OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

DESPOTISMS have often been established upon the ruins of republics; but those who did it rarely or never openly avowed their purpose. The adversaries of human rights, while with their hands striking down liberty, with their tongues ever singing her praises. This is strikingly illustrated by the republican leaders. While with reference to the newly acquired territory, trying to so shape public policies and so direct public sentiment as ultimately to sweep our free institutions down into that historic vortex of republics—imperial despotism—they insolently rebuke the true friends of liberty for timely warning their countrymen of the danger ahead. While bearing the ship of state straight down upon the rocks of imperialism, the republicans stand on deck and shout that there is no danger; no rocks; no breakers; only smooth sailing ahead. Already this administration has made a breach in the Constitution big enough to drop Porto Rico through into the lap of imperialism, and doubtless will, unless hurled from power, widen it enough to throw the Philippines down to despotism. For it is beyond question that Porto Rico was declared outside the pale of the Constitution, only as a precedent for the Philippines; and who can say for what foul blow upon the fair face of liberty the Philippine policy will become a precedent? For it is common experience that wicked precedents treading fast upon the heels of one another, quickly run to enormities that tower insurmountable across the path of right and justice. Let the American people rouse themselves to the dangers to their free institutions lurking in the doctrine maintained by the republican leaders, that congress has the right to govern new territory absolutely, unrestrained by the constitutional safeguards to personal and political liberty, just as the czar governs imperial Russia; the hoary doctrine of despots, maintained by the republicans with practical unanimity, and actually acted upon by the present administration in denying to Porto Rico the uniformity of tariff taxes, guaranteed by the Constitution. If we would preserve liberty for our part of the union, let us see to it that the wicked precedents of despotism are not planted in any part of the country; for despotism is a noxious weed that allowed to flourish anywhere in the garden of freedom, will sooner or later spread and choke out the fair and fruitful plants that grow there. Let the American people recognize in this republican doctrine that the Constitution does not follow the flag, the gleaming knife up the sleeve of an assassin lurking behind the screen of hypocrisy, to strike down free government. Let them not be deceived by the unanimity with which republican orators and newspapers proclaim the gospel of despotism, and the promptness with which the administration carries it out in Porto Rico, into thinking that there is in our Constitution or national career, any color for this republican doctrine—a doctrine which, if true, would put the brand of perfidy upon the revolutionary fathers, and a burning blister of shame upon the fair forehead of our republic. But there is no color in our Constitution or history for the reproach. In proclaiming this slavish doctrine of imperialism, the republicans libel the fathers of the Constitution. In acting upon it, in the case of Porto Rico, the administration, poured into the veins of the republic the subtle poison of a precedent of despotism, to justify other breaches of the Constitution, in turn to serve as precedents for further breaches, until, if the course of wicked precedents is not stayed, the Constitution becomes mere waste paper. And all this have our imperialists done with their greedy eyes resting upon a famous decision of the United States supreme court, still in full force as authority, turning upon the exact question of the application of the Constitution in new territory, and holding, and expressly saying that when new territory is acquired "the powers of the government and the rights and privileges of the citizens are regulated and defined by the Constitution itself."

MR. MCKINLEY'S notions of far-reaching government will have to answer for the Neely gang of United States government robbers in Cuba, who boldly and with awkward oppeness divided the government receipts in two equal parts and calmly pocketed half. Another result of ward heelers in positions of federal trust is the reckless and witless squandering of the Paris exposition appropriation by Commissioner Peck, whose lavish ideas of salaries and expenses were indulged by the amiable administration to such an extent that even the Tacoma Ledger admits that "Mr. Peck was given more authority and latitude than is given to the president of the United States, for there was absolutely no check upon his actions. In three months he spent $59,139 in fat salaries and $23,206 in traveling expenses. The salaries of thirty-one assistants, ranging from $900 to $5100 at first, were raised to $1500 and $6200 respectively, without the faintest excuse.—Whatcom Blade.

THE public is not in the least surprised at the extent of peculation in the postoffice department of Cuba. It will afford this corruption-breeding administration no real profit to withhold the result of official investigation, because there are reasons to believe that some officials, high in authority, are implicated in the steal. The people of America, while tolerating brutal mediocres like Mark Hanna in public life, have not as yet lost all sense of moral decency. They do not propose that the interest of any administration shall stand between these criminal politicians and the punishment the law has provided. Let the veil be lifted that all the world may behold the rottenness which the republican party has introduced into public life. Let the administration fall into the pit of degradation which its pals and supporters have prepared, but the honor of America must be preserved.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

THE Washington delegates to the democratic national convention held a harmonious session in Seattle on Saturday of last week and organized by the election of Thomas Maloney as chairman and D. D. Fagan, secretary. The members present were Thomas Maloney, O. G. Ellis of Pierce; J. D. Medill, of Yakima and J. W. Godwin, of King. The other four members were represented by proxies. W. J. Dunphy, of Walla Walla, was unanimously elected national committeeman. Mr. Goodwin was elected on the committee on credentials; Mr. Medill on that of rules and order of business, and J. M. Jamieson, of Spokane on permanent organization; Mr. Ellis on committee on platform; W. A. Mosier, on committee on notification. Mr. Dunphy will present the name of James Hamilton Lewis as a candidate for the vice presidential nomination at Kansas City.

SENATOR Hanna forgot Daniel Webster's description of the chamber in which he sits as a "Senate of equals" when he made his vituperative attack upon Senator Pettigrew. He also forgot that to denounce an accuser is not to disprove an accusation. * * * To rage is one thing, to reply is quite another. The impression Mr. Hanna's painful exhibition of bad temper and worse manners will certainly make upon the public mind is that the alleged Cramp contribution to the republican campaign fund of 1892 is a subject on which the light of publicity might be poured with instructive and wholesome results.—New York World.

IF THE officials of the present administration ever knew anything about the Monroe doctrine they have probably become so muddled on the subject that it is all a dream to them. They have been trying to teach Monroe doctrine in the Orient and neglecting the uneducated people at home.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE Boers have been doing some effective fighting during the past week; but the end is drawing near, and England will have wiped another republic off the map.

Summer Rates to the Seaside.

