Deering Ideals

Stand for Perfection in hay making machinery.

New Deering Ideal Rakes

are built for strength and service. Hay is worth money to you. The Ideal Rake will get it all. Heavy trussed frame that will not break. Steel wheels, heavily spoked, that will absolutely stand up over the roughest ground. A dumping device that does not get out of order and always works. Thoroughly tested in many Yakima fields, it has given perfect satisfaction.

The Deering Ideal Mower

needs no better recommendation than is given every day by hundreds of Yakima's best farmers. If you want the best machine made you want the DEERING IDEAL. Remember, you can always get repairs for the Deering. No waiting. That fact is worth money to you. Let us show you the Deering Ideals. It will save you time and trouble to use a Deering.

DROWNED IN WASTE DITCH

Albert Fuller Fell In From Third Street Crossing—Clerked for Ditter Bros.

Albert W. Fuller, a clerk in Ditter Bros. store, fell into the waste ditch of the Yakima Milling company at Third street last Saturday night and was drowned. His body was found at 8:30 a. m., Sunday, at the point where the Union ditch is fed from the waste ditch, lodged against the pieces across the bottom of the short flume which turns the water at right angles with the main ditch. His hat had passed through the Union ditch gate and was found in a small lateral on Natches avenue. The remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of E. L. Sessions where they were prepared for burial.

The circumstances surrounding the accident are not known, but Fuller was seen going home about midnight by Val Gandy, who met him going up Third street on his way to the home of Joseph Schreiner where he had rooms. Mr. Fuller left Ditters' store about 11 o'clock. Mr. Gandy saw him going toward his rooming place and up to the porch. That was the last time he was seen alive. It is supposed that he walked up Third street and fell into the ditch.

Fuller came here two months ago from Pendleton, Ore., and was employed as a clerk in the dry goods department of Ditter Bros. He came from Nova Scotia to Pendleton and was joined there by his mother and sister, who intended to come to this place to live. D. F. Powers, an uncle, came over from Seattle Monday morning, and had the remains removed to that place for burial. Fuller was about 25 years old. He had joined the Woodmen of the World only a few days before his death. Coroner Heliker did not think an inquest necessary, and none was held.

Funeral services were held in the Catholic church at 9 a. m. on Tuesday and the remains were shipped to Seattle on the 2 p. m. train. It is understood that the insurance the deceased had taken out in the Woodmen of the World was not perfected at the time of his death and in consequence the policy would be inoperative.

Fruit Was Injured.

P. J. Flint, one of the largest fruit growers in the county, stated Monday that the frosts of last week had nipped the peaches, plums, pears and apricots. "I do not mean to assert, however," said Mr. Flint, "that the crop has been seriously injured. It is too early to say whether there will be a good crop or not. Every year more or less fruit is killed by the frosts, but the trees in the Yakima country usually bear so heavily that often a large part of the fruit will be frost bitten and yet as much will survive as the trees can carry. It will be several days before an intelligent opinion as to the size of this year's crop can be rendered."

It will be too late to buy one of our ro-acre tracts in the Burlingame Suburban Homes after the government canal starts. Get it now before they are all gone; easy terms. SCUDDER & Co. ap24-4

TO ENTERTAIN THE PRESIDENT

Capt. Dulin Made Chief Marshal—Stand at Corner Yakima and Natches Avenues.

The executive committee for the entertainment of President Roosevelt met in the Commercial Club rooms Tuesday night and considered plans for the occasion. All the special committees made reports on the work they had under way.

Capt. C. T. Dulin of Company E reported that he had obtained authority from Adjutant General Drain to use the militia on the occasion for special services. In view of his position the committee selected Capt. Dulin as chief marshal of the day. He will have full control of the parade besides assisting the city marshal in keeping the peace. The militia will act as an escort to the presidential party from the time they arrive at the station till they take their departure. It is the purpose to rope off considerable of the space around the station on the morning the train is to arrive here and prevent everybody from approaching it. This is in accordance with the instructions received from the secretary to the president and also from the secretary of war. The Grand Army will act as a guard of honor from the station to the speaker's platform and they will be lined up on each side of the carriage during the parade. The Spanish-American veterans will also take part in the parade.

J. D. Medill, committee on decorations, reported that he had seen all the business men and others on Yakima avenue along the line of parade and they all agreed to decorate their own buildings. J. E. Merwin was present at the request of Mr. Medill and suggested that it would not be advisable to put up an arch. He thought that streamers and across the avenue at intervals of every telegraph or other pole would be sufficient aside from decorating the station and speaker's platform. It was thought $125 will be sufficient for the decorations. Mr. Medill also reported that he had printed the bills as directed and had sent them to every postoffice in the county and distributed them over the city.

Walter Reed committee on platform, reported that he had inspected three sites. One was at the Hotel Yakima, one on Third street between A and B and the third at the corner of Yakima and Natches avenues. Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson offered to decorate the stand and do anything else that was reasonable if it was placed in front of their hotel. After considering the matter thoroughly the site at the corner of Yakima and Natches was accepted. This will give more room for the crowd than any other point that could be selected. Mr. Reed will have charge of erecting the stand.

E. J. Wyman, committee on carriages and music, said that he had not completed his work yet about securing the bands. He had made arrangements for the carriages and had no ifted Prosser and Sunnyside to send their bands to this place on the occasion.

The whole committee went before the county commissioners at 10 a. m. Wednesday morning to obtain from them a donation sufficiently large to meet the expenses above the sum the council will appropriate. The commissioners donated $250.

The question of who is to ride in the president's carriage with him and the other carriages of the parade was discussed. This was considered the most delicate part of the whole program to handle. It was decided that Mayor Shaw and Congressman Jones are the proper persons for the first honors and upon them will devolve the duties of riding in the first carriage. Congressman Jones will introduce the president to the people. Other citizens will be selected to ride in the other carriages in the parade.

Another meeting of the committee will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the Commercial Club rooms.

Beet Sugar Factory at Prosser.

A scheme has been submitted to the citizens of Prosser for building a beet sugar factory at that place and Senator Ankeny of Walla Walla is lending a helping hand to establish the enterprise. The promoters have guaranteed to build a factory providing 3500 acres of beets are furnished by the farmers. The Prosser people have set about to make good the agreement and have secured the co-operation of the Washington Irrigation Company, which has promised to extend the canal to give the required amount of land. A mass meeting of the citizens was held last week at Prosser at which Senator Ankeny, Walter Granger and S. A. Wells took a prominent part.

THE LIBRARY SITE FUND

Has Reached $2300, and More Will be Raised—The New Books.

The library site fund has reached the sum of $2300 and it is expected to raise this to about $3000 or possibly more. Whenever a sufficient sum is secured those who have contributed will meet and select a site. Just where it is located nobody yet can tell, but it is the purpose of those having the matter in charge to secure a place that will be especially adapted for a library.

