OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

It seems likely in view of the political situation in Ohio that John R. McLean the democratic candidate for governor in that state will be elected. Ohio which has long been regarded as a naturally republican state particularly in presidential years, has no such a record for political consistency in off years—having elected since the war several democratic governors and legislatures and the time and conditions are apparently ripe in that state this year for the repetition of such a God send to the people. The republican organization in Ohio under the domination of Mark Hanna has become a stench in the nostrils of many honest republicans and they now see that the only way to dethrone the self constituted boss, is to defeat their party at the polls. Then again the fact that the McKinley "expansion" program is openly repudiated by an influential element in the party counts heavily against the republican chance of winning. Nor is this all, the German republicans—of whom there are tens of thousands in that state, are seriously offended because of the republican disposition to contract an alliance with Great Britain, which the democrats vigorously denounce in their platform. The democratic party on the other hand has never been more vigorous and harmonious than in this campaign. McLean, their leader is a man of distinguished ability and is possessed of a genius for political organization. His paper the Cincinnati Enquirer is ably edited and is without a doubt the leading democratic paper in the United States. The result of the recent election in Missouri, where the republicans met such a crushing defeat with "expansion" as their chief issue, has resulted in giving Ohio democrats more courage and they are pressing the fight on that issue. With Ohio democratic this year, the McKinley administration, which is madly calling for a vindication, will be reduced almost to the configuration of a pancake.

THE people of this county cannot view with indifference or complacency the absolute destruction of one of its leading industries. We have reference to the recent ruling of secretary of the interior Hitchcock, in which he is alleged to have taken the position that sheep would hereafter be excluded absolutely from the "Ranier" forest reserve. THE DEMOCRAT is not the organ of local sheepman. We firmly believe that it is the duty of the government to protect the forests and all vegetation in that district, for with the destruction of the trees, shrubbery and grasses of that region, irrigation would eventually become impracticable in this valley and our fair fields would necessarily revert back to their original condition of a sage brush plain inhabited only by jack rabbits and coyotes. But in order to take proper measures to protect the reserve it is not necessary to wipe out the whole wool growing industry of this section at one fell swoop. Experts who have given the subject proper investigation have reported that the mountain ranges will with proper regulations—which must prohibit overstocking, furnish grazing for a great many years to come. At any rate a large number of men here have practically their all locked up in the sheep business and it would be grossly unfair to drive them out of business and perhaps many of them to the wall by any hasty or ill considered action. It must be understood that sheep owners will not be the only sufferers from arbitrary action at Washington. Farmers with hay to sell and merchants with goods to dispose of will surely feel the effect also.

THE Yakima Republic is the name of a local sheet that is most fearfully and wonderfully edited. The organ under its new management seems to have lost whatever reputation it once had for consistency when dominated by the master mind of "Boss" Sperry. Nor is a lack of consistency its only failing, for it is unfair and unwise as well. Last week it "roasted" and ridiculed Commissioner Mathews for having introduced and voted for a resolution making the new issue of bonds payable in "gold coin." This week the doughty organ grinder turns about and fairly slobbers all over the same official for having supported the resolution. From this lightning like change of front, the conclusion is irresistible to a man up a tree that the editor has been "called down" by the leaders of his party. The latter effusion which dams the populist commissioner with faint praise, was evidently conceived for the purpose of squaring himself with the local bosses rather than to please Mr. Mathews. The latter gentleman probably has no apology to render the Republic for his action in the bond matter, although he will doubtless feel the necessity of making one should he appear again in a reform convention.

THE Yakima Republic is showing its teeth to Receiver Allen. The Organ over the way evidently has a grievance or thinks it has against that gentleman. It accuses him of placing "advertisements" in all the local papers (except the Republic.) The editor seems to feel that he has been overlooked or else under estimated, that the receiver is "using newspaper space" has deliberately and with malice aforethought counted him out. Hence the tearful wail followed by the gnashing of teeth. THE DEMOCRAT will attempt no defense of the receiver. That gentleman seems to be amply able by the way to defend himself. We only feel under the necessity of assuring our unhappy neighbor that this paper published at some length the receiver's statement, which was rendered necessary by the rank misrepresentations of that official and his management—which was published in full by our contemporary. We will further assure him that we have not received, nor do we expect to receive a penny as remuneration. Let our brother possess his soul in patience. He is out nothing in dollars and cents, even though he was overlooked.