On and after July 1, 1900, the Northern Pacific railway will put on sale at this point tickets from North Yakima to Westport and return at $8.20, tickets being good for 60 days. These tickets will not be good for return unless signed on the back by the purchaser in the presence of and stamped by the purser of the steamer plying between Hoquiam and Westport. 40-8t

The republican leaders in the house of representatives are putting up a bluff, in the closing days of the session, on the subject of trusts. They are proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States for campaign purposes merely. They do not expect it to become a part of the organic law. They would not advocate it if they expected it to meet with final favor. The democratic members will refuse to fall in with their plan, and they will "counter" it with a demand for a repeal of fifty per cent of the war taxes. Here is a vital point. A pretense is made that the amateur committee on ways and means is to make a careful examination of the subject of taxation during the summer recess of congress. Nothing will be done, though. The republican members of the committee will be engaged exclusively in campaign work—in the policy of sustaining the administration in its policy of imperialism, militarism, high taxes and coddling of the trusts. The question of the reduction of taxation is ready for treatment now. All the information is at hand. The democratic demand can be safely acceded to even in the short time that congress is to be in session under the adjournment resolution of the house.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Puerile Defense.

About the weakest, most puerile defense of the policy of forcible annexation of the Philippines that has come to our notice is that made by Senator McCumber of North Dakota. Just listen to this: "That it is our commercial and financial interest to retain them the most ardent opponent of the administration cannot properly deny." Yet Senator McCumber knows that already the gobbling of the islands has cost us not less than $150,000,000, and is costing us right along at the rate of a million dollars a week or more. And in return for this what have we received? The entire foreign trade of the islands does not amount to one-half the money it costs to keep them terrorized with rifle and cannon. And our share of that one-half is one-tenth. If we had it all the profit on the foreign trade of the Philippines would not equal in a year the cost of keeping our army there one month.—Helena (Mont.) Independent.

For all kinds of horse feed go to the Yakima Mill company's store.

Towne May Withdraw.

Ex-Governor W. J. Stone, vice chairman of the democratic national committee, while discussing the advisability of Mr. Towne withdrawing from the race for vice president on the populist ticket, said:

"I think the populist convention made a mistake in nominating a candidate for vice president. Instead of simplifying it complicates the situation. However, I am glad Mr. Towne is the nominee for the reason that I regard him as a big man and I know him to be fair patriotic. I am sure he will do what is thought best, having but one end in view and that the success of the ticket as nominated by the Kansas City convention.

"If it is the opinion of the Kansas City convention that it would be unwise to nominate him, I am confident he would accept the verdict accordingly. I have a high opinion of Mr. Towne in every way, but at this I do not care to express an opinion as to what the Kansas City convention should do with reference to nominating a candidate for vice president. This is something that ought to be thought out carefully and deliberately after a full comparison of the views of leading men from different sections of the country."

"A Mere Incident."

Mr. McKinley is to be put in nomination for a second term by Senator Foraker, of Ohio. Senator Foraker says so himself.

It is decidedly interesting, therefore, to note that Columbus, in his capacity as counsel for the Plug Tobacco Trust, Mr. Foraker not only spoke kindly of that particular monopoly, but in the course of an eloquent address covered trusts generally with eulogistic "flowers of speech." He described them as necessary agencies in the development of our foreign trade, and spoke scornfully of the fact that they had thrown thousands of men out of employment. He admitted that to be true, but said it was "a mere incident in the great industrial and commercial evolution in which the trusts are a step."

Will Mr. Foraker expand and elaborate this beautiful thought in his nominating speech for Mr. McKinley at Philadelphia?—New York World.

Gratitude In Women.

Are feelings of gratitude absent in women? That clever gentleman who does the Private Diary in The Cornhill Magazine is not quite satisfied upon the subject. This is his way of putting it: "As gratitude depends upon imagination, it may well be that women, having less imagination than men, are less grateful. The doctor told me 'intermittent heart' is a not uncommon female ailment." To sugar the pill, however, the diarist says: "In defense of the maligned sex I should like to record a case of gratitude in a woman that left me a little mournful. I had sent Charlotte a book for her birthday last autumn, and at breakfast today she said, 'Oh, thank you for that delightful book you sent me!' 'Oh,' I said, 'what was it?' 'Dear me,' said Charlotte, 'I have quite forgotten.'"

John Milton's Portrait.

John Milton's harmonical and ingenious soul did lodge in a beautiful and well proportioned body. He was a spare man. He had abrown (auburn) hair. His complexion exceeding faire—he was so faire that they called him "the lady of Christ's College." Oval face. His eye adarke gray. He had a delicate tuneable voice, and had good skill. His father instructed him. He had an organ in his howse; he played on that most. Of a very cheerful humour.—He would be cheerful even in his gowtefits, and sing. He was very healthy and free from all diseases: seldom tooke any physiqe, (only sometimes he tooke manna;) only toward his latter end he was visited with the gowte, spring and fall. He had a very good memorie, but I beleieve that his excellent method of thinking and disposing did much to helpe his memorie. He pronounced the letter R (littera canina) very hard—a certaine sine of a satyricall witt. Temperate man, rarely drank between meales. Extreme pleasant in his conversation, and at dinner, supper, etc., but satyricall.—Aubrey's "Brief Lives."

Told on Kentucky Legislators.

A member of the late legislature from southern Kentucky was invited one evening to participate in a Welsh rabbit lunch at the Capitol hotel. Diking himself out, he awaited the hour. With that prince of good fellows, Tutt Burman, he walked into the dining room, where coffee and rabbits were served standing. After partaking of one or two and a cup of coffee, he remarked to Tutt: "This is no rabbit. It's nothing but fried cheese and light bread." It is useless to say that member never attended any more lunches.

On another occasion the assembly balls or germans, which were given every Tuesday night, attracted the attention of a mountain member, and he asked, "Whar are all them people goin that are goin up stairs?" Some one remarked up to the german. "The— you say. Do they let the Dutch dance here?"—Owenton (Ky.) News.

A Card.

In view of the fact that an impression seems to have gotten out that the Fourth of July celebration at the fair ground is to be concluded in a partisan spirit, I deem it just to the management of the fair grounds to announce that such impression is erroneous. The management of the fair ground has not and will not let it for purposes of partisan celebration, and is assured the proposed picnic on the Fourth is to be wholly patriotic without any tincture of partisan spirit.

Larson's Theater Opening.

Almost all the seats in Larson's theatre were occupied when the curtains raised on the great spectacular production—"The Evil Eye"—Monday night. An intelligent description in words of this laugh making surprise is impossible—it must be seen to be understood. It bubbles over with fun from start to finish, and the changes are rung on thick and fast. The mechanical trick work is the main feature of the show, but there is nothing in it slow, by any means—it is a grand, great big production, and will always be new.

