PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS

Heavy Tide of Travel to Coast Will Begin June 1—The New Governor of Alaska—Numerous Politicians Oppose Special Session of Legislature.

Seattle, May 26.—"More people will visit the Pacific Northwest this year than in any previous five-year period," says James A. Wood, director of exploitation of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. "My prediction is fully justified by the returns from our press clipping bureaus, the letters I receive and the reports from the transcontinental railroads and their connections. St. Paul and Minneapolis newspapers declare that more than a million travelers destined for Puget sound and the Pacific Northwest will pass through the Twin Cities. The probable extent of the movement is greatly increased by reports from all the other big cities of the United States. More publicity has been given the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition during the past five months than was given any exposition held in the country since Chicago. Eastern railroad offices report a more general inquiry than was made concerning any other exposition. The movement is already on. It is estimated that fully 100,000 new people have come into Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia since March 15, largely drawn hither by the attractive homeseekers' rates. But the big movement begins with the first day of the exposition rates.

"In all our work of exploitation we have put the Pacific Northwest to the front with the exposition as a great feature of a trip this year. Not one visitor in a hundred who comes to the exposition should be lacking in general information concerning conditions and opportunities in this and the bordering states and the province to the north. This work has been most effectively advanced by the publicity and passenger departments of the railroads and I want to say that the Northwestern representatives of the various lines are the most active, energetic and helpful bunch of men that ever got behind any sort of a project.

"The exposition is complete and ready. Attention has been drawn from every quarter of the globe. The visitors and homeseekers are coming by the tens and hundreds of thousands and it is up to the people of all parts of the Pacific Northwest to give them a welcome worth while."

"This newspaper rejoices in Mr. Clark's honor, but it regrets his appointment, for we lose a truthful, faithful and able correspondent. Alaska gains a good governor."

The Post-Intelligencer closed an editorial with the foregoing comment devoted to Walter Clark, the Washington newspaper correspondent who has been named governor of Alaska by President Taft. Slowly but surely the down-trodden newspaper man seems to be coming into his own. Clark has for years been the Washington correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer and the New York Sun. While Clark has never resided in Alaska, he has visited the country a number of times and has made a close study of conditions there. Local Alaskans who frequent Washington City say that while in the national capital Clark's office is always their headquarters.

It is stated that while Senator Piles offered no opposition to Clark, he was in no sense overjoyed with the appointment. But Senator Piles does not seem to be having things his own way these days. Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, for instance, is much closer to the president's ear, and Ballinger and Senator Piles have no great love for each other. When Ballinger went back to Washington as commissioner general of the United States land office under Roosevelt it is said that Piles "passed him up." Now Ballinger is on top of the heap and is not straining any points to show the senator from Seattle any courtesies.

SHOOTING AT PROSSER

Quarrel Over Fish Pole at Prosser Leads to Probable Murder—Offender Lodged Here in County Jail.

In a quarrel over the ownership of a fish pole in Pont's saloon at Prosser Tuesday afternoon Sam Dennison shot and fatally wounded George Evans. Both men were gamblers and had been drinking freely when the row started. After the shooting Evans walked to a drug store and called for medical attendance. Dennison was promptly arrested and placed in jail.

Talk soon started of lynching Dennison among the friends of Evans, in the event of the latter's death. Sheriff McNeil, not caring to take any chances on mob law, brought his prisoner to North Yakima and placed him in the county jail here for safe keeping.

Dennison, it appears, started the row and while in an intoxicated condition accused Evans of stealing his fishing pole, the latter resenting the insult, landed a crushing blow on Dennison's face, breaking the nose. Dennison then quickly drew his gun and before the bystanders could intercept him fired twice at Evans, the first shot missing, the second catching the unfortunate man fair in the stomach. After the shooting Dennison coolly walked to a doctor's office to have his broken nose attended to, where he was taken into there is much indignation at Prosser over the affair.

Chicago Party Here June 5

The Commercial club and the Illinois club will take charge of the reception to be given the visiting delegation of Chicago business men and financiers, who will stop off in this city en route to Coast points, Saturday, June 5. Secretary James of the Commercial club has sent an invitation to all the other Commercial clubs in the valley to participate in the reception.

Who gets the settlers? Statistics compiled in Chicago showing the colonist movement of the past spring indicate that the bulk of the 71,000 homeseekers who came to the eight most Western states, came over the Hill roads and settled in Washington, Oregon or Idaho. The figures show that 51,000 settlers came over the Hill roads, the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington, while 8,000 entered California and 12,000 came over the Harriman lines to Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Wyoming or the Northwest. It is the Northwest, with her wonderful opportunities, that is drawing the people and it is the Northwest that needs them. The active campaign of the Hill railroads, and of the states, counties and cities of the Northwest is having its effect and we are securing the new citizens that are needed to develop the most wonderful commonwealth in the world.

The imminence of a special session of the legislature to consider the impeachment of Mr. Schnively and other matters growing from the investigation of state officers, seems to have drawn into closer sympathy the political forces that oppose the special session. Friends of Mr. Schnively, opponents of Gov. Hay, legislators who are not anxious to assume the responsibility of a record vote on the subjects in hand, are united in finding reasons why no session should be called. They argue that the cost would be large to the state, that there is no certainty of impeaching Schnively, that a lot of unnecessary legislation would be stirred up. On the other hand, the administration forces seem to be firm in their intent to call the session if the report of the investigating committee justifies such action, and the call may be issued any day. The popular sentiment seems to demand that the investigation which has revealed such bad conditions in the state government shall be followed up with some punishment of the offenders, or at least their removal from office.

IS NORTH COAST HARRIMAN'S ROAD?

If so the Peace Compact Between Wizard and Jim Hill May Interfere With Construction Of New Line.

Is the North Coast a Harriman corporation? There are many good reasons for believing that it is. If the "Road of Mystery" be a Harriman project what effect will the treaty of peace promulgated this week between the two great kings of transportation, Harriman and Hill, have upon the fate of the North Coast, people are asking.

The long standing dispute between Harriman and Hill over the Portland "gateway" has been settled, according to official announcements made this week. By the terms of the agreement the Northern Pacific agreed to double track its road between Tacoma and Portland, thus permitting the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific to reach Puget sound without the necessity of building a competing line. But there is reason to believe that the treaty is of much greater import than the Portland gateway alone, as it is deemed most unlikely that Hill would grant such a vital concession to Harriman without compensating advantages. For three years the North Coast has been a thorn in the side of the Hill interests and if that road be a Harriman enterprise, as there is now good reason to believe, it is feared that the treaty of peace may put an end to its activities. However, it is to be hoped that such will not prove the case, and that the North Coast is an independent proposition.

The proposed Zillah-Granger line of the North Coast, many people here are inclined to think, is a bluff. The amount of money expended thus far by the North Coast is said to be a mere bagatelle, as such right-of-way as has been secured is almost entirely on contracts which indicate, as filed, payments of $1 only. Thus a considerable amount of right-of-way has been tied up with but a small outlay of money. The North Yakima & Valley, on the other hand, has filed only deeds for right-of-way on its proposed Zillah line, indicating total cash payments to the farmers.

The contract of the North Coast with H. H. Lombard's electric company for right-of-way on the east side of Union gap has not yet been completed, President Strathorn having reserved 30 days time in which to complete the deal.

The North Yakima & Valley is preparing to go ahead with both its Moxee and Cowlitz extensions. The 18 houses along the G street right-of-way were sold this week by means of competitive bids and already are beginning to be removed to other locations.

Early in the week a large crew of surveyors pitched camp near the Carpenter ranch in the lower Ahtanum and began running lines. It is not definitely known whose crew it is, but it is generally believed to be in the employ of the North Coast and is laying out a line up the Ahtanum.

A-Y-P-E. OPENS TUESDAY

President Taft Will Touch the Button—Many People Will Go From Yakima to Witness Grand Scene.

A great many Yakima people will be in Seattle next Tuesday, June 1, to witness the opening of the A-Y-P-E. exposition. A number have already gone over and others will leave today and tomorrow for Seattle. An immense crowd is expected to attend the opening from all over the Pacific Northwest. President Taft, sitting in the presidential chair at Washington, D. C., will touch an electric button that will start the machinery of the big exposition.

The Post-Intelligencer of Thursday quotes Superintendent Haase of the Yakima county exhibit as stating that he would have the Yakima exhibit in place by Sunday. However, the county building was not yet entirely finished, but it was thought that it would be turned over by Saturday night.

A number of distinguished visitors will be in attendance on the opening exercises next Tuesday. Among these will be Gov. Hay, of Washington; Gov. Benson, of Oregon; Gov. Brady, of Idaho; the governor of Utah and the lieutenant governor of British Columbia.

To Get Rid of Flies.

Fly time is here and the following simple method of getting rid of the pest may be of interest. It is recommended as very effective by a correspondent of the Ellensburg Dawn:

Close all the windows and add a quarter of a teaspoonful of carbolic acid to a pint of water and allow it to come to a boil for five minutes; then raise your windows and what flies are not dead will leave the room. Once or twice a week will rid your home of the pests as well as destroy other germs that may be in your home.

P. S.—Don't forget to put the carbolic acid out of reach of the children.

TO INVESTIGATE MAYOR

Majority of Council Weary of Mayor Armbruster's "Reform" Policy—Impeachment Proceedings Not Unlikely.

It is understood that the "Big Four" in the city council has finally decided to investigate the official actions of Mayor Armbruster. As is generally known, the "Big Four" consists of Councilmen Meigs, Miller, Shaw and Wight, and is the dominating force in that body.

