Dear Friend Click:

Thanks for your letter, also the clipping which will be a welcome addition to the Library files. We'll hope the publishers don't wait too long with their job.

Walla Walla was long overdue but is off to a good start. It was a case, I think, of combining their pioneer and historical thinking. It strikes me you have somewhat the same situation in Yakima county. You should have a strong county historical society but I realize that is a lot easier said than done over there. However, if the thinking is in that direction I am sure action will come along just as it did in Walla Walla.

I hope I am in Tacoma when you come along. I am planning to go to the American Association for State & Local History meeting in Madison. Will be leaving Sept. 5th, the meeting opens the 8th and continues through Saturday morning. Will be back, according to present plans, on the 15th.

Next year's Conference will be in Spokane. I don't think plans have jelled very much as yet.

Coulter has a big job on his hands. I hope he gets a lot of information over there. He has a good deal from Farwell Morris, who was in grandview before your time, but I think it slants a little in the direction of Morris.

The Union-Bulletin does a fine job, better now than just after the death of their roving reporter, Vance Orchard is doing a good job..

Fraternally

CHAPIN D. FOSTER, Director