The new theatre is well appointed and it is hoped that the expectations of the man who has ventured so much money in the enterprise will be realized—that is: that the people of Yakima will appreciate having a first class play house in their town and give it liberal patronage.

The next attraction will be by home talent—a minstrel performance. The gentlemen having this entertainment in charge promise a good performance. The songs are all new and there are some excellent voices in the company.

State Fair Notes.

The state fair commission has about completed negotiations for a band to furnish music at the fair this fall. Arrangements have been perfected for a special rate of $55 per car for stock, from points within the state and from Portland, to North Yakima and return. The same rates of last season—single fair for round trip, will prevail for race horses. The matter of special excursions has been taken up with the newspapers of the prominent cities, and will no doubt be carried out to perfection, assuring large crowds, on stated days, during the week. Letters are being written to all exhibitors in the state, urging them to prepare for the fair, and bring their best displays. The premium list will be issued about July 1, and will be mailed to all applicants. The poultry department, under Supt. H. H. Collier, is already an assured success. Supt. E. A. McDonald, of the dairy department, will interview all the dairymen and the creamerymen of the state, and secure good exhibits. Everything points to a successful fair and a splendid race meeting.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. #### What a Woman Needs.

In the preparation of this article we made many examinations and investigations of the different methods of treatment and remedies for all the ills so common to the female sex, and our investigation has brought forth the fact that nothing proves so uniformly successful in restoring health and happiness to worn out women as the "Viavi Treatment," and we also found that this was the opinion of the most careful and scientific medical men of this country. This system of treatment has been remarkably successful in all cases of chronic diseases peculiar to women. No more trouble, misery, and suffering are among the speedy results after its use, as it certainly represents the latest and best treatment for all complaints of women's diseases. It has been proven by years of success and the testimony of thousands of ladies, including the highest and most noted of the women of the United States and England, who have been restored to health and the enjoyment of life by reason of "Viavi Treatment" even after all other methods of treatment had been tried and found wanting. The "Viavi remedies" are composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, and are manufactured under conditions of perfect cleanliness. Upon entering the system it supplies at once a clean, wholesome food to the muscular tissues and nervous fibres. It makes the circulation full and vigorous, and in this way enables the veins to carry to the organs of elimination all the impurities which it is their function to remove from the body. It acts as a prompt specific for all nervous and other troubles common to women, including irregularities, prostration, headache, anemia, palpitation of the heart and the thousand and one ills peculiar to the sex.—Extract from the National Health Journal.

A Thorough Cure.

There is no sentiment about Grizler. He is close and is not easily alarmed. It is not surprising, then, that the doctor assumed the utmost gravity when Grizler called to present the case of his wife. "I'm greatly afraid," said the husband, "that her mental equilibrium is disturbed. She is not like other women and not as she used to be."

"What are the symptoms?"

"You may regard them of a negative character, doctor. To begin with, she never opens her fashion papers of late."

"Bad! Bad! Very bad!"

"I feared as much. The woman who lives next door called last night and wore one of the most elegant hats I ever saw. You know that I am not given to noticing such things. Mrs. Grizler never seemed to see it and said nothing about it after the caller had gone."

"Awful," exclaimed the doctor, "awful. I've known your wife, Grizler, ever since she was born. No one ever had a brighter mind or a happier disposition. I can't understand it. Used to be the life and beauty of every company she was ever in. Does she go out?"

"No, nor entertain. Never mentions the theater, burns all invitations and is without the slightest interest in the social whirl. I would give half I'm worth to see her the girl I married."

"Done," snapped the doctor, and he wrote out the strangest prescription on record. It called for horses, carriages, fine raiment, jewels and a well filled purse. At the bottom was a receipt in full for $250,000. There was no chance for Grizler to weaken, and now his wife is one of the most brilliant women in the swim. When she and the old doctor meet, he winks and she whispers, "You dear old soul."—Detroit Free Press.

Ellensburg Zephyrs.

The geological survey party in charge of George Otis Smith is now camped twelve miles down the Yakima canyon.

What Became of the $50,000,000

At the inception of the war with Spain $500,000,000 were placed in the hands of the president to spend as might seem best in his judgment. Now there is the criticism that he ought to be glad to render an itemized account of the expenditure; and it ought to be a specifically itemized account. Perhaps there would have been no thought of demanding this had there not been so much scandal. There are so many men connected with the public service who seem to be of no use in it except to grow rich. There was tremendous crookedness before our troops reached Cuba, and the latest authenticated rascality is the wholesale postal fraud. A detailed knowledge of what became of the $50,000,090 would be interesting. Congress was in an extraordinary streak of generosity and confidence when it voted this sum. No doubt many members felt that if they voted against it, or asked to have it modified so the president would have been required to account for every cent of the sum, they would be hooted at as against the war; as unpatriotic men who were standing in the way of liberty. War is a great demoralizer of the regular trend of events.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Equal to the Sacrifice.

"Cyrus Barker, remove your arm!" For, in an apparently careless manner, he had placed it upon the back of her chair.

Stung by the tones of her voice no less than by her words, the young man flushed deeply.

"Is that the greeting you give me, Angelene Ashcraft—you who professed to be so sorry when I went away to the war—who wept upon my neck and said you would never have a moments peace or happiness until I returned safely home again—who gave me a photograph, which I have carried next to my heart from that day to this?" he exclaimed. "Do you remember how you said you would be true to me, though thousands of miles of ocean might roll between us?"

"Oh, yes, I remember all that."

"Have you forgotten how you said at parting, 'O, Cyrus, it breaks my heart? I cannot give you up!'"

"I think I did make some such remark."

"I think you did. Have you forgotten how you bade me think of you, in camp or on the battle field, when the bullets of the enemy were flying thick and fast around me, and let the thought that you were praying for me cheer me in that dark hour?"

"I think I do recollect saying something of the kind."

"You think you do! Ha! And when I was wounded you wrote to me to get well as soon as I could and come back to you! Do you have a dim recollection of doing something like that?"

"Now that you mention it I believe I did."

"You have changed, then," he said, scowling darkly. "You are not the same girl!"

"You have changed more than I have, Mr. Barker," coldly she answered. "You are not the same man."

"You still insist," he went on, with exceeding bitterness, "that I remove my arm?"

"I do."

"So be it, then!"

Calmly the young man arose, unscrewed his wooden arm, placed it at her feet, and turned to go.

"I hope, Miss Ashcraft," he said, "you are satisfied."