For several weeks, it is said, more or less friction has existed between the mayor and the majority of the council over the direction of the police department, particularly in the matter of suppressing gambling and the regulation of the social evil. The councilmen charge the mayor, in fact, of bad faith, and of unwarranted interference with the police department, even when Chief Story and his officers are attempting to carry out the mayor's own orders.

This feeling of resentment against "his honor" is due, it is claimed, to his orders to release a certain man arrested for gambling after instructing the chief to "get busy" and suppress all gambling, even to the slot machines. Yet the first man arrested is ordered released by the mayor, they say. Evidently the police had determined to make an object lesson of the wrong man. The "Big Four" are also much dissatisfied with the lax and indecisive manner in which the mayor has dealt with the women of the underworld. They say that the police would deal effectively both with the gamblers and the social evil if the mayor would quit his habit of interference.

The mayor is believed to take the ground that by virtue of his office as the head of the police department he has the right to lay down the policy to be pursued, and to change his mind, too, if he sees fit, without consulting the city council.

Just what action the "Big Four" will take the members refuse to give out, but if the mayor should flatly refuse to enforce the city ordinances and the state law relating to gambling and the social evil it is thought most probable that impeachment proceedings will be instituted against him. The feeling between the mayor and the majority of the council has gradually become more bitter until the breaking point seems to have been almost reached.

The "Big Four" assert that they are in favor of a vigorous enforcement of the law and that they merely wish to follow out the policy that the mayor pledged himself to in the last campaign. They say that the law must be enforced against all violators, no matter whether they be friends and political supporters of the mayor's or not. If the present shilly-shally course of Mayor Armbruster is followed, they declare, it will result in the utter demoralization of the police department.

MAY COURT GRIST

Cases Disposed of at Present Jury Term Which Expires Today—Many Damage Suits.

The following cases have been disposed of during the past ten days in the superior court:

The case of the state vs. Addington, et ux., for enticing a female, was dismissed.

In the case of the state vs. Owen Kinter for assault and battery, the defendant was found not guilty.

In the cases of Brown and Reed both were found guilty of running gambling games.

The case against the Indian, Pall-cane, held for murder, was dismissed.

GOLD FOUND AT HOOVER

Prospector Finds Yellow Metal Near New Town on Columbia—Assays Show $17.50 Per Ton.

Harry Van Horn, of Kiona, who was in North Yakima Monday, informed The Democrat of what is regarded as a most important free gold strike at Hoover in Benton county last week. The discovery of the gold-bearing rock, Mr. Van Horn said, caused intense excitement and as soon as the fact was made known a number of settlers immediately got busy and commenced staking off claims.

The gold discovery is attributed to a Mr. Bradford, an experienced Idaho miner, who has been visiting in that locality. He had been attracted by the sight of a yellowish colored rock, which cropped on a hillside, which he saw at once was very dissimilar in nature to the surrounding black basalt. True to the habits of the old miner, he selected a sample of the cropping for assay and sent it to a Spokane minerologist for a test. In a few days the assayer's report was received and showed that the rock contained free gold to the extent of $9.10 per ton. Thus encouraged, Mr. Bradford and his friend started to work and blasted out a five-foot hole in the ledge at the discovery point. They then sent away another sample for assay from the bottom of the hole, with the result that they got returns of $12.50 per ton. That was enough to satisfy them and they jumped in and began staking off claims. Neighbors, who had been watching the men and who suspected that a discovery had been made, lost no time in getting into the game and began staking claims, also, until the whole district for nearly a mile square was laid off into mining claims.

Geologists familiar with the formation underlying the Yakima and Columbia river valleys, are said to have frequently expressed the opinion that there is much mineral bearing rock covered up by the overlying basalt flows to be found almost everywhere within the territory named. In many places the basalt apparently formed but a very thin sheet, which, gradually being worn away by erosion, has left the natural formation exposed, as is said to be the case at this particular point near Hoover where the gold discovery was made.

Hoover is the second station west of Kennewick on the North Bank railroad. The discovery of gold there is said to have occasioned quite a rush of those who would like to get rich in a hurry.

To Irrigate Large Tract

The Hanford Irrigation & Power company opened up offices in this city last Monday and sent out a crew of engineers and assistants to start construction on another canal north of the land that they now have under water. The new canal will run up the Columbia river valley toward Beverly and will irrigate some 10,000 acres of land near the Milwaukee road. N. A. Bonn has charge of the office at Hanford and Joe Bonn has charge of the offices here.

THE HAWAIIAN BUILDING, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

The building erected at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition for the exclusive use of the Hawaiian Islands, occupies a prominent position on the Court of Honor next the central government structure.

Hawaii has prepared a more extensive and comprehensive exhibit of its marvelous resources than for any other world's fair. It will show all of its native fruits and vegetables; will offer an aquarium of live fish, and in various other ways interest the fair visitors. Fruits will be served by native girls and native orchestras and singers will be always on hand. A tank in the center of the structure will show the islands as they rest in the Pacific Ocean.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in assembling Hawaii's display.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

No Likelihood That Income Tax Will Win—Bailey Discredits Himself in Tariff Argument—How the People Are Plundered Under Protective Tariff.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—Despite the claims and confident predictions of Senators Cummins, La Follette, Newlands and others that provision for an income tax will be added to the tariff bill, your correspondent ventures the prediction that they are all mistaken and that no such provision will be made. There will be an effort to add such a provision in the form of an amendment to the tariff bill, but it will fail and the amendment will be referred to the judiciary committee with instructions to report next winter whether an income tax law which will stand the test of the courts can be drafted. It is highly improbable, moreover, that the judiciary committee will ever make any report pursuant to that reference.

Some of the Democratic advocates of an income tax law are complaining that they are being opposed by President Taft and that the White House influence is proving effective. That is probably true, for while Mr. Taft has said that he is not opposed to an income tax, he regards it as a last resort and would greatly prefer first a tax on inheritances, second a tax on the dividends of corporations and lastly an income tax, if any tax in addition to the tariff is necessary to meet the expenses of the government. The president has further signified his willingness to wait until next December before recommending any of these laws, as by that time he believes it will be possible to tell whether or not the now pending tariff bill will bring in sufficient revenue.

It is somewhat difficult to understand why the Democratic senators do not advocate a tax on the dividends of corporations. Of course, Mr. Aldrich and the rest of the Republican organization in the senate would oppose such a tax, but it is very doubtful if the organization could command sufficient strength to prevent the enactment of the law. By choosing that form of taxation, which the president has declared that he favors only as a last resort, the Democrats have, apparently, missed an opportunity to undermine the whole system of protection. Senator Aldrich has ingeniously confessed that he believes the adoption of any form of special taxation will undermine the protective system, because once the people come to realize the benefits of direct taxation, with the clear knowledge of how much tax each man pays and the close supervision of public expenditures which that would produce, the people will insist upon the abandonment of the tariff system. Under such circumstances it would seem to be the part of the Democrats to align themselves behind that form of direct taxation which would be most possible of enactment.

Senator Bailey, in an effort to defend his vote for a duty on iron ore, has assailed practically every one who has seen fit to criticize him and almost before he took his seat was proven to have given false witness by two of his Democratic colleagues. Bailey attacked Gov. Johnson of Minnesota, "Marse" Henry Watterson of Louisville and an independent paper in his own state because they had criticized his vote for a duty on iron ore. He then declared that the Steel Trust did not want a duty on iron ore, whereupon Senators Rayner and Smith of Maryland, both Democrats, arose and declared that the Steel Trust did want such a duty, and Mr. Smith said he had been approached by representatives of the Steel Trust who urged him to vote for a duty on ore.

Some striking effects of the tariff on the necessities which the poor man is compelled to buy are brought to light through a controversy between two Eastern newspapers which appear to have obtained some confidential figures prepared for the use of the president by treasury experts. It is shown that on the suit of clothes which retails for $15 the duty is $4.76, so that without the tariff the same suit could be bought for $10.24. A man's overcoat now retailing for $15 could be bought for $10.36 if there were no tariff. A woman's cotton dress which now sells for $10 could be bought for $8.75 if it were not for the tribute which the consumer is made to pay to the manufacturer. A tapestry rug which now sells for $15 is worth just $9.64, the extra $5.36 being the sum the consumer is compelled to pay to the American manufacturer for the same rug, which, without a tariff, he could buy for less than $10. Practically everything is taxed, even salt, which costs a cent a pound more because of the tariff, and sugar, which costs 1 1/4 cents more a pound because of the protective policy. The secretary of commerce and labor is still wondering if he dare dismiss S. N. D. North, director of the census, in view of the opposition of the powerful members of congress who have come to Mr. North's support. The secretary determined some time ago to get rid of Mr. North, whom he did not regard as competent longer to administer the census bureau, but there was a rush of powerful senators and others to the White House.

LOWER NACHES.

F. A. Benson has bought 30 acres of sage brush land under the Selah ditch, of Sam Moore, paying $225 an acre. He is having it cleared and will set a part of it to fruit trees this fall.

Visitors to the orchard of Mr. Brooks may see both peaches and Yakinines on his trees, although he will not have a full crop of either.

Mrs. Harry Bair was taken to the hospital Saturday evening. At last accounts she is getting along fine.

Rev. Herwig of the Anti-Saloon League preached last Sunday on the work in which he is engaged. A large audience was out to hear him.

The C. E. meeting, led by Rev. Chaney, was largely attended Sunday evening. The topic for next Sunday evening is, "Lessons from Birds and Flowers."

