-like and rehearsed the terrible imprecation, "I would my daughter were dead at my feet and the jewels in her ears."

Upon the actor's saying he was wrong, Irving rejoined that he had followed the stage direction in the book, and that all the best Shylocks so did it, as the Keans, Brooke, Fechter and Phelps.

"Yes," said the actor, "but they were all Christians. A Jew in imprecating never kneels, but stands upright, passing his open hand over his face."

Irving adopted the hint.

Soon afterward a well known London solicitor, also a Jew, who had seen the new version, told the actor in question that he had not before been aware that Irving was "one of us," and he refused to believe the contrary.—Ledger Monthly.

Family Prayers at the Jenkinses'.

A Harlem woman recently decided that family prayers were really necessary to the proper bringing up of her young son Johnnie. Mr. Jenkins, nominal head of the family, didn't exactly see the necessity, but, of course, yielded to his wife. The next morning after breakfast the Jenkinses assembled in the sitting room with a feeling of suppressed excitement at the novel proceedings. After the Scriptural reading they knelt beside a long sofa, Mr. Jenkins at one end, Mrs. Jenkins at the other and Johnnie in the middle. Then Mr. Jenkins offered up a prayer invoking the divine presence.

Jenkins' prayer was long and fervent. After it had continued for five minutes Johnnie got restless, decided it was too monotonous and interrupted in his thin, boyish voice with:

"Yes, Dod; come and stay to dinner!"

Mr. Jenkins concluded his invocation with an abrupt "Amen!" Johnnie safely out of the way, he strangely remarked to his wife, "That's the limit!"

Family prayers have been abandoned at the Jenkinses'.—New York Times.

Fishing Hooks.

Fishing hooks are as old as Adam, made of stone, bone, thorns and any old thing, not to mention deer horn and boars' tusks. The bronze hook of the bronze age was succeeded by the hook of iron. The aborigines of Colombia used gold hooks, while the ancient people of Peru made theirs of copper. The bronze hook of today is considered an expensive luxury. For years the most important seat of fishhook manufacture was Limerick, Ireland, but the once popular Limerick has been superseded by several styles of American make that are not only much cheaper, but are not inferior. As for our fine rods—well, we have them from two and one-half ounces up to ten pounds, and some of them can be tied in bow-knots. Of course our lines are unequaled.—New York Press.

Massage For Dyspepsia.

A French medical journal cites a number of cases where great and lasting benefits were derived by people suffering from dyspepsia and abdominal diseases from a gentle massage treatment of the abdomen. One case mentioned is that of a young man aged 20 years who for six months had been suffering with his stomach. In spite of varied treatment he was gradually

RAIN OR SHINE

The station agent is on duty. On his exact communication of train orders depend thousands of lives, and millions of dollars in property, each day. In his haste he runs out in the rain or the snow hatless and unprotected. Then comes the sequel—bronchitis, or some other disease of the respiratory organs. Next comes the profitless experience with doctors who cannot "reach the case," followed by experiments, with all sorts of "cough syrups" and "lung balsams," which in the very nature of the case cannot heal. The opiates contained in such medicines often quiet the cough and seem to soothe the irritated tissues. But there is no real help or healing in spirits. Just as alcohol makes the drinking man forget his troubles, so opiates numb the body into a passing insensibility to pain. But they no more cure the pain than alcohol rids the drunkard of his troubles. The one medicine which does cure has in it no drop of alcohol, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotic poisons.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is non-alcoholic and non-narcotic, and it cures coughs and heals weak lungs by building up the tissues until they have strength to resist and throw off disease. It increases the supply of pure blood which is the vital fluid and promotes the health of every organ of the body.

"I am a railroad agent," writes I. B. Staples, Esq., of Barclay, Osage Co., Kans., "and four years ago my work keeping me in a warm room, and stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep-seated. Doctors failed to reach my case, and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking four bottles my cough was entirely gone. I have no necessity for seeking another climate."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are made to work with the "Discovery," and should be used in conjunction with that medicine whenever a laxative is employed.

growing worse and looked like one in the last stages of phthisis. He suffered from constipation and insomnia. He was very nervous and was convinced that he was about to die. After instituting the abdominal massage his condition rapidly improved. His abdomen, which had resembled that of a child with meningitis, became supple and daily enlarged. The treatment was not severe nor very special. His pain disappeared, and he was able to digest all that was given to him. The patient gained in six months about 65 pounds, which he has not lost since that time, now five years ago.—Leslie's Weekly.

Both Prayers Answered.

The last time I interviewed General O. O. Howard it was on the subject of answers to prayer, and I thought I had him. In his famous fight with Stonewall Jackson the Union forces were defeated, so I inquired of General Howard:

"You prayed before that battle?"

"Yes," he answered.