But Miss Angeline Ashcraft had fainted.—Chicago Tribune.

Back to the Foreman.

At one of the men works in the north of England a good story is told of the experience of one of the foremen in the blast furnaces.

The men known as the barrow men have a certain number of rounds or barrows of ore to wheel to the furnace during their eight hours of labor.

One stormy night the foreman, who was suffering from a severe headache, retired to his cabin; but, being of a suspicious nature, he left the door open that he might hear if anything unusual took place.

The men had worked steadily on for some time, passing the cabin with each barrow of ore on their way to the lift. At last one man in passing the door remarked loudly to another, "One more round, Pat, and then"—But the foreman, overhearing the remark and knowing it was a long way of "knocking off" time, rushed to the door, exclaiming:

"And then what, my man?"

"And then another," coolly replied the barrow man, and the foreman retired.—Liverpool Mercury

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 8, 1900.

The democrats could not make the republican majority in congress remain in session and transact the business which they were elected to transact, but they could, and did, thoroughly expose the hypocrisy of the republican treatment of such important matters as the Nicaragua canal bill, the trust question and the reduction of war taxes before adjournment, and they did more. In the debate on the armor plate clause of the naval appropriation bill, the democratic senators made their fight on the armor trust so hot that Senators Hanna and Elkins actually championed that trust on the floor of the senate, thus furnishing conclusive proof that the administration and the republicans in congress were favorable to trusts in general, and to that trust especially. Instead of openly voting to pay the armor trust the price it demands for armor plate, the republican majority "whipped the devil around the stump" by authorizing the secretary of the navy to purchase the armor that will be needed during the coming fiscal year, if he can do so at what he considers a "reasonable" price; otherwise to establish a government armor plant. It is dollars to broom straws that the secretary of the navy will consider the trust price for armor "reasonable" and that he will not use the authority conferred upon him, to establish a government plant and break the grasping monopoly. If Boss Hanna had not been certain of that he would not have allowed the authority to be given him. Anyway, it was cowardly for the majority in congress to shift the responsibility for favoring this trust from themselves to Secretary Long.

A fight between the coast survey, a civil bureau, and the hydrographic bureau of the navy department, over an appropriation in the naval bill lengthened the session one day.

Senator Pettigrew stirred up the republicans by delving into political history. He charged, on the authority of Mr. Cramp himself, that Mr. Cramp contributed $400,000 to the republican campaign fund of 1892, with the express understanding that he was to be repaid with profitable contracts to build ships. When Senator Carter, who was chairman of the republican national committee which handled the campaign fund of that year, denied that any such agreement had been made with Mr. Cramp—mind you, not that Mr. Cramp had contributed the money—Mr. Pettigrew stated that he had a conversation with Senator Carter, repeating to him what Mr. Cramp had said, and that Carter had replied laughingly, "I guess we did hit the old man pretty hard." Mr. Pettigrew also gave Boss Hanna a few swipes that even his thick hide could not keep from hurting, reading extracts from the memorial presented to the senate charging Hanna with having bribed his way into the senate, dwelling with emphasis upon the charge that Representative Dick, now secretary of the republican national committee, and Major Rathbone, recently suspended as director of posts in Cuba, where Hanna's agents in carrying out the bribery. Mr. Pettigrew added as his own comment: "We see now in what school this man Rathbone was educated." Mr. Hanna's reply consisted largely of calling Mr. Pettigrew a traitor to the republican party, which was not very convincing.

Representative Cummings, of New York, roused the democrats of the house to enthusiasm by reading a letter from Col. Bryan, denying that he had ever said that he favored an anti-trust constitutional amendment or believed one to be necessary, unless the supreme court should hold that congressional legislation against trusts was unconstitutional, and adding that the republican party has shown in this congress that it does not wish to destroy trusts, by supporting a proposition to give the national banks control of the currency, and thus create a paper money trust.

The senate by a vote of 43 to 23 carried out the republican program of hanging up the anti-trust bill passed by the house, by referring to the senate judiciary committee.

The senate by a vote of 33 to 33 rejected the nomination of ex-Congressman Bynum, of Indiana, to be general appraiser at the port of New York, an $8,000 position, which the law says shall be filled by a democrat, and which was given to Mr. Bynum as a reward for work done for Mr. McKinley in 1896. Mr. Bynum called himself a gold democrat, but the democratic senators contended that he was not a democrat and there were enough republicans who agreed with them to defeat the nomination. Senator Pettigrew said of the two labor bills passed by the house recently, and the language is equally applicable to the bill ordered favorably reported by the house judiciary committee, limiting the meaning of the word "conspiracy," and the use of restraining orders and injunctions in labor troubles: "Were these bills passed by the other house with the intention that they should become laws? Oh, no, Mr. President, they seem to have been passed by the other house for the purpose of holding them over labor during the coming summer, with the promise that their political course and conduct shall affect the legislation on these subjects next winter."

The senate committee on the Pacific islands and Porto Rico, of which Senator Foraker is Chairman, was provided with a free trip to Porto Rico, at public expense, by a resolution adopted by the senate. The alleged purpose of the junket is to investigate existing conditions.

The Original Siamese Twins.

The sleepy village of Biddenden, not far from Tenterden, celebrates yearly the memory of the two maids of that ancient hamlet who were the original precursors of the Siamese twins. In life they were joined together by a mysterious cord of flesh, and they died on the same day, leaving their property to be distributed among the poor of the parish and among all who care to apply for a dole of bread and cheese on Easter day. This benefaction has been in existence for six or seven centuries, and at present its value is about $200 a year.

Formerly the doles consisted of bread and cheese and ale, but the latter produced so much hilarity in the village that it was abolished, and the charity is now limited to the two first mentioned nutritive articles. The bread is made up in the form of cakes, bearing a rude representation of the twin maids of Biddenden, and are generally preserved as curiosities by the recipients. They are baked very hard and are admirably adapted to give work to dentists by breaking the molars of those who attempt to penetrate their mysteries. The poor of the parish distinguished from necessitous strangers are supplied with ordinary quarter loaves and cheese.—London Telegraph.

A Text Book for the Campaign of 1900

BY W. H. HARVEY,

Author of "Coin's Financial School."

This Book is Now Having a Wonderful Circulation.

The retail price is 25 cents. In size it is 35 pages larger than "Coin's Financial School," profusely illustrated, with best paper, enameled cover in two colors. Its treatment of the subjects of Money, Trusts and Imperialism is exhaustive and yet simple and plain as A B C's. It will educate and arouse the American people to a common defense of their homes and the heritage of free institutions. It teaches organization and points out the remedy. It is educational and practical. It should be in the hands of every man, woman, boy and girl in the United States.

