NOW FOR THE OFFICES.

"Grand Old Party" of Yakima and "Riverside" to Meet in County Convention Aug. 23—Not Enough Jobs to Go Round.

The republican county central committee met pursuant to call at the court house Saturday afternoon and issued a call for the primaries to be held Monday August 18, between the hours of 1 and 9 p. m. The county convention is called for Saturday, August 23. The army in this city is designated as the place and 10:30 o'clock a. m. as the time.

The call provides for a convention of 127 delegates from the 28 precincts of the county. Of this number 28 will be elected from the three wards of this city—hardly sufficient in number to control the body, though that is likely to be the outcome. The committee announces that it will be the duty of the convention in addition to electing 16 delegates and 16 alternates to the state convention at Tacoma Sept. 10, to nominate the following set of officials: One senator, two representatives, sheriff, auditor, treasurer, clerk, attorney, assessor, school superintendent, surveyor, coroner, and commissioners from the first and third districts.

Now that the dates for the primaries and convention have been set, the interest of local politicians has become very keen, especially among those seeking nominations. There is to be a battle royal among the clans for the control of the organization and the promised emoluments of office and the fight is sure to be an interesting one. At no time perhaps within the history of the g. o. p. of this county has there been so much discord and diversity of opinion among the leaders and so much clashing within the party generally. This diversion is not due, apparently, to any difference of opinion over the matter of party principles, for the party in this county has never been worried to any great extent over matters of principle. It has been the habit in times past to cut out the principle and scramble for the offices. This year, however, bids fair to outdo the record of any previous year for the number of candidates in the field; if they could be got together they would make an invincible host within themselves.

With all the friction and strife, however, there is little reason to doubt but that the "same old crowd" will control the convention this year and dictate the nominations. The "kickers" may kick and threaten as they have done many times before, but that is all the good it will do them. There is little question but what the ring could be turned down if an organized and intelligent effort were to be made in that direction, but there is little likelihood of that, as the kickers lack the right sort of leadership; besides they have produced no evidence that their motives are any better or any higher than those of the gang now in power, from whom they desire to wrest party control. Since there is no question of principle involved, the general public, outside the politicians, may be excused for declining to get excited over the outcome.

Lawyer Englehart is already the favorite in the betting for nomination to the state senate, notwithstanding the fact that some of the more influential sheep men are said to be quietly "knocking" his candidacy. There are others, too, who express some doubt about Englehart's sprinting qualities. They assert that he is seriously handicapped with the railroad record which he made in the House four years ago. However, that gentleman's friends say that the people, fortunately, are blessed with short memories and that their candidate is a shrewd politician who can always be relied upon to fix things up. At any rate to a man up a tree it looks as though Englehart would walk away with the nomination unless indeed the half a dozen other candidates should enter a combination against him.

There is likely to be a warm contest, too, over the two nominees for the House. The "Riverside" contingent, which will number over 30 votes, will doubtless come to the convention well organized for the purpose of demanding the nomination of a representative. If that crowd fails to get a place on the legislative ticket then the chances of S. J. Harrison, the preacher-politician of Sunnyside, will be good, as Harrison is in close affiliation with the bosses of the county seat and is "fermest" division. The other nominee on the legislative ticket is likely to be either Doc Hare, W. H. Redman or John Cleman.

The Republic stated editorially last week that no instructions to the Yakima delegation on the senatorial question would be given by the convention, nor would the same be tolerated. A good many republicans, who are not of the inner circle, do not seem to take kindly to this show of authority and threaten to do some kicking. They maintain that they have a right to know in advance whom their legislators will support for the senate and that this assumption on the part of the leaders "that it is virtually none of the people's business as to whom they vote for senator" won't go down with the rank and file of the party.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

A Traveling Cigar Maker, Evidently Insane, Ends His Life With a Razor.

At about 9 o'clock last Monday evening, a man entered Jackson's barber shop, near the Hotel Yakima, and asking for a bath was shown into one of the bath rooms. A number of customers were in the shop at the time and in a short while groans were heard emanating from the bath room. Jackson, the proprietor, with his porter, broke in the door and found the stranger weltering in his blood, in the throes of death.

A large crowd soon congregated, and Coroner Rosser appeared to take charge of the effects of the deceased, the body being turned over to Undertaker Shaw. An investigation of the matter determined the coroner that no inquest was necessary, the facts developed being that the man's name was Joe Rush; that he was a cigar maker about 32 years of age, recently from British Columbia and the Sound; that he had worked a half day at J. P. Crawford's cigar factory on Second street; had been drinking and probably becoming despondent had determined to end his life.