"And Jackson was a praying man. He prayed also."

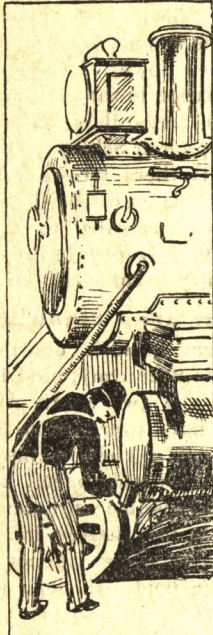

"Yes," he assented.

"Then how was it he gained the victory? Did that mean that the Union cause was wrong?"

Very gently the good old general replied: "Both our prayers were answered. Jackson prayed for immediate victory and I for the ultimate triumph of our cause. We both got what we prayed for."—Independent.

A Thousand Years From Now. (Oregonian.)

A thousand years from now, perhaps,
We'll travel through the air,
And every common citizen
Will be a millionaire;
No burglars bad will prowls by night
Or hobos beg by day,
The man who hogs the end car seat
Will vanish quite away;
A thousand years from now, perhaps,
The Boers will not show fight.
And Lipton find the cup has grown
Transferable and light.
A thousand years may bring great change;
We even must allow
The court of inquiry may end
A thousand years from now.

The Place To Judge a Man.

To take the true measure of a man is not in the market place or in the amen corner, nor in the field or forum but at his own fireside. There he lays aside the mask, and you learn whether he is an imp or an angel, king or cur, hero or humbug. I do not care a copper what the world says of him; whether it crowns him with glory or pelts him with eggs. I don't care of what religion he may be, if his babies dread his coming home and his better half swallows her heart every time she asks him for $5 he is a fraud of the first water, even though he prays night and morning until he shakes the eternal hills. But if his children run to the gate to meet him and love's own sunshine illumines the face of his wife when she hears his footsteps, you can take it for granted that he is pure gold—his home is a heaven; but the humbug never gets near the throne of God. He may be a rank atheist and a red-flag anarchist, a Mormon and mugwump; he may buy votes, bet on elections, he may deal from the bottom and drink beer until he can't tell a dollar from a circular saw, and still be better than the man that is all sanctity, but who makes home a hell; who vents on his wife and children the ill nature he would like to inflict on his fellow-men, but he dares not. I can forgive much in a fellow-mortal who would rather have the hate of all the world than the contempt of his wife; who would rather call anger to the face of a king than fear to the face of a child.—Sam Jones in Jewish Ledger.

Lemley Should Explain.

The reading public has long been aware of the animus behind the case against Admiral Schley, but it is well to keep the facts clearly in mind. Judge Advocate Lemley has been striving strenuously to show that the Brooklyn's "loop" was little less than criminal. In order to do this he sought to show that the "loop" came near destroying the Texas, and that destruction was avoided only because the Texas stopped and backed away. Finally a witness was found who would testify that the Texas stopped and backed—a man named Claxton. He did so testify, claiming to have done the stopping and backing. Another witness, named Hunley, was called to corroborate this testimony. But it was discovered by Lemley that Hunley was at the port throttle instead of Claxton, and that Claxton had nothing to do with the running of the engines. It was further discovered that Hunley would testify that the engines were neither stopped nor backed. Did Lemley call him to the stand? No. That would have been against the naval clique. But Admiral Schley learned, quite by accident, that Hunley was in Washington, and thereupon Hunley was called, and he testified that the Texas was not stopped, nor backed, only slowed down. Lemley owes some explanation to the people. They want the facts, regardless of whether it hurts Sampson or Schley. That's what Lemley is there for—to get the facts. If anything was needed to show the existence of a cabal to ruin Schley, this action of Lemley in the case of Witness Hunley is sufficient. —Commoner.

How Many Fighting Boers Left?

Gen. Pearson, quartermaster-general of the Boer army, now in Washington, says the two South African republics still have over 30,000 fighting men in the field. The Edinburgh Scotsman, a very reputable paper, estimates the utmost possible enrollment of the Boer forces, from first to last, at 85,000, and believes there are not over 10,000 now in the field. If Gen. Pearson's larger estimate of 30,000 men still fighting is correct it means that Dutch recruits from Cape Colony and Natal have reinforced the republican armies to the extent of 20,000 men or more.

The Boers have officially stated their own losses. Kitchener has reported nearly 12,000 men deducted from the fighting strength of the Boers for the nine months that ended on Sept 30 last. The British government claimed to hold about 30,000 Boer prisoners at the end of the first fifteen months of the war. According to British military reports about 1,500 Boers were killed in action, 3,000 died of camp diseases and 1,000 were taken prisoners by the Portuguese and sent to Lisbon in the same first fifteen months of fighting. This accounts for 47,000 fighting Boers in all, without allowing any to have been disposed of by voluntary surrenders, which British reports put at 3,000 up to Jan. 1, 1901. If there are 10,000 Boers still in arms, as the Scotsman estimates, the total enrollment of the republican armies from first to last has been about 60,000 men. If the Boer quartermaster-general is correct in his larger estimate of 30,000 Boers still fighting, the total number engaged in the conflict up to the present time is 80,000.

