Dear Jim:

Will you please dispatch as early as convenient, by regular post and if possible to reach him before the end of the week 10 copies of Drummers and Dreamers.

(Maryhill, Wash)

These should be sent to the Maryhill Museum of Fine Arts, Clifford Dolph, director, and since he operates a book sale department, should be entitled to the regular store discount of 40 per cent.

The order would be larger but the museum closes for the winter November 1. He feels, as I do, that the book will be in better than normal demand during the spring and summer of '57. The museum draws an attendance of around 50,000.

The book party today was very successful at Maryhill, drawing an attendance of about 400, of whom 180 were represented by presentation of invitations. I gave up counting the number of people who were purchasing the book in their home town up and down the river.

Gill's has an outstanding window in, and Drummers and Dreamers has the preferred window over Holbrook's just issued "Mountain" item.

Goldendale Sentinel carried a lead editorial on Drummers and Dreamers, another record of some kind or other..this is the second lead editorial in a NW paper.

Hastily and with regards
