She Wants a Good Husband.

As a sequel to the "joke" perpetrated by a Tacoma man named Evans, and published seriously by a number of eastern papers to the effect that 500 young women were wanted as wives in that city, Miss Lillian Whittaker has arrived in the "City of Destiny," having come direct from Lancashire, England, where she had been employed as a weaver in a woolen mill. Miss Whittaker is said to be a very modest young woman, attractive in appearance, with rather lofty ideals. On her arrival at Tacoma she innocently confided the object of her mission to the reporters and the news-mongers immediately proclaimed to the world that the plucky little English girl had come 6000 miles in search of a husband and that she was entitled to a good one. Soon after this information went out, a multitude of proposals came in by mail. So numerous, in fact, were the offers of marriage by letter that the would be bride became utterly confused, realizing perhaps the truth of the old saying that marriage is a lottery. The result is that she has turned down so far all proposals by mail and prefers that the would be bridegrooms should make application in person. Here might be a good opportunity for some of our sage brush bachelors. That is, such of them as might be able to pass muster.

CITY DADS CONVE.

Municipal Mill Grinds Out Routine Grist. Cost of Maintaining Health Department Staggers Officials.

The city council convened in regular session Monday night with Mayor Shaw and all the councilmen, Keck, Moran, Aikins, Wyman, Fisher, Liggett and Switzer, present. The clerk read the minutes of the preceding meeting which were duly approved.

A communication was read from the fire department informing the council that that body at its annual election had elected C. M. Hauser, chief; J. E. Merwin, assistant chief; J. C. Liggett, secretary; W. I. Lince, treasurer. On motion, the council voted to confirm the action of the department.

A petition was read from numerous property owners along South First St., asking that water and sewer pipes be laid on that thoroughfare and the street graded from Chestnut street to the city limits. The petition, on motion of Fisher, was referred to the city attorney for an opinion.

A plat of S. J. Lowe's addition to the city was laid before the council. Referred to city attorney for report.

A petition was read from R. Strobach and numerous other property owners on Selah avenue, asking to have a sidewalk laid along the west side of that street from the alley north of Yakima avenue to Walnut street, a distance of two and a half blocks, granted.

Reports of city officials were then read. Those of R. K. Nichols, the retiring and J. A. Taggard, the incoming police judge, showed that the sum of $805 had been collected as fines during January. The report of Sexton Carvoso showed 13 burials in the city cemetery and $19 collected.

A special report from Fire Chief Hauser recommended that new hydrants be placed at the following named points in the city: Third and Walnut, Third and Pine, Walnut and Natches, D and Seventh, E and Fourth, G and Fourth, H and Third, E and Second, A and Ahtanum, B and Wenas. Referred.

The clerk submitted the bonds each in the sum of $1000 of C. G. Wands, city engineer and W. D. Walker, plumbing inspector. The same were duly approved.

A large grist of bills against the city for the past month were then read and such as had been O. K'd. by the finance committee were ordered paid. The bill of Dr. J. B. Burns, city health officer, for $450, in payment for professional services for the preceding month, aroused a roar of comment, but after an explanation from Councilman Wyman of the board of health, the bill was finally ordered paid.

On motion of Aikins the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the city printing.

No further business appearing, the council then adjourned.

Commercial Club Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Yakima Commercial club was held Tuesday evening. The meeting was opened by retiring president, Englehart, who made a brief but felicitous address, in which he stated that while the organization had not accomplished much during the past year, nevertheless the club had prospered.

Secretary Chandler's annual report was then read, which to a number of the members did not exactly seem to bear out the president's view of prosperity, as it showed a net loss of 13 members for the year.

J. D. Cornett was then called to the chair and was introduced by Mr. Englehart as the new president. Mr. Cornett then thanked the club for the honor conferred upon him and promised to use his best efforts in the interest of the organization.

Robertson, Medill and other members then addressed the meeting in favor of making a change in the by-laws, the effect of which would be to cut the initiation fee of $20 in two for the purpose of increasing the revenues of the club through a larger increase of the membership. This was opposed by Englehart, Miller, Horsley and others. In order to test the matter at a subsequent general meeting Medill offered a written amendment to the by-laws reducing the initiation fee to $10. The amendment will be posted for ten days and then voted upon at a special meeting.

