SCOURING MILL FOR YAKIMA THE RAILWAY MAY BE BUILT

Eight Thousand Dollar Plant to be Established By Party from New Mexico.

William White of Las Vegas, N. M., has submitted to the wool growers of this place a proposition for establishing a scouring plant that will cost $8000. He asks the sheepmen to put up $3000 in cash to build the plant, the sum to be returned to them at the end of two years. This proposition was made good for 14 days and from indications it looks as though the mill will be a go.

The deal for the Pennington warehouse had been for the Pennington warehouse had been consummated, he said, and a payment made, the price being $2500, which is considered cheap. All that remains now is for the proper signing of the deed of transfer. This will require about another week to have completed. All the heirs of Fred Pennington will sign the deed excepting one, who is now a minor and a guarantee will be given that this minor will sign the deed when he becomes of age. The warehouse will be taken charge of at once by the union and taken charge of at once by the union and turned over to the business agent and Newton & Ryan, the general managers for this year.

A representative of the firm will be here this week and will attend a meeting of the union on Saturday. All the members are requested to be present at this meeting and meet the new managers. While here he will go over the valley in the neighborhood of this city to see some of the fruit reaches. of the fruit ranches and to meet the growers who are members of the union. The firm has established a big ware-house in Seattle and will make a specialty of the Yakima product.

The union has had a new stock book issued to correspond with the change in the capitalization, which was raised from $2000 to $5000. There have been a large unimber of applicants for stock since the warehouse was purchased and since arti-cles of incorporation were filed. The union expects to do a very profitable business this year for the members and will secure better prices for their products through the present methods of handling it than ever before

The meeting Saturday will convene at 130 p. m. sharp.

Protests Against Sidewalk.

S. E. Aumiller, president of the Schanno Ditch company, has made a protest to the city council against laying the sidewalk on west Yakima avenue over that part of the ditch which runs along the avenue for a block. The contract for this sidewalk was let this week and work is to be commenced at once on its construction. Mr. Aumiller claims that when the city changed the course of the ditch it did not dig it deep enough and if it is covered over with a sidewalk the water will not run under.

J. F. McNaught Returns and Submits New Proposition.

The railway between North Yakima and Sunnyside will be built at an early date providing certain new conditions are complied with. The new scheme is to build a steam railway instead of an electric road as heretofore contemplated by the promoters. Whether the road is built depends on the possibility of interesting the peop e of the valley in the new system.

J. F. McNaught, the promoter of the railway, returned Tuesday morning the head amont the from the east where he had spent the winter making arrangements to get the money to build the road. He submitted a new proposition to the committee who a new proposition to the committee who had taken up the work for the people of this valley. This committee, composed of Edward Whitson, George Donald, Miles Cannon, A. B. Weed, A. J. Splawn, G. S. Rankin, Alex. Miller and O. A. Fechter, met Mr. McNaught in Commercial club rooms Tuesday evening. The new plans were gone over with the committee. Mr. McNaught stated that if the people of this valley wanted a road to Sunnyside and other districts the system must be changed from electricity to

The committee had previously secured the rights of way for an electric road and will now have to canvass the field over again. The committee agreed to carry out the new conditions and will go to work at it as soon as the engineer arrives from New York. This engineer will arrive here in about a week and will go over the field. If he finds the scheme feasible and reports favorably to the eastern parties the road will be constructed. Mr. McNaught has furnished the following statement for publication in all the papers of the city: "When I went to New York I was profoundly impressed with the idea that a system of electric roads was the proper thing for this locality. There have been a great many roads of that kind built in localities furnishing as much traffic as the country along the line of the propos-ed roads here would furnish, and it had been generally supposed that such roads had been financially successful. That opinion continued to prevail in New York until about the first of January, when the trentrope electroped and the support of when twenty-one electric roads substantially similar to the ones proposed here went into the hands of receivers. This worked an entire change in public sentiment, so that it became impossible to secure the money in New York for the construction of such a system as we had contemplated here.