The book is a school, and the little boy COIN is the teacher. His school in May, 1894, "Coin's Financial School," electrified a nation and moulded the political sentiment of a National Political Party.

COIN ON MONEY, TRUSTS AND IMPERIALISM may be expected to rally anew the forces of human liberty.

YAKIMA IRRIGATION DITCH.

New Corporation Preparing to Resume Construction.

There is every prospect in view, it is said, to support the belief that the Yakima valley is soon to possess one of the largest and most complete irrigation ditches in the state, if not in the northwest. A month ago the Washington Irrigation company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, was organized and is now arranging to take over the property of the old insolvent Sunnyside Irrigation Canal company and put it on a sound financial footing. The purpose of the new company is to secure, develop and operate this great enterprise, which includes a tract of rich volcanic ash land of about 3,500 acres. Just as soon as the preliminaries can be arranged the property will be transferred, and at once thereafter, it is said, active construction work on the ditch will be begun and rushed through to completion.

The new company, it is said has an abundance of funds to push the enterprise through and complete it at an early date. Its stockholders are of the California Safe Deposit and Trust company, of San Francisco; Ladd & Tilton, bankers of Portland; the Electric Corporation, of Boston, and others, well known in the eastern financial world. The above concerns were all interested in the old corporation through the ownership of bonds issued by Paul Schultz, the organizer of the old company and promoter of the scheme. In 1894 when, by reason of a depression in the money market resulting in an inability to secure funds to complete the work, the Sunnyside Irrigation company became insolvent, Schultz took the failure of his plans very much to heart and a few months after the crash committed suicide.

The property then passed into the federal court. A receiver was appointed, and for over six years the property was administered under direction of the court. During this period several attempts were made to reorganize the company, which always resulted in failure owing to the fact that the court would not permit the property to be sold until it would bring a sufficient amount to liquidate all the indebtedness incurred during the receivership.

A month ago it was decided to organize the present new company, which has now advanced the required sum, said to be in the neighborhood of $500,000.

The large number of homeseekers who during the past year have taken up farms in the valley is said to be the incentive to resume the old work. Where the scheme was estimated to pay in 1894, it is said that owing to the increased population at the present time it will prove a big dividend payer.

The new company also contemplates the construction of a line of railroad through the irrigated section that will more speedily develop it. This road it is proposed to build from Toppenish to Prosser, but when it will be completed has not yet been determined upon. It is not improbable but that it will be deferred until after the completion of the canals.—Seattle P.-I.

Failing in every thing else the Tacoma Ledger is trying to boost Sir Francis Cushman by saying that he is the homeliest man in congress. It might also be said that he is the biggest frost in congress.—Constitution.

Fred R. Reed Bobs Up.

The only Fred R. Reed has been heard from. He is in Tacoma where a News reporter got hold of him and a portion of the interview is as follows:

"Tacoma is now the best town on the Pacific coast," said Fred R. Reed, once the king of the Inland Empire and later the monumental liar of the Pacific coast after the Yakima ditch project went bankrupt. "It is really a wonder that Tacoma is on the map at all, considering the treatment the town has had, and the fact that there is such a good town here is of itself evidence that here is the place where the greatest commercial and manufacturing metropolis of the Pacific is growing up."

"If I had a few millions Tacoma is the place I would locate in and make my home. They use me first rate over in Idaho, but I always had a liking for the Sound, and Tacoma is the gem. Here is the ideal place to live and enjoy the good things of life."

Mr. Reed's attention was called to the Yakima projects, and the recent re-organization of the big ditch project, and he said:

"Yes, Yakima, is all right. All I ever said of that country is coming true, and I could go back there now, where I went flat broke and they mopped the ground with me, and be treated like a prince. Yakima is going to make the richest garden spot in the world. It is all right; I would like to go back there, but I have got off from that project and into a broader field."

The Effects of Imperialism.

There is no larger amount of consolation for the republicans in the Oregon election. No one for a moment doubted but that they would carry the state. The claim made however, by republican papers, that the people of the Pacific Coast are a unit for expansion, imperialism and McKinleyism, is not substantiated by the returns. On the contrary they show that in Oregon the regular republican majority has been greatly reduced. The people of that state are slowly but surely becoming acquainted with what imperialism actually means. The first fruit, Neelyism, is to the front. It is but a germ of a disease which is bound to follow a colonial policy as surely as pestilence will follow stagnant water.—The Constitution.

Assimilation.

Mr. L. S. Hesd, of Mexico, Mo., has just returned to Joplin from Cuba, says the Globe, and brings a curious collection of photographs and reminiscences. Says Mr. Head: "The American authorities in Cuba prohibited the Cubans from having cock-fights or any native sports on Sunday. Then they went to work and put in race tracks and hold meets on Sunday with United States officers acting as jockeys." An admission is charged probably, for the good of religion. No wonder Neeley and the others tried to carry off the whole land.—Seattle Review

The republicans are not hurting themselves rejoicing over the the Oregon state and municipal elections. To them the word "overwhelming" is omitted from their vocabulary. With a presidential election close on the republicans did not cut such a figure with the voters of the webfoot state as they had anticipated. This election does not, by any means, place Oregon in the McKinley column.—Seattle Review.

The host of anti-imperialists in the east who are anxiously watching Oregon must not take the matter too seriously because there was not an unqualified democratic victory, Oregon is the darkest section of America for general intelligence, possibly excepting the "Egypt" of Illinois. This is due, not to the people themselves. They are not to blame, but they are under the influence of a paper which has a monopoly of the news, and whose editor has publicly avowed that he is not in favor of a republican form of government for the United States. We bid these anti-imperialists to look rather to the Ohio election last November for comfort, and various city elections throughout the country. Take a state where the democrats have some chance to disseminate the truth.—Vancouver Register.

Training to Balk.

Many colts are actually taught to balk, kick, scare and many other bad habits that render them almost worthless. This usually results either from carelessness or trying to crowd too much instruction into a little time. Man with all his intelligence requires from two to five years to become skilled in any trade. Some never learn. How can we expect the horse, that is guided only by instinct, to know everything after being hitched half a dozen times? This would be presuming him to have more sense than his driver, and many of them have more horse sense than the driver has of man sense.—National Stockman.

The ladies of the Christian church gave a driving party last Friday evening, to the young folks who took the prominent parts in the program at the Rose Carnival.