THAT well advertised "fake" the "back-door-route," better known as the Edmonton trail, which was advertised far and wide—one and two years ago by thrifty "Canucks" as the shortest and best route to the Klondike, has not claimed as its victims all who trod its lonely paths. Occasionally we read of a lucky man who has successfully run the gauntlet of death by drowning, freezing, hunger or scurvy, returning again to civilization to unfold his tale of woe, but many of the poor unfortunates have left their bones to bleach in the Arctic wilderness as evidence of the trust they placed in the bright but lying and deceitful circulars of the Canadian Pacific railroad. It is to be regretted that there is no way to punish that soulless corporation for the crime of luring men by the wholesale to their death.

DREYFUS is just now the best advertised man in the world, although perhaps such advertising is nothing to him in view of the recent verdict of guilty rendered against him by the military court by which he was tried. In view of the lack of evidence submitted to substantiate the charge of high treason, the whole civilized world stands aghast at the brutality of the decree. Dreyfus has evidently been made the scapegoat for a lot of rascally and treasonable army officials. France must be in a bad way when such things as the Dreyfus affair are possible.

"YOU may add this" said Admiral Dewey to a newspaper correspondent at Gibraltar, "that I have not changed my opinion which I stated in the early days of Manila; then speaking with a knowledge of both peoples, that I considered the Filipinos more capable of self government than the Cubans." There are the words of the great admiral. Will the imperialists accept such evidence? asks an exchange. Of course they will not.

OUR Yakima farmers should make it a point to save all of their finest produce for the fair. It will pay them to do it and they will help the fair at the same time.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. 1899.

Democratic success in the Ohio campaign will spell defeat for the republicans in the national campaign. That much is already plainly apparent, young as the campaign is. The advantages of this situation are altogether on the side of democracy. Mr. McKinley knows that his chances for next year will vanish if he fails to hold Ohio this year; also, that carrying Ohio this year will add practically nothing to republican chances of success next year. That is why the situation is so advantageous to democrats. If they can carry Ohio it will practically settle the presidential election a year ahead, and if they fail to carry it, the failure will not injure the party's prospects. It isn't only from democratic party leaders that good news from Ohio comes. It comes also from long-headed business men, such as Mr. H. Krucken, of Cincinnati, who said, while in Washington: "The democracy of Ohio has a golden opportunity, in my opinion, to elect its candidates in the coming election. John R. McLean has many elements of strength, but his greatest hope is in the intense dissatisfaction that has grown up against the leaders and policies of the republicans. The chief hostility is against Senator Hanna, and many and keen are the knives that will be wielded against him. In fact, the discontent is growing stronger each day, and if a political revolution is not brewing, I am greatly deceived."

Every republican official in Washington who has the slightest reputation as a stump speaker, from Mr. McKinley down, has been invited—in reality ordered—to help out the Hannaites. Mr. McKinley will not go so far as to take the stump, unless Hanna, after he returns and looks over the field, tells him he must. It is not surprising that he should shrink from making such an exhibition of his high office.

It was only by the shrewd manipulations of Mr. McKinley, while he was in Philadelphia, that the administration escaped a severe raking over because of the methods followed by the pension bureau. Knowing that an attack by the G. A. R. encampment on Commissioner Evans would be generally recognized as an attack upon him and his entire administration, Mr. McKinley went to the encampment to head the attack off, and he succeeded, so far as a formal resolution of attack was concerned.

Judging from the talk of New York democrats who come to Washington, Col. Bryan is likely to come very near to getting a solid delegation to the national convention from that state, notwithstanding the scheming against him by a few individuals. One New Yorker said: "Bryan clubs are being organized in every election precinct in Kings county, which shows that the rank and file of the party in that county are for the Nebraskan, just as the mass of democrats all over New York state are for him. He is stronger in New York by far than he was in 1896, and that he will get the electoral votes of the state in 1900 I have not the slightest doubt."

There was no truth in the statement that an agreement has been reached on the Alaskan boundary line. Negotiations are still pending, and an agreement is no nearer than it has been several times before when some new proposal upset all that had previously been done.

