DEMOCRATS HOLD SECRET MEETING

Gather at Court House Monday Night and Launch
the Splawn Boom With Great Enthusiasm—Snively Says Jack Can Win.

"Jack Splawn for Governor!" That's the slogan. The democrats of Yakima county are determined to make a showing at the Spokane state convention on May 18, and unless they succeed in securing the endorsement for governor of ex-Senator A. J. Splawn this showing will not have been counted a success.

A quiet meeting was held in this city last Monday evening attended by a score or more of prominent and enthusiastic democrats. The object of the meeting was primarily to organize a fighting squadron to champion the cause of democracy in Yakima county. Before the meeting adjourned this squadron was duly organized with a "Jack Splawn" club, and those in attendance pledged to work with the end in view of securing the endorsement of Hon. A. J. Splawn at the Spokane convention. Ten thousand Splawn buttons were ordered, liberal contributions made towards the campaign fund, and indications point now to one of the most energetic and determined campaigns in behalf of democratic candidates and an economical administration of county affairs than has been waged since the fall of 1896.

Among the democrats who attended this impromptu meeting the other night were such well known figures as the Hon. H. J. Snively, Hon. A. J. Splawn, Attorney McAulay, Ronald Grant, John Edwards, C. C. Case, Wm. Cox, F. A. Hatfield, Joe Liggett and many others. Mr. Snively spoke at some length on the opportunity that has already presented itself to the democratic party in this state, with Jack Splawn at the head of the advance column, waving his gubernatorial banner defiantly in the face of extravagant republican officials and calling for an economical administration of state government.

"The people of this state want and demand a change in the affairs of its government," declared Mr. Snively. "The taxpayers want a man in the chief executive's chair after the style of the lamented John R. Rogers. Not only this state, but the entire country has been burdened for the past several years with the extravagance of republican rule. Therefore, I say, there is an opportunity at hand for the democrats, if they will but take advantage of it."

Mr. Snively concluded his address with a strong plea urging Mr. Splawn to come out openly and announce himself a candidate for governor. The mention of the pioneer's name brought the entire assemblage to its feet, and of course Mr. Splawn was called upon to state his position.

The gist of Mr. Splawn's speech was to the effect that he appreciated beyond words the confidence reposed in him by the democrats of Yakima county, but so far as he was personally concerned he would rather not be urged to make a fight for the nomination.

"I haven't time," he said. "I am devoting all my spare moments to the building of an electric railway system for the Yakima valley, and with my other duties most of my time is fully occupied."

Others present were called upon to express their views and all of them enthusiastically favored the Splawn movement. The result was that Jack was forced to make another speech, and while it is not for publication, nevertheless a Splawn club was organized, and the securing of a Splawn delegation from this county to the state convention will be the next movement of the fighting squadron.

The primary election for the purpose of securing delegates to the county convention will be held in all the wards of the cities and precincts in the county on Saturday, May 2. The county convention will be held in this city on May 9 at 10 a. m., either at the court house or in the city hall.

For each delegate to the county convention an alternate should be chosen, and the credentials of each delegation properly certified should be sent to the secretary of the county committee. At the county convention 28 delegates are to be elected as delegates to the state convention.

In the country precincts the election of delegates to the county convention will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon according to the call. The election for the primaries in the cities will be held at 7:30 p. m.

The number of delegates to be elected follows:

M. G. Duncan and wife spent several days in the city this week, visiting friends. Mr. Duncan hails from Sunnyside. He is a republican candidate for the state legislature, and certainly stands a good chance of being given the nomination. From a republican standpoint he is all that could possibly be desired.

J. V. McAdam, of Seattle, has been in North Yakima investigating conditions with reference to the street paving contract.

COL. ED PARKER GROWS ELOQUENT

Kentuckian Entertains the Delegates to the Republican Convention in Burst of Characteristic Oratory.

The Yakima county republican convention met here Saturday afternoon and elected 28 delegates to the Spokane state convention. The delegates indorsed the candidacy of Congressman Wesley L. Jones for the United States senatorship.

With the exception of an unexpected burst of oratory from Col. Ed. Parker, which came near stampeding the convention hall, so enthusiastic did his listeners become while electrified by the magic words that fell from his lips, nothing of any importance transpired.

Col. Parker is a Kentuckian. He was at one time a prominent politician in the blue grass state, but of course a republican does not cut much ice, so the colonel came west where he could give full vent to his high tariff proclivities, and assemble enthusiastic republican conventions to listen and cheer his forensic eloquence.

When the colonel had finished his oration the convention got busy and selected the following delegates to the Spokane convention:

J. J. Wiley, F. G. Graetz, Alfred Henry, E. Remy, E. G. Peck, G. P. Eaton, Chas. Dillon, J. C. Sanger, George Ker, H. Sedgwick, V. E. Newman, Ed. Parker, W. W. Robertson, H. H. Lombard, L. O. Janeck, Lee Tittle, S. J. Cameron, Dr. Frank, B. F. Barge, Lee A. Johnson, J. A. Pilant, A. N. Short, R. G. Page, S. J. Harrison, Walter Ayres, A. A. McArthur, A. E. McCreedy, D. A. McDonald, G. G. Lee.

MISS LYLE GAMBLE—who will play "Little Buttercup" in the Comic Opera Pinafore to be given here the latter part of May by local talent. Miss Gamble was easily the star in the "Katzenjammer Picnic."

Besides listening to Col. Parker speak and selecting delegates to the state convention the Yakima county republicans also indorsed the candidacy of War Secretary Taft for the presidency, as well as the administration of President Roosevelt.

Several outlying precincts were not represented in the convention but it was not because of any lack of interest on the part of the country republicans, so their friends say.

W. W. Watson of the Hanford Columbian, is a North Yakima visitor today. He is enthusiastic over the Hanford country.

WILL HOLD COURT IN MAY AND JUNE

Judge Preble Sets Civil Calendar for Next Month—Some Important Cases to Come Up.

Judge E. B. Preble this week set the civil calendar for the May term of the superior court. It has also been definitely decided to arrange for a June term of court and the jury panel will be chosen soon.

The May term of court will commence on the 6th and the cases have been set as follows:

May Calendar.

May 11, Sherwood Gillespie vs. Noah I. Beckner.
May 12, Minneapolis Threshing Machine company vs. Joseph Forman and L. Cunningham.
May 13, Chas. W. Forker vs. W. McF. Stewart; Frank Snipes vs. S. A. Lamont and W. Hatch.
May 14, Herbert Atkinson and wife vs. S. Roberts.
May 15, John A. Walker vs. W. C. Egan.
May 18, National Grocery company vs. August Hammel and wife.
May 19, St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber Co. vs. Frederick Hoffer and wife.
May 20, L. A. Nicholson vs. Columbia River, Outlook and Northwestern Railway company.
May 21, Tennant & Miles vs. Jennie Springhorn.
May 23, Edward Waitson vs. W. J. Hackett; Marguerite Hoffer vs. Robert Groves.
May 26, Cascade Lumber company vs. H. D. Jory and wife.

JUDGE GRAY IS DELAWARE' CHOICE

Indications However, Point to Bryan's Sweeping Control of Democratic National Convention
—Congress Adjourns May 16.

Washington, D. C., April 21.—The instruction of Delaware's delegation for Judge George Gray and the outspoken opposition to Mr. Bryan in the New York state convention have afforded renewed hope to the anti-Bryan democrats, who predict that they will experience little difficulty in cornering the necessary third of the convention to prevent the nomination of the great Nebraskan. The Delaware platform is also a source of satisfaction to the democrats in Washington, especially its arraignment of the republican party for having, by its iniquitous tariff, enhanced the cost of living out of all proportion to any increase of wages which the common people of the country have enjoyed.

All the indications point strongly to the tariff plank as being the strongest in the democratic platform, regardless of who may be the nominee of the Denver convention. The absolute unwillingness of the republican party to lower the tariff bars, even where they are obviously fostering outrageous monopolies, and even the inability of the republicans, despite the fact that they have two-thirds of the entire senate, to ratify any reciprocity treaty because of the influence of the protected interests will be dwelt upon and it is believed that with the difficulties which confront every householder in his efforts to provide properly for his family in times of "republican prosperity" the appeal will not be in vain.

The people of the United States owe a debt of gratitude to John Sharp Williams and the democratic minority in the house which stood out valiantly against President Roosevelt's four battleship programme in the naval appropriation bill. The house has authorized the construction of two battleships at a cost of approximately $6,000,000 each and the democrats maintained, with a show of reason which for once seemed to prevail with their republican colleagues, that it would be criminal to saddle the American people with double that sum for naval construction and all the subsequent expense which two additional ships would entail. When it is realized that the modern battleship requires a crew of approximately 1000 men, it is easily appreciated what a heavy expense each additional ship means to the country.