YAKIMA LEGISLATORS TALK

Hare and Dunn Discuss the Senatorship and the Legislative Outlook.

Speaker Hare and Representative Dunn took advantage of the adjournment of the house last Friday to return home for a brief visit. They arrived here Friday night, the former returning Saturday and the latter remaining over until Sunday.

Dr. Hare was the recipient of congratulations from his numerous friends here on having secured the speakership, which is considered quite an honor for Yakima county. Doc manifested his usual modesty in disclaiming that he had had any designs upon the office, but rather conveyed the idea that the honor had sought him.

Referring to the senatorial election, Speaker Hare said that it was not in the cards to beat Ankeny this time, as he had the machine with him. As for himself, he had been unpledged on the senatorial question and felt free to vote as he chose. Regarding the commission bill, the speaker said that he himself would vote for the measure, as he was pledged to do, when it came up for passage in the house. He felt certain, however, that the bill would fail. The majority, he thought, would pass instead, a tax commission bill, the effect of which would be to take the taxing of public corporations out of the hands of county assessors.

Representative Dunn said that John B. Allen was his first choice for senator, and Congressman Jones, his second. Seeing that the election of neither gentleman was possible, he concluded to go into the caucus and do what he could to end the deadlock by voting for Ankeny.

"Gov. McBride," said Captain Dunn, "was himself largely responsible for Ankeny's election." "He is a man without tact," he continued, "and tried to bulldoze all the commission men into creating a deadlock with the object of forcing the passage of his commission bill. I told him flatly that he couldn't bulldoze me, and that I was not responsible to him as to whom I should vote for for senator."

The Schott Company to Continue.

The firm of H. H. Schott & Co. will continue to do business at the old stand. New goods are being ordered in large quantities by a representative of the firm, J. A. McArthur, who is now in New York. The business of the Moore Clothing Co. will also continue under the present management. The only change that will be made will be in the elimination of the grocery department, which is now being closed out.

Before deciding to continue in business, the Schott company negotiated the sale of its splendid building on the avenue to A. E. Larson, for a consideration of $25,000, cash. Arrangements have been made, however, to lease the present quarters.

The Schott company has begun a damage suit in the superior court of King county against Stone, Fisher & Lane, for $50,000. The cause of action is the failure of the latter firm to come to time after having negotiated the purchase of the stock and business of Schott & Co.

Attorney Snyder Arraigned.

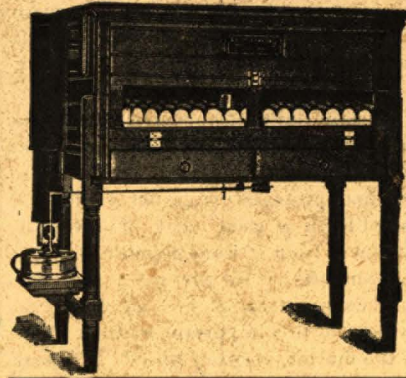

The dullness of routine business in the superior court was somewhat varied Wednesday by a little joke on Vestal Snyder, which everybody in the court room enjoyed, rather to the discomfort of the genial attorney.

His honor, Judge Rudkin, it seems, wears an overcoat which closely resembles one worn by Mr. Snyder and the latter on leaving before the court adjourned at noon mistook the court's coat for his own and wore it home. As soon as he discovered the mistake that had been made, Judge Rudkin issued a bench warrant for the arrest of the attorney and delivered the same to Sheriff Grant with orders to serve immediately. The warrant recited that the sheriff was commanded to bring into court forthwith the body of one, Vestal Snyder, on the charge of petty larceny.

On the reassembling of court after lunch, the sheriff appeared with his trembling prisoner, who was duly arraigned on the charge of having feloniously appropriated the court's overcoat and left in its stead a worthless one. When the prisoner was duly apprised of the nature of his crime, he proceeded to "plead guilty" and throw himself on the mercy of the court. After being duly admonished the prisoner was released on the order of the judge and took his seat amid the laughter of the large crowd in the court room.