The Ellensburg Capital speaks of having had a "Yakima Zephyr" in that city one day last week. Enjoyed it, didn't you brother? The calm after a storm is usually appreciated.

E. W. Dooly on Sunday shipped eight cars of horses to North Dakota. They were a good class of animals, and Mr. Dooly will undoubtedly realize a handsome profit on his venture.

Mr. Frank Snipes and Miss Mary B. Frederick were married on Tuesday, June 12, at the residence of the bride in this city by Rev. Crockett. The young people are well known in this city, and THE DEMOCRAT extends congratulations.

Superior court was in session for a short time Monday morning, setting cases for trial for the session which opens on the 18th. The decree in the Wenas water case was signed. Jury trials are called for Tuesday morning, and there is an unusually long docket.

Edgar Snipes, of Goldendale, who has been sent out by Superintendent Sheller to look after the sheep herders already going into the Rainier reserve, reports that several sheep men have driven their flocks onto the reserve ranges, though they have not yet received permits and though the secretary of the interior has decided that sheep must not be driven into the ranges before July 1. All sheep found in the reserve contrary to strict regulations will be driven off, and sheep men who persist in breaking the rules will have their permits taken up.

One of Tucker's dray teams got away from the driver at the "Evil Eye" car car Monday morning and took a spin down the avenue turning up First street. They collided with Kleis & Bonds' delivery wagon and as they turned into first street overturned a load of alfalfa. The dray brought up against a telephone pole near Keene's store and the team was caught a block farther on. The damage done will reach $15 or $20.

On Thursday evening, June 7, the Busy Bees, a junior society connected with the Natches Presbyterian church, gave a social at the home of Daniel Sinclair which was largely attended. An excellent program was rendered, after which refreshments consisting of strawberries, ice cream and cake, were served. A number of young people from North Yakima and the lower Natches were present, and the total receipts were $22.50, which the Busy Bees intend to spend in a carpet for the new church, now in process of erection.

The enumerators taking the census in this city have finished the canvass of the town and are now picking up the stragglers. If those who desire to swell the enumeration up to 4000 or 5000 wish to have their expectations realized, they will assist in helping to find the missing ones. The writer took the census of North Yakima in 1890, and gave the work very careful attention; and then missed a great many people who were out of the city during the census period. It will not be possible to get a complete enumeration unless certain information is supplied the census takers. Help them, if you can.

A number of ladies from here attended a convention of clubs in Yakima last week, and since their return they have been enthusiastic over the way things are done there, and everything here is contrasted with those conditions. None of them will admit that Yakima naturally has any advantages over Ellensburg, but when it comes to enterprise, pride in the town and liberality in promoting the welfare of the city, the men of Ellensburg are not, the ladies say, in the same class with their Yakima brethren. A glimpse at conditions here confirms these suspicions and any observing, fair-minded man is compelled to admit the charge and hang his head in shame.—Capital.

The ordinance fixing a "dead line" for hotel solicitors, hack drivers, etc., went into effect Thursday. The line is drawn eighteen feet from the edge of the depot pavement abutting the street. The ordinance prohibiting loafing in and about the depot, waiting rooms and tying horses to the park fences is also effective, and interested parties should take notice. This ordinance more particularly refers to young girls and boys who are in the habit of loafing about the depot at train time. This latter ordinance should have been extended so as to have stopped the expectorating of tobacco juice over the depot pavement. A law of this kind would certainly be appreciated by everyone—except the offenders.

Cut Rates to National Conventions

The round trip rate to the democratic national convention, which meets at Kansas City, July 4th, will be $60 direct, or $65.75 via St. Paul. Tickets may read via St. Paul and return by direct lines or vice versa, with stop over privileges on the return trip along the line of the Northern Pacific Railway.

Tickets for Kansas City and return will be placed on sale at the local ticket office on June 29th and 30th.

Boutwell's Speech.

Carl Schurz said, in a recent speech, that nearly all the surviving republicans who played a conspicuous part in the founding of the party, and the later career of that political organization up to within a few years, are now arrayed against the imperial policy of William McKinley. No name in this connection stands out bolder than that of Gov. Boutwell of Mass., who, a few nights ago at Copper Institute, Boston, delivered one of the most eloquent and logical appeals to the people to dethrone the party now standing for imperialism, and, which having control of the reins of government, seeks to perpetuate itself in power. Gov. Boutwell does not agree with Senator Hoar that while his party is wrong he yet should stand by it. He has, too, been as strong a party man as Mr. Hoar, but now he begs of those who have followed his political fortune in the past to vote for Bryan since the success of Bryan means the destruction of the imperial policy. The republican party, says he, has fallen into new hands. The combination of Hanna and an unlimited campaign fund are for the moment supreme. It has made McKinley president and has made his imperial policy and now causes it to bow in subservency to a self created dictator.—Constitution.

Crocker for Bryan.

In a recent interview Richard Crocker said: "I am for W. J. Bryan with my whole heart. He is far and away the ablest man that we have in American politics this day. He is a wonderful man. There is no man to compare with him anywhere or to put along side of him. He is a fine character, a man of high principal and of tremendous energy. "Mark my words: When William J. Bryan is elected he will work 18 hours a day in order to carry out in spirit and in letter every plank in the democratic platform. Hitherto other men have regarded the platform drawn up at their convention as a ladder on which they mount to power, and which they kick down as soon as they get to the top. "Mr. Bryan is not a man of that sort. He does not want to be elected for purposes of vainglory and love of position. He thinks, and I agree with him, that if he is elected he will do his country good. He will be able to serve the people, and he will be a governing president, not a mere lay-figure whose movements are governed by wirepullers. He is a man of conviction."

Twin Infamies.

This congress will go down into history as the most infamous in all history. Two bills passed by them will be enough to forever discredit them and make them despised by all Americans. The one is the currency bill by which congress surrendered all control over the currency to the national banks; the other is a Puerto Rican bill by which congress laid special taxes on Puerto Ricans whose country they annexed and to whom they promised the liberties which citizens of the United States enjoy. This law laying a tariff on Puerto Rican products is in violation of plighted faith and is unjust and unconstitutional. This congress has basely surrendered all considerations of humanity, of justice and of constitutional limitation to the money oligarchy of the country whose spokesman and attorney is Senator Hanna, William McKinley's Uriah Heep.—Rochester (Pa.) Commoner.

Willing to Compromise.