Representative Tawney, chairman of the committee on appropriations, predicts that there will be a deficit of $150,000,000 next year but that has not prevented the passage by the republicans of a widow's pension bill which increases the annual cost of pensions by $12,000,000. Last year the pension list cost the country $140,000,000 and now with $12,000,000 added, the cost will be brought up to approximately $150,000,000. It has been pertinently remarked by democratic statesmen that if the republican administration is sincere in its appeals for a more liberal policy with regard to the army and the navy it should demonstrate at least a slight degree of conscientiousness in distributing the people's money in the form of pensions and not spread it broadcast for the sole purpose of insuring republican votes at elections.

The president has cast a bombshell into the camp of his partisan friends in congress by vetoing the Rainy River bill and in so doing announcing a policy wholly adverse with everything which in the past has stood for republicanism. Mr. Roosevelt announces that he will approve no bill which "gives away valuable special privileges to private concerns and demands no return to the people and places no limitation on the recipients. Heretofore, the party in power has distributed such special privileges as the right to construct dams capable of producing thousands of horse power to their political friends with never a thought of asking any public compensation therefor. Mr. Roosevelt points to the immense value of these privileges and the thousands of dollars which it is necessary to tax the people in order to improve the waterways of the country and pertinently asks why the private beneficiaries should not pay an adequate return for their privileges, such returns to be expended on the waterways, and he clearly intimates that there must be some such provision in every measure of this character which is to receive his approval. Moreover, he insists that every such grant must be limited so that it shall revert, in time, to the government that future generations may dispose of it as they may see fit and for the best interests of the community. Had this policy been pursued from the foundation of the government the returns would by now be sufficient to meet all the expenses of the national government.

Congress is preparing to adjourn on May 16 with scarcely a third of the legislation recommended by the president enacted and the president declares that he is too good a party man to precipitate a fight in the republican ranks by interposing obstacles to the programme of the majority in congress.

Increase Your Profits

What's the use of going to all the expense of spraying and then have poor fruit? The secret of securing clean, fancy fruit is in spraying thoroughly with high, even pressure. The hired men have seldom done this because the pumps ran so hard, but they do it easily

By Using Bean Magic Spray Pumps

because they save just one-third the labor.
In the Spring Rests the Secret

The increase in profit from securing fancy fruit will alone pay for the outfit, and the easy-running, no-trouble features found exclusively in the two sizes of Bean Magic pumps merit your immediate investigation. It seems almost too good to be true that all the new improvements can be had in one pump, but it is true and you will understand why when you see a Magic in operation.

We have samples of these pumps in stock and will be pleased to show them to you.

YAKIMA COUNTY MAKES INCREASE IN REVENUE

The County's Business Has Grown
Fast Within the Past Year—A Few Figures Given Below.

Comparison of the balances shown in the county's books at the close of the first quarter of this year and at the close of the same period of last year show a very considerable increase in the county's business. Accountant Frank M. Spain, of the county auditor's office, whose deep interest in figures renders him an easy victim for anyone in search of information, is the authority for this statement. From the various ledgers and other books in which the county's business is kept carefully noted and which have permanent abiding places in different departments of the auditor's and treasurer's offices, and which are installed where neither the dust nor the moth can do any corrupting, it is discovered that up to the last day of March, this year, the total collections from all sources of the county were $305,556.23. For the same period in 1907 the total collections were $290,186.96. The difference is $15,369.27, but that is not the real difference and does not begin to show the actual increase in the county's business during the past twelve months.

Unusual Receipts.

In order to get at the right data it is necessary to inquire into the sources of the collections and when this is done it is found that in the first quarter of 1907 among what are classed as miscellaneous collections, occur three items which do not properly belong there in any attempt to compare the situation last year with that of this year. In 1907 miscellaneous collections for the first quarter totalled $66,754, leaving out the cents. This year the total under the same head shows but $15,367. A search in Mr. Spain's archives discloses the fact that included in the 1907 miscellaneous collections are the following items: Settlement with Benton county, $22,000; insurance received from high school policy, $13,000; sale of bonds, $10,000; total $45,000. And none of that money should be considered for the purposes of comparison.

Actual Increase Exceeds $60,000.
Deducting this amount the total miscellaneous collections for the first quarter of 1907 are $21,754 against $15,367 shown for this year. The advance in the county's business is shown under the general head of "taxes paid." During the first quarter of 1907 the sum of $223,432.12 was paid into the treasury. Up to the close of March this year the amount received was $290,188.27, just a few dollars in excess of the total of the receipts of the same period last year and including the bond money, the insurance money and the Benton contribution.

The actual increase in the county's revenue, therefore, excluding from consideration the items described above and which were not real revenue, is $60,369.27.

The tax levy is higher this year than last but this accounts only for a proportion of the increase in the early receipts, the fact being that a very much larger proportion of the taxes have been paid early in the year than usual—an excellent sign of the general prosperity of the people of the county. The total levy in 1907 was $406,715.37; the total levy this year is $579,291.89.

Receipts of County Offices.

Some interesting information is to be derived—and is with Mr. Spain's assistance—from the items included in the total miscellaneous collections. The receipts of the county auditor's office for fees during the first three months of the year were $2715.25; in the county clerk's office the receipts were $1,576.50; the sheriff took in $1,162.81. The treasurer does not get any fees but he has been getting all the rest of the money. The assessor is in the same position, that is, he does not collect fees but he does the business which determines the amount the treasurer gets.

Some of the little items of miscellaneous receipts are worth recording. Estray sales brought in $209.90, but probably, under the law cost the county more than that. Bounties repaid by the state totalled $378. Costs in the justice court netted $126.90. The banks with which the county does business contributed $675.52 by way of interest on daily balances, at the rate of 2 per cent, and provided for under the new law which came into effect last year. Wapato contributed to the county for some of its police protection the large sum of $44.15. Hunters' licenses—this is the wrong time for them—netted $120; fines in the justice court returned $70 to the county treasurer and the state apportionment of the school fund accounts for $4,904.15.

New Entrance Is a Very Pretty
Design and Is to Be Built at Once.

New gates for Tahoma cemetery, ordered by the city council Monday night, will be in position by Decoration day, which is May 30. The gates, which will cost $368.50, are after plans by City Engineer Forman. The two large iron center gates will each be nine feet, making an 18 foot driveway entrance. These gates will be swung from heavy stone pillars. On either side will be small gates, each four feet three inches, for other than carriage use, and will be supported by smaller stone pillars, thus flanking the main entrance with smaller entrances. From the first of the small pillars across to the outside of the outside pillar on the opposite side will be a distance of 32 feet. This will give opportunity for sufficiently heavy work in the pillars, and the design is a very pretty one. The Yakima Iron works will start in tomorrow morning on the construction of the gates.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

Market conditions in North Yakima are healthy though they cannot boast of any particular snap at this time. There is, however, a steady demand for the things producers have to sell and apparently an improved set of conditions throughout. Potato prices are gradually and steadily showing improvements and quotations today are better than they have been for a long time. There is no particular heavy demand but the steady consumption is maintaining figures better than has been anticipated. Dealers on the Sound, consequently those here, are figuring on the presence of the fleet and the fact that the quartermaster's department is to take considerable supplies to help the situation. This was referred to a week ago. The impression is growing and the belief is that these conditions, together with the Alaska trade, which will be wide open in another few weeks, will be just the situation needed to carry the season through successfully.

Hay Market is Steady.

The hay market is steady and the dealers are unable to see how prices of timothy can decline any further, while they are expected to raise somewhat before the new crop is harvested. This idea is based on the belief that Washington must supply the Alaska and government needs and also on the recent dry weather. If timothy advances or becomes a shortage the fact must react on alfalfa.

Butter is another commodity in which the fleet is expected to exert an influence. Washington creamery is now quoted at 28 cents wholesale, the retail price being 65 cents for two pound roll. There is no question but that every available pound produced in Washington, Oregon and California will find a market. The local consumption, apart from the navy and Alaska, will take care of that. It is one of the things which the western country is forced to import but at this time of the year the supply is expected to pretty well take care of the situation.

Onions are Still Stronger.

Onions have continued to enjoy the favorable situation which, for them, has prevailed all season. On the coast they have been selling as high as 5½ cents but it is expected that regular Texan and Australian consignments expected from this time forward will take care of the demand.

Apples are booked for steady advances from this time forward to the end of the season. The scrub lots have been pretty well cleaned up and the better qualities are finding a more persistent demand and a willingness to pay higher figures. Seattle quotes the fanciest of the Eastern Washington Winesaps at $2.75, but that is a special price. The bulk of the supply is bringing from $1.75 to $2.50. There are no accumulations on the larger markets, the fruit moving as fast as it arrives. Oranges have gone higher, owing to the prices asked to cover icing charges and this has helped the apple sales. Another car of oranges arrived in North Yakima today, for local use and distribution throughout the valley. This district has consumed more oranges these past few months than ever before in its history.

Meats Climbing Slowly.

Meats are steadily climbing upward. Some eastern spring lambs have been sent to the coast and are a fine lot. Steers are scarce and high. Poultry appears to be in good demand and cleans up as fast as offered for retail sale. The supply locally seems to be normal but the state at large has imported a great many eastern birds.