The library is now in two front rooms of the Clogg building where the patrons go every afternoon and evening to read the latest and best books of the season and the magazines and newspapers. Seventy-seven new books were received lately and placed on the shelves. Following are the names of the books:

The Citizen in Relation to the Industrial Literature, American Mechanic Marine, Ransom's Folly, Captain Macklin, The Fortunes of Oliver Horn, John Gayther's Garden, The Valley of Decision, Dr. Bryson, Whom the Gods Destroyed, Little Stories of Married Life, Border Fights and Fighters, The Maid at Arms, The Vultures, The Wooling of Wistaria, In the Morning Glow, The Reflections of Ambrosine, Winslow Plain, Short History of Music, A Woman's Ventures, The Virginian, Janet Ward, Aunt Abby's Neighbors, The Little Green God, Lavender and Old Lace, Donovan Pasha, The House Under the Sea, The Two Vanrevels, Gabriel Tolliver, Oldfield, Dogtown, Pickett's Gap, A Little Captive Lad, The Lane That had no Turning, Dorothy South, A Sherburne Queen, A Song of a Single Note, No Other Way, Paul Kelter, Franczka, The Long Straight Road, The Loom of Life, Life and Adventures of Santa Claus, Hearts Courageous, The Mississippi Bubble, Under Colonial Colors, The Champion, The Flag on the Hill Top, A Sea Turn and Other Matters, The Heritage, A Little White Bird, A Captured Santa Claus, In the Wasp's Nest, Jeb Hutton, Sea Fighters from Drake to Farragut, King Monibo, Rob and His Gun, Treasure of Lucas, With Kitchner in the Sudan, With the British Legion, Out Door Land, The Flight of Tom Baker, The Captain of the Gray House Troop, Abner Daniel, Her Serene Neighbors, Tales of Destiny, Margaret Vincent, Napoleon Jackson, Alladin O'Brien, Biography of a Prairie Girl, Confessions of a Wife, Hero Tales from American History, The Windham Girls, Cruise of the Dazzler, Forming Remington's Battle, Eight Girls and a Dog, The Boy and the Baron, Cecilia.

A Bridge for Kennewick.

The county commissioners have practically decided to build the bridge across the Yakima river at Kennewick. The matter came up for consideration at the meeting of the commissioners on Monday and was fully considered. The county engineer was directed to make a survey for the bridge and report at the next meeting held in July. The bridge will be built during the summer providing the June freshets do not take out any of the other bridges of the valley.

Ben Hendricks, in "Ole Olson."

Ben Hendricks, to whom the mantle of the late George Heege came by right of his admitted superior excellence in the assumption of Swedish-American dialect characters, will present "Ole Olson," a comedy drama that has retained popularity for many years, to the patrons of Larson's theatre, Monday, May 18th. Many theatre goers will have a pleasant remembrance of this comedy. In general character it is almost unique among stage offerings, with its simple home tone, the naturalness of its incidents and scenes and the lack of thrilling effects, as understood in melodrama.

The story brings Ole Olson, an honest, true-hearted young Swedish lad into prominence as its central figure, by his work in spilling the schemes and machinations of two rascals who seek to ruin the life and obtain by fraud the fortune of a young widow who has befriended the innocent Swede. In return for her kindness he watches over her with the faithfulness of a devoted slave, and in the end completely outwits the schemers. All this is done to the accompaniment of a generous measure of comedy and occasional touches of pathos.

N. S. Johnson returned Thursday from the sound.

T. W. Howell, manager of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber Co., went to Tacoma last Friday and remained several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Reed went to Cle Elum Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Reed spent several days with friends in that town this week.

The Yakima bottling works has been removed from its former location on First street to the large Cadwell building on south Second.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Congdon went to Paso Robles, Cal., last week. They will remain there some time for the benefit of Mrs. Congdon's health.

O. Beck attended the annual meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America at Walla Walla last week. He was a delegate from the local lodge.

United States Commissioner Howlett has been notified that there will be no term of court at Walla Walla this month. It will be held the first Tuesday in June at Seattle. There will be no grand jury term.

G. L. Allen left here last week for Twin Falls, Idaho, to take up the work on his big contract on the ditch to be built across the Idaho desert. The members of his family have recovered from their recent sickness.

E. L. Sessions went to Waterville this week to look after some of his business interests at that place. He has sold a piece of property he owned in that city and expects to dispose of all his property interests there and make Yakima his permanent home.

C. V. Warner came down from Ellensburg Sunday to see the ball game, and went home the happiest man in the world with his victorious team. Mr. Warner's grin of triumph was measured at the end of the ninth inning, and was found to be 33 feet four inches wide.

Mr. James Herley and daughter, Miss Cassie, of Zillah, desire to return their sincere thanks to their many friends in North Yakima for the aid and sympathy rendered during the sickness and death of Mrs. M. Herley, who died in this city on the 6th inst. Their kindness will be ever remembered.

A Northern Pacific engine with a new search light passed through here last week on one of the delayed trains. The light is so bright that the engineer can see for a mile and a half ahead of his engine. The train bearing the headlight came in at about 10 o'clock and attracted a great deal of attention.

Klinkhammer and Wilkins, Yakima's star battery, arrived home Sunday morning from Pendleton. They played three games with the Pendleton Indians, and left the club in first place in the league. Every fan in Pendleton wept when the train taking them home pulled out of town. Friday Klinkhammer pitched in a game with Walla Walla in which the score stood 1 to 1 for 13 innings. In the 14th Pendleton won out.

The car of Gipsy Queen oranges which J. M. Perry & Co. have been advertising in the REPUBLIC for the last ten days arrived Saturday, and are fully up to representations, as the REPUBLIC force can attest after sampling a box left here by Mr. Perry. The shipment arrived in first class shape, and the oranges are the finest lot of the size that has been brought to town for a long time.

Senator W. W. Tolman of Spokane, who is a member of the world's fair commission, before leaving for home after the session last week, looked the country over and decided to become the owner of some Yakima real estate. He filed on a desert claim in the upper Moxee. He will probably endeavor to get some artesian water on it. Mr. Tolman is said to be slated for governor by the Spokane democrats. Senator Turner has been frequently mentioned in this connection, but it is understood that he will not be a candidate. Mr. Tolman is the author of the Tolman railroad commission bill. He is a bright young man, and would probably be both ornamental and useful if he ever found a seat in the executive office, but his destiny doesn't point that way at present. Washington will not elect a democratic governor for several years to come.

A Good Show.

Term to Begin June 1st—Jury to be Called Next Week—The Cases.

A term of criminal court will be held during the week beginning Monday, June 1. Judge Rudkin, who is now in Ellensburg holding court, will impanel the jury next week when he returns, and the cases will be set for trial. There are 11 criminal cases on the docket, but it is likely that several of these will be dismissed or otherwise disposed of before the time arrives for trial. The list of the cases follow:

Frank Charles, burglary; Robert Wagner and Gust Lind, burglary; Lester Holt, horse stealing; E. F. Zaspel, obtaining money under false pretense; James F. Kinney, malicious mischief; Fred John, assault and battery; George Barrick, murder; Andrew Daverin, fornication; Wesley W. Beeks, assault and battery, case withdrawn. The case against L. B. Mosher, cruelty to animals, was settled.

Mrs. Dix Injured.

Mrs. Charles H. Dix was severely injured in an accident on west Yakima avenue about 2:45 p. m. last Sunday. She was driving westward on the avenue when the horse stumbled and fell. She pitched headlong out of the buggy and fell to the ground. The horse came down on top of her with such force as to cause her to become unconscious. It was thought at first that she was mortally injured, but she recovered in a few hours and is now fast improving.

WHITE MAN KILLS INDIAN

Tommy Saluskin Hit with Rock by George Ward Who Threw It in Self Defense.

Tommy Saluskin, an Indian, was killed last week during a fight among several other Indians and some white men at a round up on the upper Abnatum. An inquest was concluded Monday in the undertaking rooms of E. L. Sessions, where the body was removed, and a verdict was rendered to the effect that the Indian came to his death at the hands of George Ward, who threw the stone in self defence.