The man had evidently tried to sever the arteries of the wrist before attacking the throat, but the cords had proved too tough for the razor which he used, and he then apparently stood before the looking glass in the bath room and drew the weapon across the throat, severing everything to the spinal cord.

The man's antecedents are unknown, though he is thought to have relatives in New York state. Coroner Rosser is endeavoring to find out all he can through the Cigar Makers' Union, membership cards being found among the dead man's effects bearing the name of Joe Rush, evidently that of the suicide.

The undertakers' room was besieged by the morbidly curious up to the time the body was taken to the cemetery, Wednesday morning, one man being so importunate in his demands to see the corpse that he was placed under arrest. He claimed to be a brother of the deceased and having viewed the body and gone away, returned shortly afterwards in a crude attempt at disguise and demanded to be left alone with the dead. He was recognized, however, and being placed under arrest gave no more trouble.

Mr. Crawford, the cigar man, is responsible for the statement that the deceased is entitled to $300 from the Cigar Makers' Union, having been a member of that organization for 14 years. A member of the Seattle union arrived here Wednesday, just after the body had been buried at the county's expense, but could give no further information regarding the dead man.

IRRIGATION PROJECTS.

Geological Survey to Investigate Feasibility of Reclaiming Arid High Lands.

Last Wednesday C. H. Fitch, an expert representative of the geological survey was in North Yakima to take initiatory steps looking to a thorough investigation of opportunities afforded in this county in the matter of irrigating public lands under the measure passed by the last congress for the redemption of arid lands and sale of the same to bona fide settlers.

It seems that $10,000,000 is immediately available for this purpose, and Supt. Newell, who is in charge of the geological survey of this section, has become so acquainted with the possibilities of this section in meeting the requirements of the enactment that he will give all propositions looking to the enlistment of government interest the upmost attention. The law is calculated to build irrigation canals through practical sections that have not enlisted the encouragement of private corporations because of enormous expense or remoteness from markets or transportation.

Several such propositions have already been suggested in this county, notably the long ago projected ditch from the Tietan to cover large bodies of high land in the Covieche and Wide Hollow valleys, and the scheme to cover, by means of reservoirs, the vast and rich section of Wenas valley now above the ditches.

The Commercial club will undoubtedly take the matter up at once, as it will be necessary to settle upon one particular project and pull for it as a unit in order to offset the demands of other arid sections.

Mr. Fitch returned to Portland Thursday to consult his chief, and will return within a few days when preliminary investigations of various projects will begin.

Elks' Carnival Aug. 18-28.

Miss Florence C. Walker was chosen queen of the Elks' Carnival which opens at Seattle on the 18th and continues 10 days. The total vote for Miss Walker was 6391, Miss Newman being second on the list with 3741 and Miss Steiner third with 1835 votes. The two latter will act as maids of honor to the queen.

The Yakima Elks have made arrangements with the railroad company to run an excursion from this city to leave the morning of the 26th. The round trip tickets will be sold for $3.50, good to return until the 30th.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT,
JOHN DAVID MEDILL,

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.
One Dollar Per Year—In Advance.
Published every Saturday morning at the Democrat Printing House on First

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

THE Republic says—and the Republic knows what it is talking about, for it speaks the will of the party bosses—that the republican nominees for the legislature this year will be pledged to no man for the office of U. S. senator. In other words, no man shall know and no man has a right to know for whom the legislators from this county shall vote, until after election.

The Republic man probably did not realize while writing such foolish stuff that he was taking an indefensible position, that both his premises and conclusions are wrong and that his assumption of right is merely impudence.

By what right, pray, do politicians assume that the people should have no real voice in the selection of a senator? True, it is the constitutional prerogative of the legislature to select a senator, but the legislators are presumed to receive their instructions from the people—their constituents. Even that brilliant and extreme federalist—almost imperialist—Alexander Hamilton, was free to admit that the people through their accredited representatives in the legislature should choose their senators, that is, that the people retained the right to instruct their delegated representatives in the legislature how they should vote in the selection of senators. Indeed, it was by virtue of this understanding of the people's rights that the unwisdom of the selection of U. S. senators by the legislatures of the several states was permitted to be engrafted upon the constitution. In late years the disposition has been growing to wrest this privilege from the legislatures and place it where it belongs, in the hands of the people.

And yet it remains for our local contemporary to assert, or at least assume, that it is none of the people's business as to whom shall be elected senator and that the selection of such an important officer should be left to the politicians, the bosses and the office brokers. Oh yes, that would be very nice, but we doubt if it can be made to work this time.