Strawberries have not found a very receptive market. The strawberries so far shown have been an inferior lot and not the kind to run into a general popularity. The various specials of the season, however, are selling rapidly. As a matter of fact North Yakima, for its size, lives better than most any other city in the country and as a rule is indifferent to prices so long as it can secure goods of the quality desired. YEARLING SHEEP SOLD AT EXCELLENT FIGURE

Coffin Bros. Dispose of Band to Yakima Sheep Company at $3.50 per Head.

Coffin Bros. have sold to George Wright, for the Yakima Sheep company, a band of yearling sheep at $3.50 a head. This is a good figure and about marks the price at which future sales will be made.

Reports published in Oregon papers and given circulation from Portland, to the effect that lambs are suffering badly in the Umatilla country and thereabouts because of the lack of rain are denied by the East Oregonian of Pendleton, which quotes various stockmen to the effect that the conditions are as good as could be expected, and that the sheep are not suffering.

Regulations relating to the preparation of fleeces for market have been received by local wool growers and dealers. One of the great objections is against the use of sisal or binder twine for tying up the fleeces. The loose fibre from the twine, it is alleged, clings to the wool throughout all the processes of manufacture and causes imperfect goods and consequent loss. The gain from better care in tying the fleeces is that it will put American wool in closer competition with that of foreign countries. A large number of the dealers have agreed to notify their correspondents and buyers that they will not accept wool tied with sisal twine or wool that is tied with an undue amount of string.

WALLA WALLA FRUIT CROP A FAILURE

"Walla Walla's fruit crop will not amount to a drop in the bucket compared to the crop the Yakima country will this season produce. The much touted fruit country around Milton and Freewater is all a hoax. What fruit trees they have in that country are covered with San Jose scale, woolly aphis and pear blight. The farmers are fighting the pests to the best of their ability, but it is of little use, because it is generally conceded that the anticipated fruit crop of the Walla Walla country is a blank failure."

So says R. A. Birdwell of Walla Walla. Mr. Birdwell is in North Yakima on business today. He is incidentally looking for a small fruit farm. Although his home is in Walla Walla he says he believes he can make more money in less time in the Yakima valley.

"You have a beautiful country here," said Mr. Birdwell, continuing the conversation. "Walla Walla is a great wheat country, but its people can hardly expect to come up to the standard of the Yakima valley. That country over there is a wheat country primarily, although they have raised some good fruit on the Blalock ranch and on other small tracts near town. But the assertion made by some of Walla Walla's enthusiastic ones, declaring that country to be superior to this, so far as fruit raising is concerned, is absolutely false. I do not wish to knock my home town and community, but I believe in telling the truth about the actual assets or resources of any country whether I am personally interested in it or not."

"The discouraging thing about fruit raising in Walla Walla, aside from the pests, is the fact that the winter winds play havoc with the fruit trees. I have seen farmers set out orchards and get them into fine condition ready for bearing. And I have also seen those same trees swept to the ground by the first November wind that swept across the country."

"Those people over there can talk all they please, but they know that Walla Walla is not a fruit country and that it is useless for them to try to raise fruit. Walla Walla valley is especially adapted to small truck gardening besides her rich wheat soil."

SOON TO BUILD CROSSINGS.

Street Railway Construction Work Will Be Resumed in Two Weeks.

Crossings for the street railway company for the track intersection at Yakima avenue, where it crosses the Northern Pacific railroad are now being constructed in Seattle and as near as the time can be stated are expected to arrive in North Yakima within the next week. They will be placed in position by the Northern Pacific railroad and the roadbed of the electric line will be carried along from the present section in operation. The heavy paving rails, as they are called, that is, the rails which are to be laid in the district to be paved, have not arrived, but it is understood can be had whenever desired for the active construction work. The street railway company has recently been breaking in a new motorman and conductor that those now in the service may be released, when necessary, for overhead construction work. The Northern Pacific is engaged in doing some construction work in the way of sidings and other necessities at the tract of land south of the city where, in time, the street railway people will have their plant.

It is understood that a representative of the Westinghouse machinery people has been in this city making estimates as to the plant which will be needed by the company for the operation of the lines it has under contemplation. It is understood that in all there have been surveyed or planned some 95 miles of construction work and a great mass of information has been procured in the way of data regarding the territory tributary to the proposed lines as well as in connection with the county as a whole. Active extension work on the line is declared to be not more than two weeks away and when started will continue until many miles of line are added and the lower valley brought into close touch with the city.

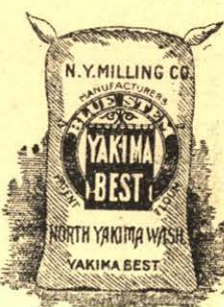

Cars Are Painted Afresh.

The passenger, baggage, freight and other coaches and rolling stock of the North Yakima & Valley railroad are in the hands of artists who are making their exterior and interior surfaces to shine, using fresh paint, varnish and the various other artifices to that end. While the railroad is running short trains at present it will be but a few days before all cars will be back in service after the spring refurbishing.

THE NEGRO REVOLT.

A large convention of colored citizens, representing 25 states, met at Philadelphia the other day for a political conference, and there was something doing all the time. A number of passionate speeches were made in which President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft were bitterly denounced. Resolutions were also passed by the convention which were anything but complimentary to those two statesmen. A number of prominent men present, several of whom are ministers, pledged themselves to take the stump against Taft in the event of his nomination. A significant feature of the meeting was an address delivered by Senator Foraker. The wily Ohio senator, of course, said nothing in his speech reflecting on his successful rival, yet there was a world of meaning in it when read between the lines and it pleased the colored brethren very much. Foraker is their ablest champion. Democrats used to think that the negro voter could not be divorced from his allegiance to the republican party by any possible means. But that is not true of the present generation of colored voters. Many of that race are just as well informed on political issues and current events as are white voters and are quick to resent a slight or insult to their race. The educated class especially are not likely to forgive Roosevelt and Taft for the summary, and what even many southern democrats concede as unjust action in the Brownsville case. This is the view taken by Senator Tillman, a pronounced negro hater.

The colored voters have it in their power to keep Taft out of the White House, and they seem determined to use their power.

WHENCE THE MONEY?

The powerful interests which are now attempting to control both national conventions do not ask for instructions, for instructions imply that the voters are in control. All that predatory wealth asks is that the delegations shall be turned over to a few bosses to be used as circumstances require. These men who are so ready to put up money to control conventions, but who would not subscribe a dollar to elect a real democrat to office are not concerned as to the candidate, provided he will accept their aid and put himself under obligation to them. A number of democrats have been approached and offered this support, but nearly all have refused, knowing that no man, however good his past record, can stand any chance of winning if he is handicapped by the support of the men who have made government an asset in their business and who seek to control legislation for their own pecuniary advantage. There was a time when the voters could be fooled, but they have learned by a sad experience and know that a candidate can be judged by the company he keeps. Whence the money is a question which is being asked with increasing emphasis, and the answer to it is a death blow to everyone in whose interest the money is contributed.

Former Governor Henry McBride will undoubtedly prove the most formidable candidate as against Governor Mead at the republican primaries next September. Yet there is little reason to hope that McBride will be able to wrest the gubernatorial nomination away from Mead. Like Taft in the presidential race Mead has an army of officeholders busily at work for him, an army that he neither has to pay or feed. Another point in Mead's favor is the prestige that the office of governor will give him in the race. This point will count heavily in his favor, especially with the large element of new voters in the state, on account of a lack of knowledge or acquaintance with other candidates. With Gov. Mead as the nominee the republicans of this state will at once be put on the defensive, and such a condition will call for the very best gubernatorial timber that the democrats have to offer. In any event the incompetent and wildly extravagant official record of Gov. Mead will prove a good target in the approaching campaign—a target that will be shot full of holes.

The Democrat has received a number of letters from readers of this paper inquiring as to the status of the Hon. Jack Splawn's boom for the governorship and expressing a kindly interest therein. In answer thereto this paper will state that it has, as yet, no official knowledge as to whether Senator Splawn will or will not be a candidate. We believe that he has little personal inclination to make the race, owing to the pressure of business matters. But, being a man of much public spirit, it may be that he can yet be induced to become a candidate for the nomination, especially if it should appear to Mr. Splawn to be a public as well as a party duty to lend the use of his name. One thing is certain, if that fine old pioneer should make the race and obtain the nomination, as he would be most likely to do, he would make it mighty interesting for any candidate the republican party might nominate. As for the present misfit governor, Splawn could beat him a whole city block.

The federal office holders of the country are almost a unit for Taft's nomination, and with such an army of effective workers to begin with the big war secretary has had an undue and unfair advantage over all of his opponents. But the people will have the last say at the polls. And there are thousands of republicans who sharply resent the idea of having the nominee for president picked out for them in advance by the Roosevelt administration and its army of appointees. After all, Taft is likely to prove the very weakest candidate whom the republicans could have named.