About the middle of the civil war a freshly appointed colonel, with a newly enlisted regiment, joined the Union forces in the far south. One bright October morning word was received that a small detachment of General Wheeler's cavalymen was on the other side of the hill, and a force started out in pursuit. The next day the Confederates were reported miles distant in the opposite direction. The third day the new colonel and a veteran brigadier started out for a pleasure ride. A mile from camp they rode into the fugitive Confederates, who had been circling the camp for a week. It was a narrow escape, but they got away unharmed.

After it was over the general said to the colonel, "Well, what do you think of war now?"

"Is Wheeler in this neighborhood much of the time?" replied the colonel evasively.

"All the time. He is here, there and everywhere. What do you think of the prospect?"

"Well," answered the colonel reflectively, "I wonder whether there isn't some way this infernal thing can be compromised!"—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Yankee Joker Abroad.

A story on the fraudulent conferring of degrees is told in the London Post, which, while it may not be strictly accurate, is not without interest. It seems that a chimney sweep took proceedings against an Edinburgh man for debt, and in the course of his evidence the sweep mentioned that his name was "Jamie Gregory, LL. D." The following colloquy ensued between the witness and the sheriff:

"What, doctor of laws or letters? And where on earth did you get that distinction?"

"It was a fellow fra' an American university, an I sweepit his chimney three times. 'I canna pay ye cash, Jamie Gregory,' he says, 'but I'll make ye an LL. D., and we'll ca' it quits.' An he did."

Floral Notes.

The best time to plant lilies is in October and November.

Dracena sanderiana is one of the choice things for the center of jardinières and fern pans.

Among the seedlings of 1898 presented to the Chrysanthemum Society of America six were awarded certificates—Solar Queen, Anstralian Gold, Pennsylvania, Frank Hardy, Autumn Glory and W. H. Chadwick.

What the calla needs: "Water like a mill, heat like a furnace, food like an army, absolute rest during summer."

It is best not to take up dahlia roots for at least a week after frost, as the tubers ripen better and are not so likely to shrivel when stored in the cellar over winter. The roots should be turned upside down in the sunshine to let the water drain out of the stems, says an authority.

Perennial phlox can be transplanted in October and November.

The Pope and Rome.

The Osservatore Romano thus explains why the pope does not appear on the streets of Rome: "If the pope went about in Rome, he would inevitably be made the object of demonstrations of respectful enthusiasm on the part of the faithful, and by a natural reaction these demonstrations would be followed by others of a hostile character. The pope would be simultaneously applauded and hissed and surrounded by tumults and faction fights. The government would render military honors to him, but it could not long tolerate in the streets of Rome demonstrations in favor of the pope, who, after all, is a dispossessed sovereign."

A Republican congress is busy just now making a grand stand play with its anti-trust law. This does not change our belief in the absurdities of the measures, as arranged, or our knowledge that Mr. McKinley has gone so far in his imperialistic policy as to assume a greater despotism over Porto Rico and the Philippines than King George had over the thirteen colonies in his day.—Seattle Mail and Herald.

The State Fair.

J. D. Medill, of North Yakima, is in the city in the interest of the approaching state fair, which will be held during the week ending September 29. He thinks that the fair this year will be the best yet held, despite the small appropriation from the state. The business men of Yakima have put their shoulders to the wheel and agreed to contribute about $2000 for premiums. Besides this, other citizens of Yakima have made individual contributions for special premiums.

Mr. Medill is thoroughly loyal to Yakima, and enthusiastic in his love for that section of the state. He thinks the Yakima valley is the greatest agricultural region in the world, and does not hesitate to predict for it a population of 50,000 within ten years. He points out that it would be an act of self-interest for Seattle people to take a livelier interest in the fair, thus cultivating closer relations between the two cities.—Seattle Times.

A Short Story In Figures.

The ordinary annual expenditures of the government averaged in President Harrison's term $361,291,323.

They averaged in President Cleveland's second term $360,418,264.

They have averaged in President McKinley's term $514,880,254.

The cost of running the government is thus seen to have been increased by nearly $154,000,000 a year ever since Mr. McKinley was inaugurated. And this is not accounted for by the extraordinary disbursements of war, which are not included in these "ordinary expenditures."

The outlay for war is a separate matter and it accounts for the increase of the public debt by $200,000,000 since Mr. McKinley's inauguration.

The financial record of the administration may therefore be summed up in a sentence. It has added nearly $13,000,000 a month to the regular running expenses of the government and added $1.79 per capita to the national burden of debt.—New York World.

And now comes a scandal from Manila. It is said that the American authorities were "obliged to continue Alcalde Benito" and other Spanish officials in office, and they have been stealing and boodling right and left. Why was it necessary to continue them? The purpose of war was to relieve from Spanish oppression, but the same gang of blood-suckers was continued in office. It is noted that the Spanish both in Cuba and in the Philippines sympathize with McKinley and against independence.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Mr. E. P. Thompson, late of the Havana postoffice department, confesses in a sworn statement that he took $435 out of the money order funds but left his memorandum as an acknowledgment of the receipt of the money. There is nothing new about this method of acquiring public money, indeed it is practically our present financial system. The money speculators take out gold money and put in its place memorandum promises to, issued by themselves.—National Democrat.

Control of Palsied Hands.

The control men get over their hands by constant practice was being discussed. One cited the case of an artist who is afflicted with palsy so badly that he cannot convey his food or drink to his mouth unaided. And yet this man with pallet and brush in hand can paint as well as ever he could. Before his brush touches the canvas his hand trembles violently, but the moment he feels the brush touch his picture his stroke becomes firm and strong and just what he desires it to be.

Almost a parallel case is that of a veteran soldier well known in Kansas City, "Peg Leg" Smith. Smith is now in the Soldiers' home in Leavenworth. When in Kansas City, he used to run a cigar wheel at the city hall square.

Smith comes to Kansas City frequently, and when here likes to go to a shooting gallery on Walnut street and shoot at the targets. He is a good shot and enjoys looking along a rifle barrel. Smith has the palsy in an alarming degree. When he raises the rifle and aims it at the target, it jerks around in such a lively manner that one would wager he could not hit the side of a house, but just as he is about to pull the trigger his hand steadies and the next instant the bell rings. The palsied man has hit the bullseye.—Kansas City Star.

The Story the Cub Reporter Didn't Get.

One day a cub reporter was sent to cover a meeting of an east side literary club, which was to debate about arbitration and its effect upon international peace, but he came back to the office within an hour looking disappointed.

"Where's your story?" asked the city editor.