In this connection it might be proper to remind the Republic that there are three very prominent candidates for senator within the ranks of its party in this state and that every county convention thus far held has gone on record in favor of one of the three. Now it is up to the party in this county to say who is its choice for this exalted office. The party in convention may, if it chooses, dodge the question, but its candidates for the legislature cannot. They will find that the people are vitally interested in this question and will not be put off with evasive answers.

THE subservency of John L. Wilson to the railroad interests was well illustrated by his connection with the lieue land legislation while he was a member of the U. S. senate. An innocent appearing little bill was introduced by Mr. Wilson to enable the N. P. railway company to relinquish its claim on the lieue lands and make other selections. This bill, which subsequently became a law, was a fair enough proposition on its face and many settlers, in whose interest it was presumed to have been drawn, joyfully applauded the little senator for the good work which he alleged had been performed in their behalf.

The facts in the case seem to be that Mr. Wilson did not introduce his measure in the senate until the supreme court, in passing upon certain lieue land cases, had virtually affirmed the rights of the settlers to the disputed lands. When he knew the company through these test decisions stood to lose, he got in and hurried his pernicious bill through congress. The company has since been enabled to exchange its claim to the lieue lands for timber lands in this state and Idaho, which are said to be now much more valuable.

Considering the record that he has made in this and other matters, Wilson must have a really sublime nerve to expect that the people of Washington are going to send him back again to the federal senate.

JOHN W. MACKAY, the bonanza king of Nevada, who died in London recently worth one hundred million dollars, was never spoiled by wealth. He went to Nevada in the late sixties securing employment as a common miner at a wage of $4 per day. His two fifths interest in the Consolidated Virginia mine is estimated to have yielded him the neat sum of forty millions. Although his education was limited, his natural ability as an organizer and a financier was great. Mackay always had the reputation of being true to his friends and he never forgot his early associates.

After his removal to New York, where his financial interests required him to make his residence, Mackay, it is said used to get homesome and would feel obliged occasionally to make the trip across the continent in order to visit his old stamping grounds and keep in touch with old-time friends. On such occasions he would seek out the needy among his former associates in order to assist them, always doing such kindly acts quietly and without ostentation. Mackay is now dead, but the memory of his good deeds will live after him, even longer, perhaps, than the great fortune which he left behind.

THE Spokane Review makes the very bald assertion that John L. Wilson is trying to muster a respectable following in the next legislature in order to sell it out to a monied candidate as he did four years ago when he sold his block of 24 votes to Foster in consideration of the latter paying his campaign expenses. This must have made pleasant reading for the Hon. Ira P. Englehart.

dates for the legislature, after writing that interview with the Republic.

How Col. John G., from his lofty eminence as a moral reformer, can stoop to support the arrogant pretensions of a hot-house politician like Col. John L. is what gets us.

WILSON, through the Republic, repudiates statements made in his behalf by the Washingtonian. It is now up to Editor Boyle to explain. Let others keep still while Boyle has the floor.

THE Sheepman's Gazette attempts to slur this paper because of the fact that it was represented at the Prosser convention and is the only local paper that was. Come now, acknowledge the corn, neighbor. You needn't have been afraid to have gone yourself.

The state supreme court this week handed down a decision to the effect that there will be no vacancy to be filled in the office of governor, and that Acting Governor McBride holds on to the end of the term of the late Gov. Rogers. The court also decides that one supreme judge is to be elected this fall instead of three.

In the first case the judges are reported as being unanimous; in the second, Monnt, Fullerton, Dunbar, Hadley and White are recorded in favor of the majority opinion, while Reavis and Anders dissent and hold that three judges should be elected. It is to be observed that White and Hadley, the two temporary judges, sat and helped to decide their own case.

At last Tracy has been run to earth and his crime stained career closed. His run of good luck ended in a wheat field of Lincoln county, where he came to grief at the hands of a posse of citizens. Tracy was a hard citizen, who lived too long for the good of society, yet it must be admitted that he had some qualities that commanded admiration. He was endowed with a courage and determination that compelled at least his pursuers to respect him. It must be said, too, in his behalf, that during the memorable chase he showed but little inclination to take life wantonly, but rather acted on the defensive. He probably could have killed at least a hundred men in his break for liberty had he been so inclined. His jovial qualities, too, had much to do with arousing public sympathy.

The world though is well rid of Tracy, and sensible people everywhere are glad that he has gone hence.

"HELL ROARING" GEN'L JAKE SMITH, who issued the famous "kill and burn" order in his Samar campaign, set foot on American soil again the other day. As usual, the irrepressible reporters were on hand and the first to tell the great woman killer that the president had fired him out of the army during the time that he was on the briny deep, whereupon "Hell Roaring" Jake hung his head in shame and refused to be interviewed.