An expert automobile man testified in a Seattle court last week that in his opinion no man living could control a "devil's buzz wagon," as the Indians call it, when speeding over 30 miles an hour, and that at that speed human life was unsafe either for those in the vehicle, or such pedestrians who chance to be in its way. "If that is the case," said the judge, "I will hereafter cease levying $10 fines on offenders for exceeding that limit, and will send them to jail." And it is to be hoped that the judge will keep his word and that other judges will follow his example.

Wellman, the world famous correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, has been travelling over the country to see how the land lies politically, and he found out a few things that seem to have surprised him. For one thing, he discovered that there are many voters who have been supporting the republican ticket in recent years who are now of the opinion that it is time for a change. He also found that Bryan has gained immense popularity within the last few months, largely as the result, Wellman says, of his advocacy of the bank deposit plan.

Senator Ank is in grave danger of a fit of nervous prostration as the result of overwork and mental strain in the effort to serve his constituents; that is, if one sees fit to believe what he reads in the Seattle Times, the biggest gun in the Ankeny press service. Now if the Seattle paper only had a reputation for veracity, a goodly number of suckers might be caught with such bait. Why not give Senator Ank's press agent a little of the credit? He is really the man who is sweating blood at Washington, and not his millionaire employer.

The talk of certain eastern papers regarding the probability of beating Bryan at the Denver convention is the very moonshine. Bryan on the first ballot will have the support of every state and territory west of Pennsylvania, with the exception of Minnesota. He will also be supported by every southern state with the possible exception of Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia. New England is apparently divided in her allegiance, but the Bryan managers expect to secure the votes of Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

A very small coterie of democrats at Spokane and another at Seattle, who are apparently in favor of Gov. Johnson's candidacy, and have made up their minds to oppose instructions for Bryan at the coming state convention are now reported to have gracefully subsided, having seen the handwriting on the wall. The state of Washington will send ten delegates to Denver instructed to vote for the nomination of Mr. Bryan first, last and all the time, and the few Johnson adherents see now that it is folly to oppose instructions.

F. Augustus Heinze, whilom multimillionaire and bonanza king, who tried to put the Standard Oil bunch out of business in New York last fall, says that he has made satisfactory settlement with his creditors and is about to leave again for his old love, Montana, to make a new start in the mining business. This is pretty tough on poor Montana. In making his first start in that state Heinze left behind him a trail of corruption that reaches from one end of the copper state to the other.

If Gov. Johnson is such a strong man in his section of the country as his boosters claim, how will they explain the fact that the democratic convention of both North and South Dakota have instructed for Bryan? The nearer it is traced home the flimsier the Johnson boom appears. It seems to be composed principally of hot air. At all events the men in charge of it are evidently inexperienced in handling a presidential boom. That fact is plain from the multitude of rash statements that they have made.

Mr. Bryan in last week's Commoner made a most thorough and convincing answer to Secretary Taft's criticism of him in a recent speech delivered at Omaha. Taft asserted that Bryan, by reason of his advocacy of the ratification of the Spanish peace treaty, is now without moral right to criticize the administration policy in the Philippines. Taft also referred to Bryan in a sarcastic vein as "the gentleman who still seems to have the power to lead the Democratic party against its will."

The majority of the nouse of representatives, says the Washington correspondent of the Saturday Evening Post, is a well disciplined organization. Its members are sheep, they know they are sheep, and, what is more, they like to be sheep. And Uncle Joe Cannon is the shepherd of the flock, if there is to be a query on that point. But the majority of sheep won't last forever. In fact, it is likely to be wiped out of existence at the approaching election.

A Philadelphia paper makes the statement that there are at the present time probably not less than 2,000,000 idlers in the country, the most of whom really desire work and cannot find it. Now what effect will this condition of affairs have on the party in power in the elections this year, if this frightful condition is not quickly remedied, says this same paper. The effect will be, we should think, to put the g. o. p. out of business for a while.

Col. W. W. Robertson, editor of the Evening Astonisher, takes the defeat of his baseball team by the Herald squad somewhat to heart. He is now trying to make arrangements for a return match between the two teams. In the meantime Col. Robertson is endeavoring to secure the services of the two players from The Democrat office, who saved his team from a shut out and ignominious defeat in the game last Saturday afternoon.

Congressman Jones is now out with a riproaring indorsement of Secretary Taft. A little late, perhaps, but better late than never. It may help Taft some, and incidentally help Jones a good deal. At any rate the local Jones organization may feel at liberty to get busy now and organize that much talked of Taft club.

Most Anything

Some folk never appear to enjoy life's roses until they sit down among its thorns.

It may be all right to call a spade a spade, but don't tell a stout woman she's fat.

The spots on the sun don't worry the fashionable mother so much as the freckles on the daughter.

A select committee on hops has been appointed in Milwaukee. Strange to say, not a single professor of dancing is included.

Starfish—"Cheer up! There's a silver lining to every cloud!"
Klam—"Well, what good is that? I haven't got an airship."

A paper announces "margarine to the fore." I conclude from this that butter is aft.

Sixty-five marines passed through Quebec on their way from Esquimaux, B. C., to England recently. The Canadian newspapers state that the calculations of the caterers along the Canadian Pacific route were completely upset owing to the fact that forty-two of the men were teetotalers. Tell that to the Marines.

In a recent divorce case in Seattle, it was stated that the husband had acted cruelly towards his wife, and on one occasion had thrown half a loaf at her. He was certainly guilty of endowing his partner with only half of his worldly goods instead of the whole, but surely half a loaf is better than no bread.

Every schoolhouse over all the country should be provided with fire escapes. The lives of children demand this.

Many householders notice just now as they enter their domains curious semi-circular chalk-marks on the gate or fences. These chalk crescents are marked by tramps, and may denote that the residents dispense hospitality in the shape of food. The addition of various dots means that vagrants may, in addition, hope to receive money. The best plan is to wipe out the chalk marks, whatever they may be.

Starfish—(Laying down the paper, with a long-drawn sigh) "The old, old story. Another man committed suicide because his home was unhappy."

Mrs. Starfish—"And did that make his home any happier, or doesn't the paper say?"

A woman in Chicago was just got divorced from her eighth husband. She is only thirty years old, and she states she will continue to get married and divorced until she meets her affinity. I fear the good woman is suffering from some mental derangement, and is under the impression she is matching ribbons.

The man who just won a lion in a lottery in Texas, suggests the title of the novel, "What Will He Do With It?" Possibly, if one could make one's self believe it, the best way to treat a lion is as though he were not a lion. That is what the keeper in a New York zoo did recently, when he found one of the species walking loose one Sunday afternoon. He collared him by the mane, "punched" him well in the ribs with his knee, hustled him back to his den, and locked him in without difficulty. Then he thought what he had done and dropped like a dead man in a deep swoon.

They say the world's a stage, could I but play

My part as well as he.
Then would my voice be, what so'er its mood,

Filled but with melody.
Nobly he acts; and nobly speaks his lines,

And be they grave or gay,
His eyes—those clear reflectors of the soul,

His priceless worth portray.
The character he plays is selfless, true,

Would that on life's great stage
More did thereon, enact the better parts

Win honest applause, from History's page.
—Luc F. Vernon.

Dodo is the Portuguese name for simoleon, and it is given to the silliest bird that ever lived. Three hundred years ago, when the Portuguese first visited the island of Mauritius, they found a great number of these birds. They were about the size of a large swan, blackish gray in color, and having only a bunch of feathers in place of a tail, and little useless wings. They ran about making a silly hissing noise like a goose, and the sailors knocked them over with their paddles. They couldn't fly, they couldn't swim, they couldn't run at any great speed, and as for fighting, they were the greatest cowards in the world. They were much too stupid to build a nest, and so they dropped an egg in the grass and went off and let it hatch as best it could.

Added to all these things, their flesh was fairly good to eat, and the Portuguese pursued them so steadily for food that in less than a century's time there wasn't a single dodo left. It was quite too silly and stupid to save its own life, and so it became extinct.

P. S.—Ankeny doesn't need to read this unless he wishes.

An interesting article on the subject of animals with glass eyes and false teeth appeared in a New York paper recently.

In the course of a chat with a well known maker of glass eyes, it transpired that blindness in animals is more frequent than is generally supposed, loss of sight being caused as a rule by some unaccountable accidents. The demand for artificial eyes for members of the canine tribe, the maker says, is quite brisk, which is accounted for by the strange fashion of making pets of bulldogs and bull terriers. And some of the magnificent horses seen in New York's busy streets, almost every morning, are blind in one eye, though a glass one hides the fact.

Artificial eyes for dogs are not kept in stock, despite the brisk demand for them. They have to be specially made to order, and this being so they are expensive, a single eye costing from $10 to $15. Valuable horses, dogs, and cats also, wear false teeth; their teeth are more carefully tended than are those of the majority of mankind.

HOP OUTLOOK AS SEEN BY NEW YORK EXPERT

Commercial Thinks That It Is Case of Survival of the Fittest.

