Dear Mr. Relander-

I am interested in the statement in your "Drummers and Dreamers" Pg. 118, that it was an Indian named Umtippe, who found the body of Alice C. Whitman and carried her to the Whitmans - and give as your reference - notes by Reimers entitled "Halfway Home by a Trail".

So far I have been unable to locate this Reimers work - and wonder what his source was - in the statement that it was Umtippe.

If Reimers' notes - "Halfway Home by a Trail" are published, I would very much appreciate knowing where a copy may be obtained.

Any information you may be able to give will be greatly appreciated.
Sincerely,
Margaret Pettyjohn

Did you hear The Pacific Powerland program Feb 20th entitled "Sgt. Smith - the Fabulous Story of Northwest Gold"? I have a recording of that program should you ever wish to refer to it.