On Tuesday evening, June 1, the regular monthly meeting of the C. E. will be held at the home of Willis Friend. After the business session there will be a social hour, with refreshments.

Mrs. Josiah Howson is confined to her home with sickness.

John Madison has all he can do in his blacksmith shop. He says the work keeps him humping all the time and he can scarcely find time to go home to his meals or have a smoke.

Some of our people enjoyed a ride up to Naches City across the bridge and back home on the west side of the river. They say it is a very pretty drive. A picnic dinner was enjoyed.

Mrs. Shumate has gone to Seattle to join her husband, where he has settled in a law office.

Gene Zirkle leaves this week for the A.-Y.-P. exposition, where he will be head janitor and expert fruit packer in the Yakima county building. Mrs. Zirkle and the children will go over later.

Sam Moore's house looks 100 per cent better with its coat of paint on. Ed Hoffman was the artist.

The nearby friends of Mr. and Mrs. Mat Cramer gathered at their new home Saturday evening and duly "warmed" their house, which is very neat and another addition to the many improvements of the valley.

Mrs. Meserve spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Newman.

Don't make any other appointment for the evening of June 3. We want a good attendance at the Brotherhood meeting. The ladies are invited.

PANSIES AND POSIES EVERYWHERE AT A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION.

In the foreground of the picture is shown the bank which slopes up from Geyser Basin at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, Seattle. Upon it have been planted 300,000 tufted pansy plants, and close up to the ballustrades high-growing plants of bright blossom.

Above Geyser Basin can be seen the banks of the Cascades, and around these are growing 100,000 rose bushes, so selected that there will be a rotation of blooms throughout the Exposition.

MEMORIAL DAY, MONDAY

Memorial day this year falls on Sunday and therefore the celebration will be held on Monday, the 31st. The regular services will be conducted by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, assisted by the local company of the national guard and the Spanish war veterans.

General orders have been received by Capt. Curry from Adj. Gen. Lamping of Seattle to turn out his company for the parade which will be paid by the state for so doing.

Three Roads Combine

Official announcement has been made by the Northern Pacific that arrangements have been made between the N. P., U. P. and G. N. railroads under which the Northern Pacific will handle the business of the three lines between South Tacoma and Vancouver, Wash., and a bridge over the Columbia river will be built jointly by the three lines. The Northern Pacific will at once begin the completion of the double tracking of its road so as to care for the business of the three companies. The property will be used by the three companies for all kinds of business, being maintained as a first-class double track railroad.

The announcement is also made that the three roads will have their own separate terminal facilities in Tacoma and in Seattle.

Judge Preble's Gown

Judge Preble was quoted in last Sunday's Post-Intelligencer as being heartily in sympathy with the new law that is to go into effect June 12, which requires all supreme and superior court judges in this state to wear a gown while holding court. On the contrary, Judge Preble is of the opinion that the law is a very unwise one and says that it is not at all in accord with his democratic instincts.

"Nevertheless, it is the law," said the judge to a Democrat scribe Monday, "and as it is the law, it is my duty to obey it. A judge has no more legal or moral right to violate a law than any other person, and he should be the last to think of doing so."

In fact, the judge has already ordered his silk robe at a cost of $70 and as soon as the new law takes effect his honor will don the gown and endeavor to look pleasant.

Want Money for A.-Y.-P.

A committee from the 50,000 club was at work this week raising additional money for the Yakima county exhibit at the A.-Y.-P. exposition. Eleven thousand five hundred dollars is the amount that has been apportioned to North Yakima and all but a few hundred dollars has been raised. By the end of the week it is hoped to have the entire amount subscribed.

Voluntary contributions are also being received by the Commercial club from those who were not visited by the committee.

Suit for Right-of-Way

The North Coast railroad filed two suits for condemnation of right-of-way Tuesday. One action is against Emily T. Walker, et al., for lots in blocks 26 and 27 at Zillah. The other suit is against E. O. Keck and wife for right-of-way on his farm in 26-11-20.

Suit for Divorce

Lavilla N. McMillan has commenced suit in the superior court for divorce from her husband, Cicero L. McMillan, lately found guilty of a statutory offense. Drunkenness, cruelty and threats of bodily harm are alleged in the complaint.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Lesson IX.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 29, 1908.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Isa. xxviii, 1-13.
Memory Verse, 11—Golden Text, I Cor. ix, 27—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.]

Any one who writes notes on these lessons can scarcely fail to be impressed with this strange fact—that we never have a lesson from the prophets unless it is the quarterly temperance lesson, and in looking over the synopsis of lessons I notice that no lessons from prophecy appear in the course of study till 1911 and then only in connection with studies in the lives of the kings. It would seem as if prophecy was not considered a profitable study, as if it was considered a dark subject in the midst of much light instead of a light shining in a dark place whereunto we do well that we take heed (II Pet. i, 19). Might not the Saviour have good reasons to say to the professing Christians of our time, "O fools and slow of heart, to believe all that the prophets have spoken?" (Luke xxiv, 25). Preachers and people seem to have closed eyes and to be in a deep sleep concerning the wonderful purpose of God concerning the ages and are therefore said to be drunken, but not with wine; to stagger, but not with strong drink (xxix, 9). Which is worse—that phase of drunkenness or the beastly drunkenness which is the result of literal strong drink? If we judge from the fact that the awful words which fell from the Saviour's lips, and only from His, concerning weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth were spoken not concerning the openly ungodly, but concerning professing believers who did not believe, it should not be difficult to decide as to what He thinks of it.

It may not be amiss to call attention to the section of Isaiah which this chapter begins, the woe section, but in another aspect it might be called the section of the cornerstone, the tried stone, the sure foundation, laid by God Himself (verse 16), and other foundation there is none, for all else is a refuge of lies, a bed too short to stretch oneself on, covering too narrow to wrap oneself in, and when the Lord comes in judgment and righteousness to sweep away all false refuges and to cause Israel to blossom and bud and fill the face of the earth with fruit then it shall be seen (verses 17-20; chapter xxvii, 6). Drunkenness is the outward manifestation of a phase of proud sinful self which, not knowing what ails it, seeks satisfaction in this form and calls it a glorious good time, not considering that there is a judgment to come, a time when the sowing shall bring a fearful harvest of everlasting woe and all the glory and beauty (in their eyes) of the present rioting shall forever fade away. The disgusting filthiness of their feasts, even though accompanied by music and much that is attractive to the natural man (chapter v, 12), is set forth in verses 8, 9. Not only the ordinary people, but priests and prophets, those who should be the Lord's messengers to the people and stand for the people before God, were guilty of this sin, which may perhaps have been the sin of Nadab and Abihu when they died before the Lord while officiating as His priests (Lev. x, 1-9).

Not the energy nor the excitement of the flesh can serve the Lord, but only the zeal which comes by the Spirit of the Lord; hence the admonition, "Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be filled with the Spirit," and that other word, "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Eph. v, 18; Zech. iv, 6). "Out of the way" is the expression used twice in verse 7 of our lesson concerning these erring ones. It is found also in Rom. iii, 12, "They are all gone out of the way." In Isa. lili, 6, it reads, "We have turned every one to his own way." There is only one way that is right, and that is "the way," even Himself (John xiv, 6). Those who followed Him are in Acts ix, 2, margin, and elsewhere called people of "the way." "Blessed are the undefiled in the way who walk in the law of the Lord" (Ps. cxix, 1).

We cannot lead others into this good and true way unless we are walking in it ourselves—walking with Him in peace and equity. Then only shall we turn others from iniquity (Mal. ii, 6). How beautiful is verse 12 of our lesson, but how sad its ending, "This is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest, and this is the refreshing, yet they would not hear." See the same sad refrain in xxx, 5; Matt. xxiii, 37, "Ye would not." Hear Him also in John v, 40, "Ye will not come to Me." In Matt. xv, 8, He had to use the words of Isa. xxix, 13, "This people draweth nigh unto Me with their mouth and honoreth Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me." There is no hope for any sinner but by the word of the Lord, therefore verse 14, "Hear the word of the Lord, ye scornful men." But they made light of Him and of it, asking if He thought they were babes just weaned. They did not know, and many today do not seem to know, that "these things are hidden from the wise and prudent and revealed unto babes" (Matt. xi).

The day is coming when all the glory and pride and unbelief of man shall be laid low and the Lord alone shall be exalted. Then shall the Lord of hosts be for a crown of glory and for a diadem of beauty unto all who are truly His (verse 5).

HE READ HIS MAN.

Lincoln's Rebuke to a Visitor Who Would Not Meet His Gaze.

As I came up to the railing in front of the president he was reading a paper that had just been presented to him by a man who sat in the chair opposite him and who seemed by his restlessness and unsteady eyes to be of a nervous disposition or under great excitement.

Mr. Lincoln, still holding the paper up and without movement of any kind, paused and, raising his eyes, looked for a long time at this man's face and seemed to be looking down into his very soul. Then, resuming his reading for a few moments, he again paused and cast the same piercing look upon his visitor.

Suddenly, without warning, he dropped the paper, and, stretching out his long arm, he pointed his finger directly in the face of his vis-a-vis and said, "What's the matter with you?"

The man stammered and finally replied, "Nothing."

"Yes, there is," said Lincoln. "You can't look me in the face! You have not looked me in the face since you sat there! Even now you are looking out that window and cannot look me in the eye!"