The New York Commercial reviews the hop situation as follows:

"There appears to be little doubt in well-informed quarters that the world's hop production will be under that of last year, but whether the shrinkage will be great enough to have any beneficial effect on prices remains to be seen. Owing to the temperance wave which is springing up all over the world the requirements are more or less problematical. Prices will either be very low or they will be very high.

"Brewers in this country and Europe will go into next season with well-stocked warehouses, and a considerable supply of hops still will be left in first hands. There will be a considerable reduction of acreage both here and in Europe. According to one report, from 5000 to 8000 acres will be grubbed up in England this year. It is estimated that at least one-third of the acreage of the state of Washington will be plowed up this spring.

"In Oregon there has not been much progress as far as the cultivating of the yards is concerned, and in New York state there will be some plowing up of the yards. California seems to be about the only hop growing state where there probably will be a full crop.

Brewers Well Supplied.

"While the present surplus of 55,000 bales might, in itself, not be considered as particularly large, it must be remembered that the brewers went into the season with at least 75,000 bales, an average stock for several months' consumption.

"The 1906 crop of Pacific coast hops scarcely is saleable at 2 cents a pound on the coast, and the 1907 crop can be bought at from 4½ cents to 5 cents, according to quality. It generally is realized in the trade that the acreage on the Pacific coast is double what it ought to be. There now is an approximate surplus of 160,000 bales there, 70,000 of which are of the 1906 crop and the balance of the 1907 crop.

"It is pointed out that if Oregon should produce a normal crop of six bales to the acre, or 160,000 bales, and that if there should be a probable yield of 100,000 bales in California, 50,000 bales in Washington and 50,000 bales in New York state, making a total yield of 360,000 bales for the 1908 crop, it would be necessary to add 160,000 bales, the surplus of the 1906 and 1907 crops. "Recent advices from the Pacific coast state that there has been considerable disagreement among the growers and that in view of the money stringency many will be unable to finance the labor cost and will consequently be forced to retire from the field. It probably will be a case of the 'survival of the fittest.'"

BIG BEE EXHIBITION.

Anson S. White Is Figuring on Show for Fair and Exposition.

Anson S. White, of the Cowiche, superintendent of the Apianary department of the Washington state fair, this morning set in motion the machinery which he hopes will evolve the greatest display of honey and bee products, supplies, pasturage, etc., ever shown in the United States; at least in this part of it.

Mr. White last year got together such a display that the state fair could not handle it and he was compelled at half past the eleventh hour to use the pruning shears and lop off the frills and gingerbread work from the display he had planned and show only the hull without the trimmings and finish. This year, as a whole building is to be assigned to his use, he expects to do much better than he had planned a year ago.

Bees Will Be Busy.

Everything that a bee can do unassisted and that it can do with a man as coadjutor, together with the things man can do with the bee products, will be shown. Manufacturers of bee supplies are to be induced to come in with an exhibit of the latest inventions and it is expected that this will be easy as there will be a ready market after the fair.

As a spectacular feature experts in handling bees will get into cages with untamed, unbroken specimens who will be ridden into subjection. In doing this the "tamers" will go unarmed with bare hands, heads and necks and will juggle the bees into harmony with the cheerful spirit of the fair.

Prepare for the A. Y. P.

Mr. White expects that the apianary people interested in the development of the 70 or 80 tons of honey which make the annual product of this valley will be assisted in their work by the fanciers of Oregon, Idaho and various parts of Washington, and will put their right foot forward, particularly as the A. Y. P. exposition at Seattle will require training along this line for the premiums to be awarded there.

This Is a Record City.

North Yakima is rapidly getting onto the automobile map, if a paragraph which is going the rounds of the papers regarding Seattle is correct. The Sound city is reported to be second among the cities of the United States in regard to the total number of cars in proportion to population, the city having one auto for every 166 inhabitants. Taking 60 as the number of automobiles owned here and any fair estimate of the population of this city as exact and it will be found that North Yakima has New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia or any other eastern city crowded off the map and is giving Seattle a hard race.

Married at the Catholic church, by Rev. Garren, Monday, April 20, Miss Louise Carpenter and Oscar Hilsstrom, both of this place.

H. Fortier, who has been very ill, we are glad to state is improving and will soon be around again.

Mr. Price, of the lower Moxee, who was struck in the eye by a twig some time ago, we are sorry to say has lost entire sight in that eye.

There is quite a lot of road grading being done on our roads to the delight of every one, but the farmer here thinks they are not getting a fair deal when the work is done by outside teams. There is any amount of teams that could be had to work at this time here and it seems that the taxpayers here ought to be entitled to do the work right at home unless some one has a pull somewhere.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bouthey, April 17, a girl.

A pretty wedding took place Tuesday, April 21, at the Catholic church when Miss Rose Rabie and Paul Lafromboise were united in marriage by Father Garren. After the ceremony the many friends and relatives of the couple went to the bride's home where a big wedding celebration was held.

To the Voters of Yakima County:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in the State Legislature subject to the will of the people as expressed at the primary election. I believe that my record as a citizen and as a county official are sufficiently well known for the voters of Yakima county to judge of my qualifications for the office of Representative; and I would merely state that if chosen to that office I would endeavor, on all questions that arise, to act for the best interests of the people of Yakima county and of the state.

MINNESOTANS COMING.

One Man Declares Fruit Alone Ought to Sell Land in the Yakima Valley.

That homeseekers and other dissatisfied ones of the east and middle west are looking with favor on Yakima valley is evinced by a letter received by Jack Maher of the Highland Real Estate company. Mr. Maher sent a couple of Yakima apples to Minnesota the other day to a prospective land buyer. In acknowledging receipt of the apples and thanking Mr. Maher for them the writer declares the fruit alone ought to sell all the available land in Yakima valley. The writer says many people in his town, Virginia, Minn., are thinking seriously of moving to North Yakima. He says:

Want to Come Here.

"Not a few people of our country are experiencing a severe attack of the Yakima fever—I mean a desire to go there. The malady, if such it may be called, has almost reached the incurable stage, and were it not for the fact that it is very hard to dispose of their chattels here, there would be at least a carload go with us. I am nearly ready to pull out but will remain here until I hear from you, and find that you have secured us some place for shelter. I do not expect you to get us just what we want and assure you we will accept and be grateful for what you may be able to get for us. I am bringing my brother-in-law and his wife with me, so there will be five grown people in our party. Thanking you for past favors, I remain yours truly.

TO PLAT TOWNSITE AND BUILD $40,000 HOTEL

Captain Thomas Soon to Swing a Novel Real Estate Proposition.

Captain J. H. Thomas, who bought up the old townsite of Yakima City and the 40 acres upon which the depot now stands some 20 years ago from Dave Wilson and the Shannos, is about to place a part of it on the market, probably 100 lots and blocks.

With each lot purchased Captain Thomas will give one share of paid up stock in the Yakima Valley Transportation company's electric line which will soon be completed there.

By the time the electric lines are completed he expects to have a $40,000 road house and hotel with pleasure grounds attached for baseball, lawn tennis, etc. When this is completed another addition of lots and acreage will be platted and put on the market, each purchaser receiving a share in the hotel and grounds with each lot purchased.

WANTED—Chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys, fat calves, cattle, hogs, at the Fulton Market, corner Chestnut and First streets. Highest market prices paid.

RANCHERS OF COWICHE BOOST THEIR VALLEY

Business Envelopes and Stationery Call Attention to Natural Wealth.

Cowiche ranchers have organized a boosters' club which is already at work and one of the results is an advertising envelope which will be used generally in a business way by the people of that valley. It bears on the face a representation of the famous Cowiche Spitzenberg. Above is a blank for the return address, and advice printed on the face of the envelope calls attention to the fact that there is an "irrigation water right under government canal, with perfect and abundant supply of water." In a division under a square left for the stamp there is a statement which says: "Come to Cowiche where peaches, pears, prunes, plums, berries, and small fruit excel in quality and flavor those grown in any other section in America. Ideal wheat lands. Home of the honey bee." Just before one's eye leaves the envelope it encounters the advice: "Make your home in Peerless Cowiche."

The idea is the right one. When the thousands of ranchers of this valley become each a booster by using letter head and envelopes which call attention to this section of Washington and the superiority of its products, the advertising which will thus result will certainly tend toward maintaining prices on the crops grown here and assist in procuring for them a market, if it has no other effect.

AUTOMOBILE PARADE AND RACE MEET SOON

Success of Horse Show from Public Standpoint Leads to Similar Undertaking.

Now it is to be an automobile parade and race meet. The horse parade has set the ball rolling and another public attraction has been inaugurated. The value of a gathering of such a kind has been demonstrated. The merchants of the city have been shown some of the benefits of the efforts which bring a large number of people to the city, entertains them, solidifies the ardor of those engaged in a definite line of work and attempts to make a display and an attraction out of the everyday events and duties of life.