The Crystal Ice Co. has finished filling its large house near the railroad north of B street. The ice was produced on an artificial pond, a half mile from the river at Selah siding and was shipped down in cars. It is pronounced by old timers the finest lot of ice ever put up in North Yakima. The names of the firm are J. P. Melrose and J. V. Mohr. 21-tf

New System of Drainage.

Dell Hiseock, who visited Ellensburg recently in company with Engineer Ernest McCulloch, was so favorably impressed with the workings of R. P. Tjosem's drainage system that he resolved to give the machine a trial on his Moxee ranch. At the appointed time Mr. Tjosem will bring his machine down and put it in operation on the Hiseock ranch. Mr. Hiseock states that there can be no question but what the machine works successfully in the Kittitas valley and he believes that it will prove equally as satisfactory in Moxee, although that point is yet to be determined. If it will, a great saving can be effected over the old system of laying drainage pipe by hand.

Engineer McCulloch now has a force of men at work on the Hiseock ranch in digging the necessary drainage ditches.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT,

JOHN DAVID MEDILL,
Editor and Publisher.

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

One Dollar Per Year—In Advance.

Published every Saturday morning at the Democrat Printing House on First Street, North Yakima, Washington.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

NOTWITHSTANDING the backing that he received from a string of daily newspapers, John L. Wilson made a very poor showing of strength in the senatorial fight. Wilson's inglorious defeat shows that while newspaper support may be a good thing, it is not nearly so potent a force in a republican fight as a long and well filled sack.

The Democrat is free to confess that it never did have much respect for the former senator and the peanut politics that he stands for. Both as representative and senator from this state Wilson showed himself to be nothing more than a pliant tool in the hands of the railroads. Still, in this respect he is not a whit worse than Ankeny, who has permitted the corporations to place a collar upon him in order to gain a seat in the senate. Outside of this mutual handicap, no fair minded man would claim that Wilson, with all his egotism and assumption, is not a king as compared with Ankeny, when it comes to discharging the duties of a senator.

SAY what you please about the influence Roosevelt is supposed to wield in his party, when Hanna says "Thumbs up," you'll see Roosevelt always "Wiggle Waggle" and lose the game. The reason is that Roosevelt is uncertain and cannot be controlled. Hanna is steady and needs no control. One is a theoretical and the other a practical politician. Roosevelt's theories are erratic, Hanna's policies grounded upon the rock-ribbed principles of his party. Roosevelt may sway the rabble, but Hanna absolutely commands the motor power of the machine, the sober, deliberate action of the party on any given policy. When the national convention meets, Roosevelt will be the fly on the ox's horn, while Hanna will be the sturdy taurus who holds the horn erect.—Olympia Standard.

In the death of Ex-Senator John B. Allen, this state has lost one of its foremost citizens, and the bar one of its leading lights. In his makeup Mr. Allen had the elements of statesmanship, although he was not a very successful politician, which in his case is to be lamented, as it had the effect of cutting short his career in the senate before he had a full opportunity to prove his ability. In politics he was a thorough partisan, but in his partisanship there was no meanness, a fact that secured for him the respect, and to some extent, the moral support of his political enemies. As the P. I. said, editorially, it seems that death ever loves a shining mark.

The following is going the rounds of the newspapers of the state as a remedy for both smallpox and scarlet fever: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove, (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar, mix with two tablespoonful of water. When thoroughly mixed add four ounces of water. Take a spoonful every hour. For a child, smaller doses according to age. The above formula is said to be very effective in both diseases. However, this paper does not know this to be so, and does not wish to be understood as endorsing the remedy.

A WEEKLY paper in Oklahoma has human nature pretty well sized up in this paragraph: "When an editor makes a mistake in his paper all the world sees it and calls him a liar. When a private citizen makes a mistake nobody knows it except a few friends, and they come around and ask the editor to keep it out of the paper. When the private citizen dies the editor is asked to write up all his good qualities and leave out the bad. When the editor dies the private citizen will say: 'Now that old liar will get his deserts.'"