Then, flinging the paper in the man's lap, he cried: "Take it back! There is something wrong about this! I will have nothing to do with it!" And the discomfited individual retired.—T. B. Bancroft in McClure's Magazine.

ORIENTAL PARAGONS.

Japan's Four and Twenty Models of Filial Piety.

Filial piety, as is well known, is the special virtue of China and Japan. From it springs loyalty to the emperor, who is regarded as "the father and mother of his people." There are no greater favorites with the Japanese than the "four and twenty paragons of filial piety," whose acts of virtue are the subjects of Chinese legend.

One of the paragons had a cruel stepmother, who was very fond of fish. Never repining at her cruel treatment of him, he lay down on the frozen surface of a lake. The warmth of his body melted a hole in the ice, at which two carp came up to breathe. These he caught and took home to his stepmother.

Another paragon, who was of the female sex, clung to the jaws of a tiger that was about to devour her father until the latter escaped.

The drollest of all these stories is that of Korashi. This paragon, though seventy years old, used to dress in baby's clothes and crawl about on the floor, his object being to delude his parents, who were really over ninety years of age, into the idea that they could not be so very old, after all, as they had such an exceedingly infantile son.—Sunday Magazine.

Caught Them All Around.

A Moslem ruler spoke to his people one Friday from the pulpit in the market place.

"People, what shall I preach to you about today?" "We do not know," they replied. "Well, if you don't know I shall not tell you." And down he came from the pulpit. There was no sermon that Sabbath.

The next week the old inquiry was made, and the people rejoined, "We know." When the royal preacher said, "If you know you do not need me to tell you." And again an abrupt close to the services.

The third week the people were more wary and replied, "Some of us know, and some do not know." And now they expected to trap the man, but he was wiser than they thought. "Let those who know tell those who do not know," came his utterance, and the people were trapped instead.—Boston Post.

A Rat's Tail.

A rat's tail is a wonderful thing. The great naturalist Cuvier says that there are more muscles in this curious appendage than are to be found in that part of the human anatomy which is most admired for its ingenious structure—namely, the hand. To the rat, in fact, its tail serves as a sort of hand, by means of which the animal is enabled to crawl along narrow ledges or other difficult passages, using it to balance with or to gain a hold. It is prehensile, like the tails of some monkeys. By means of it the little beast can jump up heights otherwise inaccessible, employing it as a projectile spring.

Hurt Worse Than the Razor.

The Barber—You've got a nasty, deep lot of crow's feet, sir, and them lines runnin' down from the corners of the mouth is somethin' fierce. A massage—The Patient (fiercely)—You've got a hump like a camel and a chest like a doughnut, and I don't believe, with legs like those, you could stop an elephant up an alley, let alone a pig. But, hang it, man, do you want to be reminded of it every time you get a shave?—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Evils of Tobacco.

An illustration of the evils resulting from the use of tobacco is found in the life of a Georgia man of eighty-two years who has chewed since he was eleven and is now the father of twenty-five children. Cut out tobacco, young man.—Clio (Ala.) Free Press.

Not Appreciated.

Bjunks—It certainly seems to me that a man like Bjackson, who has worked hard all his life and brought up a family of sixteen children, deserves a great deal of credit.

Bjones No doubt. But he can't be it at the stores.—Some-He Journal.

Lost a Railroad.

"A champagne dinner once cost St. Joseph, Mo., the Union Pacific railroad," said an old railroad official. "The Union Pacific bill was up for consideration in congress in the early sixties. It fixed St. Joseph as the eastern terminus of the road. While the bill was under consideration a banquet was held at St. Joseph. It was attended by many of the leading men of the town. After they had filled up on champagne a question arose as to which flag should float from the city hall. The Confederate flag was finally decided on, and in the morning the stars and stripes were hauled down and the stars and bars hoisted. The news reached Washington that very day, while the Union Pacific bill was still under consideration. Senator Pomeroy moved that the name St. Joseph, Mo., be stricken from the bill and Omaha, Neb., be substituted. The amendment carried and St. Joseph thereby lost the Union Pacific."—Kansas City Journal.

The Truce of God.

One of the most curious of the many queer mediaeval customs was that known as "the truce of God." From what we have been able to learn of it the custom appears to have originated as an outgrowth of a desire to protect the common people to some extent at least against the lawless tyranny of the feudal lords of the middle ages. It was first decreed at a church synod which convened at Roussillon in the year 1027. By this decree it was provided that no man should attack his enemy between Saturday evening at noon and Monday morning at the hour of prime. About the year 1032 a similar compact was entered into between the church and the barons of England. The church forbade barons to make any attack upon each other between sunset on Wednesday night and sunrise on the following Monday or upon any feast or fast day. The same truce made provision that no man should be disturbed while laboring at his trade or while going to or from a place of worship.

INHERITANCE TAX NEEDED

H. H. Rogers, financial genius and Standard Oil multi-millionaire, paid the final debt to nature quite suddenly one day last week and his body was buried without ostentation at his boyhood home, Fairhaven, Mass. Rogers, like most other very rich men, left his estate in the form of a permanent trust, which means that his heirs will be permitted to spend no more than the income. Thus the power of the "dead hand" must be reckoned with for many years to come in America, and the lives of many men and women yet unborn will be influenced by that fact. Many men, unthinkingly perhaps, support the contention that a man may do as he pleases with his own wealth when he comes to shuffle off this mortal coil, but that view in the light of justice is illogical and unsound. It should be the aim of a just government to prevent, or at least discourage, the handing down of great fortunes from generation to generation as tending to build up an oligarchy of wealth and contrary to public policy. The most effective way to do this would be through the levying of a particularly heavy tax, made particularly heavy on great estates left in the form of a trust. The swollen fortune left by Rogers, estimated at $75,000,000, should yield to the government a tax of at least 10 per cent. "But why?" say the very rich and their paid retainers. The reason why is that a benevolent and over-indulgent government permitted Mr. Rogers and all of his kind to pile up fabulous fortunes and that it has protected such fortunes for their owners. In many cases, particularly in that of Carnegie, the government has been robbed and has permitted the American people to be robbed and ruthlessly plundered by commercial pirates intent only on building up massive fortunes, which are usually a curse to mankind and often prove a curse to the owners and their posterity.

The people are beginning to see the rank injustice of a system that despoils the producing classes of this country for the sole purpose of building up a permanent aristocracy of money, a snobbish aristocracy that breeds sportsmen and insipid, un-American women, anxious to trade gold for a European husband with a useless title.

But there is no relief in sight for the people so long as they permit such servants of wealth as Aldrich and Cannon to mold their revenue laws. Perhaps they will find that out after while.

"FEEBLE FOLK"

Tolstoy has incurred the wrath of ex-President Roosevelt by saying that "Bryan represented the party of peace" in the last campaign, and the "mighty hunter" pauses long enough to administer a rebuke to the Russian philosopher. He says that Tolstoy has swayed "only the feeble folk and the fanatic folk." There now, let Tolstoy wipe the blood off his face and take a back seat.

No wonder Mr. Roosevelt does not like Tolstoy—they represent opposite schools of thought. Mr. Roosevelt is the exponent of the brute force idea—with him man is an animal and must be ready to kill any other animal that opposes his plans. With Tolstoy man is the spiritual agent of God and is bound to observe spiritual laws.

Mr. Roosevelt thinks that man would degenerate without an occasional opportunity for blood letting; Tolstoy believes that love is greater than force and that man is ennobled by accepting love as the controlling principle of life. Naturally Mr. Roosevelt thinks that the world can be scared into peace when armaments become great enough to make each nation afraid of every other nation. Tolstoy believes that the spirit that leads nations to desire big navies will lead them to use them without excuse and he insists that a good example will do more than a threat to prevent war.

This fundamental difference between Roosevelt and Tolstoy is not, however, new. When Jesus visited a village in Samaria and the people refused to receive him some of the disciples suggested that fire should be called down from heaven to avenge the insult; but the Master rebuked them and said: "Ye know not what manner of spirit ye are of; for the Son of Man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them." Suppose he had said: "We will thrash them until they understand who we are," how different would have been the history of Christianity! Compare, if you will, the swaggering, bullying, brutal doctrine of Roosevelt with the golden rule of Tolstoy and the commandment, "Thou shall love thy neighbor as thyself."

Again, Christ answered one who would use force to defend him, by saying: "They that draw the sword shall perish by the sword."

Tolstoy has good authority for his position—better than Mr. Roosevelt can offer for his bullying and swaggering policy. Mr. Roosevelt will hardly charge all the followers of the Prince of Peace with being "feeble folk and fanatic folk."—The Commoner.

ONE VICTIM OF PROTECTION

It is a pleasure to notice that the Harvester Trust—almost alone among big industrial enterprises—made more money in 1908 than in 1907 or 1906. The pleasure would be keener if it arose from possession of a comfortable bunch of the stock. It is, however, merely philosophic, arising from contemplation of the fact that while the average wage per employee was a little higher than in 1906, the labor cost was lower.

The average amount paid in wages and salaries per man rose a trifle, but for each dollar so paid, more goods were sold. Also, the sales abroad were larger than ever before. The trust is, of course, a victim rather than a beneficiary of protection. The tariff raises the price of iron and wood, the trust's raw materials, besides incidentally hampering it in France. In spite of this handicap, and of the fact that it pays American wages, it is the world's great exporter of farm machinery.

The usual answer to this conundrum is that the trust has a lot of valuable patents and special devices. In other words, it has brains. Without casting any aspersions upon the intellectuals of the Harvester Trust, we may say that it has no monopoly in that particular. Other American industries have as much brains as the Harvester Trust and can get along as well without protection.—Saturday Evening Post.