The horse show is over and the automobile show is to come. The date fixed is May 30, which is decoration day and a holiday for a large number of people. There will be a parade on the streets of North Yakima and a series of races on the fair grounds track.

No Attempt to Usurp Day.

No attempt is being made to interfere in any way with the ceremonies of the day as they relate to the veterans or the civil war and other organizations of people or private parties who will then decorate graves in the Yakima cemeteries. The attractions will be held in the afternoon, after the other features of the day and those to which it is peculiarly dedicated have been fulfilled. The tendency all over the country is to make public holidays of all days of public observance, to look more to the cheerful side than to the solemn, though still respecting the principles which the days stand for and commemorate.

Auto Owners Are Agreeable.

Owners of automobiles in North Yakima have agreed to give their hearty co-operation to the meet. They will unite in the parade and will take part in the races. Already there is considerable rivalry as to the merits of the various machines of similar or different makes here and a number of private matches have been talked over. This proposed meet will give an opportunity for a test of skill and speed, as well as of staying qualities. It is probable also that some feature will be introduced to indicate the possibilities of automobiles as to starting, stopping, turning, avoiding obstacles, etc. A great many different classes can be made especially under restrictions as to stripping the machines, carrying a specified load, etc. The idea is meeting with general favor.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI WILL HONOR SENIORS

Preparations Afoot for Tribute to the Graduating Class.

The alumni of the North Yakima high school are making preparations for an elaborate entertainment for the graduating class of this year. It has always been the custom of the alumni association to do something in the way of entertainment. A banquet, party or reception has always been given in honor of the retiring seniors. The alumni association this year will endeavor to eclipse all social functions ever given by them. As the school term does not close here till June 27th, the members of the alumni who are attending college will be home and can help in the entertainment. It is not known now just what the nature of the function will be but it is planned to have a senior ball and possibly a banquet for the class. Whatever is given will be the best that the alumni can give.

A special meeting of the alumni will be held Monday, April 27, in the office of the Central school building. The officers of the association are very desirous that all members of the alumni of the North Yakima high school should attend, whether they have joined the association or not. The meeting was called for the purpose of making preliminary preparations for the events at the close of school. The officers of the association this year are: Glen Fairbanks, president; Harry Cook, vice president; Anna Cornwall, treasurer; Laura Burbank, corresponding secretary.

JOSEPH F. McNAUGHT STUDYING IRRIGATION

J. F. McNaught, of Hermiston, Ore., is in North Yakima a guest at the Hotel Yakima. He is here studying irrigation. But it is not in connection with irrigation that Mr. McNaught is known to the people of this city and district. He is the man who first thought out in a definite way the street railway problem for North Yakima and the surrounding country. That was five years ago. He had plans and surveys and a great deal of data and he believed this to be a most promising field for a street railway company. The Northern Pacific railroad, however, could not see it that way. At least it could not be convinced that the project was not backed by some rival railroad and North Yakima lost that opportunity for an electric railway line into the highways and byways of this great country.

Conditions Now Different.

The conditions are different today. The country has developed greatly and the success of a street railway is no longer problematical. Other railroad lines are coming and the freight will go to the railroad having feeders into the freight producing districts. The ideas which Mr. McNaught thought out are being put into effect. But he has not investigated the street railway project thought it is altogether probable he will before leaving here. He is at this time manager of a government irrigation project at Hermiston, Ore., and came to North Yakima to study irrigation, this being the fountain head of all that is progressive and definite in that respect. There is quite a gathering here of irrigation lights at this time. In addition to the resident officials of the reclamation service there are in North Yakima now W. H. Code, the federal engineer in charge of irrigation works on the various reservations, the manager and attorney of the service at Sunnyside, and one or two Hanford officials.

Back From Moscow.

Rev. Morton L. Rose, who has been three weeks at Moscow, where 46 new members were added to the Christian church during his stay, says there is a great deal of railroad and street railroad building in that part of the country. The hills are fertile to the very tops but the climate cannot equal this. The elevation there is much greater.

NORTH YAKIMAN ASSISTS IN REMARKABLE VOYAGE

Son of H. B. Scudder an Officer in the Flotilla Which Rounded the Horn.

Randolph P. Scudder, of North Yakima, son of Henry B. Scudder, is an officer of the fleet of torpedo boat destroyers which has just completed a cruise which more than anything else has demonstrated the seaworthiness of the American fighter of that class. Mr. Scudder is one of the three officers on the Lawrence, one of the boats of the flotilla under Lieutenant Commander Cone. The Newport, R. I. News, of April 14, contains a column account of the trip of the flotilla from Hampton Roads over the 14,500 miles of water to Magdalena bay. The trip was remarkable in many respects, chief among them that the auxiliary, or "mother-ship," the Arethusa, sent to convoy the fleet with the necessities for the boats, 15 officers and 500 men, was found to be too slow and was outstripped, the flotilla making its own way without such support. The torpedo boat destroyers reached the end of their journey prepared for target practice or war. They will remain on the Pacific coast and will not take part in the voyage around the world to be made by the battleships.

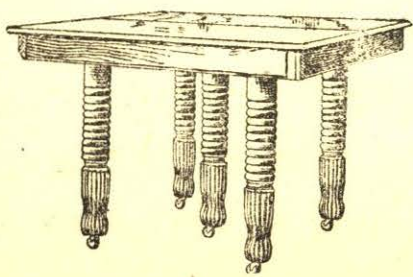

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Scudder, of this city, will leave North Yakima May 2 to go to San Francisco to visit their son.

Spokane Sour on Socialism.

Burgess, the Socialist orator, who recently had trouble in North Yakima because his doctrine of equality brought forth a shower of eggs when he referred slightly to the flag, has been up against it at Spokane. He usurped a corner which has been held sacred to Salvation Army meetings and started to preach the doctrine of his tribe. The Salvation Army tuned up the bass drum and the snare drum and the tambourine and it required the police to reduce the discord to harmony.

LATE ENGLISH PREMIER DIES IN LONDON

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Great Commoner of England, Passes Away in His London Home.

London, April 22.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, former British premier,
died at 10:40 this morning, at his official residence, No. 10 Downing street.
The end came peacefully after a lingering illness of more than two months and did not come as a surprise. He had been unconscious most of the time for the past two or three days.

Long and Distinguished Career.
The Right Honorable Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who had been British premier since 1905, had a long and distinguished political career. His command of the liberal parliamentary party with all its diverse elements, was a marvel in personal prowess. He did not rule by any adroit diplomacy, but almost wholly by the confidence that all the different sections had in the essential sincerity of his attitude. It has been truthfully remarked that few public men have ever earned a place so near to the hearts of their political supporters
as Sir Henry, in whose absolute honesty
of purpose there was entire confidence.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman was the second son of the late Sir James Campbell, of Stracathro, Forfarshire, and was born in 1836. He was educated at the University of Glasgow, and at Trinity college, Cambridge. In 1872 he assumed the additional surname of Bannerman, under the will of his uncle, Mr.
Henry Bannerman. Sir Henry owed his wealth to the great drapery firm of J.
& W. Campbell & Co., of Glasgow, of which his father was the founder.

Entered Parliament 40 Years Ago.
He entered parliament in 1868 and continued to represent the Stirling district until his death. He served in turn as financial secretary of the war department, secretary of admiralty, chief secretary for Ireland, and twice secretary of state for war. He was elected liberal leader in February, 1899, after the death of Gladstone. During the South African war his sentiments were of a decided pro-Boer character, with the result that he split his party on the question.

Sir Henry bore the brunt of the fight
for several years in the house of commons. He bore, too, the obloquy that sprang from public anger over his pro-Boer attitude. But he was never seriously accused of disloyalty, and his tinge of pro-Boerism was long ago forgiven by the public.

Not a Great Political Leader.
While Sir Henry was universally respected he was never regarded as a great political leader, in the sense that Gladstone and Harcourt were leaders. Personally popular and of a most genial disposition, he never showed the force necessary to dominate a great party.

He stood well enough with the radicals,
without having aroused their enthusiasm
and he escaped giving serious offense
to moderate and imperial liberals, though the latter never took kindly to his leadership. But of his personal popularity, integrity and sincerity there never was any question, and "C.B." as he was familiarly called, was held in universal esteem.

In 1860 Sir Henry was married to Charlotte, daughter of the late General
Sir Charles Bruce. She died in 1906
at Marienbad, after a long illness.

A Favorite of Gladstone.
Sir Henry was always a man whom Gladstone regarded with favor. In 1884-5 he was given the important position of chief secretary for Ireland, and in Gladstone's third cabinet in 1886 he was intrusted with the portfolio of secretary of state for war. This same position was given him in the Gladstone ministry of 1892.

By no means strong in debate, and by no means able as an orator, Sir Henry was yet a powerful factor in the house of commons. Beside Gladstone, whom he succeeded in the liberal leadership, Sir Henry did not compare either as orator, debater or writer. Yet in his way he was probably even more attractive than Gladstone. While he was always prized as a personal friend.