MR. PRESTON, who led the forlorn hope of King county down to defeat, explains that he might have been elected if it had not been for the fact that 13 members of his own delegation deserted him at a critical point in the game. Just so. But the action of the traitors did not surprise anyone, unless it was the trustful Mr. Preston, himself. The bolters, or at least a part of them, started out with the intention of betraying him, and every good politician in the state knew what was going to happen. And it did happen.

A RECENT dispatch states that a certain professor of astronomy at Harvard college has completed a good map of the moon, having located the leading mountains of that sphere and ascertained their altitude etc. It is well perhaps that this has been done, as such information may prove of great value to Morgan, Rockefeller and others of their craft, who, it is believed, have long had designs on the luminous orb.

DURING the senatorial contest that has just been ended at Olympia by the election of Levi Ankeny, the name of John B. Allen has figured prominently as a dark horse candidate, six votes having been cast for him on each of several successive ballots. Thousands of his old friends and supporters had hoped that the contest would end fortuitously for him and his party by the election of Mr. Allen. In fact many believed that the honor was due him as a reparation for the wrong that they feel was done him in 1893. It is a striking example of the irony of fate that a man who contributed to the defeat of Allen by giving aid and comfort to the factional war made upon him by his enemies at that time was nominated in the republican legislative caucus for United States senator not more than an hour before the death of his former fellow-townsmen.—Walla Walla Statesman.

AN editorial that appeared in this paper last week regarding the interest that our people ought to feel in public ownership of proposed irrigation reservoirs, called forth a good deal of favorable comment from citizens generally. It is to be noted that for the most part our local contemporaries are as dumb as oysters on this important matter. What is the matter, are they afraid to speak out?

We publish this week a full text of the bill, now pending in the legislature, the passage of which virtually means private ownership for all time of the mountain reservoirs.

THE Ankeny men's treatment of the dignity of the executive office has been about on a par with that of the frontier postmaster, a bad man who wore buck skin and took his whiskey straight, when a special agent called upon him to turn over the office for gross irregularities. Without a word, he gathered the letters and papers into an old hat, carried them to the middle of the street and by a vigorous kick sent them to the four winds with the expletive: "There, take your d—d postoffice! And you, stranger, Git!"—Olympia Standard.

It is reported in Walla Walla that when the mayor of that city returned home after a visit to the senatorial lobby at Olympia he said that any candidate who hoped to defeat Mr. Ankeny would have to put up $250,000. A quarter of a million dollars is a good price to pay for a senatorial seat, but the public is not so much interested in knowing "how much" the successful candidate spent as it is to know the "names of the members of the legislature" who received the money.—Seattle Times.

GREAT excitement has been caused in the Klondyke by a new gold discovery. In a shaft recently sunk on a worked out claim on Eldorado creek, at a depth of 65 feet below the bedrock, another pay streak was encountered, which is said to yield $25 to the bucket. The new strike upsets all the old theories of placer mining. It is now freely predicted by old miners that the golden harvest yielded by the rich creek of the Klondyke will repeat itself.

IF C. B. Graves had gained votes in the legislature for a week as steadily as he lost them in one day, Kittitas would have had the United States senator. When a man comes to the front like that he should be on hand to look after his interests. Judge Graves, however, like the girl receiving a proposal, was taken by surprise and when he recovered, the fickle votes had taken wings.—Ellensburg Capital.

COL. BLETHEN, of the Times, wants to bring about an alliance for 1904 between King county and the railroad commission forces with the dual object of passing a commission bill and electing a King county man U. S. senator to succeed Foster. It's a very clever idea, Colonel, but it will never work, for the very simple reason that the people of the state won't trust a King county politician.

EDITORIALLY, the Seattle Times says that it is rumored on what seems to be pretty good authority that the thirteen members of the King county delegation who consented to go into the republican senatorial caucus were paid the aggregate sum of $49,000, the chief tugboat securing $15,000, eleven others $3,000 each, and the "tailender," who was slow to get on the band wagon, $1000.

MR. ANKENY, in his brief and listless speech of acceptance before the legislature failed to express his thanks to that body for having conferred upon him the long coveted toga. It is possible, of course, that the old millionaire regarded the return of thanks as quite superfluous since he had been made to pay most dearly for the doubtful honor.