Representative Beach of Mason county wants to go the "whole hog or none" in the matter of a legislative investigation of state officials. Mr. Beach has filed with the committee charges against certain officials in charge of state institutions as well as different commissions for creating, contrary to law, deficiencies subsequently made good by appropriations made by the last legislature. We note that such an indictment was brought against our own state fair commissioners. In this connection, Mr. Beach notes that the state auditor's records show that on September 30, 1908, the state fair commission had on hand $35.47, on which munificent sum the fair board proceeded to hold a fair, which resulted in a deficiency of $10,699, which the legislature reluctantly consented to make good. This, in the opinion of Representative Beach, constitutes a crime, or at least a direct violation of law, and he wants the committee to look into the matter. Now certainly, Mr. Beach must have a grouch, or else he is not a very good Republican. He is asking some very pointed questions and many of his party brethren wish that he would keep still.

Secretary Munroe of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce unwittingly invited trouble when he told a newspaper man a few weeks ago that he estimated that there are at least 2,000 bachelors within the Inland Empire who are looking for wives. Munroe's remark, of course, was published far and wide and appears to have created a flutter of excitement among marriageable members of the fair sex from Maine to California. The genial secretary is now receiving on an average of 50 letters a day from candidates asking him to place them in correspondence with an eligible bachelor. The letters come from the romantic maiden, looking for the ideal lover, as well as the staid and sensible widow of 40 who wants a man of steady habits and a good home. And now Munroe wishes he hadn't said it, for after all the joking is done, the pathetic side of the situation appeals to him, as it should to any right-minded man. So now the only thing that the secretary can see to do is to publish the letters, withholding the names, and let Cupid trust to luck.

No wonder Senator Ruth bitterly opposed a legislative investigation of state officials, for the senator simply don't want his own graft interfered with. It now develops that Ruth has been paid a salary of $150 per month for alleged services rendered the state in checking up the work of Seattle contractors who are filling tidelands by contract for the state, the contractors paying the salary, although, no doubt, the state pays it in the end.

Ruth is indebted, however, to Land Commissioner Ross for his fat job, which requires but little of his time. As the dirty mess at Olympia is gradually uncovered and exhibits a condition of general rottenness in the state service, public sentiment is being crystallized into the determination to clean the rascals out, even if it should take a political revolution to do it.

Recently in discussing the remarks of former Gov. Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri, the P-I took occasion to say that the Democratic party "seems to have traveled too far from American political ideals." If it meant by this that the Republican party, honeycombed by rottenness and corruption both in state and nation, and rioting in extravagance at the expense of the oppressed taxpayer, is the ideal from which the Democracy is getting away, it called the turn to nicety. If the Roosevelt panic and the $140,000,000 deficiency in the national treasury is an ideal Republican condition of affairs, the time for a change has arrived.—Seattle Times.

The splendid showing made by the different banks of North Yakima should be a source of much satisfaction to every citizen of this city. Two national and three state banks operate here and all are highly prosperous. But the best thing about our banks is that they are run on business principles and are safe and sound. No town of its size in the United States, we believe, enjoys better banking facilities than North Yakima and surrounding country.

Now that Yakima county has undertaken to do certain things at the A-Y-P exposition and the plans are all laid, it behooves every citizen of the county to do his share, both in the way of contributing money to pay necessary expenses and in securing a suitable exhibit. The exposition is now ready to open and the committee needs the money.

George E. Boomer has sold the Prosser Record to G. Alfred Haynes, an experienced newspaper man recently from the east. Under the new management the policy of the paper has been changed from socialist to independent. This leaves Brother Jory of the Sunnyside Forum the sole defender of the faith in the Yakima valley.

Prof. Pickering wants to raise $10,000,000 with which to rig up a system of mirrors and flash signals to Mars. In case he succeeds, it might be a good idea for the reclamation service to get in touch with the Martians in the hope of getting some valuable ideas on canal building.

LOCAL STRAWBERRIES NOW BEING SHIPPED

C. J. Mock of Fruitvale and E. Meeske, of Nob Hill, Early Birds.

The first strawberries shipped from North Yakima and grown in the territory contiguous to it, by the wholesalers who make a business of supplying the out-of-town trade left this city yesterday. There were shipments by the Horticultural Union and the Yakima Produce company, the former billing to smaller towns in this vicinity where strawberries are not grown and the latter to Montana markets. The union's berries were grown by C. J. Mock of Fruitvale and those shipped by the produce company by E. Meeske of Knob Hill. All of these berries will bring from $3 to $3.50 in the markets to which they have been consigned.

California berries are scarce in the local markets and other places in Central and Eastern Washington and berries grown in the Yakima valley will take care of the trade almost exclusively from now on.

RAISE FUNDS FOR BAND

"The Talk of the Town" Will Be Repeated Next Wednesday Evening.

The A-Y-P. committee which is planning to make June 11, Yakima county day, at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, one of the biggest days at the fair, wants the Yakima Juvenile band to be in Seattle on that date to help in the boosting. At a meeting of the committee last evening it was arranged to have another performance of "The Talk of the Town," the play recently given by local talent, for the purpose of financing the trip from North Yakima to Seattle and return for the boys. This performance will be given in the Yakima Theater on Wednesday evening, June 2.

It was originally planned to have the boys' band visit the exposition in July but the committee wants them over there June 10, 11 and 12. The members of the organization have made great progress under the direction of Frank X. Nagler and, it is felt, will make a very favorable impression for the city. Mr. Nagler says they are capable of playing a two-hour concert at any time, using standard waltz and march selections and popular airs.

The big hit scored by "The Talk of the Town" when it was first presented assures a large attendance at the benefit performance next Wednesday. There will be some added musical numbers and some new faces in the cast. One rehearsal will be held Monday evening at 7 o'clock. It is likely that "The Talk of the Town" will also be presented in Ellensburg some evening next week.

CLOSE A $32,000 DEAL

Calhoun, Denny & Ewing Buy 240 Acres at Kiona, Half of Which Is Improved.

Calhoun, Denny & Ewing have just closed a $32,000 deal whereby they purchase outright 240 acres of land formerly held by Baylor & Tappan, promoters of the Kiona Orchard company. Half of the tract has been plowed and set to fruit trees and will all be placed on the market at once. The tract is under the old Northern Pacific canal now owned by the Kiona Ditch company. The firm has established an office at Kiona and placed C. O. Barnes in charge. The entire tract has been platted into five and ten-acre tracts, and will be known as Kiona Highlands.

The tract is near the townsite of Kiona which is owned exclusively by officials of the North Coast Railway company. The townsite will be the point where the main line of the North Coast will divide, one branch going directly to Spokane and the other to Kennewick.

LITTLE BOY DROWNED IN IRRIGATION DITCH

Two-Year-Old Son of G. G. Murphy Wanders Away and Falls Into Canal.

Wayne Murphy, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Murphy, residing in Fairview opposite the state fair grounds, was drowned in the Union irrigation ditch this morning. Mrs. Murphy took her little son with her to the Buckholtz place to pick gooseberries. The boy strolled away from his mother and within 10 minutes after he was last seen, he was picked up in the bottom of the ditch about 100 feet below a crossing leading to his home. The supposition is that he tried to walk across the plank, fell off and the swift water knocked his feet from under him. The ditch is running full at this season of the year and the water is deeper than usual.

When the little fellow was missed by his mother, she and Mrs. McBride, who was also picking gooseberries, started in to look for him. Mrs. McBride followed the ditch and soon found the boy. He was taken out, but life was extinct although he could not have been in the water longer than five or 10 minutes.

G. G. Murphy is a painter and has lived in North Yakima four years.

DIRECTOR NORTH QUILTS.

Head of Census Bureau Resigns on Account of Friction With Nagel.

Washington, May 26.—S. N. D. North, director of the census, has tendered his resignation and it was accepted today. E. Dana Durand, deputy commissioner of corporations, has been nominated to succeed North, whose resignation is the direct result of a controversy with Secretary Nagel.

The following statement in connection with the North case was given out at the White House: "Director North has tendered his resignation as director of the census. It was accepted and the name of E. Dana Durand, now deputy commissioner of corporations, has been sent to the senate to succeed him. North's resignation was based on the ground that on account of conditions existing and likely to continue his administration of the census office would not probably be successful."

Durand is from California. He has been with the bureau of corporations for some time and it is believed will work in harmony with Secretary Nagel. Director North held to the belief that the census bureau is an independent institution and that he was responsible only to the president. A congressional enactment put the census bureau under the department of commerce and labor. Friction has existed between North and Nagel for some time as the result of Nagel's insistence that North was subordinate to him.

IRRIGATE 10,000 ACRES

Hanford People Will Start Corps of Engineers at Work on New Canal.

The Hanford Irrigation & Power company, which opened offices in North Yakima yesterday, will send a crew of engineers out this week to start construction on another canal that will irrigate 10,000 acres more under the project. The tract that will be brought under water lies north and west of the land already under the ditch that is now flowing. The big power plant is supplying more water than is needed in the 18 mile ditch. So far this year 250,000 fruit trees have been planted and other improvements have been made, but there is as much water running out of the end of the ditch as flows over the land. The ditch that will next be constructed runs up the Columbia river from the pumping station. The Milwaukee road is building down the river from Beverly and will strike the new ditch of the Hanford project at the upper end and will cut through the irrigated land for a distance of about 35 miles.