Brooklyn Politician Who Lost

Albany, April 22.—Senator McCarren, the Brooklyn democratic leader who with his delegation was unseated at the recent state convention, has announced that he is not in sympathy with the movement started to hold another convention. He will go to Denver to fight the matter out in the national convention.

CRIME COSTS THE TAXPAYERS HEAVILY

During the past two years criminal trials in Yakima county have cost on the average at the rate of $416 for each trial in addition to the cost bill filed with the auditor and which is the basis
upon which the state repays the county in the event of conviction. The cost bills show witness fees, sheriff's fees and the clerk of the court's fees and that is all. The total is small compared with the actual cost of maintaining the court.

In the consideration of the total cost,
the greater part of which falls upon the county, must be considered the actual cost of the jury, which is about $100, on the average, and for which but $12 is permitted on the cost bill, excess charges of witnesses and the salaries of the judge and other officials of the court. Since the present officials took office the cost of criminal trials has averaged as stated above, over $400 in excess of the amounts shown in the cost bills. Prior to that time the average cost of criminal trials was even higher.

The duration of the average criminal trial during the same period has been 2 and 2-3 days and that makes the cost to the county of prosecuting criminals
just $156 per day for each day the court is in session for that work.

The Flannery and Churchill cases have raised the average cost of trying criminals and the average duration of such trials very considerably.

Because It Was True.
City Editor (to reporter)—Look here,
what do you mean by writing, "Among the prettiest girls at the dance was Lieutenant Rogers?" The lieutenant is a man, I believe. Reporter Cubb-—Yes, I understand that; but you see he spent the greater part of the evening
among the prettiest girls there.

Fiction.
"What are you writing about, Hawley?"
"A story. I'm going in for fiction."
"Really? For a magazine?"
"No; for my tailor. He wants his money, and I'm telling him I'll send him a check next week."

The Man Under the Bed.
Mrs. Timid—Did you ever find a man under the bed? Mrs. Bluff—Yes; the night we thought there were burglars in the house. I found my husband there.

Not the body but the soul strikes the blow in which lives victory.—Maga.

THE PARLOR.

It Is Rapidly Becoming an Apartment
of the Past.

The American parlor is a thing of the past, according to architects, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. No more will there be a room reserved for state occasions, such as the receiving of formal calls, the visit of the minister and for weddings and for funerals.

"We never take the parlor into consideration any more," said a Cleveland architect recently. "The parlor is merged into the living room. The good old fashioned parlor, which was held in so much reverence in the old days,
has no place in modern architecture."

"The demand is for a large living room in a small house, together with a dining room and kitchen. In a larger house there is usually a large living room, library, 'den,' dining room and kitchen."

"I had a client yesterday who desired to have a reception room or parlor not connected with the living room. He decided later to have a sort of reception room in connection with the hallway."

"When the parlor idea began to lose ground we did not make a radical change, but reduced the parlor to a small reception room, isolated from the others, where formal calls could be received. Now we make no provision for the parlor."

"In these days the reception rooms
do not have to be closed only to be opened on the occasion of the visit of the family minister or the physician."

There may be many who will regret the passing of the old fashioned country parlor, with all its memories of visitors, courtship and occasions which left impressions which have not been eradicated by the strenuous age of today.

TRIAL BY ORDEAL.

The Queer System That Exists in the Sinal Peninsula.

In the Sinal peninsula trial by ordeal
is still practiced. In all criminal cases where no witnesses are forthcoming
the judge, "el mabashaa," tests the suspected person by fire, by water or by dream. In the first the judge places an iron pan in the fire until it is redhot
and gives it to the accused to touch three times with his tongue. If marks of burning are shown on the tongue the accused is pronounced guilty. The theory apparently is that if he is not guilty the moisture on the tongue prevents it from being burnt; if guilty his tongue would dry up from fear of being discovered.

The test by water is described as follows: "The 'mabashaa' sits with the accused and the spectators in a circle with a copper jug full of water placed in the center. This jug is then made to appear to move round the circle by means of witchcraft or hypnotism. If the jug returns back to the judge the accused is pronounced not guilty, but if the jug stops opposite the accused
he is pronounced guilty."

This description is rather wanting in detail, and it is difficult to know how a jug which only appears to move can be a trustworthy index. In the test by dream the "mabashaa" sleeps and sees in a dream if the accused is guilty or not.—Chicago News.

Famous Baths.

Marie Antoinette's bath, which was prescribed by her doctor, was a compound of aromatic herbs mixed with a handful of salt. She took it cold in summer and tepid in winter.

Later on Mme. Tallien had brought every morning to her house twenty pounds of strawberries and two pounds of raspberries, which were mashed in her bath of warm milk and water. Another preparation used by the eastern women is composed of barley, rice, horragge, thyme and marjoram boiled
together and then thrown into the water.

Ninon de l'Enclos took a bath every night in which there were salt, soda and three pounds of honey mixed with milk, all well beaten in tepid rain water.

Cause For Liberality.

An old Georgia dandy who had buried
his money forgot to blaze the tree which stood near the spot. Getting mixed as to the locality, he knelt down and asked the Lord to guide him to the place. While he was praying a storm came up and lightning struck the nearby tree, and he found his cash.

"Dar, now," he muttered, "look how Providence answers de righteous! I got a great min' ter put a nickel in de collection hat next Sunday!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Trapped.

The Man (who had been sitting stolidly with his eyes on his paper)—Take my seat, madam.

The Lady—Then you are about to leave the car?

The Man—Oh, no, madam.
But he was, just the same, and it took him fifteen minutes to walk back from where he finally alighted.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It Sometimes Seems So.

THE LOOK OF A CHILD.

Its Pleading Power Was Too Great
to Be Resisted.

"The look of a little child is sometimes a wonderful thing," said the man who had risen high on the ladder of success. "I remember that the greatest lesson I have ever learned in my life was pointed out to me by my daughter, who was only five years old at that time. That was fifteen years ago, when I had just attained some measure of distinction in the business world, and I felt that I could afford to rest on my oars awhile. I had never been a drinking man, but frequent conferences at hotel lobbies and after theater talks with my associates began to tell on me and I am ashamed to confess that I came home many a night slightly the worse for wear and 'booze.' The habit of imbibing grew on me, in spite of tearful entreaties from my wife, until I took a bottle of whisky home one afternoon. After dinner I made for that bottle, which I had left in my study, poured out a glass and raised it to my lips, when I caught a reflection in the polished woodwork of the wall. I turned quickly, and there was my little daughter standing in the doorway looking at me. I could never describe the expression on her face. If one might say it of a child, it was a commingling of reproach, pity and disgust. Probably she had overheard conversations between her mother and myself—perhaps the mother had instilled that feeling—perhaps it was instinct. I have not taken another drink from that day to this."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE PHENIX.

Legend of How It Lived and Died
and Lived Again.

The ancient tradition concerning the phenix has introduced into nearly every language the habit of applying that name to whatever is singular or uncommon among its kind. According to ancient writers, the phenix was a bird of great beauty about the size of an eagle. A shining and most beautiful crest adorned its head, its plumage contained nearly every tint of the rainbow, and its eyes sparkled like diamonds. Only one of these birds could live at a time, but its existence covered a period of 500 or 600 years. When its life drew to a close the bird built for itself a funeral pile of wood and aromatic spices, with its wings fanned the pile into a flame and therein consumed itself. From its ashes a worm was produced, out of which another phenix was formed, having all the vigor of youth. The first care of the new phenix was to solemnize its parent's obsequies.
For that purpose it made a ball of myrrh, frankincense and other fragrant things. At Heliopolis, a city in lower Egypt, there was a magnificent temple dedicated to the sun. To this temple the phenix would carry the fragrant ball and burn it on the altar of the sun as a sacrifice. The priests then examined the register and found that exactly 500 years or exactly 600 years had elapsed since that same ceremony
had taken place.

Modern Card Playing.

The gambling of today is a mild affair compared with the extant records of English society. We shall never again see the days when General Scott won a fortune of £200,000 at whist, chiefly by dint of keeping sober. And high play, it must never be forgotten,
is a relative term. When Lord Stav-dale gained £11,000 by a single coup at hazard, his only comment was that if he had been playing "deep" he might have won millions. When the dimensions of modern wealth are taken into account the wildest excesses ever witnessed at the card table would have a timid and parsimonious aspect to the bucks of the regency.—Times of India, Bombay.

Women's Tempers.

I recently saw it stated somewhere that "women are much better tempered than men." This, of course, is a self evident proposition—up to a certain point. Women, as a rule, are altogether more self possessed and have a greater control over themselves than men, who want everything their own way, resent all trouble, cannot endure
the smallest discomfort and are rarely unselfish.

But in justice to men it must be said that, generally speaking, they have very much more to try their nerves.—
London World.

An Ancient Steam Man.