I would not have it understood that no lectric roads are paying—but roads having conditions similar to those here are not paying; and in many instances the electrical equipment is being replac-ed with steam. Interurban roads, such as the road between Seattle and Tacoma, where passenger traffic is heavy, are paying, but no road where the conditions are similar to those here is a profit-able investment where equipped with electricity as a motive power.

"I consulted some of the most eminent electrical specialists in the country, and after the first of January I became firmly convinced that there was but one means by which the system here can be constructed and successfully operated, namely, by means of steam.

'In other words, the enterprise has arrived at the point where the people of Yakima county must content themselves with a steam road or none at all. I have returned to submit the question to your people as to whether the same pro-posals will hold good for a steam road that were made for the construction of an electric system. If so, the capital is ready, subject to a favorable report from the engineer representing New York parties, who have agreed to furnish it, and he is expected here within a fortnight. Thereafter the work will commence as soon as the rights-of-way are obtained by the committee, and arrangements made for building the bridge across the Yakima river. I have secured the terminals myself, so that the people are relieved of that burden.
"There has been a good deal of sentiment in favor of electric roads, I know, but my investigation discloses that there is a locomotive built similar to those operated upon the elevated roads in New York City that do not give out any sparks, and that can be stopped and started as easily as an electric car. Anyone who has traveled upon the elecated roads in New York City will remember that there are no sparks falling upon the people in the streets below, and that the trains run with great speed, making numerous stops and developing a high speed within a few seconds when started again. With that class of locomotives the service can be conveniently arranged to accommodate the travel and traffic along the line of the roads as the operation of the same by electricity. These locomotives are not noiseless, but they are not nearly so noisy as the ordinary

"In this connection I was surprised to find in the east that the farmers consider the electric car a good deal more objectionable than the steam locomotive. The electric car seems to move without any apparent motive power at all, and it takes horses a good deal more time to get used to that kind of a car than it does to the steam locomotive. I observe also that along the steam railroads in the east county roads run parallel with the railroads. This seems to be a favorite way of laying out roads in the east. Horses in the country soon become as much accustomed to the steam locomotives as do the horses in town.

"We have planned a standard guage system of roads to the end that Northern Pacific cars may be operated over our lines, thereby enabling the farmer to load a car at or near his own door from which it will be transported direct to its point of destination, avoiding the expense of reloading and transfers at North

"We hope to begin active construction as soon as the conditions are complied with. Work will be commenced, of Blaze on West Side.

The fire department was called out Monday noon by a blaze in a pile of rubbish in an alley between Moxee and Rainier avenues. The fire was put out before the team arrived on the scene. At the time it was discovered that the Woody, Chaa Young, Ma avenue and A street was not in working condition. The alarm had been sent in; it did not reach the city hall, but instead gave the alarm at the power house. The alarms were all tested afterwards and found to be in working order.

The "Kennewick Hermit."

While in Kennewick on county business a few days ago I met a most singular character; a gentleman known to some as the "Kennewick Hermit" There is nothing in the man's appearance attractive or otherwise, but when you enter into conversation with him you very soon discover that you are talking with no ordinary person.

On Mr. Owen's invitation, for that is the gentleman's name, I visited his home and after passing under an arch eight feet high composed of the jaw bones of a whale I entered a room kept in beautiful order, where on tables and shelves were artistically arranged relics of our Indian races of all kinds from large mortars for grinding corn to the smallest arrow point.