The fight took place on Tuesday, May 5. It appears that Jimmy Saluskin, a brother of the dead man, got into a fight with a white man over the ownership of a horse. The Indians testified that they were all drinking and some of them were considerably under the influence of liquor. Little Charley testified that Ward threw the rock without provocation. He was corroborated by other witnesses, who say that Tommy Saluskin was not fighting, but that he got off his horse when the fight commenced and just as he was walking around in front of it Ward picked up a rock and threw at him. Ward, they say, was not taking part in the fight.

Ward's testimony was to the effect that he was attacked by Saluskin, the dead man, without provocation; that Saluskin approached him with a rock in each hand and was about to throw them, when he picked up one and hurled it at him. He said he did not mean to hit him. The rock struck Saluskin between the eyes and crushed his skull. He was immediately cared for by the white men and fixed in a bed along the bank of the creek. On Wednesday morning the Indian rode to his home on the reservation and died there Saturday morning. The remains were brought to this place Saturday evening and a coroner's jury summoned, but the jury did not conclude its work till Monday.

GAVE WHISKY TO INDIAN

An Echo of Killing at Big Cottonwood Last Week—The Trial.

An echo of the killing of an Indian at Big Cottonwood last week was heard before United States Commissioner Howlett Tuesday afternoon T. W. Fear, who was one of the members of the round up party, was arrested on the charge of furnishing whisky to Jimmy Saluskin the brother of the dead Indian. The case occupied the greater part of the afternoon. The prisoner was present with an attorney to defend him and a large crowd of his friends were also there to hear the case tried.

Jimmy Saluskin, the main witness, testified that Fear asked him to go with him from the corral to his camp near a spring about a hundred yards distant and take a drink of whisky. The witness said that he accompanied Fear, and the latter took from under his bed in the camp a bottle half filled with whisky and he drank all of it. Little Charlie, an other Indian about 14 years old testified that he saw Fear give Jimmy the bottle of whisky and watched the latter drink it all. Charley got tangled up in his story and contradicted himself.

Superintendent Lynch was present and after hearing the testimony said he did not think it sufficient to hold the defendant. He was accordingly discharged.

Longest Fence in the Northwest.

W. H. Vessey has just completed the building of one of the longest wire fences in the northwest. It is 32 miles long and incloses one body of land, which is located on the Rattlesnake Hills in lower Yakima county.

Mr. Vessey has several hundred acres of his land in wheat and reports it as being in a most favorable condition. The high altitude provides that section of the county with a bountiful supply of rain and therefore droughts never visit the Rattlesnake Hills. The soil is of such a nature that hard winds do not blow the crops from the ground and the new settlers feel cheerful over their results in raising successful crops in a country where a few years ago it was thought that the land was worthless except for stock grazing purposes.

SUPT. FOR FAIR GROUNDS

Matt Williams Selected to Take Charge Another Year—Some Improvements.

The State Fair board this week appointed Matt Williams as superintendent of the fair grounds. A contract has been signed up with him giving him full charge for the year. He is now working on a number of improvements that will be made on the grounds by the commission this summer. Among the most important improvements is a water system that will be more satisfactory. The water will be taken from the Union ditch about a quarter of a mile north and conducted in flumes through the grounds, and then under the track through water pipes to a point opposite the grand stand. This will give the water full enough to force it into the sprinklers.

A number of other improvements will also be made, but the details have not yet been decided on. The high board fence in front will be moved back and teams excepting private carriages will hereafter be excluded from the grounds. Hitching posts will be placed on the grounds for teams and the woods will be given over to visitors.

Sold Fifteen Sections of Land.

D. M. Drumbeller, of the Traders' National bank of Spokane, and John Scott and Frank Robertson, both of Montana, have sold fifteen sections of land in townships 10 and 11 of range 24, in Yakima county, for $50,000, making a profit in two years of over $20,000 on their investment. The property is in the Rattlesnake country and is upland—not irrigation land—and is said to be excellent for wheat. The sale was made to Iowa people.

TO STUDY RANGE CONDITIONS

Department of Agriculture to Send a Specialist to This State for the Purpose.

Early this month Dr. David Griffiths, assistant agrostologist of the department of agriculture, will go into eastern Oregon and Washington to take up the study of the range problem and continue investigations which he made last year in these two states. His work last year was more in the nature of exploration than experimentation. He discovered that many of the valuable ranges are being utterly destroyed because of overgrazing by sheep. The owners of the sheep, in numerous instances, apparently have no concern for the future, and use no discretion in controlling their flocks, says the Ranch.

One of the important works ahead of Dr. Griffiths is to determine, by experimentation, what sorts of grasses are best adapted to the several range sections of eastern Oregon and Washington. He wants to find first of all a hardy grass that reproduces readily and that can withstand the dry climate. To determine this various sorts of seeds will be planted under different conditions. Efforts will be also made, under his direction, to restore parts of some of the ranges that have been destroyed in the past through the carelessness of the stockmen. His work will not be on a large scale, but only sufficient to demonstrate the values of the different varieties of range grasses and to give the stockmen an opportunity to see what can be done on well governed pasture land.

The work of Dr. Griffiths in Oregon and Washington is in line with similar work that is to be conducted elsewhere by other representatives of the department. There is a desire, if possible, to formulate sufficient reliable data bearing on the range problem to enable congress to take some action looking to the enactment of a law governing the use of the public grazing lands, as well as a law respecting grazing within forest reservations. When efforts have been made to secure such legislation heretofore, the reply has been made that there is not sufficient information upon which to base intelligent action. It is to supply this information that the department forces have been scattered broadcast for the coming season. The importance of the range problem is realized by the department of agriculture, and it is also appreciated that the longer it is neglected the more serious becomes the problem. Hence the great activity at this time.

Obituary of Mrs. Westfield.

Mrs. Julia Hookland Westfield was born in Fillmore county, Minn., May 6, 1867, and died of pneumonia at her home in Sunnyside, Washington, April 29th, 1903.

Her early years were spent in her father's home. In 1888 she was united in marriage to Rev. Simon P. Westfield. To this union were born five children, four of whom survive her. The following year they moved to Duluth, Minn., and shortly afterward went to South Dakota. In the fall of 1890 they took work in the South Dakota conference of the Free Methodist church where they labored successfully for nine years.

From Dakota they removed to Washington in 1899, and were appointed to the Roslyn circuit, which they served for two and one-half years, being appointed to Sunnyside about a year ago.

Mrs. Westfield united with the M. E. church at the age of 18 years. She united with the Free Methodist church in the spring of 1890, of which church she remained a faithful and consistent member while she lived. Hers was a life of devotion to others. No labor was too hard, no sacrifice too great, for her to make for the welfare and good of others. She was an ideal wife and mother.

She leaves a husband, four children, a father, mother, one brother and five sisters with many other friends to mourn her loss.

The funeral was conducted by Revs. B. F. Smally and S. A. Milton at the Episcopal church Friday, May 1, 1903. Text, "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord." Rev. 14: 13. Her remains were borne in a white casket to the Sunnyside cemetery and laid to rest.

Typographical Union Organized.

A typographical union was organized in this city Monday night with 13 charter members. Harry Bronson, state organizer of Spokane, was here and effected the organization. OFFICIAL PAPER OF YAKIMA COUNTY

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1908.