There are a host of authorities on hydraulics and mechanics that could be quoted to support the assertion that the steam engine is not a modern invention. Carpln in the account of his travels, A. D. 1286, describes a species of aeophile, or steam, engine made in the form of a man. This contrivance was filled with "inflammable liquid" (probably petroleum) and made to do terrible work in the battles between the Mongols and the troops of Prester John.

Human Nature.

"It's funny," remarked the thoughtful citizen.

"What's funny?"

"The way a man who spends all his spare time praying for the regeneration of his party will get indignant at the suggestion that he vote the opposition
ticket for once."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Week End Society Events

Carpenter-Richards.

A wedding of considerable local interest occurred here Monday, April 20, when Norbert Carpenter and Miss Bertha Richards were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. C. E. Gibson, of the First Methodist church. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Richards, of Fruitvale.

Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony which took place at high noon, and was followed immediately by an elegant wedding breakfast. The bridal couple left on the afternoon train for a two weeks' honeymoon trip on the coast. The bride is well known in the valley and her father is one of the most successful fruit ranchers of the Fruitvale district. She is an attractive and accomplished young lady with a host of friends. Mr. Carpenter has long been connected with the Pioneer Drug company of this city, and is one of the most popular young men of the city.

Musical Club Annual Election.

The annual business meeting of the Women's Musical club was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. J. Wyman. The following officers were elected to serve for the year. Mrs. V. A. Erwin, president; Mrs. Allan B. Dow, vice president; Miss Edith Read, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Kuehn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. J. Wyman, treasurer; Miss Nita Foster, librarian. The delegates elected to attend the state federation which will be held in Bellingham in September, are Mrs. V. A. Erwin and Miss Nita Foster. The alternates are Mrs. Alexander Miller and Mrs. J. J. Fancett. Mrs. Ketchum and Miss Read assisted the hostess in serving delicious refreshments. The club adjourned to meet the first Thursday in October.

Band Boys' Ball.

One of the social events of the week was the ball given Monday evening in Tieton hall by the local band boys in order to raise money with which to purchase new uniforms. The hall was beautifully decorated and excellent music was furnished for dancing.

Catholic Dollar Social.

About 60 ladies were present at the social meeting of the Catholic Aid society which was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Ditter, 307 North Third street. During Lent each member of the aid endeavored to earn $1 and the meeting yesterday was made interesting by recounting of the experiences of the different members while engaged in this small financial adventure. About $50 was turned in.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Gould, of Walla Walla, are in North Yakima to take up ranch life, to which Mr. Gould is shifting from department store work.

The Pang cigar store offers a box of clear Havana cigars to each and every man on the Tiger team making a home run this season.

George H. Ingham of the Walla Walla Bulletin, formerly of The Republic force here, is a visitor in North Yakima. He says Walla Walla is flourishing.

The county commissioners will meet on Monday, May 4, and consider the petition for the straightening out of the old Selah-Wenas road, and other matters.

C. M. Carlos, of Seattle, and Mr. Gibbart, also of the Queen City, are in North Yakima for a few days looking after land interests in the Selah valley.

Dr. N. H. Goodenow sailed April 11 for England where he will take up a more complete course in the treatment of the eye, ear, nose and throat. Dr. Chase will attend his practice while gone.

Deputy Horticultural Inspector Brown who has been inspecting the orchards at Parker Bottom declares them to be in excellent condition and to show no signs of the frost of a week or so ago.

Measles are reported to be epidemic in the Moxee. Physicians report that practically every other home has a victim or two. Mumps and scarlet fever have also laid out a large number of the otherwise strong and healthy. Many of those who are ill are adults.

George F. Seigel has returned to North Yakima from a brief trip to the Sound. He says that while everything is going along all right there he found that the number of unemployed appeared to be very large. Meat, as in North Yakima, is scarce and hard to get and becoming scarcer.

The old and original city jail is to become a kitchen for a restaurant. Not many people in the city know of the existence of the old lockup. It is situated at the rear of the Lesh building, on First street north, and comprises a small room with brick walls and safely barred windows.

Miss Martha Wiley, of Fochow, China, and Mrs. W. F. Achelpohl, of St. Charles, Mo., sisters of Messrs. Wallace and J. J. Wiley, of North Yakima, are visiting in this city, having come home to spend the summer with their mother. Miss Martha Wiley, who is a Congregational church missionary, has been away from home for eight years.

Rene Cosgrove of Seattle has applied himself for the present with the Highland Real Estate company. Mr. Cosgrove has been here but a short time, but since his arrival in the city he has been greatly impressed by his observations and has practically concluded to remain.

BIG GAME MONDAY

Aberdeen Black Cats to Cross Bats with Yakima Tigers.

A baseball game that has set the fans to talking is scheduled to take place in this city Monday afternoon. Through the instrumentality of Manager Doc Campbell, of the local nine, the champion Aberdeen Black Cats, the team which won the pennant in the northwest last year, has agreed to stop here on their way to Tacoma Monday and play an exhibition game.

The Yakima Tigers are getting out every day and practicing hard with the expectation of giving the visitors one of the hardest games of their career.

The probabilities are that the contest will prove exciting, because the local aggregation has no slouch of a team, and they can travel in the very fastest company.

"Spitball" Nelson will perform in the box for the locals. His arm is said to be in great shape and Lars wants to establish a reputation for himself. Don't miss this game.

THE DISTRICT LEADER

Musical Comedy of Unusual Merit Billed for One Night Stand.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press said: "The District Leader" can not be beat. It is the snappiest, most enjoyable musical comedy that has been here this year. It is a pot pourri. Its star musical number is "What's the Use of Dreaming," a saucily entrancing melody that simply permeates every fibre of the auditor and makes every dream come true. In the matter of the chorus there is praise, also. It is composed of an exceptionally fine lot of well drilled girls, exquisitely costumed. The story of the piece, though melodramatic, is probably the best plot of any of today's musical comedies. The scenes are well set, the first being a reproduction of the rotunda of the Hoffman House, the second disclosing a scene from Chinatown, while the third act shows a palatial summer home and gardens on the Hudson river.

"The District Leader" will show here on the night of May 12.

TOPPENISH SALOON

MEN SUE HILLYER

Ask Damages from Councilman for False Arrest and Malicious Prosecution.

Following a recent prosecution of a number of saloon keepers in Toppenish on the charge of selling liquor on Sunday and which was undertaken at the instance of Councilman J. G. Hillyer, of the reservation city, suits have been commenced against Mr. Hillyer by J. Booth Rhodes and Rodney C. White, two saloon men, in which each claims $5,000 damages for wrongful imprisonment and malicious prosecution. The two causes of action are separately stated in each suit, $2500 being asked on each account.

The two men with others were tried before Justice of the Peace Goodrich recently and the charges dismissed. The complaints in each case are the same, namely, that Mr. Hillyer maliciously caused the arrest and prosecution of the plaintiffs.

RICH ORE IS STRUCK

Recent Visitor to North Yakima Encounters Good Fortune.

A stroke of good fortune has fallen upon John M. and Ella B. Laidy since their presence in North Yakima a few days ago, word of which has been received by their friends here. They are the owners of gold mining properties which appear to be panning out well. Mr. Laidy is an uncle of Volney Taft of this city. The Morning Democrat of Baker City says:

"News was received in this city yesterday from the now booming camp of Mormon Basin that a body of ore had been struck in the Oregon Chief mine, better known as the Wagoner group, returning value of from $60 to $160 per ton. The property is owned by John M. Laidy and Ella Laidy, of this city, and George Wagoner, of Mormon Basin, and is under bond to W. L. Vinson, now in Chicago."

Mrs. Elva Lorine Diamond.

Mrs. Elva Lorine Diamond, daughter of L. L. Matterson, of North Yakima, died at her home, 408 South Seventh avenue, Monday night, aged 37 years.

Mrs. Diamond was born in Todd county, Minnesota, September 25, 1876, where she lived until the fall of 1897 when she came to North Yakima with her parents. She returned to the old home and was married May 24, 1899, to Leonard L. Diamond, and about one year later they took up their residence here. When about 15 years of age she united with the Congregational church, and as a school teacher her Christian influence was a strong factor in the work accomplished. To mourn her are the husband; three little daughters; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Matterson, parents; M. L. Matterson, brother; Mrs. A. W. Losey, Mrs. F. L. Johnson, and Miss Nina Matterson, sisters. Just before the end came she called to her bedside the relatives, carefully and calmly giving instructions as to the care of the little girls, speaking words of comfort and encouragement to all, showing the strength and fortitude of a Christian life. Septicemia was the cause of death.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED IN NELSON VS. N. Y. & V. SUIT

The damage suit of John Nelson, a Naches valley rancher, against the North Yakima & Valley railway company, in which a jury at the January term of court awarded the plaintiff $845 for about two and one-half acres of land taken by the railroad for right of way, will be tried over again when the next jury term of the court is held. Notice of motion to set aside the verdict of the jury was given at the time by Englehart & Rigg, attorneys for the railway, and was argued recently by Judge Rigg and Frank Luse, attorneys for Nelson.