THE Seattle Times refers editorially to the King county legislators who betrayed Preston, as "cheap guys." We don't know as it is quite fair to talk that way about the renegades, unless the Times knows how much they got for playing the Judas act.

THE number thirteen is prominent in the wind-up of the senatorial contest. Senator Ankeny owes it to the thirteenth ballot, and they are talking in Seattle about thirteen King county traitors.—Tacoma News.

THE DEMOCRAT congratulates the 23 democrats in the legislature who went down the line for Senator Turner. They knew that their fight was hopeless, but they had a duty to perform and they did it nobly. No taint of ill gotten gain clings to their garments, although the temptation spread before them has been great.

THE present legislature before it adjourns, ought to put up the sign: "For sale in 1905, an U. S. senatorship."

The Judge Can Talk.

Judge Moses Hallett has been on the federal bench in Colorado for twenty-six years. He is an able jurist. He knows that he has a life position, and he naturally is cheered by the prospect of a raise in salary. Therefore, the judge is not afraid to speak his mind, and mildly, yet clearly, he affirms that women's suffrage has been a failure in his state. He does not believe there will be any attempt to abrogate the privilege extended, but he does say that not a single reform has been worked by the innovation, and that if the proposition were to come before the people now, the female suffrage would be overwhelmingly defeated. It has added to the total vote, but it has done nothing else. It has not bettered the class of candidates, has not caused reforms of any kind. It has swelled the totals, and this has been the end of its accomplishment. Other authorities than Judge Hallett go farther in expression of disapproval. They call attention to the fact that since the novelty has worn off it is difficult to get women of the better class to the polls, but the other class are ready to serve any cause that will send hacks after them. However, there are few male voters who would affirm this if they knew they were to be quoted, for on at least one occasion the women showed their power. This was when they caused the defeat of Senator Wolcott and knocked him so far out of the political ring that he never has since been within hailing distance of it.—Tacoma Ledger.

Mabton Items.

A literary and debating society was organized in the school house on Wednesday of last week, electing the following officers: J. B. Early, president; J. A. Humphrey, vice president; B. D. Waters, secretary; Mrs. J. A. Humphrey, treasurer; Mrs. Perrin, critic.

The chief event of the season and one that attracted widespread attention, was the house moving conducted by Mr. N. J. Beckner. Mr. Beckner purchased the Dawson house recently situated in the foot hills eight miles south of Mabton, and succeeded in landing it in Mabton. The house is two story, containing seven large rooms, pantry, closets, halls, etc., with double floors, and weighing approximately 70,000 pounds. It was raised with jack screws and loaded on four Bain wagon trucks, which carried their load successfully. Fifty head of the best draft horses in the neighborhood were hitched thereon and performed their duty artistically and really were a beautiful sight to behold when in action. Among them were the outfits of Stoolie & Mathison, of Sunnyside. Each team was attached by means of a rope so arranged by experts that each team pulled independently of the other. A roadway was first made through the brush by means of a steel rail. On the morning of the 27th the start was made and the mammoth load was hauled four miles. On the 28th the work was resumed and at 11:30 the procession of house, horses, drivers and field marshal arrived at Mabton. The spectacle was grand and presented a picture long to be remembered by all those who witnessed it; to a stranger it suggested the advance guard of an army approaching. On reaching town, schools, stores, shops and business houses generally closed doors and the city en masse turned out, giving to Mr. Beckner hearty greetings and congratulations upon the pluck and good management that made the enterprise successful.—Communicated.

A Branch of the International Sunshine Society Organized

A Sunshine Sociable was held last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall on N. Second street. A large number could not be expected as the S. S. work is new and to many the purpose unknown. But about thirty came together, bringing a chain of enthusiasm and a circle of good cheer.

The program had been prepared with a view to introducing the S. S. idea, the kind of work, scope, variety, growth and what has been accomplished since its inception as an organization.

Mrs. F. Hall gave an account of the Sunshine Department at Los Angeles during the biennial last May, when Mrs. Alden was present, originator of the movement, and made several addresses representative of the spread and growth of the Sunshine work.