THE largest crowd ever assembled in Yakima county will be here on the 25th to greet the president. The people of North Yakima should use every effort to make the day a pleasant one for the visitors.

ONE of the best pictures of the kind ever taken in the state is that of the farm of J. F. Crittenden near Zillah, this county. A Spokane real estate firm, which knows a good thing when it sees it, uses this splendid Yakima picture in its advertisements of Spokane property for sale.

MR. CLEVELAND writes that he has at no time been desirous of leading the democratic hosts a fourth time. This ought to stop the talk about nominating Mr. Cleveland in 1904. He has done his work and is entitled to a rest. He couldn't be elected president if he were nominated, and it isn't kind to drag him out of his retirement.

THE Oregonian quotes a paragraph from a little Oregon paper in which reference is made to the heavy immigration into the Webfoot state this year, and the prediction is made that in population Oregon will soon lead Washington. This is nonsense. In the course of a little time the Washington cities on Puget sound will have more people than the whole state of Oregon.

EDWARD WHITSON got home this week after a long trip through the east. He said to the REPUBLIC yesterday: "I saw no farming country in the east worth mentioning in the same breath with the Yakima valley." That is what every Yakima man says when he returns from a trip through other parts of the country. The loyalty of Yakima people to the state and county they live in is one of their marked characteristics. It speaks more for Yakima than volumes of printed testimonials.

THE $76,500 of state capitol building fund warrants authorized by the last legislature find no purchasers. They bear 4 per cent. interest, and payment of the interest is guaranteed by the legislature. It is said there are two reasons why investors do not want these warrants. One is that the issue is larger than individual investors can handle. The other is that the banks of the west, which might have been expected to take them, can loan their money in the east at better than 4 per cent. The east has recently been making heavy demands upon the west for money.

JUDGE DICKINSON at Omaha on Tuesday rendered a decision that restrains business men from refusing to sell goods to dealers who employ union labor, prevents them from boycotting union labor, and requires the Business Men's association of Omaha to cease from holding meetings or conspiring in any way against the unions or in any way interfering with the unions in the management of their affairs. Judge Dickinson is one of the ablest jurists of Nebraska. His decision places the employers and the striking union workmen on practically the same footing.

HON. HENRY J. SNIVELY explained to a Spokesman-Review reporter the other day why he was beaten when he ran for governor. He said that when he was a member of the legislature he inadvertently opposed a resolution favoring the "Seattle ditch." He didn't know what the resolution was about; he was against it merely because the man who offered it had been firing resolutions in too frequently. When he ran for governor he couldn't explain away this part of his record, and the King county people gave McGraw a majority large enough to elect him. Light on little understood matters of history like the campaign of '92 is always thankfully received. The explanations of the actors in the drama are always in order. Let us hereafter assume that the commonly accepted version of the extent of Mr. Snively's responsibility for the disastrous defeat of the democrats in 1892 is wrong. He wasn't to blame at all. The man who offered so many resolutions that he became a nuisance is to blame.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The big St. Louis fair project didn't get a very propitious start at the dedicatory exercises. Judging from the newspaper accounts, it was a big thing, all right enough, and a large crowd was in attendance, including President Roosevelt and our only living ex-president, one G. Cleveland. But the crowd in attendance seems to have been worked to a finish by the greedy hotel, restaurant and hack men. Mr. Edward Whitson of this city, as published in last week's REPUBLIC, complains of having been charged $10 per day for an ordinary room at an ordinary hotel, with very poor service for only a $10-a-day guest, while he was swindled out of $4 by a hack driver. Since the above was published the Colorado world's fair commission has wired President Francis of the exposition inquiring what the hotel and hack rates are to be, also informing him that unless they are regulated and visitors protected from extortionate charges, that Colorado will make no exhibit at the fair. Complaints, in fact, are made from various quarters of the country of the same nature, which is why we say the big show didn't get a very good start on the occasion of its dedication.

If the people of St. Louis have started in thus early to fleece their visitors, what will they do when the fair is once under way? The visitors to that city should be protected from extortion. Undoubtedly, the fair is going to be the greatest thing of the kind that the world has ever seen, and millions of people will visit it. But it is the people's fair. The United States government has appropriated $5,000,000 of the people's money toward it, various state legislatures have appropriated twice as much more of the taxpayers' funds, and therefore the great public expects to be protected. If the city of St. Louis won't do it, steps should be taken to induce congress to take some action on the matter. The fair is for the purpose of celebrating the second greatest event in the nation's history. All patriotic people will wish to attend it, but they don't want to be robbed while they are doing it. St. Louis will really make more, in the long run, if she charges the visitors reasonable prices. The newspapers have taken hold of this matter and they will be the means of keeping thousands of people away from the fair if they are not assured in advance of good accommodations without being robbed.

The belief is growing that Grover Cleveland is really an aspirant for the democratic presidential nomination next year. A Georgia editor the other day, through a personal letter, asked him if he would consider or was considering making the race. Cleveland's reply is published in all of the Associated press newspapers. "I can say no more," it reads, "than to assure you that at no time since the close of my last administration have I been desirous of carrying the democratic banner for the fourth time in a presidential contest."

That is a clear evasion of the question. It leaves the matter open, so far as Cleveland is concerned, and the press of the country, which is quick to size up a situation, has taken it to mean that Grover really thinks he may be in the running. The same newspapers that contained Cleveland's reply, also contained an interview with W. J. Bryan, in which he declared that there was not the remotest possibility of Grover's nomination. That, of course, is the way Mr. Bryan feels about the matter; he would never, of course, consent to such a nomination, but it is more than likely that Mr. Bryan will not control the next democratic national convention. Mr. Cleveland has been making himself rather numerous of late. After years of retirement he is again before the public, and seems to enjoy it. Bryan, however, wouldn't do a thing to him if he was nominated. Without doubt, William Jennings could cause the defeat of his arch enemy at the polls, even though he could not defeat him in the convention. And he would delight in doing it. As this page has remarked before, Mr. Bryan has determined that if he can't be president no other democrat shall, and thus is doing the country a good service. Let us hope, therefore, that Cleveland will be nominated.

Tacoma and Seattle deserve to be cut out of President Roosevelt's itinerary. The row that the two towns have got into, over whose guest the president shall be while en route from Tacoma to Seattle on the steamer Spokane, is disgraceful. The steamer, it seems, will carry 150 guests, all of whom Tacoma has named and invited. Among them are five members of the Seattle presidential reception committee, but that city, led by Congressman Humphrey, demands that Seattle name half the guests that the Spokane will carry. In the meantime the U. S. revenue cutter McCullough has been ordered to report at Tacoma, and it is thought the president may avail himself of her use. It is hoped that he will and leave the warring factions to fight it out among themselves. The row between Tacoma and Seattle, together with the fight down at Walla Walla between the Ankeny and the anti-Ankeny men as to who shall entertain the president, is liable to give Mr. Roosevelt a very poor opinion of the Washington people.

Pitcher Wiggs, who played with Helena last season, and who, while the team was playing in this state, made the world's record of pitching 43 innings without a score being made off his delivery, was unable to make good in the national league. Cincinnati has released him and he has joined McCloskey's San Francisco team. Wiggs is undoubtedly a wonderful pitcher if he had control of the ball and did not lose his head so often. His western friends last season advised him to remain awhile in a minor league before tackling the national organization, and predicted his failure. It has come. He was in too fast company in the big league and will be in luck if he holds up his end in the present Pacific National.