Secretary Root has locked horns with the bureaucratic clique in the war department which made all the trouble for Gen. Miles during the war with Spain, and Miles is again the bone of contention. Secretary Root wants Miles sent to the Philippines to command the army, and the clique is determined to prevent his going, if possible, and it has so far been able to prevent the necessary order being issued by Mr. McKinley, notwithstanding his promise that he would carry out every recommendation made by Secretary Root. This fight may result seriously for some persons. If Root loses, he may get disgusted and resign, and if he wins, he will hardly fail to get even with those who are trying to thwart him.

The outside attendances at the encampment of the Spanish American war veterans, which opened in Washington today, was not up to expectations.

To the Citizens of North Yakima.

The citizens committee on entertaining visitors to the state fair would most respectfully urge those having rooms that they can spare for use of visitors during fair week, to report to the committee at once. Geo. S. Hough, Claude Briggs, A. S. Dam, Committee.

STATE PRESS OPINION.

Let us all forget the past and do the proper thing in receiving the Washington volunteers home again. They have done well and are no party to our local bickerings.—Seattle Republican.

Spanish Testimony is not usually worth very much, but when the Spanish general at Manila predicted that the Americans would win every fight and yet fail in the campaign, he seems to have come very near the truth.—Aberdeen Herald.

Through all the bombast uttered by the republicans about John R. McLean's nomination there is a note of irritation. The opposition party of Ohio is getting in line to give the republicans a big tussle in the home of Hanna and hence all this republican horseplay.—Seattle Times.

John P. Fay, of Seattle, one of the best known populist orators in the state has declared himself for expansion and retention of the Philippines. Mr. Fay and Bro. Mays now constitute the imperialistic faction of the populist party. Olympia Journal.

It don't make any difference about Ankney's motive in offering to bring our boys home from San Francisco to Seattle. Everybody must, it seems to us, admit that the offer is a most liberal one. He is amply able to carry out his offer and ought to be allowed to do so if he wants to. Let's give the man justice, regardless of politics, race, creed or religion.—Ellensburg Dawn.

John R. McLean has a good fighting show to be elected governor of Ohio. The German voters who have generally acted with the republican party are almost solidly opposed to the imperial policy and are likely to vote for McLean. All the leading German papers oppose McKinley's war policy. The German vote of the state is very large.—Walla Walla Argus.

No one wants the United States to retire from the war with the Filipinos, acknowledging defeat. There are two ways of ending the contest, one by force of arms, the other by saying to the Filipinos: "We will not annex your territory but will give you independence as soon as you are capable of self-government." The first way will take months or years, the second way would end the war in a day. The democratic party favors the second way.—Colfax Commoner.

The election in the Eighth Missouri congressional district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Richard P. Bland, resulted in a democratic victory by an increased plurality.

Considerable interest has been felt in this election because the issue most prominent was that of imperialism. Judge Shackelford, the democratic nominee, was not favored by the thorough going silver democrats, who suspected him of luke-warmness in the cause. Mr. Vorhall, who was defeated by Mr. Bland last year, is a "sound money" republican. Neither candidate, brought the money question to the front in the campaign. Both platforms denounced trusts, so that this could not be made a leading issue.

The democratic district convention adopted a platform which said: We are unreservedly opposed to the militarism and imperialism of President McKinley." The republican platform declared: "We believe it to be the duty of congress, as declared by our president, to establish a form of government suited to the needs of all the inhabitants of the territory that the providence of Almighty God and the fortunes of war have brought under our control."

The opposing candidates practically dropped all other issues and devoted themselves to the Philippine question. Judge Shackelford openly opposed the retention of the islands and the prosecution of the war for the subjugation of the insurgent Filipinos. Mr. Vorhall advocated a vigorous prosecution of the war and the retention of the entire archipelago under the flag of the United States. Thus the issue was squarely joined.

The district is nominally democratic, but was carried in 1894 by the republicans with a plurality of 50, the democratic vote being cut down by large defections to the populist candidate. In 1896 Mr. Bland recaptured the district for the democrats by 4,851 plurality. Last year Mr. Bland carried it again, against the candidacy of Mr. Vorhall, by 2,843 plurality. The populist candidate, Hale, received 271 votes.

The returns of this week's election, partly estimated, give Judge Shackelford a plurality of more than 3,000 over Vorhall, although the vote of the populist, Hale, was about 350 more than it was last year. This indicates that the people of Bland's district are even more strongly opposed to "imperial expansion" this year than they were in favor of "16 to 1" free silver last year.