N. A. Bonn went to Hanford yesterday to take charge of the company's office there, and Joe Bonn will have charge here.

WISCONSIN MAN BUYS.

Attorney General Gilbert Has Purchased Ranch Near Sunnyside.

Attorney General F. L. Gilbert of Madison, Wis., who was in North Yakima recently and spent a week in the Yakima valley, has purchased a 20 acre fruit farm near Sunnyside, paying $500 an acre, the total amounting to $10,000. Mr. Gilbert stopped off in the Yakima valley on his trip to the coast, which he was taking for the benefit of his health and for business. He was very much impressed with the conditions and prospects of the Yakima country. He became convinced that an investment in the state of Washington would bring good returns, and after looking over various sections became convinced that the best opportunity was offered here. Mr. Gilbert has placed his new ranch under the management of his brother-in-law.

MANUFACTURERS BUILDING.

On the eastern side of Geyser Basin, at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, the handsome Manufacturers Building looks across the restless waters of the Cascades and the flashing foam of "Old Faithful," the reproduction of its namesake in Yellowstone National Park.

Its location is the most central of any of the exposition buildings, and its architectural design is especially fitting for the position it has been given. It was one of the first great exhibition palaces to be completed, and before the end of last year was ready for the reception of its vast collection of exhibits. It will house a magnificent assortment of the highest examples of man's ingenuity and invention, and within its walls will be gathered specimens of manufactured articles from the workshops of every nation of importance in the world.

It overlooks the finest of the formal gardens of the exposition, and its splendid line of pergolas, with their vine-covered columns and blossoming flowers, complete a restful and pleasing view. At no part of the grounds can be seen a more beautiful illuminating effect than is presented from the open pergolas during the late evening and early night. A million sparkling electric bulbs flash their white lights through the waters and, scattered throughout the greenery, hundreds of electrolights mingle their many hues with the riot of colors. Looking down the gentle slope of Rainier Avenue the floating craft of two lakes is brought into vision and adds the delights of a broad, light-sprinkled stretch of forest-enclosed waters to the whole effect.

of land on the west bank of the Columbia river near Hanford. The party is headed by W. H. Pearson, president of the Produce Exchange Safe Deposit company. They had heard of the wonderful fertility of the irrigated land of central Washington. They have purchased 88 acres under the big ditch of the Hanford Irrigation & Power company, paying for it $25,000 in cash. The entire tract has been set to apples, peaches and grapes this spring.

RECOMMENDS TAKING OVER N. W. CO.'S PLANT

Prof. J. W. Roberts, Water Expert, Makes Report to Council Committee.

Prof. J. W. Roberts, the water expert and engineer employed by the city to ascertain and report on the most feasible water supply for a municipal system, recommends that the plant of the Northwest Light and Water company be taken over by the city in preference to the proposed artesian well supply or a new gravity system.

Prof. Roberts points out that to install a competitive system to the Northwest Light & Water company would not be advisable from a financial standpoint, as there would be difficulty in floating bonds to pay for the installation of the plant. The artesian well is dismissed with unfavorable figures and is held to not be favorable when compared to a gravity system.

The estimated cost of the three propositions for a city of 40,000 population, follows:

To drill wells for an artesian supply and install system, $499,000.

The Horseshoe bend proposition, which includes 28 miles of 24 inch pipe, $579,000.

The estimated value of the plant of the Northwest Light & Water company, $316,000.

Prof. Roberts recommends that the plant of the Northwest Light & Water company be purchased at its appraised valuation; if that can not be done, then by condemnation proceedings, which he holds is lawful for municipal purposes. He points out that the 10 cubic feet of water belonging to the water company could be taken from the Naches river at any point. The estimate covers the entire plant of the company and includes its water right and covers its earning capacity and good will.

The estimates are based on a system providing 342 fire hydrants and to serve a city of 40,000 population. Prof. Roberts pointed out to the special committee of the council when he was here this spring that it would be proper to base his calculation of a city of 40,000 as the most practicable.

The principal objections to an artesian system are that wells would have to be dug and a gravity system be installed and the operating expenses. It is also pointed out that it would be a competitive plant and even more difficulty would be involved in floating bonds than for an independent gravity system, such as the Horseshoe Bend proposition.

The report also contains information that the city of North Yakima has 14 feet of water in the Naches river, which is deeded to the government for irrigation purposes.

The report contains considerable correspondence with City Attorney Frank J. Allen and Attorney Williamson of the reclamation service, relative to this water right. Mr. Williamson holds that it is optional with the government as to whether or not this water could be returned to the city, but it is understood that the water right could be regained by the city. However, as the report recommends the purchase outright of the water company's plant, so there would be no competition the matter is handled incidentally.

The special committee appointed by the mayor to investigate and recommend a plan for a municipal water plant will meet this week to go over the report and will be prepared to make a report to the council at its next meeting, June 7.

The Northwest Light & Water company has offered to sell their plant to the city for $390,000.

THE OLD CIRCUS POSTER.

Pretentious Language With Which the Show Was Described.

The grandiloquent extravagance of language of the old time circus poster is illustrated by this reproduction, which is given verbatim:

"There will be presented a resplendent series of sublime, moral, interesting, instructive, amusing and wonderful scenes which would appear entirely too fabulous if expressed in an advertisement. They must be seen to be duly appreciated. These great displays will unfold in all the loveliness and beauty of enchantment, carrying the minds of the bewildered or spellbound spectators off on the gentle wings of the imagination to such pageantry as they might dream of after reading a few pages of 'Arabian Nights' Entertainments.' Words are really wanting to give adequate expression. Webster's unabridged fails most signally in language to fully portray a semblance of the reality. Zoonomy may be learned at this great college in a single evening. Here the visitor will see splendid specimens of the zygodyctious race that live upon the earth or float and poise upon the wings of gold and silver plume in the cerulean arch, and in reference to these corps of superintendents in courtly dress will elucidate the peculiarities of each with guarded suavity.

One of the Wonders of Physics.

An experienced mechanic who was asked what he regarded as the most wonderful thing for general utility replied: "The tracking of a car wheel is the most wonderful thing to me in the whole range of science and invention. Here are two rails, uphill and downhill, round the sharp curves and along false tangents, and upon them fly at more than a mile a minute, without jar or jolt, a dozen heavy cars drawn by an engine weighing sixty tons. Passengers realize no danger, yet there is only the little flange of a wheel between them and eternity. An inch and a half of steel turned up on the inner side of the wheel holds up the whole train as securely to the rails as if it were bolted there in grooves."

CLIMBING ELEPHANTS.

How They Make Their Way Up and Down Steep Cliffs.

Elephants are able to make their way up and down mountains and through a country of steep cliffs, where mules would not dare to venture and even where men find passage difficult. Their tracks have been found upon the very summit of mountains over 7,000 feet high. In these journeys an elephant is often compelled to descend hills and mountain sides which are almost precipitous. This is the way in which it is done: The elephant's first maneuver is to kneel down close to the declivity. One fore leg is then cautiously passed over the edge and a short way down the slope, and if he finds there is no good spot for a firm foothold he speedily forms one by stamping into the soil if it is moist or kicking out a footing if it is dry. When he is sure of a good foothold, the other fore leg is brought down in the same way. Then he performs the same work over again with his feet, bringing both fore legs a little in advance of the first foothold. This leaves good places all ready made for the hind feet. Now, bracing himself up by his huge, strong fore legs, he draws his hind legs, first one and then the other, carefully over the edge, where they occupy the first places made by the fore feet. This is the way the huge animal proceeds all the way down, zigzag, kneeling every time with the two hind legs while he makes footholds with his fore feet. Thus the center of gravity is preserved and the huge beast prevented from toppling over on his pose.

INSURANCE.

The Beginnings of This Now Common Mode of Protection.

The practice of insurance was known to the ancients, being in vogue at the beginning of the Christian era.

The insurance of ships was undoubtedly part of the business of the Hanseatic league, which was formed about 1140 by the port towns of Germany to protect themselves against the pirates of Sweden and Denmark.

The custom of drawing out insurance policies originated in Florence in 1523, although a regular chamber of insurance was formed at Bruges early in the fourteenth century, and the practice was in general use in Italy in 1194 and in England in 1560.

Fire and life insurance is of much more recent origin. Some of the ancient guilds provided compensation for any of their members who suffered loss from fire, but the insurance of goods and houses as a distinct branch of business cannot be traced farther back than 1667, the year after the great fire of London.

The first regular company, the Hand-in-Hand, was founded in 1696, and five other companies still existing were started in the quarter of a century which followed. Life insurance was first undertaken by the Amicable in 1706.—London Standard.

Toppenish Railroad Home Enterprise.

Referring to the organization of the new railroad company, the Toppenish, Simcoe & Western, the Toppenish Review of this week contains the following:

All the authorized capital stock of the company is subscribed. An engineer has been employed and as soon as the matter of right of way through the reservation can be settled with the department of the interior surveys will be made and construction pushed. The officers of the company are unable to give any information as to when they can begin construction, as the matter depends altogether upon the length of time which will be necessary to wade through the tape which surrounds and permeates the interior department at Washington. However, they are emphatic in the statement that the company is strictly a local and home concern, standing on its own feet, and was organized for the purpose of building a railroad and not otherwise.

DON'T BE BALD HEADED

For You Don't Have To Be

A pretty head of hair should be the pride of every man, woman and child. Such an adornment is now within the reach of all who live in Yakima County.

Heretofore but one nation of people possessed the secret of curing baldness—the Japanese. No one ever saw a native of that country who was baldheaded, for they had a remedy.