Mrs. J. M. Thompson gave a most helpful talk on the inner Sunshine of daily life. Rev. Arthur Vail made a very appropriate address. Everyone present will long remember the glint of Sunshine and glow of spirit sent out with each sentence. Mrs. Thomas gave a page of experience—that of finding a lonely and desolate life where a friend was needed. Mrs. Hoffman spoke in words of encouragement and sympathy.

Mr. Hinman, who had come, not knowing what the S. S. was in character, after hearing of the work, moved that a Sunshine organization be formed.

In the main, the evening was an agreeable surprise to even the most sanguine. An organization was effected in part, the hour being late and the social brief. The next meeting was set for Feb. 13th, at Mrs. D. Sinclair's, when the organization will be completed and the first reports presented.

By reference to our land office notes in another column you will observe that there is a large immigration from Sand Point, Idaho, to this place, and also that the vacant government lands in Horse Heaven are being rapidly taken.

Cancer Cured!

Mr. W. W. Prickett, Smithfield, Ill., writes, Sept. 10th, 1901: "I had been suffering several years with a cancer on my face which gave me great annoyance and unbearable itching. I was using Ballard's Snow Liniment for a sore leg, and through an accident, I rubbed some of the liniment on the cancer, and as it gave almost instant relief, I decided to continue to use the liniment on the cancer. In a short time the cancer ointment, my face healed up and there is not the slightest scar left. I have implicit faith in the merits of this preparation, and it cannot be too highly recommended." 25c, 50c, and $1.00. For sale by Fred L. Janek.

RESERVOIR LEGISLATION PENDING.

Full Text of the Bill Now Pending
Which was Originated by a Committee of the State Irrigation Association.

The committee of five appointed by the State Irrigation association to draft a bill for legislative action has completed its labors. The bill prepared by the committee is favored in its entirety by some, while by others it is severely criticized. That Democratic readers may judge for themselves of the merits or demerits of the proposed measure, its sections are herewith published in full:

Be it enacted by the legislature of the State of Washington:

SECTION 1. For irrigation, mining or manufacturing purposes, or for supplying cities, towns and villages with water, or for waterworks or for other beneficial use, the surplus water of this state may be appropriated and empounded by any person, association, corporation or municipality of this state, or by the United States, and held in any lake, pond, stream, river, draw, coulee, ravine, or other suitable place, and the person or party so empounding and holding the same shall have the beneficial use thereof at such place or places as is deemed best by the proprietor, and use, rent and sell the same; and the water so empounded may be conveyed in and along the channels of any river, stream, ravine, run or draw in this state, but not so as to raise the water thereof above ordinary high water mark.

Sec. 2. Surplus water, within the meaning of this act, shall be such water as is allowed to run to waste during floods or high waters and during those portions of the year when water in the arid or semi-arid sections of this state are not required for irrigation purposes.

Sec. 3. Whenever any party desires to appropriate any of the unappropriated surplus water of this state by storing and empounding the same he must post a notice in writing in a conspicuous place at the point of the intended storage, or if by diversion, then at the points of the diversion and storage, stating therein that such appropriator claims the unappropriated surplus water there lying, being or flowing, to the extent of — acre feet, or some multiple or fractional part of an acre foot, (the exact amount claimed to be stated in said notice) for the purpose of empounding and storing the same; the purpose or purposes for which said water is appropriated and stored and the place or places as nearly as may be, of the intended use and the means by which it is intended to store or divert and store the water. A copy of said notice or notices must within ten days after it or they are posted, be filed with the county auditor or county auditors of the county or counties in which said notice or notices are posted.

Sec. 4. An acre foot under the provisions of this act shall be 43,560 cubic feet of water.

Sec. 5. Whenever any party seeks to appropriate and store any of the surplus water of this state he must, within six months after the notice of appropriation is posted, commence the construction of the works by which it is intended to store or divert and store the water appropriated, and must with reasonable diligence prosecute such work to completion.

Sec. 6. Any reservoir hereafter constructed, with an embankment or dam exceeding ten feet in height above the bottom of the reservoir, shall not be filled with water until plans thereof shall have been submitted to a competent hydraulic engineer appointed or selected by the governor, and such engineer's written approval obtained as to the strength of such embankment or dam to withstand the proposed hydraulic pressure.