It is to be hoped that we will hear no more of the bloody Smith and of his style of a campaign. The trouble with "Hell Roaring" Jake plainly is that he was born several hundred years too late. During the war of the Roses or the period of the Spanish Inquisition Smith, had he lived in those times, would have been a veritable hero. But as it is now he is a dead failure and has brought contempt upon himself and reproach upon his country. Not even certain pinhead republican editors, who at first gloried in his acts and defended him, have now a good word for "Hell Roaring" Jake. He will soon find out, if he has not already, that the American people have now no use for him or any other man who makes war on helpless women and children.

THE REAL THING

Is a slang expression, meaning "up to the limit," another slang phrase whose meaning is much the same as "the real thing."

This definition may not be precisely luminous.

Do you want to know more on the subject? If so consult the book on Slang, now in preparation by a Columbian professor, or better still use Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand Coffee and you will know at once the meaning of "the real thing."

DROWNED IN THE WENATCHEE

Roscoe Thomas, Well Known Yakima Boy,
Loses His Life While in Bathing.

As the DEMOCRAT was going to press Friday afternoon, a telephone message was received from Zillah to the effect that Roscoe Thomas, son of Captain J. H. Thomas of Yakima City, was drowned in the Wenatchee river, near Mission, Thursday evening about 10 o'clock. The young man, it is reported, was in bathing with a party of friends, and being suddenly seized with cramps, perished before assistance could reach him. Up to noon Friday the body had not been recovered.

Roscoe was about 27 years of age, had lived in this vicinity the most of his life, and was loved and respected by all who knew him. He went to Wenatchee some weeks ago to take a position as time-keeper and accountant for the company constructing the "high line" canal near that place.

Jim Thomas, a brother of the deceased, left here Friday to join in the search for the body and bring the remains home, if found. Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Granger, mother and sister of the unfortunate young man, are spending the heated term at Cohasset Beach. The sympathy of the community goes out to the sorrowing relatives.

State Fair Items.

The next state fair will, according to present prospects, have a great lot of blooded cattle from at least six adjoining states. From the standpoint alone of fine cattle the fair will be far in advance of former years.

John E. Baldwin, who made the two successful balloon ascensions last year, when dogs and rabbits were thrown in parachutes from the clouds, will give three exhibitions at the grounds this year.

A New Warehouse.

The A. Elliott warehouse on the side-track, near Yakima flour mill, is about completed by the carpenters and is now being painted. It is a nice frame building and will add favorably to the locality around it. Mr. Elliott has it partly filled with hay for shipping already and as soon as his second crop is harvested and threshing done, he will proceed to fill it to the brim with grain and hay, to wait suitable market. Mr. Elliott is an active salesman and acquainted with all Sound buyers, and as soon as he gets fairly arranged he expects to serve the people in the way of buying their produce or forwarding it on commission, for the highest prices the market affords and quick returns.

Fearfully and Wonderfully Made.

An old preacher, says an exchange, once told some boys of the Bible lesson he was going to read the following Sunday morning. The boys, finding the place, glued together the connecting pages and the preacher read: "When Noah was 120 years old he took unto himself a wife who was"—then turning the page—"140 cubits long, 40 cubits wide, built of gopher wood, and covered with pitch inside and out." He was naturally puzzled at this. He read again, verified it and then said: "My friends, this is the first time I ever saw this in the Bible, but I accept it as an evidence of the assertion that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."

An Unfaithful Spouse.

A farmer living a short distance from North Yakima, has taken the preliminary steps towards securing a divorce from his pretty young wife. About two weeks ago the wife went to Ellensburg on a visit to friends. The husband, it seems, receiving an inkling that all was not well, took a train and journeyed to the quiet town up the creek. In walking about the streets of the burg he happened to spy the wife of his bosom enter the side door of a saloon in company with a gambler of that town. Forgetting all else he rushed upon the couple as they emerged from the saloon, drawing a revolver on the woman's consort. The gambler promptly took leg bail but the woman stood her ground and boldly faced her irate lord. The couple apparently agreed to part, for the husband returned home alone and began proceedings for a divorce. The papers in the case have not yet been served, for which reason the DEMOCRAT is not at liberty to publish the names of the parties.

Wilson in Town.

Hon. John L. Wilson, the Spokane claimant for the senatorship, was in town for a few hours Tuesday. Mr. Wilson, with a wise look, told the DEMOCRAT, man that his business here was to measure the opposition of public sentiment to the present schedule of the N. P., which, he said, he found was very much to the disadvantage of his newspaper, the P-I.