Just before President Roosevelt started on his western tour, this page took occasion to remark that if his speeches equalled those of ex-President Harrison, during his western tour, they would be the most versatile and wonderful speeches of a president that this country has ever heard. A careful perusal of President Roosevelt's speeches reveals the fact that they are, in many respects, remarkable. They are not only adapted to local conditions, but are on a wide range of subjects. They prove that the president is well informed, that he possesses more knowledge than he was generally credited with. By reason of his former residence in the far west, it was conceded that he was familiar with the customs and needs of this section of the country, but his most ardent admirers did not expect such versatility and ability as President Roosevelt's speeches have shown. He is so much younger than ex-President Harrison, who was a statesman with years of experience, that his speeches could hardly be expected to equal them. Mr. Harrison's speeches were famous for their versatility and knowledge of the country's conditions and resources. President Roosevelt's speeches would probably be as good if he had had the same public experience, and if this is true it is, indeed, paying him a high compliment.

Will Soon be Notified.

Jay Lynch, superintendent of the Yakima Indian reservation, has been notified by the interior department that he is to call for informal bids for constructing the proposed canal. As soon as the plans and specifications and some blue prints are ready they will be forwarded to him and he is to advertise for bids. He cannot tell when he is to receive these instructions, but looks for them to arrive in a short time.

Company C Full.

Company C will in a few days have a full membership. There are 61 members now and the limit is 65, and there are enough applicants to complete the roster to the limit allowed by law. This is an unusual condition for the militia of the state and especially of the city, as the desire to join the militia is greater now than it has been for a long time. The captain thinks that shortly there will be a list of waiting applicants to become members.

RECORD OF THE PAST

No Stronger Evidence Can be Had in North Yakima.

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Anyone with a bad back, any reader suffering from urinary troubles, from any kidney ills will find in the following evidence proof that relief and cure is near at hand:

John Sells, blacksmith 204 South 2nd st, living at 616 South 2nd st, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were first brought to my notice some three years ago when I was living in Kookuk, Ia. At that time I was suffering severely from an attack of kidney complaint and could scarcely do a day's work. To stoop or rise after stooping hurt me so severely that I could scarcely refrain from yelling. Now, when a man has suffered from a back which felt half the time as if bruised, which could not stand the slightest pressure; when he could not sit, stand or lie with any comfort and when he was to depend upon his day's work for his daily bread he becomes very anxious about his condition. Now, when that man receives benefit from a course of treatment of any medicine he naturally becomes enthusiastic about it. Doan's Kidney Pills absolutely stopped an attack. I moved out here two years ago and shortly afterwards I noticed symptoms of a recurrence. I tried to get Doan's Kidney Pills but they were not to be had in the town. Three months ago I had quite a severe attack and when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I lost no time in getting a box at Fred L. Janack's drug store, on Yakima Ave. Three boxes straightened me up as completely as if I never had a touch of kidney trouble in my life. Doan's Kidney Pills do all that is claimed for them. You are welcome to refer anyone to me for more particulars."

Things That Do Happen

Mrs. Grimes of Tacoma is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Foster.

W. I. Lince and wife will leave in a few days to spend a month on the Sound. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Morris of the Ahtanum, Wednesday, May 13, 1903, a daughter.

Al Gibson has returned to British Columbia to play with a league team of that country.

Mrs. D. Guillard of Portland is visiting James Henderson, Mrs. Jennie Bartholet and other friends and relatives.

Ernest Hamilton will go to Seattle next week to represent the local lodge Knights of Pythias at the annual convention.

Mrs. Taylor Martin died at her late home at Toppenish Tuesday, May 12, 1903, of consumption. Funeral services were held Thursday.

J. J. Smith and Dr. William Chapman were here from Seattle the first of the week conferring with George Gandy, manager of the canning company.

The J. E. O. U. was entertained Monday evening by Mrs. Frank Horsley and Mrs. D. E. Lesh at the home of the former lady. All the members were present.

W. B. Dudley has this week been entertaining his brother in law, John C. Barton of Minneapolis. Mr. Barton likes the Yakima country very much, and may decide to make his home here.

Horace Goodlander, accompanied by Mrs. Goodlander, is visiting his uncle, D. L. Stone. He is from Montana and is looking for a new place to locate. He may decide on Yakima for his future home.

The Epworth League gave a social on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Richards north of town. The evening was spent in games and music. There were about 80 young people present.

The Ladies' Foreign Missionary society gave a social at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Rosser on south Sixth street Wednesday evening. A musical program was carried out and refreshments were served.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Musical club will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Horsley on north Sixth street next Tuesday for the purpose of electing officers. All the members are requested to be present.

The Tacoma papers of a few days ago contained an item to the effect that Louis G. Zenovich, formerly in the grocery business in this city, had taken out a license to wed Mary L. Ford.

Dr. Frank Herget of Seattle arrived here yesterday to spend a week with his friend Dr. Alfred Burns. They were room mates at the Portland dental college and will go to Spokane next week to take the examination before the state board.

Thomas Harvey, the sheepman, passed through here last week with 2,700 head of sheep on his way to the grazing country north of Wenatchee. He will go into the Washington reserve for the summer and test the grazing qualities of that part of the Cascade range.

S. A. Miller, of Milton, Oregon, was in the city the first of the week looking after his nursery interests. He is mayor of Milton, and is now serving his sixth term. He spent some time going over the Yakima valley and expressed some surprise at the improvement that has taken place here in the last three years.

It is to be hoped the feeling of unrest concerning night opening of stores will be quieted. The cause will soon be removed, and matters can go along again in the even tenor of their way. Neither merchants nor clerks want to return to the old system of hanging around their places of business away after hours when everybody else is enjoying the freedom from toil.

A large addition to the Baptist church is being constructed. W. W. Felton has the contract for the work. The improvements will give about double the present seating capacity of the church. The annex is on the north side in the shape of an ell to the main structure. Some improvements will also be made to the parsonage.

Mrs. E. B. Moore went to Hot Springs yesterday to spend a few days.

A marriage license was issued Thursday to David A. Rayle and Miss Myra Moody.

Mrs. Ella S. Stair will shortly begin the erection of a house on her Naches avenue lots next H. B. Riggs' residence.

The county commissioners adjourned their meeting Wednesday evening to meet again on the first Monday in July.

About 30 teachers assembled in the court house Thursday to take the quarterly teachers' examination now being held by County Supt. Dickey.

The fire department made a pretty run yesterday down Yakima avenue to Seventh street in response to an alarm. The fire was out when the engine arrived on the ground.

Preaching at the Parker Presbyterian church morning and evening, May 17, 1903, 11 a. m., 8 p. m. Sunday school at 12 o'clock. Christian Endeavor, 7 p. m. T. H. Dry, Pastor.

Miss Mary Cameron left here Thursday morning for an extended trip to her old home in Scotland. She went via Seattle to take a Canadian Pacific train and will go direct to London. From there she will go to Scotland and visit a number of places in that country.

Judge Sustais Demerers.

Judge Rudkin on Monday sustained the demerers of City Attorney Snyder in the various damage cases against the city. There were three cases in which he made a decision. The first was that of Andrew Lynch who brought suit for about $11,000 damages for injuries sustained while he was driver of the fire wagon; the second was that of Mr. Myers who asked for the price of two horses which had been injured and made useless by being put in the city pound, and the other was that of Lulu and Bob Esies, who claim that they were illegally arrested and made to pay a fine of $40 each to Police Justice Taggard for violating a city ordinance. The demerers of the city attorney were to the effect that city is not responsible for the illegal acts of its officials, and so the court ruled.

ment visitors, each market bearing a brief history of the location or building. A small pamphlet was issued, and each article had a number which corresponded with a figure on the various signs. These booklets were distributed among the visitors, free of charge and were the means of thousands of persons becoming more familiar with places made historic by the events of the civil war.