This remedy has been purchased from a citizen of Japan by the undersigned and scores of the best people of Yakima have already been benefitted by it.

This remedy is guaranteed to cure all diseases of the scalp and has cured some very bad cases of eczema in Yakima County.

It will be sold only by treatment at our parlors over the Post Office, rooms 6 and 7. Separate rooms and attendants for ladies.

ORIENTAL PALACE AND MANUFACTURERS BUILDING.

The Palace of Oriental Exhibits and Manufacturers Building have a frontage on Cascade Court and Geyser Basin and look across at Foreign Exhibits and Agricultural Palaces; Yukon Avenue separates these magnificent display buildings, and in the back ground the state buildings of Oregon and California are located.

Construction work on these buildings was completed last year and exhibits are being received and placed in position. The Oriental Palace will house the most valuable collection of Far Eastern art that has ever been sent from the Orient, and will present displays from Japan, China, India, Ceylon, Straits Settlements, French Indo China, Borneo, Java and all the eastern countries of Asia.

The Manufacturers building encloses a vast amount of exhibit space and every foot of this has been engaged for display purposes by domestic and foreign manufacturers. The interest manifested in this department of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is world-wide and competitive displays will be general and comprehensive. Exhibits are being daily received and the heavy work of installation is rapidly being accomplished.

PARKER HEIGHTS

Mrs. Helen M. Lovely expects her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lovely, from Albert Lea, Minn., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Starr and daughter, Miss Marjorie, have been spending the past two months up near Fort Simcoe. Mr. Starr came down Thursday, returning to Simcoe Friday.

Frank Mosier expects to leave for Minneapolis, Minn., this week. We are sorry to see Mr. Mosier go away.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell, of North Yakima, were callers at this place Sunday, returning home Monday.

Miss Lucy S. Lamson, of Tacoma, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Starr Saturday and Sunday. Miss Lamson is supervisor of music in all the public schools of Tacoma. She is much pleased with Parker Heights.

W. S. Carpenter, who owns a fruit ranch here has returned to Seattle. While here he made arrangements with Mr. Mosier to care for his place this year.

Theodore Darby, of North Yakima, was a caller Saturday. He came down to look after his fruit ranch here.

B. S. Gordon is assisting in the work on the Mine 160-acre fruit ranch, which was set out this spring.

Mr. Brown, of Chicago, was here Friday looking for a location. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Starr.

Arthur C. Pierce, formerly of this place, but now on North Yakima, spent Sunday here at Parker Heights.

Mr. Lovely, son of Mrs. Helen M. Lovely, has purchased the 10-acre fruit ranch of Mr. H. D. McNury. We hope Mr. and Mrs. McNury will not leave this place.

Strawberries are commencing to ripen. A. B. Starr picked the first ripe berries Monday. He has a fine bed of berries this year.

The people of Parker Heights are looking forward very anxiously for the new bridge which is to be put across the Sunnyside canal soon, which will be a great help to this vicinity and is much needed.

E. W. Ross, of Olympia, is spending a few days here on his fruit ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McNury expect to leave this week for Minnesota, where they expect to make their home. We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. McNury as neighbors.

THE UNEXPLORED.

Many Regions of the Earth Still Remain a Mystery.

Many years will elapse before any other continent is as well mapped as Europe, and perhaps the era of perfected mapping all over the world may never come, because surveys are very expensive and the five other continents have far greater expanses than Europe of comparatively worthless lands that do not call for the most detailed and refined cartography. But a large amount of pioneer work still invites the explorer, for many of the unknown areas have much territorial extent.

In the Amazon basin, for example, three of these regions are each much larger than all of our New England states. One unknown area in north-west Alaska is nearly as large as New England, and the Sahara has two areas in black that are each twice as large and another three times as large as New England.

Asia still has several of these vast mysterious spaces, and the solid chunk of the unknown in New Guinea, the largest island in the world excepting Greenland, would swallow up New England and leave a black border all around it.—Cyrus C. Adams in Harper's.

A Wonderful Sensitive Plant.

An incident related by the author of "The Pearl of India" in his description of the flora of Ceylon is almost uncanny, although we are assured that it is true. It is about the mimosa, or sensitive plant, and makes one almost wonder whether the plant has intelligence. The doctor, one of the characters of the book, while sitting with the family on the broad piazza which formed the front of the bungalow of a coffee plantation recognized a thrifty sensitive plant, and it was made the subject of remark. He called his young daughter of eleven years from the house.

"Lena," said he, "go and kiss the mimosa."

The child did so, laughing gleefully, and came away. The plant gave no token of shrinking from contact with the pretty child.

"Now," said the host, "will you touch the plant?"

Rising to do so, he approached it with one hand extended, and before it had come fairly in contact the nearest spray and leaves wilted visibly.

"The plant knows the child," said the doctor, "but you are a stranger."

Rabbit Shooting in France.

Le Sport is answerable for much exhibition of humor on the part of a nation like ours, where killing for fun is brought to perfection, and the story of the Englishman who went rabbit shooting with two Frenchmen in Normandy may or may not be true. They set out, eager for the chase; they sighted a rabbit, and up went the Englishman's gun to his shoulder. "No, no; do not shoot!" cried his companions. "That is Mimi. We never shoot at Mimi." The Englishman, greatly wondering, desisted. A second rabbit crossed their path. He aimed again and was again deterred from shooting. "That is the adorable Lulu," they pointed out. We never shoot at Lulu. Naturally, when a third rabbit darted up, the Englishman made no effort to kill it, much to the distress of his companions. "Shoot, shoot!" they cried wildly. "That is Alphonse. We always shoot at Alphonse."—London Chronicle.

Wonderful Erosion.

A curious effect of the wear and tear to which the earth's crust is ever being subjected is exhibited in the singularly capped pinnacles existing on South river, in the Wasatch mountains, in Utah. There are hundreds of these slender pillars, ranging in height from 40 to 400 feet most of them crowned by large caps of stones. They are not works of human art, as might be imagined, but are the memorial monuments of the hill from which they have been cut by the action of air and water. Those pinnacles alone remain of many square miles of solid rocks, which have been washed away to a depth of some 400 feet. The greater hardness of the surface has caused it to resist corrosion more than the underlying rock, thus leaving huge caps of stone perched high in air on the peaks of their columns. One double column, capped by a single stone forms a natural bridge both unique and picturesque.

A PESSIMIST'S QUESTIONS.

Why is it that a cleaning of windows is the signal for a rainstorm?

Why is John always late the night the cook is out and visitors are expected in the evening?

And why, oh, why, do visitors always come the one afternoon in the week when one is not dressed to receive them?

Why does a woman think she has so much better taste than her richer neighbor if she but had as much money to gratify it?

Why is it that a leak in the pipe is always discovered Saturday afternoon, when a plumber cannot be found until Monday morning?

Why is it that when one has made a purchase one sees ten minutes later something else which would have been better or cheaper or more becoming?—Philadelphia Ledger.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

George Kilmer, a recent arrival from North Dakota, purchased this week 10 acres of young orchard in the Selah of Dr. Pressey, paying therefor $6,000.

Some three or four hop contracts have been filed with the county auditor during the past few days at 10 cents per pound. The New York & Pacific Hop company being the purchaser.

The proposition to build a municipal water system having carried by a large majority at Sunnyside the clerk of that town is now advertising the sale of municipal water bonds to the extent of $15,000. As soon as the bonds shall have been sold the work of installing the proposed water system will begin. Sunnyside is to be congratulated for her enterprise in this important matter and is away ahead of North Yakima.

The Pasco Express states that the American Power company, an organization of eastern investors who have been experimenting for some time in the matter of pumping water from the Columbia river, has finally concluded to tackle the job of furnishing water for lands under the 100 foot level around Pasco. Contracts are now being signed up with land owners. As soon as this is finished work will begin, the company agreeing to furnish water by March 1, 1910.

The alfalfa mill is running six days in the week. Five wagons are kept busy hauling hay and still they are unable to fill all their orders.—Sunnyside Sun.

The warmer weather of the past week was a welcome change to most people, especially the farmers who report that crops of all kinds, though backward, are now coming on fine.

G. W. Walters, the well known old timer, is placing a portion of his property on the market in the northwest part of the city under the name of the Pioneer Addition. It is a most desirable residence location.

Tim Kelly, the Wapato nurseryman, returned this week from a visit to the Columbia river district. At Hanford he booked orders for 50,000 trees for fall delivery, a fact that indicates that the settlers over there are planting orchards. Mr. Kelly says the Hanford ditch with its cement lining, is working most satisfactorily this year and that the settlers appear to be all prospering.

P. Wallen and family will leave in a few days for South Bend, Wash., to spend the summer with Mrs. Wallen's parents who reside there.

Mayor "Bob" Thomas of Cle Elum was in the city this week in response to a call for jury duty in the U. S. court. Mayor Thomas was formerly sheriff of Kittitas county.

Judge Edward Whitson and Clerk W. H. Hare of the U. S. court arrived here Sunday night in attendance on the session which opened here Monday.

Henry Van Horn of Richland was here for jury duty in the U. S. court this week. Mr. Van Horn was formerly assessor of Benton county.

Word was received here by wire this week of the death in Tacoma of A. C. Cowing, formerly a hardware dealer here. For some time efforts had been made to learn his whereabouts, as he was wanted in connection with litigation in the superior court. The news of his death was the first trace of him for weeks.