It was noticeable, however, that Mr. Wilson put in all of his spare time while here in close consultation with his local lieutenants, notably Redman and Dilley. As a result of the senator's visit, it is said, that Ex-mayor Redman has decided to enter the race for a legislative nomination. Dilley, as is well known, is a candidate for the nomination for sheriff, but in looking after his own fences he at the same time endeavors to put in a few links wherever he can in the interest of the Wilson candidates for the legislature. Boyle, of the Washingtonian, also had a quiet confab with the little statesman, out of which the colonel doubtless received sufficient inspiration to last for several issues of his paper.

Wilson, while in town, is said to have held short conferences with several of the leading wool growers with very satisfactory results. In consideration of the emphatic stand that he has taken in favor of continued and unrestricted sheep grazing in the Rainier reserve, local sheepmen almost to a man, it is believed, are willing to support his candidacy. On leaving, Wilson expressed himself as well satisfied with the outlook here so far as his chances are affected.

The Clothes Moth.

We may marvel at grubs growing fat and succulent upon such unpromising fare as old timber affords, but that achievement is improved upon by the insects that prefer to draw their entire nutrition from woolen fabrics, fur, horsehair, feathers, tanned leather and the like and apparently without ever a desire to "wet their whiskies" by anything of a juicy nature. Any small, silvery winged moth that is seen flitting about the house is regarded as a "clothes moth," but every one killed is not an enemy, for there are a number of moths of similar size and appearance that come from outdoors and have been occupied as grubs in destroying green leaves. It is a common error to suppose that it is the clothes moth that does the mischief, though by destroying the moth we prevent the laying of innumerable eggs from which come the consuming larvae, whose cutting jaws would be actively and incessantly employed in mutilating choice fabrics and valuable furs. These caterpillars are rarely seen by the housewife because their first care on leaving the egg is to disguise or hide themselves.

The clothes moth proper has yellowish gray wings, with three or four indefinite brownish spots upon them, and in consequence of its marked preference for furs it is known to science as Tinea pellionella.—Good Words.

A Remarkable Prediction.

Manasseh Cutler of Massachusetts, in a circular in 1787 "booming" the settlement which the New Englanders were about to plant on the Ohio at the mouth of the Muskingum, declared that "the current down the Ohio and the Mississippi," for produce and merchandise of all sorts, would one day "be more crowded than any other streams on earth," which was a remarkable prediction, considering that it was made 20 years before Fulton's Clermont was launched in the Hudson, which was the first steamboat in the world ever put in successful operation. —Leslie's Weekly.

Keeping the Head Clean.

Keeping the head perfectly clean is a great aid to health. An exchange tells of a distinguished physician who, having spent much of his time at quarantine, said that a person whose head was thoroughly washed every day rarely took contagious diseases, but when the hair was allowed to become dirty and matted it was hardly possible to escape infection. Many persons find speedy relief for nervous headache by washing the head thoroughly in weak soda water. We have known cases almost wholly cured in ten minutes by this simple remedy. A friend finds it the greatest relief in case of "rose cold," the cold symptoms entirely leaving the eyes after one thorough washing of the hair. The head should be thoroughly dried afterward, and drafts of air should be avoided for a little while.

The Heart of a Mouse.

A tiny mouse who lived near the house of a magician begged him to save her from the cat of whom she lived in deadly terror. So the magician changed the mouse into a cat, and she went away delighted. In a few days she came back again in terror. "Oh, save me, save me now from the dog," she begged. And the magician changed her to a dog. A few days more, and back she came—this time in deadly fear of a tiger. "Nonsense," said the magician. "You have only the heart of a mouse, and afraid you will always be. It is the heart that tells."

Use Hard Beds.

A German doctor advises the adoption of a hard bed and that children should be trained from the beginning to sleep upon no other kind. It is certainly true that as a rule the hard bed conduces to the most refreshing kind of sleep, the feather bed, so dearly loved by our grandmothers, being enervating in the extreme and encouraging weakness of mind in the matter of getting up in the morning.

The World's Space.

A statistician asserts that when 350 years shall have passed the density of the earth's population will be so great that each person will have only two-thirds of an acre, which space will have to suffice for all purposes—agriculture, roads, houses, parks, railways, etc. He estimates the present population of the earth at 1,600,000,000 and says that in 2250 it will be 52,073,000,000.

A Useful Mother-in-law.

"After all, a mother-in-law is a pretty good thing to have sometimes." "What wonderful experience have you been having lately?" "My wife was afraid to discharge our cook, and she wouldn't go for me, so we sent for Birdie's mother and turned her loose in the kitchen. They smashed some of the furniture, but the cook's gone."

Running the Gantlet.

Running the gantlet as a military punishment was, it is said, originated by Gustavus Adolphus to punish thieves in his army. It was borrowed by the English from the Germans, who copied it from Gustavus, and, being employed in the British regiments in America, was readily taken up by the Indians of this country.