Sec. 7. Any party heretofore or hereafter appropriating any of the water of this state, including artesian and subterranean water, shall have the right when necessary, for the utilization of the water appropriated, to condemn all necessary lands and riparian rights, including any lands or riparian rights belonging to the State of Washington, for empounding reservoirs, dams, canals, ditches, pipe-lines, wasteways or other works for the utilization of the water appropriated, and may proceed to condemn said lands and riparian rights under the laws of this state relative to the taking of private property for public use or a private use for a private use of necessity; and in case the land or riparian rights to be taken belong to the State of Washington the petition shall be served upon the commissioner of public lands of the State of Washington and it shall be the duty of such commissioner through the attorney general to represent the interests of the state in such condemnation proceedings, the damages awarded to be paid to the state treasurer to become a part of the same fund as though said lands and riparian rights had been voluntarily disposed of by the state.

Sec. 8. Whenever any pond, lake, river or stream, or part thereof in this state is hereafter used for the storage and empounding of the surplus water of this state as provided by this act, and the use of such pond, lake, stream or river as a storage and empounding reservoir can be materially increased and serve a greater public purpose by the empounding of additional water, any party entitled under this act to store or empound the surplus water of this state may condemn under the law relative to eminent domain referred to in Section 7 hereof such reservoir and empounding works; provided, however, that the party condemning such reservoir and empounding works shall at all times furnish to the party whose reservoir and empounding works have been condemned the same amount of water per annum as he has been accustomed to store therein and of which he has made beneficial use, and the party so receiving such water shall pay therefor such reasonable sum per acre, foot or multiple or fractional part thereof as an annual maintenance fee as the jury in such condemnation proceedings shall determine, and it shall be the duty of the jury in such condemnation proceedings to find such reasonable sum and judgment shall be entered accordingly. The court or judge shall have satisfactory proof that the contemplated greater use of such reservoir and empounding works sought to be appropriated is really a greater public use, and that the public interest requires the prosecution of such enterprise, and that the reservoir and empounding works sought to be appropriated are required and necessary for the purposes of such enterprise, and in case it shall be determined that such reservoir and empounding works ought to be appropriated and condemned for a greater public use, the judge or court shall, upon proof offered and received, decide, adjudge and record the amount of water to be furnished to the party whose reservoir and empounding works are sought to be condemned, and the manner and terms upon which it is to be furnished that they may determine the annual maintenance fee as aforesaid.

Sec. 9. During the irrigation season it shall not be lawful for any person irrigating land to use any more water in the irrigation thereof than is necessary for the proper irrigation of the land being watered, and any person who shall willfully violate the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisoned not less than thirty days nor more than six months in the county jail, or he may be punished by both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Such fine to be paid into the county school fund of the county in which the conviction is had.

Sec. 10. Any person who shall knowingly, willfully and without authority interfere with, or in any way injure any structure for the conveyance, measurement or distribution of any of the appropriated water of this state, shall be deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisoned not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or he may be punished by both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Said fine to be paid into the county school fund of the county in which the conviction is had.

Sec. 11. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Sec. 12. In consequence of the near approach of the irrigation season it is deemed that an emergency exists, and therefore this act takes effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval by the governor.

Fire in the Dudley Block.

A fire alarm was turned in by telephone from one of the occupants of the Dudley block about 3:30 p. m. Thursday, which brought the fire ladders with the chemical engine hastily to the scene. The effective work done by the boys soon put an end to the incipient blaze.

The damage done to the building and to J. J. Macdonald's dry goods store on the lower floor will probably amount in the aggregate to several hundred dollars, but is fully covered by insurance. The blaze is said to have originated by reason of a defective flue.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

WEAK AND LOW-SPIRITED.
A Correspondent Thus Describes His Experience.

"I can strongly recommend Herbine as a medicine of remarkable efficacy for indigestion, loss of appetite, sour taste in the mouth, palpitation, headache, drowsiness after meals with distressing mental depression and low spirits. Herbine must be a unique preparation for cases such as mine, for a few doses entirely removed my complaint. I wonder at people going on suffering or spending their money on worthless thing, when Herbine is procurable, and so cheap." 50c a bottle at Fred L. Janek.