Secretary Bulkley of the citizens' executive committee, who holds the same position with the Business Men's association, is in favor of petitioning congress to make an appropriation of $5,000 for the marking of these points of interest permanently. It is Mr. Bulkley's idea to have placed at each of these 200 sites bronze tablets bearing inscriptions relating to the history of each respective point.

The New District Building.

It will be at least three years before the new District building is ready for occupancy, and it is likely that it will be nearer four years. Such is the statement made by Supervising Architect James Knox Taylor of the treasury department regarding the improvement, in which the people of the District of Columbia are much interested. The plans for the structure, on which twelve architects are working in competition, are to be submitted by Dec. 8. The decision of the judges chosen to make a selection will be made immediately after the receipt of the designs. Following the acceptance of the successful architect's plans, the winner of the competition will take up the work of preparing the drawings, plans and specifications. This task, it is estimated by Mr. Taylor, will take from eight to ten months. This done, the work can be given over to the contractors probably about a year from now.

The erection of the building will require, Mr. Taylor says, from two to three years from the time the contractors start on the work. Consequently the end of 1905 is about the time that Washingtonians can expect to transact business with their local government in the new structure devoted to its purposes. The limit of cost set by congress for the building is $900,000, excepting mural decorations and painting.

McKinley's Favorite Parrot.

After an absence of about six months Loretta, the famous talking parrot, to which the late President McKinley took such a fancy and liking, has returned to Washington and to her old home in a bird store on Twelfth street. Loretta is without doubt the most accomplished talker in the city and one among several of the best talking birds in America. She is a Mexican parrot of the common, yellow headed, green (with a patch of red running along the border of each wing) variety found throughout the seacoast belt of our sister republic. For something in the neighborhood of six months Loretta was at the White House, where she improved her English, doubtless by listening to those who came and went from the executive mansion.

Loretta not only speaks good English, but sings different songs as well, and can swear a little when occasion demands. While at the White House she used to amuse the president by singing "All Coons Look Alike to Me" whenever a colored person, coachman or domestic appeared about her cage.

Mr. Allison's Shadow Portraits.

Portraits of President Roosevelt and ex-President McKinley have been discovered in the imitation marble walls of Statuary hall in the capitol. They were not ordered by Uncle Sam, and they will not be paid for. They were painted into the walls by Mr. Allison, the artist who painted the big pillars and walls in imitation of marble.

The two pictures of the present executive and his predecessor are similar shadow drawings. Both portraits are excellent, and, while it is difficult to discover them at first, so skillfully are they hidden, when seen they loom up lifelike in size and can be observed from every portion of the old hall of representatives now adorned by marble monuments of the nation's great men.

The New Long Bridge.

Stone for the new Long bridge is now arriving, and the work on the massive piers is being pushed, a large force of men being employed on them. Four piers in the river, the central pier for the draw and the abutment pier on the Potomac park side of the river are completed, and another pier, on the Washington side of the draw, is above the surface of the water and will be completed in a few days. The cofferdams in which the remaining piers will be constructed are all in position, ready for the stonemasons to begin work. It is expected that within a month the building of the steel structure of the bridge will be begun.

May Abandon Official Receptions.

Owing to the many improvements still to be made in the White House it is possible the official receptions may be abandoned for the season. A schedule for the four evening levees and three state dinners will be made out, as usual, in November, but the delays already encountered make it probable that the east room and the adjoining parlors will be still unfinished in midwinter, which will render official entertainments impossible.

CARL SCHOFIELD.

course of a conversation on the care of clothes, "one sees the utter inability of the average man to properly wear and care for his garments. Jackets may be worn anyhow without much detracting from their owners' appearance, but overcoats, like frock coats, require care in handling and in wearing. Not one man in a thousand knows how to put on his coat correctly. Ignorance and carelessness in disposing of the garment when not in use make the wearers of even the best coats look like 30 cents' beside the man with a cheaper article, but who knows how to wear and care for it.

"Men curse their tailors when after a few days' wear they find their coats out of shape at the shoulders and hanging badly. The art of the tailor has of course a great deal to do with the appearance of a coat, but on the customer himself much more depends.

"Most men when they are being measured and fitted assume all sorts of unnatural postures. They forget that what they really want is a garment to fit their ordinary shape and not the forced figure which they present to the tailor.

"Then, again, when the new coat comes home the owner tugs it on anyhow and wears it flapping open. Every new coat should be carefully molded by the wearer into the shape of his everyday figure. He should get his shoulders well into it, and in order to arrive at that result he should have assistance on at least the first six occasions on which he wears the garment. The coat should be carefully buttoned downward, not the reverse, as is so often the case. For at least one hour on each of the first six days of use the coat should be kept buttoned. It will then have adjusted itself to the peculiarities of the figure."—New York Times.

Tarantula Bites.

George H. Hillier of West Superior, Minn., one of the best known gold mining experts in the country, has exploded the theory that tarantula bites must be either fatal or seriously inconvenient. He was bitten more than a dozen times on a recent tour of inspection in southern Arizona. Nearly every mine shaft in that part of the country is infested with tarantulas. The white miners wear gloves to protect themselves from the venomous spiders. Mr. Hillier knew nothing of all this and went into the Big Hill mine unprotected. Before he came out he had seen thousands of the tarantulas and captured a dozen of the largest. He was bitten repeatedly and yet not even inconvenienced. The secret of Mr. Hillier's immunity, according to his own theory, is the fact that he had taken more than thirty grains of quinine within the twenty-four hours preceding the visit to the mine.

A Costly Duel.

As a result of a duel fought in Milan, Italy, a few weeks ago between two captains of the Sixtieth regiment the Italian authorities seem to be determined to stamp out dueling. The challenger of the duel in question has been expelled from the army, and his antagonist has been sent to a fortress, but the most striking features of the affair are the other punitive measures taken in connection with it. The colonel of the Sixtieth regiment has been suspended, the lieutenant colonel has been sentenced to imprisonment for fifteen days, and two majors have been given ten days' imprisonment. Four captains who acted as seconds in the duel have been sent to a fortress for six months. These severe measures have created a favorable impression.

All Bow to Great Britain.

Few people are aware that Britain's mistress-ship of the seas is more than an assertion and that it is acknowledged by every nation. On entering a foreign port marine etiquette requires a man-of-war to salute the national flag by dipping its own, and in return the host lowers its flag. But no British ship dips the union jack until the foreigner has first dipped his colors. In all seas, both home and foreign, Britain claims to be saluted first, and this honor is rendered by every nation as the tribute of her sovereignty of the waves.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Franking Privilege.

It was disclosed by examinations made in the Washington city postoffice covering a period of about two and a half months that 979,820 pieces of paid matter and 5,900,000 pieces of unpaid or "franked" matter of all classes went through, the unpaid matter on some days running as high as 135,000, 127,000, 126,000, 125,000 and 122,000 copies, while the percentage per day would often go to about 90, crawling up at high as 93 per cent on a single day and averaging 85 1/2 per cent every day.

Would Stop Novel Reading.