As this was the first election which the "imperial expansion" policy has been brought to the test of the ballot box, the result is interesting and not without significance.—Tacoma News.

About the only reason the republicans have for forcibly taking the Philippines is because it would be of great benefit to this country. On the same theory a man would have the right to take his neighbor's property simply because it would benefit him. Then they say they are nothing but a lot of niggers anyhow and not capable of governing themselves. They forget what trouble and expense this country went through only a few years ago for a lot of niggers.—Everett News.

Three Yakima Indians were convicted at the Spokane term of court for selling liquor to other Indians. One of the offenders being Pohoster who was tried at a recent term of court here for assault. All three plead guilty as did also one white man accused of the same offense. They each got eight months on the island. Hardley, the old man who lives near Fort Simcoe, and was charged with complicity in cattle stealing was discharged by Judge Hanford who announced that he had no jurisdiction to try such a case and ordered him discharged.

The talk on psychology by State Supt. Frank J. Browne and the talk on Political Economy by President Graves of the State University, together with J. A. Wakefield's talk on the "History of Education" are rare treats that the teachers of this county fully appreciate. All agree that the instructors are the best possible to obtain. Prof. Dickson's work in geography was highly appreciated. The lecture that evening by President Graves was listened to by a crowded house. Dr. Graves made many friends while in Yakima and the teachers feel that the State University is in good hands.

TUESDAY.

Institute opened promptly at 9 o'clock. The following teachers were enrolled: Grace A. Bullock, J. P. Hatfield, J. A. Richmond, W. D. Ingalls and Miss Carrie Young. Supt. Brown obtained the attention of the teachers in a marked degree by his masterly instruction in psychology. Prof. Wakefield's subject, "fractions" was well received and warmly discussed. The Professor's ability is unquestioned. Prof. Watt's talk on class recitation and spelling were interesting features of the day. He finds that the average eighth grade pupil is deficient in spelling, geography and physiology. Prof. Dickson continued his work in geography and believes that supplementary work, along this line could be used with profit. Co. Supt. Plumb, in his visits to schools during the past year, recorded notes and criticisms for future use. He brought them forth today and they fell like burning shells into a strong-hold. They were kindly and helpfully given however, and were received with the same true progressive spirit.

WEDNESDAY

One more teacher enrolled today making the present enrollment sixty. State Supt. Brown aroused the interest of the teachers by his questions regarding the list of books adopted by the State Board of Education. The board will soon have to select a list again and Supt. Brown desires the opinion of his teachers all over the state regarding the subject. Mr. Brown's plan is a good one and is warmly commended by the teachers everywhere.

Prof. Wakefield's effort on the "History of Education" was not only logical, but also eloquent and oratorical. His work in arithmetic fills a very necessary place. Prof. Watt's recitation in school law was very instructive. Many points were discussed of vital interest to the teachers. Directors and patrons of our county schools would receive as much benefit by visiting our institute as the teachers do.

Prof. Dickson's subject today was grammar. Many valuable points were brought out by him and by the teachers present. The lecture by State Supt. Frank J. Brown was the event of the evening. The teachers and many others were present and it is safe to say that a desire for a more thorough study of Shakespeare was stimulated by our Superintendent's remarks.

THURSDAY

Institute opened with a song as usual. Supt. Brown continued his remarks on psychology. They were a perfect revelation and inspiration to the teacher. Mr. Brown's visit here for the week has been one of great benefit to the teachers present. Prof. Wakefield continued his work in "History of Education." His talk, as usual was excellent. He was followed by Prof. Watt in the subject of School Law. He led the teachers to desire a more thorough knowledge of this usually neglected subject. In the afternoon Prof. Watt ably handled the subject of spelling, placing much stress on drill of misspelled words. Also to have the words grouped according to sound, a few special rules and (drill, drill, drill.) Prof. Wakefield continued his work in arithmetic. He advocates the shortest logical methods should always be employed in this branch. His work in institute proves the efficiency of their plan and demonstrates the force of his motto "The shortest right way is the best way to do anything."

FRIDAY

The Institute registered another visitor and instructor today in the person of Prof. Wilson of the State Normal school at Ellensburg. He gave two helpful talks on "Organization" and "Self Culture."