"There wasn't any story to write," replied the new reporter, picking up a newspaper. "They couldn't agree upon the wording of the subject, and they got to arguing and calling names, and finally the meeting broke up in a free fight. So I came back, sir."

The city editor came down from his desk and gazed pitifully upon the cub. "They were to have debated on peace," he said sorrowfully "and the meeting broke up in a fight, and there was nothing to write! You may go." That is a story they tell along the row, and it is an old one.—Scribner's.

Poultry Diseases.

Volumes have been written on poultry diseases, and it would seem to the uninitiated that by the light of these books it would be an easy matter to detect and cure most any disease to which the feathered tribe is subject. But the ordinary run of poultry men will find it at it is lost time to try to lay up a store of knowledge which will be of practical use to them in restoring ailing fowls to health. Their doctoring for the most part will be the rankest quackery in spite of all the wisdom they can collect from the books. They will have a few favorite remedies in which they have learned to place dependence in certain well marked cases, and they will often be used at a venture for ailments of a different nature, simply because they do not know what else to do, but they will learn very little about discriminating between the various diseases and making an intelligent application of remedies in accordance with the rules laid down in the books. Not one keeper of poultry in 100 will claim any degree of expertness in that kind of medical practice. The aim should be to keep the fowls in health by making their surroundings healthy. If a fowl gets very sick, kill it, unless you know to a certainty what is the matter with it and how to cure it. Don't take any chances on a mopey hen in August and September, unless you are very sure that you can draw the line all right between a case of indigestion and cholera in its early stages.

Sensible Arrangement.

What Sir Daniel Lysons believes to have been the first case of a settlement of an "affair of honor" on the Duke of Wellington's plan is described by him in his "Early Reminiscences." It occurred in Halifax about the middle of the present century:

One day Captain Evans came to me boiling over with wrath and indignation. He said he had been grossly insulted by Captain Harvey, the governor's son, and begged me to act as his friend. I agreed, provided he promised to do exactly as I told him. He consented.

I called on Captain Harvey's friend, Captain Bourke, and we agreed to abide by the Duke of Wellington's order about dueling, which had just then been promulgated at Halifax.

We carried out our intention as follows: We made each of our principals write out his own version of what had occurred. We then chose an umpire. We selected Colonel Horn of the Twentieth regiment, a clear headed and much respected officer. With his approval we sent him the two statements, and he directed us to come to his house the following morning with our principals.

At the appointed time we arrived and were shown into the dining room. We bowed formally to each other across the table and awaited the appearance of our referee. Colonel Horn soon entered, and, addressing our principals, said:

"Gentlemen, in the first place, I must thank you for having made my duty so light. Nothing could be more open, generous or gentlemanlike than your statements. The best advice I can give you is that you shake hands and forget that the occurrence has ever happened."

They at once walked up to each other and shook hands cordially. They were the best of friends ever after.

A Scene of Terror In India.

A Bengal postoffice superintendent has received from one of his Babu inspectors this report of an accident at a river which had to be forded owing to the breakdown of a bridge:

"As I was to pass the river or water through my cart for absence of any boat some alligators ran on my oxen hence the oxen getting fear forcibly took away my cart in an abyss below the water of 12 feet which the cartman failed to obstruct. The oxen forcibly left the cart and fled to the other side of the river by swimming. I myself being inside the matscreen of my cart the whole cart fell down in the abyss, I used to cry loudly at the time. The cart with myself was drowned in the meantime the Overseer Babu Mehendra Nath Ghose and my cook jumped on the water and took my cart in a place where 4½ water then I myself jumped on the water and saved my life. The alligators getting fear from the cart fled to the roadside and no sooner we came to the road they jumped on the water. Had I been under suffocation for three minutes more then there was no hope of my life. * * * The nearest residents told thereafter that some men died this year in the abyss by the attack of the alligators. I am much unwell the voice of my speech is fallen low and out of order from the suffocation."—London Standard.

Casey—I called one av tnm Johnnie a liar, an he says to me, says he, "Tu quoque." Now, what might that mean?

Call for Warrants—General Fund.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the undersigned city treasurer of the city of North Yakima, Washington, will pay on demand, all warrants drawn on the general fund of said city commencing with No. 4301 up to and including No. 4400 dated Dec. 8, 1897; that interest will cease on said warrants on the 9th day of June, 1900.

Dated June 2, 1900.
A. E. Howard,
City treasurer of the City of North Yakima, Washington. 38-4

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the city of North Yakima will let a contract for the construction of a sidewalk along the west side of Second street in said city between the northeast corner of lot 8 block No. 24 and the southeast corner of lot 7 and block 25. All of said lots and lands being according to the plat of said city now on file in the office of the county auditor of Yakima county, Washington.

Said sidewalk to be eight feet in width and to be laid with plank two inches thick, eight inches wide and eight feet long and surfaced on one side and laid dressed side up, resting on three stringers four inches by six inches, said sidewalk to be firmly braced and supported and laid in a good workmanlike manner, on the grade marked out and established in front of said lots and blocks as the same appears from the grade stakes and the data of the survey thereof on file in the office of the city clerk. All material used to be good No. 1 common or lumber, said contractor shall perform all labor and furnish all material and remove all dirt to a level with the bottom of the sills.

Sealed proposals for the contract for the above proposed improvement will be received by the city clerk up to the time the bids are opened, on the 18th day of June, 1900, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. All bidders will be required to deposit with their bids a certified check for ten dollars on some bank in the city of North Yakima, payable to the order of the city treasurer, as security that said bidder will enter into a contract with said city in the manner provided by law and the ordinances of said city in case such contract is awarded to him. The contractor will be required to enter into a contract and give a bond with approved sureties, as required by laws of 1897, page 57, within three days after notice from the city clerk that the contract has been awarded to him.

The city council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
Dated at North Yakima, Wash., this 5th day of June, 1900.

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION

The Day to be Observed at North Yakima.

A Jeffersonian 4th of July celebration will be held at the fair grounds, under the auspices of those to whom the Declaration of Independence is still dear.

There will be speakers from abroad, horse racing and a general good time. Everybody is invited.

It is intended to have an ox barbecued on the grounds. Bring your baskets and help make this a genuine old fashion "down east" Fourth celebration.

Plenty of room for everybody in the big cool grove on the grounds.

Good Clothes

Don't make the man, but they do improve the looks of the man very much, for a mighty mean man with good clothes on is usually taken for a gentleman.

When you are talking about good clothes, remember that I make them, and