A curious proposition has been advanced by M. Leon Daudet to the effect that all novel reading should be stopped by law. He would have this done by forbidding the sale of fiction to women and children, the implication being that men do not read it anyway. Coming from the son of a distinguished novelist, this is strange doctrine, but perhaps it represents only a natural reaction from the undue influence of the novel in modern literature.—Providence Journal.

ed at the time of writing this, but one that is expected to surprise the hop people of the valley may be looked for at any time. The long contention over the amount on hands of the crop of 1902 is no nearer settlement than at first. Statements given out on both sides show a wide difference in results obtained. The growers contend there was a shortage of nearly 40,000 bales last year, while the buyers have figured out a surplus of over 50,000. The present holders of hops are still confident that the price will rise and are as firm as ever in their determination to hold out.

The Waterville Times (N. Y.) of May 8 says: "No sales have been reported lately. Holders of small lots are letting them go as low as 15c. The best and largest lots would not bring more than 20c. at the outside. Since the above was put in type we have heard of the sale by Thomas Richards of 16 bales at 16c. and by Daniel Morgan of 6 at 15c."

WOOL.

The activity among the sheepmen and wool buyers during the last month has been encouraging to the growers. There has been a large demand for all the products of the industry. Wool buyers have been here buying the clips at prices ranging from 11 to 13 cents per pound. This is considered a good figure and the minimum price is 2 cents higher than was paid for the same grade two years ago. Harry Roberts last week sold 7000 pounds to Huntington & Lyett for 11 1/4 cents, and George Harris sold his 30,000 clip for 11 cents to the same buyers. This wool goes to The Dalles scouring mill and when cleaned will bring 43 cents per pound at the manufactories. This makes 200,000 pounds already bought by these people this spring. The shearing season is still on and will not close for two or three weeks yet.

The sheepmen are gradually working the flocks toward the mountains as fast as they are sheared to be in readiness for the open grazing season on the reserve beginning July 1. There is some indication that the size of the flocks of sheep will be considerably reduced by this time next year. A number of sheepmen are already considering the cattle industry and will sell their flocks and em-

Good timothy hay is selling for $20 per ton and alfalfa is quoted at $15. Some small lots have been brought in from the country districts during the last week and sold at handsome figures. It is reported that one farmer sold all he had on hand at $18 a ton and then turned his stock out to range.

The alfalfa crop this year will be good. It is growing at a rapid rate under the warm sun and will be ready for the first cutting by the middle of June if the weather does not turn colder.

ern counselor, Mr. Grosscup started from Portland a week ago on what he termed a vacation trip, says the Oregonian.

Nothing save dire necessity, railroad men now contend, drove Mr. Grosscup and his friend Mr. Lehman into the country and forced them to strap on their own saddles or plunge into the thickets themselves to look for refractory horses. Nothing save a direct command to report upon the country the Northern Pacific had surveyed and a feeling that one's own investigation is better than an agent's report is declared to be responsible for Mr. Grosscup's mid-Spring vacation trip out among the young trees and dew-laden grasses.

From Cascade the vacation party meandered up the Columbia River Valley to White Salmon. Thus Mr. Grosscup innocently turned his vacation footsteps in the direction that Northern Pacific surveyors took months ago as they sought an outlet for Mr. Mellen's road down the north side of the Columbia River, and thence he went on to Golden-dale.

From Goldendale the two hied themselves onward to Toppenish and thence to Yakima. They may have reached Yakima by this time or they be loitering along the way looking for nice locations for grade stakes, or in purely holiday spirit, speculating upon the possibilities of certain streams as the home of numerous catfish.

SUNNYSIDE.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird are rejoicing over twin boys.

George McDonald returned to his work after a visit of several weeks in Sunnyside.

Mrs. Hitchcock of Tacoma is visiting her son William, the editor of the Sunnyside Sun.

The bible class conducted by Rev. Blackman is growing in interest and attendance.

A Methodist Episcopal social was held Tuesday evening at the new home of Mr. Mannington on Fifth street.

Mrs. Ehmer is reported as gradually gaining strength under Dr. Harvey's treatment. Many of her friends have been out to see her.

Supervisor Stanton has been busy the past week grading the roads. The work has long been needed and is much appreciated by the traveling public.

The Junior Christian Endeavor of the Federated church gave Francis Harvey a surprise on his birthday, May 11. The young people had a hilarious time.

Fell In Yakima River.

Leslie Murchie, son of J. M. Murchie of the Fashion livery stable, had an exciting accident while on his way to east Selah last Saturday. He was accompanied by J. H. Needham and when they arrived at a narrow point in the road where the Yakima river sweeps around close to the hill on the east side the horse became frightened and in making a sudden turn upset the buggy in the river. Mr. Needham was thrown out on dry land but young Murchie fell into the water and rescued himself by clinging to the branches of trees that hung over the river. The horse also fell into the water and after they had succeeded in cutting him loose from the vehicle he swam the river to an island. This ended the journey. They walked back to the city and on Sunday took the upturned buggy out of the river. The horse was also captured and brought back.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. W. A. Bell, of North Sixth street, gave a very pleasant birthday party last Friday at her home in honor of her niece, Miss Blanche Walcott. Miss Walcott received a number of pretty presents from her little friends. Those present were: Helen Snyder, Vera Hill, Florence Erwin, Patsy Richards, Virginia Richards, Florence Cameron, Stella Read, Edith Fisher, Elois Stacy, Iris Bartholet, Ruth Kinsey and Blanche Walcott.

In the dead of night—that same night—a burglar, who had gained entrance to the house through a basement window, crept softly up the stairway, approached that bedroom door and pushed it open.

It gave a loud creak like the wailing of a lost soul.

The historian hopes it is not really necessary to add that the burglar went down that stairway in two jumps, was out of the house before George Ferguson had succeeded in finding his revolver and that the hinges of that bedroom door are still unrolled.—Chicago Tribune.

SHOT HIS BOY AND HIMSELF

Henry Berg Murders His Six Year Old Son and Commits Suicide.

Henry Berg, a rancher living two miles and a half northwest of the city, at the extreme western part of Nob Hill, shot and killed his six-year-old foster son, Charles Augustberg, at 5 o'clock Thursday morning, and then committed suicide. The deed was committed in the room in which the two had slept during the night at their home. Berg used an old-fashioned .44 Remington rifle with a revolving cylinder containing six shots. He placed the muzzle above the left ear of the boy while he was asleep and shot him through the head. Then drawing on his trousers he placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and discharged the weapon with his foot. The ball passed almost through his head.

Shortly before 5 o'clock Berg aroused his wife, who slept by his side, and asked her to get up and kindle the fire in the stove. He said he was feeling cold and did not like to get up first that morning. She did as requested and then went to the barn, about 200 feet away and took a horse out to pasture. When she got the horse at the corner of the pasture, about 100 yards from the house, she heard a shot, and then a moment later she heard another one. Fearing that something dreadful had taken place she ran to a neighbor's house, about a quarter of mile away and told them what she suspected.

When the neighbors entered the house they found Berg lying on the side of the bed with his feet on the floor. A ghastly scene was presented to the dazed wife and excited neighbors. The little child lay cold in death by the side of his father, looking as though he had never roused from sleep. Berg's head was thrown back and blood flowed from his mouth. He was dead when the party reached the room where they lay.