The total population of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State when the war began was 423,000. A liberal allowance of capable fighting men would be one in five of that total, which would give not quite the 85,000 fighting total which the Scotsman estimates. But the Dutch population of Cape Colony and Natal is at least 200,000, giving another 40,000 possible recruits for the Boer armies. It is not therefore impossible that Gen. Pearson's larger estimate of 30,000 fighting Boers still in the field is correct.—N. Y. World.

"The Casino Girl," Nov. 14th.

Just a dainty boxful of confections, all of the first quality, well assorted, not too many of any; that is "The Casino Girl," the musical comedy which will be presented at Larson's theatre Nov. 14th. The music is sparkling, the book intensely humorous, the dances sprightly, the feminine contingent pretty, the costumes charming, and the scenery beautiful. The story tells of the love of a young New York doctor for a sweet comedienne. The couple are separated by reason of the usual lover's quarrel, and chance to meet in Cairo, where countless characters are introduced and a fast and furious carnival of fun is held. All sorts of amusing complications ensue and through all the thread of the plot runs without becoming too tangled to preserve continued story. The original production will be brought to this city. There have been 400 presentations of the show in New York, and at the Shaftesbury theatre, London, its run has extended to 300 nights.

PERFUMED CIGARS.

The Ones General Rosecrans Once Offered to a Friend.

One of the stories told by old employees in the treasury department at Washington is of the time when General Rosecrans was register. The general never smoked and knew nothing about cigars. He determined, however, to have a box of good cigars handy for the benefit of friends who might drop into the register's office. The general accordingly purchased a box of expensive cigars, put them in a drawer and forgot all about them for some time. Then, one day, when a friend was calling, the general remembered the cigars and brought them out.

"I know nothing about cigars," said Rosecrans, "but I am told that these are very fine."

His friend lighted a cigar, and a look of pain and horror instantly overspread his face. He tried to conceal his feelings and puffed manfully at the cigar for several seconds. Then Rosecrans, noticing that he was growing pale, asked what was the trouble.

"General," said the visitor, "I don't want to be ungrateful, but I'm afraid it's this cigar."

"Impossible!" exclaimed Rosecrans. "Why, when I bought them I was told that they were the finest cigars on the market."

"Well, general, you were deceived. The cigar tastes and smells exactly as if it were made of camphor."

"Camphor!" stammered Rosecrans, looking chagrined. "Why, I never thought, but perhaps camphor does injure a cigar." And, reaching into the drawer, he brought to view several garments filled with camphor balls. "I, you suppose that can be the trouble?" he inquired.

SOME WISE DON'TS.

Don't confound hauteur with dignity or repose with stupidity.

Don't "howl," "roar" or "explode." To laugh heartily is better.

Don't pose. Affectation is a bar to respect, let alone confidence.

Don't groan over the wickedness of the world, but mend your own.

Don't boast. The illiterate and the self-conscious are thus made manifest.

Don't use superlatives. Few things require them, and they weaken description.

Don't preach unless you have practiced. Deeds are tremendously convincing.

Don't think a foreigner can comprehend you any better if you shout into his ear.

Don't forget that politeness is the foster sister of diplomacy and an essential tact.

Don't appraise a book at another's valuation. Critics are not censors absolute.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Railroad Man's Story.

"One of the worst starts I ever had," said an engineer the other day, "was due to a large, lazy pig that had got on my mind. Nothing will slide a train more easily and destructively from the rails than live pork. This particular specimen had a habit of burrowing alongside the track, and it was a fair presumption that sooner or later he would find something to interest him between the rails and somebody would go down the bank."

"I was coming down a hill one day at high speed and craning my neck for a comforting sight of piggy in his accustomed place when, as I popped around the curve, a bright red flag assaulted my anxious gaze. The connection between that flag and the pig was only a bit of mental aberration on my part, but it was very vivid. I shut off and grabbed the whistle cord, but before I could even screech for brakes I saw that the flag was only a red flannel shirt which the good woman of the shanty to which the pig belonged had hung on an improvised clothesline between the telegraph poles.

"That may not sound like much of a scare, but it represents a type that turns the railroad man's hair to a delicate ash color."

When Herrings Were Plenty.