Morgan Rightly Measured.

Americans will be interested to know that Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany has surveyed J. Pierpont Morgan and correctly measured him. The Kaiser is reported as saying: "Try as I could his conversation failed to reveal to me that he had any clear comprehension of the vast harmonies and conflicts of the commercial universe. I was amazed to find him not well informed regarding the historical and philosophical development of nations." He added that Mr. Morgan struck him "as being a man who is absorbed in immediate problems and incapable of seeing consequences far ahead." The Kaiser is a discerning man; in a short visit with Morgan he found out what seems not to be apparent to many Americans, namely, that the great financier is perfectly blind to the natural consequences that will follow his schemes. If Morgan were a philosopher or a student of human nature he would know that evil and only evil can follow from the monopolies which he has helped to organize. He is either without conscience or without judgment and it is more charitable to take the Kaiser's view and consider him as "incapable of seeing consequences far ahead." He is on a par with the drayman who starves his horse, or the farmer who impoverishes the soil, or the merchant who exploits from his customer, or the parent who puts his child to work in the factory when it ought to be in school, only he cannot plead necessity as an excuse. America has no foreign foe half so dangerous as Mr. Morgan and the plutocracy for which he stands. It would be fortunate for this country if all our people understood Mr. Morgan as well as Germany's monarch does.—The Commoner.

Our Boys in the Philippines.

"Untrustworthy as war statistics" will probably become a popular proverb. Figures put out from time to time of the killed, wounded and died of disease, alike in South Africa and the Philippines, have differed so widely as to defy reconciliation. From the Adjutant-General's office of the United States Army, however, there has just been issued an "official" report on the losses in the Philippine "war" or "insurrection" or "riot," or whatever else it is proper to call it.

Between Feb. 4, 1890, and April 30, 1902, there have been, we are told, 2561 engagements fought between our troops and the Filipino "rebels" or "patriots." In not one of these numerous encounters, says the report, did our troops "surrender or have to retreat, or have to retreat, or have to leave their dead in the possession of the enemy." And the loss account foots up as follows: Total deaths from all causes, 139 officers, 4016 men, of whom only one-fourth were killed or died of wounds; while 2582, or over one-half of all, died of disease. Our total of wounded was 2897, including 190 officers.

From first to last we have, this report states, sent 4135 officers and 123,803 men to the islands, and our average strength there has been maintained at about 40,000 troops.—N. Y. World.

The People and the Trusts.

There has never before been such an argument against the trusts as the beet sugar lobby has made. It has taken the republican party by the throat, compelled it to turn down McKinley and Roosevelt, to repudiate its platform, and to break faith with the Cuban republic. The advocate of this dishonesty could not have accomplished their object if their open attack had not been secretly abetted by all the other plundering trusts that are permitted by tariff favor to pick the pockets of the people of the United States. If the sugar monopoly were to be disturbed by reciprocal trade arrangements with Cuba, they argued, it would be an entering wedge for further movement toward commercial emancipation. This plea was effective. Congress has ended its sittings, and rather than even clip the fringe of the garment of Dingleyism, the country has been put to open shame.

Senator Hanna was right in his declaration in the senate on Monday last when he intimated that the coming congressional election would give the voters an opportunity to be heard from in regard to this reciprocity business in unmistakable terms. It is not so much a question whether Roosevelt shall be sustained, or whether the suffering people of Cuba shall be helped, as whether the nation shall be governed by the monsters who have managed to get their representatives elected to congress and who from that point of vantage dictate the policy of the government.

Indeed, indeed it is time that the people of the United States were heard from.—Philadelphia Record.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or roaring in your ears, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Congressman Jones is on the Sound this week.

A. L. Aikens and family are in camp on the Nile.

E. W. Dooley and family are visiting on the Sound.

H. J. Snively and John Ryan are enjoying a few days fishing on the Nile.

P. J. Flint was in the Cle-Elum district this week, looking after his mining interests.

Mrs. Duncan Stuart, having been ill for some time, has gone to Newburg, Ore., to visit relatives and try a change of climate.

Engineering parties are out making preliminary surveys for the proposed electric lines in the Natchez and Ah-tanum valleys.

Jas. Simmons, Jr., who is running the stage and freight line from Roslyn and Cle-Elum to Fish Lake, was down this week on business.

J. E. Merwin, Edward Fournier and Gny Allen returned the first of the week from Gold Hill, where they located some mineral claims.

Doc Hare is making arrangements to have Yakima lodge suitably represented in the grand parade on Elks' day, Aug. 27, at the Seattle carnival.