Here are some principles laid down by Prof. Wakefield for use of teachers. "Knowledge is power, it burneth not, neither doth it rot."

"To know well is good; to tell well is better; to do well is better still."

"To know well, to tell well and to tell well makes a useful man."

"To know good, is well; to teach good is better; but to do good is better still."

"To know good, to teach good and to do good makes a happy man."

"To think is common to all; but to reason is common to him only who thinks systematically."

"An education consists not so much in well committed rules as in acquiring fundamental principles and learning how to apply them."

Supt. Brown's talks on Psychology have been of special interest to the teachers as it brought out the close relation between "Psychology" and "Methods." His application of the principles of psychology to the problems of the teacher's daily life awakened the liveliest interest and shed a new light upon a heretofore somewhat dry and abstract subject. He dwelt particularly upon the subjects of attention, the mind and emotions.

Prof. Watt took up the subject of history. His method of teaching this subject is by the "association of events" grouped around some important central one. He would also use geography as an aid to a more perfect study of history.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Louis O. Janek's store. Only 50 cents and $1, every bottle guaranteed.

Fine Groceries for fine people.

Four reasons why many of our first families go out of their way to trade with Pearson:

Do you know that many of our customers are the wealthiest and most particular in this town? They are the people who have tried other stores but were never fully satisfied until they came here.

WHY?

FIRST—Because we sell "guaranteed groceries." No auction goods; no seconds.

SECOND—Because we give your money back the minute you want it.

THIRD—Because our groceries are fresh and clean and pure. Nothing allowed to become shelf-worn.

FOURTH—Because our price are lower than any other grocer who sells good groceries.

If you are not fully pleased with your present grocer, give us a trial order. You can go back to him—if you choose.

Reception For the Volunteers.

Over 700 members of the Washington regiment left Manila for San Francisco September 4 and should arrive at the latter port about October 1. The general committee of the Seattle reception used its greatest energies to have an officer put aboard the transport who would on the way home arrange all details for the mustering out of the regiment as soon as possible after it reaches San Francisco. This may and it may not be done. It is, therefore, at present uncertain whether the reception will be held about October 15 or November 1. It is the general belief that it will be between these dates.

One of the interesting ceremonies at the Seattle reception to volunteers will be the presentation of a beautiful medal to each returning soldier. This medal will be a badge of honor for all time. The medals are paid for by Seattle citizens, as the governor was unable to find a state fund that could be used, but they were designed for, and the committee was induced to pay for them by, Governor Rogers, who will present them in person to the soldier boys. The medal is of bronze, with a red, white and blue ribbon holding a pendant.

The transportation committee of the general committee on reception to Washington volunteers at Seattle has reported that the railroads entering Seattle had agreed to give a rate of one fare for the round trip for visitors to Seattle during the reception of the volunteers and the accompanying celebration. A half-fare rate has been promised for the volunteers, individually or in companies, for their home trip from Seattle. In addition the committee has asked the railroads for a rate of one cent per mile for the benefit of the companies forming the National Guard, but this matter is still unsettled. There seems to be little doubt but this will be secured.

A Horse Story.

Deputy Sheriff Stimson of Goldendale came over on Tuesday and two days later took home with him Lee Nordyke who is wanted in Klickitat county for having purloined a horse and saddle which he borrowed from a rancher over there last week for the ostensible purpose of riding to Goldendale to have a tooth pulled. Instead of going to that town, however, he concluded to return to his parents home near this city, where he is said to have turned the horse loose and secreted the saddle. The horse and saddle were recovered by the Yakima officials here and turned over to the Klickitat officer. It is to be hoped that this experience will teach the young man something about the rights of property—a lesson that he stands much in need of.

About Klondyke and Cape Nome

Joseph Quinn of Columbus, Mont., stopped off in this city on Saturday. Mr. Quinn has spent two years in the Klondyke and was on his way back to his old home after having acquired a comfortable competence in the gold fields of the far north. He left Dawson July 27, and stated that the exodus out of that camp up to that time was very large. At that time, however, there were fully 1000 men in and around Dawson who had no means of getting out—being flat broke. There were, he says, at least ten men for every job during the past season and men who went in last year with small means have eaten up their substance and are consequently unable to leave. The Klondyke has ceased to be a poor man's country in fact.