In former days herrings were so abundant in Newfoundland waters that the most wanton slaughter of them was permitted without any restriction whatever. Seines were allowed to retain 1,000 or 2,000 barrels of the fish until they perished, and then the net was freed, and the whole contents fell to the bottom to pollute the ocean for miles around. When a poaching smack was captured, the herrings it had on board were all thrown into the sea, and frequently boats when chased resorted to the same means to get rid of incriminating evidence. The fish then fetched only 50 cents a barrel of 500 herrings, or ten for a cent.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Making It Clear.

The London Spectator tells a funny story of a definition given by a well known public speaker in an address to children.

"Now, children," he said, "I propose to give you on the present occasion an epitome of the life of St. Paul. Perhaps some of you are too young to understand what the word 'epitome' means. 'Epitome,' children, is in its signification synonymous with synopsis."

Having made this simple and clear explanation to the children, the speaker went on with his story.

The Diplomat's Solution.

"And if an irresistible force meets an immovable body?" suggested his friend.

"The situation, indeed, would be critical," admitted the eminent diplomat; "but, with mutual restraint and reasonable concessions, I see no reason to despair of an amicable settlement."—Puck.

Concession to Superstition.

"Thirteen dollars and a half seems a high price for such a comparatively short trip," said the man with the traveling bag in his hand.

"We thought people would rather pay that than $13," replied the agent of the steamer line with an explanatory and apologetic cough.—Chicago Tribune.

THE END OF THE LINE.

So thought the good boy, but the lady thought differently.

He wasn't very big, but he was a sturdy little chap with a face that bore the marks of much thinking and premature responsibility. I learned afterward that he was supporting a crippled mother and an invalid sister who had been left helpless in the world by the death of her father. He might have run away from home and evaded the responsibility, but he didn't think of it. He just sold papers.

At the loop on Fifteenth street a crowd was gathered, waiting for the evening cars. A ragged young girl was selling flowers at the Fifteenth street end of the waiting station when a man, rushing to catch his car, knocked her against the side of the building. Without stopping, probably not having noticed what he had done, he continued his rush, when the boy stepped in front of him defiantly.

"Say, what do you want to knock a girl down for? Hit me. I'm big enough."

The man passed in surprise and then glanced around. He saw the flower girl picking up her wares and understood. Without a moment's hesitation he went back to her, gave her enough money to make her eyes sparkle with joy and said:

"I'm sorry, my dear, that I hurt you. I didn't see." Then, turning to the boy, he continued: "You said you were big enough, young man, but you're a great deal bigger than you think. Men like you will have a lot to do with keeping this old world in a condition of self respect."

Then he caught his car, and the boy and the girl stood there wondering what he meant.—Denver Times.

DREAMS WHICH HAPPEN.

A Robbery That Was Witnessed by a Woman During Sleep.

A lady spending the summer in the country, some 20 miles from her city residence, dreamed that the latter was robbed, she herself being a witness of the robbery. In her dream she saw two men, one of whom limped, in the act of rummaging some trunks in the hall. A candle stuck by means of its own wax on the newel post illuminated the scene with a dim light.

After finishing their work with the trunks the men went up stairs to a closet, from which they removed curtains and hangings stored for the summer months. The dreamer observed that they overlooked her most valuable curtains, which had been placed well back on upper shelves.

Suddenly she seemed to be transported to her birthplace at Auburn, N. Y., where she especially noted the bronze figure of an Indian which surmounts the prison edifice.

At breakfast the next morning she related her vivid dream to those present, five of whom are now living and vouch for the fact. Subsequently it was found that the city house had been entered and robbed. On the newel post were the marks of the candle. The curtains had all been taken but the best set, which were found where the dreamer had seen them.

Suspicion was directed to a painter who had been at work on the house, who was lame and who disappeared immediately after the robbery. Investigation of this man's character showed that he had served a term in the Auburn penitentiary.—Health Culture.

Apples the Diet For the Sedentary.

Apples are very wholesome and digestible. They contain considerable potassium and sodium salts, magnesium, a little iron and about 85 per cent of water. Apples, being rich in pectin, form readily into jelly. They also contain free organic acids as well as salts, such as malates, citrates and tartrates. They are quite laxative, more so if taken late at night or early in the morning with a glass of water. Their nutritive value is not much, as they are largely composed of water. For invalids apples are best when baked and eaten either plain or served with cream.—Ledger Monthly.

If a mother is at all clever, she can train her baby by the time it is 6 weeks old to cry to go to its father as soon as he comes in the house.—Arlington Globe.

Wait Till He Sees You.

A Zulu chief, when you enter his house, remains silent for some moments and seems quite unconscious of your presence. At length he says in a tone of grave dignity, "Ge saku bona" (I see you), to which you reply in the same way. The longer he takes to "see you" the greater man you are supposed to be, and until you are thus "seen" you must keep silent and appear as much as possible not to be there at all.