J. F. McNaught returned Tuesday from Spokane, where he went about two weeks ago to undergo a surgical operation, which proved quite successful.

The second sale of N. P. lands at Kennewick was begun Tuesday, 1200 acres near the town being put on the market at prices ranging from $40 to $60 per acre. There were a great many applications filed.

H. H. Schott, who was operated upon at the hospital three weeks ago, was sufficiently recovered this week to be removed to his residence. He is now reported to be getting along nicely.

There was no meeting of the city council Monday night, only Keck, Liggett and Shaw putting in an appearance, in addition to the mayor, clerk and marshal. As a result quite a number of people are disappointed, from different causes. Those whose names are on the pay-roll failed to secure their July stipend; no action was had with reference to the proposed plan of draining the west side, and the large number of those interested in having action taken toward bringing the Eastern addition within the city boundaries were seriously disappointed. The failure of a quorum will result in no council being held until the next regular meeting night, which occurs on the 17th.

At the regular meeting of the school board Monday evening a few bills were ordered paid; a $1000 insurance policy on the building and furniture of the Columbia school was accepted. G. S. Hough the recently elected clerk, was induced into office, the salary being fixed at $25 per month; and a resolution commendatory to the retiring clerk, E. G. Peck, duly signed by all members of the board was ordered spread at large upon the records.

Interested parties have succeeded in raising by private subscription about $3500 with which to build the long wished-for bridge across the Yakima, opposite where the Natchez river empties into that stream. The county commissioners have not seen their way clear to build the bridge, so Bounds and Meyer, Fred Parker, H. J. and George Taylor and others have taken the matter in hand, and the old ferry will soon be a thing of the past.

In Justice Taggard's court last Monday Albert Lane was fined $25 and costs for assaulting D. L. Bryson; on Tuesday John Gregory was committed to jail in default of a $99 fine for selling whisky to Indians. Yesterday George Morris was convicted of petit larceny in appropriating a gold watch belonging to Geo. Hanson, and fined $99 and costs, while Cora Miller, a colored accomplice, was assessed $25, with trimmings.

The commissioners have granted the petition of Sunnyside to be allowed to incorporate, and the residents of that thriving village will now proceed to organize a municipal government at an election to be held Sept. 28. Messrs. Henderson, Cloud and Lyons were named as an election board.

No deals are reported in hops this week, although buyers are seemingly glad to make contracts at 21 cents. The prevailing hot weather is very satisfactory to growers. They say that it is making the crop and destroying the lice at the same time.

The Sorrowful Tree.
There is a tree in Persia to which the name "the sorrowful tree" is given. Perhaps because it blossoms only in the evening.

When the first star appears in the heavens the first bud of the sorrowful tree opens, and as the shades of night advance and the stars thickly stud the sky the buds continue gradually opening until the whole tree looks like one immense white flower. On the approach of dawn, when the brilliancy of the stars gradually fades in the light of day, the sorrowful tree closes its flowers, and ere the sun is fully risen not a single blossom is visible. A sheet of flower dust as white as snow covers the ground around the foot of the tree, which seems blighted and withered during the day, while, however, it is actively preparing for the next nocturnal festival. The fragrance of the blossoms is like that of the evening primrose.

If the tree is cut down close to the roots, a new plant shoots up and attains maturity in an incredibly short time.

In the vicinity of this singular tree there usually grows another, which is almost an exact counterpart of the sorrowful tree, but less beautiful, and, strange to say, it blooms only in the daytime.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Bride With Some Good Points.
Some years ago in an agricultural district there lived a farmer who wanted to sell one of his cows. There was not at that time a weekly paper in which he could advertise, so he resolved to follow a local custom and ask the vicar of the parish when giving out his notices at church to advertise the cow.

"Yes, farmer," said the vicar, "I should be willing to oblige you, but you don't attend my church."

Presently, however, they struck a bargain that the vicar should advertise the cow, and the man in return promised to go to church.

Now, unfortunately the man was deaf, and on the Sunday following when the vicar gave out the banns of marriage between Joseph So-and-so, bachelor, and Sarah So-and-so, spinster, the farmer took it for granted that the vicar was giving out particulars of his cow and shouted out:

"You might as well say while you are about it that she is a most gentle creature and entirely free from vice."

It is a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Quitt & Ayres.

After July 1st the N. P. Ry Co. will sell round trip tickets to Westport for $8.20; to Long Beach $10.20. Good to return until September 30. 40tf

It is reported that the N. P. Co. proposes to build a depot at Wenas station and that a passenger train a day each way will stop there in the future.

Wednesday was probably the warmest day here thus far in the season. The thermometers about town registered from 102 to 110 in the shade, according to location.