Mr. Quinn on his way out stopped off at St. Michael's and went up to Cape Nome, which he describes as the most bleak and inhospitable looking country that he has ever yet visited. He says that it is undoubtedly rich in gold, however, though not to compare with the rich valleys of the Klondyke. The main trouble in that district is that a comparatively few men have "hogged" the whole country, with the result that there is much trouble and threatened litigation over claims. A man without means cannot hope to accomplish much there.

See THOMAS' ad if you are not convinced he will sell you goods that saves you money.

State Fair Notes.

The state fair commission has arranged for a grand exhibition by the Neah Bay Indians during fair week. A company of these Indians will be on the grounds throughout the week, and perform many interesting and amusing feats, characteristic of the aborigines. Among the several entertainments will be the Alaska dance, the Neah Bay dance, the war dance and cloquilla or initiation dance. These dances will be given in the old fashioned Indian costumes and will be very interesting sights to young and old. In addition to the Neah Bay performances the Yakimas will be in attendance in their gaudy apparel, and give numerous races and performances. The Indian races during last four days of the fair will be participated in by several fine horsemen and squaws, who are now drilling for the large purses given by the fair commission.

The commission has decided that as sugar beets are not yet fully matured it would work an injustice on Yakima valley to have tests made until sometime in October. The beets will be left in the ground until the proper time, and then collected and shipped to the Agricultural college for analysis. But, those having beets for competition in the $50 cash prize offered by Hon. Levi Ankeny, must have some on exhibition at the fair. The commission has consulted F. E. Deeringhoff, the German specialist on this subject and he advises that exhibitors should pull about one dozen specimens of the beets and place them on exhibition at the fair, with the tops on, so that the growth may be ascertained and noted. The beets will collect more saccharine during the week of the fair and the first two weeks in September than they now have, hence it is important that they have those weeks to grow in before official tests be made.

The fair commission has a man engaged in collecting Yakima valley fruit exhibits for the fair. He will visit several prominent fruit growers and try to get them to place their products in competition for the many good premiums offered. It is certainly to the interest of every one in the county that Yakima have a fine display at the fair and also that a carload of those exhibits go to Seattle for the exposition, which begins the next week after the state fair closes. It is understood that the citizens will arrange for the special display at Seattle, and they are urged to prepare their exhibits now in order that they may be used at the fair in North Yakima.

Back from Manila Bay.

Corporal J. W. Spahr and Private Herbert Osburn returned home on Saturday last from San Francisco, where both have been for the past six or seven weeks in hospital, having been invalided home on the hospital ship "Morgan City" leaving Manila June 24. Both have been [duly] mustered out and are again plain citizens. The boys were very glad to get home again and were given a warm welcome by relatives and friends.

Mr. Spahr after resting up and visiting among friends for a time, will return to his old home in Hardin county, Ohio, to aid in settling up the estate of his father, who died during his absence in the Philippines.

Being interviewed at some length by a reporter of this paper, Mr. Spahr stated that he believed that the great majority of the volunteers had little faith in General Otis, or his ability to soon end the rebellion. The indecisive war policy of General Otis had been a failure. After the first great battle of February, when thousands of insurgents were killed and the balance of Aguinaldo's army fled panic-stricken into the mountains, General Otis could, had he been so inclined, ended the war practically at once. The soldiers had wearied of what they regarded as a stupid policy, which required them to capture and recapture the same places over and over again. The soldiers both volunteers and regulars had long hoped that General Miles would be placed in command. Mr. Spahr stated that the natives of that country were a pretty badly mixed lot. Previous to the outbreak of hostilities he had frequently seen Aguinaldo in Manila. The insurgent chief was a man of good address and considerable education, although very crafty and in the belief of Americans very dishonest.

Two months before the war commenced the soldiers and the Filipinos were on the best of terms, the latter seeming to be extremely grateful for American aid in driving out the Spaniards. They were generally willing to trust the soldiers for anything purchased of them. Had the American authorities assured the natives in advance of their intention of giving them an autonomous government, with protection from outsiders, nobody there believed but what hostilities could have easily been averted.

Mr. Spahr being a young man of an observing turn of mind is well stocked with reminiscences of his stay in the Philippines. He has brought back with him a large number of kodak views of scenes in Manila and environs, which are exceedingly interesting to look at.