Plans are being prepared for a three-story hotel to cost $35,000, to be built by Mrs. Julia Miller on Front and A streets. Clearing the ground will begin at once. The fifth large modern hotel was recently opened here. This will be the sixth.

A new suburban telephone company, this time in the Moxee valley, has been organized here. Material has been ordered and the line will be in full operation by July. The company bought the Pacific company's line and will extend it in eight circuits, accommodating 65 families.

Ground was broken Saturday for the new two-story and basement St. Joseph's school building. It will be built of pressed brick and Tenino stone. St. Joseph's academy has an annex under construction. Next year it will reopen as a boarding school for girls.

L. O. Janeck's black stallion, Shamrock, trotted a mile in 2:26 at the track last Saturday, a fact that aroused enthusiasm among those who watched the performance. Francis Sebastian thinks the young horse when fully worked out and ready for the fall races will be able to clip several seconds off the above record. Shamrock is a Yakima colt and many local people are watching his career with interest.

Mrs. Mary Cannon is visiting friends in Seattle and will remain to attend the A. Y. P. opening.

Cherries are beginning to appear on the local market, the first to be seen of the home grown crop were brought in Monday. There is said to be a fair crop this year of most of the leading varieties.

The officers of the recently organized Yakima Central Heating company are A. E. Larson, president; O. A. Fechter, vice president; H. B. Scudder, secretary, and Alex Miller, treasurer.

Charles W. White of North Yakima and Miss Edith M. Vilas of Granger were granted a license to marry Monday.

Geo. J. Gaudette of North Yakima and Miss Carrie Allenbaugh of Spokane received a license to wed last Saturday.

Senator Presby, a Goldendale attorney, was in the city this week in attendance on the federal court.

Geo. Weikle has sold a one-half interest in his Roslyn coal mine to the Central Washington Investment Co. of this city.

The breach of promise case of Elnora E. Shillig of Seattle vs. John E. Jackson of this city is on trial in the superior court as this paper goes to press. The case is attracting much attention. The defense is apparently based on the theory that Jackson changed his mind about marrying the woman after making the discovery that she had contracted very expensive tastes, which he feared he would be unable to gratify.

Arvil Baker and Miss Dora Lyon, both of Selah, secured a license to wed Thursday from the county auditor. County Superintendent Jacobson is at Seattle this week in attendance on the state convention of school superintendents.

Mrs. Charles W. Grant, wife of ex-Mayor Grant of Toppenish, died in that city Wednesday, after a long illness of tuberculosis. Mr. Grant took his wife to Arizona last fall in the hope of a cure, but without avail.

"The Talk of the Town," the University club's production, which scored a big success on the evening of the 21st, will be repeated next Wednesday evening, June 2. The proceeds will be used to create a fund to send Nagler's juvenile band to the A.-Y.-P. fair for Yakima day, set for June 11.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bull, who spent the winter in Southern California, arrived home Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ker, of the Moxee, are entertaining the latter's sister, who arrived Wednesday from the Ker family home in Scotland.

"Uncle Abe" Eglin, of Tampico, has been stopping in the city for the past month, taking special treatment for rheumatism. He has received much relief.

The rain of Wednesday night, while light in North Yakima, is reported to have been a fairly good one in the upper valleys, and it was much appreciated.

In another column of this issue will be found an advertisement of the Deschutes Valley Land company which has lately established offices at this place. They have some very fine land that they are offering at a very low rate.

B. E. Rayburn and J. A. Lapinsky have opened treatment parlors in rooms 6 and 7 in the postoffice building and will devote their time to the curing of skin diseases. They are meeting with great success and guarantee to cure the worse forms of scalp eczema. Their ad can be found in another column.

He is most favorably impressed with the future prospects of that city. As soon as the insurance has been adjusted on the old Varian hotel, Mr. Mullins will begin the construction of a three-story brick on that corner.

According to Game Warden A. S. Harman, there is no law to compel property owners to place screens at the heads of their irrigation canals to prevent trout from running in them. For years there have been complaints that the trout were being lost in this manner. Ranchers are opposed to screening, because such screens would also catch the drift from the river and thus stop the flow of the water.

Henry Mosebar has sold his farm in the Selah valley for the sum of $11,500. With the places goes a water right from the Selah valley canal.

Anson S. White of the Cowich will address the pupils of the high school next Monday on the subject of bee culture.

TIGERS WALLOP INDIANS

Fast Game at Toppenish Sunday Results in Score of 4 to 2—Umpire Disciplines Players By Handing Out $5 Fines.

A fine game of ball was played at Toppenish last Sunday between the Tigers and the Indians, the former taking the game by the score of 4 to 2. The fans all declare that it was the most scientific game played in the valley league this season. The weather was all that could be desired and a large crowd was present to see the last game of the series between North Yakima and Toppenish.

Four men were handed $5 fines for taking the liberty of differing with Umpire DePriest and arguing disputed points with that official. The bleachers got excited over the fine business and for a time it looked as though the game would break up in a row. However, order was finally restored and the game proceeded, most of the kickers afterwards conceding that the umpire was right.

The feature of the game was the fast work of the Tigers in the fifth, when three runs were made which settled the game. The credit for this is largely due to Kohls, whose two bag hit brought in two men.

Tomorrow Prosser plays here, while Ellensburg will go up against the Indians at Toppenish.

The Kittitas Ditch.

The Localizer is today in receipt of glad tidings concerning reclamation work in this county, coming from what we deem the best of authority.

This information is to the effect that the government surveyors will within the next two or three weeks begin the survey of the Kittitas high line project and that it will be rushed to completion at the earliest practicable date.

Further, that there is now available, to be used as found necessary in the construction of immense reservoir sites at the lakes in this county, an amount in excess of one million dollars.

That's all—but these two facts mean much to Kittitas county, and the news will be joyfully received.

Knowledge of the government's plans have evidently leaked out within the past week or ten days as within that time several parties of North Yakima and Sound people have been here investigating with a view to purchasing lands that will come under the high line canals. In fact, some of these parties have already invested; others have options which will undoubtedly be closed, and the other are still on the hunt.—Ellensburg Localizer.

All of which is important, if true, and the Democrat hopes it is. Still, we have been unable to find confirmation anywhere and we fear the Localizer must have got its news by grapevine telegraph.

Overland Limited in Service

Several changes in the service of the Northern Pacific went into effect last Sunday. A real overland limited train is now being operated between St. Paul and the Sound. At present but two towns in Eastern Washington, Spokane and North Yakima, are on the schedule for stops.

The local trains now are Nos. 3 and 4. The first is due at 5:50 p. m. and the other at 4:10 a. m. Trains 5 and 6 are also transcontinental in service.

from this district this season. It was marketed at from 15 to 18 cents pound, the gross receipts amounting to about $225,000. Five hundred thousand pounds were shipped from Ellensburg; 750,000 pounds from North Yakima; 100,000 pounds from Prosser, and 200,000 pounds from Kennebec. Estimating the number of sheep by the amount of wool shipped there are in the neighborhood of 200,000 sheep on the ranges, which are worth on an average of $4 a head.

Licenses to Wed

Marriage licenses have been issued the past week for the following: William W. Simeton and Miss Lulu Kelley, both of Mabton, and aged 27 and 20 years respectively; to John Conrad Herold, aged 43, of Sunnyside, and Miss Anna Jones, aged 24, of Kansas City; to George A. Cassidy, aged 26, of Seattle, and Miss Elsie B. Estes, aged 20, of North Yakima, and to Fred C. Palmer, aged 25 years, of Toppenish, and Miss Inez C. Farris, aged 24, of North Yakima.

William Cree, aged 48 years, and Mrs. Emma Isaacs, aged 26 years, both of Fort Simcoe; and to John M. Gilmore, aged 26 years, and Miss Gertrude A. Lyon, aged 25 years, both of North Yakima.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Several Important Deals in Yakima Lands Have Been Reported.

A number of important real estate transfers have just been closed in North Yakima. Dr. S. M. Mower, chief surgeon of the Northern Pacific, has purchased 35 acres in the Selah from Henry Mosebar, paying $12,500. Miss Hazel Mower, a sister to Dr. Mower, has purchased 10 acres from W. L. Baker and wife for $4,000. This land is also in the Selah. Mrs. Vestal Snyder has sold 10 acres of Tieton land to H. J. Sudmeier for $850, and Nellie Harrison has sold 10 acres of Tieton land to W. B. Murry for $850. These transfers were closed through the office of Vestal Snyder.

Reservations Open for Settlement

Over 700,000 acres of land in the Spokane, Couer d'Alene and Flathead reservations will be thrown open for entry next April. Registration for entry will begin July 15 and close on August 5. The offices for registration will be at Spokane, Couer d'Alene, Kalispel and Missoula. Applications must be made in person except in the case of former soldiers. The superintendent of the opening will have his office at Couer d'Alene, where all applications by mail must be delivered. The three drawings will provide homes for at least 25,000 persons, there being about 5000 homesteads subject to entry.

Persons entering land in the Flathead reservation will be required to pay one-third of the appraised value at the time of entry. In the other two reservations, a payment of one-fifth will be required at the time of entry, the remainder to be paid in five equal installments.

The Couer d'Alene reserve contains what is declared to be the largest tract of white pine left intact on this continent. Some of the quarter sections are appraised by lumbermen to be worth not less than $16,000, while other portions will be worth from $200 to $500 an acre under intensive cultivation. The land is south of Couer d'Alene lake, famed as a summer resort, where the city of Couer d'Alene, which has numerous lumber mills and modern hotels and beautiful residences.