Mrs. Berg was seen at the house by a REPUBLIC reporter yesterday morning. She was grief stricken at the terrible tragedy and told a disconnected story of what she supposed was the cause of her husband committing the crime. She said he had been feeling despondent for some time. They came here last February from Buffalo City, Wis., and bought a 12 acre ranch, paying about $1,800 for it. They took possession at once and built themselves a small house in the plainest manner possible, and expected to make their home there. Berg spent the spring working about the place doing various things, and more work than a man of his age should do, she thought, for his age was 62. They had lived comfortably back in Wisconsin and when they came here and bought their farm and made the improvements necessary all their ready cash was gone. This worried him considerably and he thought of selling out and returning to his old home again. He brooded over these things so much that she thinks his mind became affected. Mrs. Berg thinks that he killed the boy because he did not like him to live after he was gone. He fondly loved the boy and was afraid that he would not be properly cared for after his death. They had taken the child when he was only a few months old and he was like one of their own.

Mrs. Fred Linse of Nob Hill is a sister of the deceased and they lived not a great distance away.

Coroner Heliker was notified shortly after the deed was committed and after making an investigation thought an inquest was not necessary. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Sessions and prepared for burial.

Gambling to Close Down.

The members of the green cloth are preparing to close down their places of business on or before the first day of June. The law that makes gambling a felony will go into effect on June 1 and they do not feel disposed to stare the penitentiary in the face by violating its provisions. It is said that unless the fine is paid by the 26 all the places that run games will be closed even before the first of the month.

NO PLACE EQUAL TO YAKIMA

Edward Whitson Returns from the East with This Impression - Business Good.

"There is no place equal to Yakima; I return from my eastern trip more firmly impressed with its good qualities than ever before." Such was the remark of Edward Whitson when approached by a REPUBLIC reporter after his return home last Tuesday afternoon. "We have better railway facilities than two thirds of the towns in the eastern states. We have better equipped railways, better train service, better accommodations, better trains to ride in and better care given to our comforts while traveling than is found in the east," he continued. "The majority of us do not realize what we have got out here, but when one goes back to those mountain counties of Kentucky and other slow going districts of the east the difference is readily discernible. Our farmers are more prosperous than those of the Kentucky country and they get better prices for their products. Taking it all in all there is no place like Yakima."

"We had a very pleasant trip. We left here April 25 and were in St. Louis when President Roosevelt dedicated the fair buildings. It was the greatest ovation without a doubt ever paid to an American citizen. Everything was Roosevelt; the people went Roosevelt mad and gave him such a receipt on as he had never had before. The east seems to be solid for him. He will be nominated by acclamation without a doubt, unless something unforeseen happens. He cannot be defeated either for the nomination or the presidency."

"From St. Louis we went to Louisville and took in the annual spring derby. This is a great event in the yearly history of that city and attracted many people from all parts of the country. The derby is simply a big horse show. They have some fine horses in Kentucky as well as good old bourbon. From Louisville we went to London, the home of Edward Parker, who accompanied me. We then went to Barboursville and looked over the oil fields. It is nothing but oil there, and lots of it."

"Business in the east is good. It was never better. The railways have more business than they can handle. In all the big cities they seem to be enjoying unusual prosperity, and in the country districts the same condition prevails. The indications for big crops are good. Yes, I am glad to get back to Yakima."

Ellensburg Wins Again.

The Ellensburg base ball team came down Sunday and took the game by a score of 8 to 4, and a hundred Ellensburg fans went home hysterically glad. It was not a bad game, in spite of the error column. For the most part it was snappy ball, worth the price of admission anywhere, and the home team played rings around the burgers. In the sixth, however, Yakima went to pieces in the field, and Klinkhammer, who had been traveling all Saturday night, and didn't feel much like pitching anyway, turned over his job to Merritt. Ellensburg scored four runs in the sixth.

The Yakima team is pretty badly demoralized at present. Sunday's game was played with several new men on the team. Some of them pretend to be ball players and some do not. One of them, H. Wett, who was stationed on first, proved to be a star of the first magnitude. He played the position as well as it has ever been played for a Yakima team, and did excellent work with the stick.

Ellensburg has a good team, and until the Hoppickers are materially strengthened in the numerous weak places there will be no probability that they will win games.

THE NEW CANNING FACTORY

It Expects to Handle 100,000 Cases and Employ 100 Hands.

The Golden Northwest Canning Company, of this city, is making arrangements for a busy season this summer. Their factory has been enlarged until it covers 18,000 feet of floor space; it has been equipped with the most modern machinery and the factory will employ, during the canning season, about 100 hands. It expects to can 100,000 cases of fruit and vegetables during the season. The Charles W. Pike company, the leading canned goods brokers of the Pacific coast have contracted for the entire output, and thus the fruit and vegetable products of the Yakima valley will find their way to all parts of the United States, as well as to foreign countries.

The canning company is a local industry that should be encouraged. It will not only create a large payroll during the season, but also furnishes a cash market for fruit and vegetables, enabling the growers to dispose of their product without boxing and shipping it. The company intends, it is said, to offer a block of its treasury stock for sale to local investors at 50 cents per share. It is capitalized for 300,000 shares, their par value being $1, and as there is said to be from $75,000 to $100,000 profit in 100,000 cases, the company expects to be a dividend payer the first year.

KENNEWICK.

J. C. Beach will have strawberries ready for market within ten days.

We are having fine weather, and the people are all at work wetting the soil that has waited for water since the flood.

There were three dwelling houses and one church contracts let this week, and they are to be completed within 30 days.

Attorney Boyd and C. B. McConnel visited North Yakima this week in the interest of the new bridge that is to be built across the Yakima river near Kennewick.

H. A. Hover, president of the Kennewick Land Co. of this place, is working a large crew of men, putting under cultivation 280 acres under the new irrigation ditch. This will be the largest alfalfa farm in the valley.

The county commissioners were in Kennewick on the 8th and 9th of this month to inspect the site of a bridge across the Yakima river near here. They were entertained by the town and a committee of business men accompanied them to the place the new bridge is to be built. The commissioners have agreed to build the bridge as it is greatly needed for the public to get to market.

Condemned Fruit Trees.

County Fruit Inspector Orlando Beck was at Zillah the first of the week to inspect a lot of fruit trees shipped to that point by Miller & Sons of Milton, Ore. Mr. Miller of the firm was present when the inspection took place. The trees were affected with root gall and 200 of them were condemned. Mr. Miller protested against the rigid law of this state, but willingly returned the party who bought them his money. He said the people where he came from did not inspect their fruit and trees, and also said he did not know what root gall was and when shown evidence of it thought it did not amount to much.

Mr. Beck says it is time to begin to spray for codling moth. The moths have begun to come out and there is danger from infection if the spraying is not done at once.

Bell Won Medal.

In the shoot of the Yakima Rod & Gun club Sunday afternoon W. A. Bell carried off the medal. The score on the first round stood as follows: Stacy, 22; Pennington, 16; Bell, 22; Fisher, 11; Walker, 17; Sittion, 20; W. A. Bilger, 16; C. S. Bilger, 13. Bell had three of a handicap and in making the shoot got two. This tied him with Stacy. These two shot ten birds and each scored seven, making them 29 each. Bell still had two of a handicap to go on and in the first shoot got one, which broke the tie.

Contention Over Water.

The owners of the Union ditch have had some trouble lately over the distribution of water and as a result a change in the method of distributing it will be made. Some of the users of the water have been taking more than was coming to them with the result that those living at the lower end of the ditch did not get their share of water. To avoid trouble in the future measuring boxes have been put in at the end of all the laterals.