The republican county convention has been called to meet at North Yakima, August 23. The apportionment allows a total of 127 delegates, all told, from the various precincts.

E. L. Sessions of Waterville has purchased the undertaking business of Liggett & Short. Mr. Sessions has had 15 years' experience in undertaking and comes highly recommended.

Miles Cannon has resigned his position as general manager of all the lumber yards of the St. Paul company in Eastern Washington. He, however, remains the manager of the North Yakima yard.

George LaRoche, formerly of North Yakima but latterly residing at Cle Elum, is here this week to establish reciprocal trade relations with the coal mine city. He will buy and ship Yakima products to his partner at the other end.

Dr. A. R. Glaisyer of Spokane, government sheep inspector for this district, was here Wednesday to inspect a band of sheep owned by Mercer & Rathbone, numbering 11 cars, which were shipped to Chicago Thursday.

E. O. Keck the first of the week moved the remainder of the goods from his corner store temporarily to his residence. A. F. Switzer with a force of men is now engaged in remodeling the vacated room in the Ward block for the use of the new bank.

Mrs. Arthur Coffin had the misfortune to sustain a compound fracture of the ankle bone last Saturday by being thrown from her buggy while out driving. The wheel went into a deep rut, throwing her out, and her foot ran through the wheel. Fortunately the horse was a perfectly gentle one, otherwise the result might have been much more serious.

G. S. Rankin and O. W. Sinclair, manager and secretary of the Cascade Lumber Co., returned this week from an inspection of the company's logging camps near Easton. About a million feet of logs are down and the number is increasing. Work constructing the dike and other improvements at headquarters northeast of town is progressing favorably.

Rev. H. P. James and family, Rev. H. M. Bartlett and wife, Frank L. Wheeler and wife, Mrs. A. H. Wilgus and children, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Geo. S. Vance, Mrs. E. C. Burlingame and daughter and others, composed a jolly crowd of pleasure seekers enroute to Lake Katchee Thursday morning. Doc Hare and Del Hiseock accompanied the party as far as Ellensburg.

The amount of fruit being shipped from North Yakima to different points in the state and eastward is daily reaching larger proportions. The fruits shipped this week consisted mainly of peaches, apricots, peach plums and blackberries. The depot platform is accordingly a very busy place these days, especially about train time at 8 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The Order of Washington which recently absorbed the American Fraternal Club, initiated a large class of new members Monday evening at the Woodman hall. When the work of the evening was finished Supreme Secretary J. L. Mitchell of Portland delivered an interesting address on "Fraternalism." Refreshments were served at the close of the exercises.

The county commissioners sat as a board of equalization up to Wednesday evening of this week. There were comparatively few protests, only 32 applications for correction in assessments and two for cancellation of taxes. The commissioners started in on routine work Thursday morning, the matters for consideration being principally connected with the public roads.

A crack game of baseball was played on the Capitol Hill grounds last Sunday afternoon between the Wenas and Yakima City nines, which resulted in a score of 3 to 2 in favor of the old town boys. Jewett, of the "Hoppers," pitched for Wenas and did clever work. The game was for $50 a side, which accounts for the great interest in the outcome both by players and rooters.

Ringling Bros.' employ over 1000 men, women and children. To feed this great company of people requires a daily average of 900 pounds of bread, 1000 pounds of meat, 420 gallons of coffee, and everything else in proportion. These supplies, as well as 10 tons of hay, 300 bushels of oats and 25 bushels of corn for the horses, have to be secured daily in the city where the show is exhibiting.

A wee mite of a daughter, weighing but 3 1/2 lbs., arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Y. Coleman early Monday morning. The babe was named Gladys May, according to the desire of the fond mother. The prevailing warm weather, however, proved to be too severe for the health of the little midget and she died Wednesday. This is the second child that Mr. and Mrs. Coleman have lost in infancy. They have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their bereavement.

H. H. Wende, the Sunnyside attorney, was in the city Thursday. Mr. Wende is an ardent believer in the future of Sunnyside and is equally as ardent in behalf of the proposal to carve out a new county with Sunnyside as the county seat. Mr. Wende formerly resided at Buffalo, N. Y., and is said to be a lawyer of much more than ordinary ability.

Explored the Ice Cave.

D. E. Lesh and family, J. H. Fraser and family, U. F. Diteman and family, F. C. Hall and J. B. Pugsley returned this week from a trip to the foot of Mt. Adams. They report an enjoyable trip, although the weather was quite cool during most of their stay there. The party inspected the famous "ice cave" in that vicinity and marveled much at what they saw, having explored it quite a distance. Mr. Lesh says that he is satisfied that what is called the "ice cave" is nothing more nor less than the remains of an ancient subterranean river.