In another room I was astonished to see arranged in good order, and classified conches of all sizes and shapes. A third room is devoted to reptiles, animals

This singularly interesting man was never married. He has no housekeeper and yet everything in and about his house is in the best order. After looking over his rare collection of relics, I asked, "Have you any of the remains of the trilobites?" "You want to see some remains of the third, order of creation?" was his reply, "Come-here and I will show you two specimens, and here is one specimen of the second order of creation," a wrinkled, twisted, curious looking crustacean. In those rooms you can see the remains of the largest animals of water and land down to the infinitesimal, the gods of American Indians as well as specimens of the gods of India. Among the gods of India is a valuable specimen of Trimuriti, or Hindoo Trinity. Mr Owen is a learned antiquarian, a good theologian, a fine historian and an excellent conversationalist. He assured me that the latch to his door was open for all who may wish to visit him.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Water for fuel is one of the possibili ties-probabilities, we might say-of the near future. A recent article in the Philadelphia North American says that John A. Montgomery of Williams-port, Pa., has perfected a device by means of which water can be used in any stove for fuel. And it makes a hotter fire, it is claimed, than anthracite coal The device for burning water is a simple one. The secret lies in a metal concelebration of the occasion. denser, which may be placed just under the grate of any stove. The water may be fed from a tank, over the stove, or from a hydrant through a metal pipe tubes of a compound flowpipe, and when the meet fire is produced by simply applying a match. Mr. Monigomery, the discoverer of this wonderful secret, is 78 defeated by years old. For 35 years he has worked almost constantly on the problem. He started on the scientific principle that perfect heat is produced from the combustion of one part of oxygen with two parts of hydrogen. Every school boy knows that water is composed of those two elements in that proportion. Mr. Montgomery has extracted the gases from the water, but declines to tell how he has done it. The secret is contained in his metal condenser; no one but the members of his own family know how it is done. The inventor thinks the government should give him something more than a patent on his device, as it will prove such great benefit to the public, in which case he promises that the people may have the use of it at a nom-

It is said practical tests of the invention have been made and that there is no doubt about it being a success. Capitalisis and manufacturers have made Mr. Montgomery flattering offers for his secret, but he declines to consider them. He is an inventor of note. He was a great friend of Professor Morse, the father of the telegraph, and invented a mitch which he presented him Mr. switch which he presented him. Mr. Montgomery has also invented and patented many other articles. What a wonderful boon to mankind it will be if it is proved that it is practicable to use water as a fuel. The occupation of the coal man and the wood man would be gone, it is true, while the ice man could turn his product into heat as well as using it for its alleviation.

In reading Governor McBride's veto of the tax commission bill I learned that the state board of equalization in this state has not the power to lower or raise the assessment of property as returned by the county assessors. Naturally, the sover or thinks the board should have such power. It does have it in some states, which reminds me of a story. The Montana state board of equalization has such rower. Just before it met last fall, J. S. M. Neill, owner of the Helena Independent, started a vigorous campaign in his newspaper for an increased assessment on the railroads. They were paying at the time on a valuation of $6000 per mile. The state board raised them to $18,000, but the railroads got a Inside of a month Mr. Neill sold his newspaper for $150,000 spot cash. Who was the purchaser? Senator W. A Clark ostensibly, but there are people in and town in this state to present our Mortana who believe that the railroads business. Our proposition is an excepput up the money and that Senator Clark stood sponsor for the deal because the paper could help him politically. What was the Independent worth? Well, in 1897, when it was an asset of the defunct First National Bank, Mr. Neill purchased it for $25,000, assuming about $15.000 indebtedness on the property besides And he borrowed every cent of the $25,000, too. Mr. Neill is not in the newspaper business now. He is a financier. With two other men he purchased from the government for about $135 000 the remaining assets of the First and Merchants National banks of Helena, the former being the same bank from which he purchased the Independ-ent They stand to make a million dollars on the deal.

Grover Cleveland denies that he is go Grover Cleveland denies that he is going to make a tour of the west. After he attends the dedication exercises of the world's fair at St. Louis he will go right home, he says, by the most direct route. The west will not be disappointed, and will raise no objection to the arrangement. But the west would advise Mr. Cleveland, if he has any idea of breaking into the presidential race, to remain at home when he gets there. The game was lost to Yakima by the errors of Spidell. The Yakima team showed that it is made of good material and that to defeat it in contests hereafter, or after the boys are in practice, will require more than an amateur team of central Washington. The Spokane team is out for practice so as to be in shape when the league season opens. The members play well together and will put up a better game when they buck against some of the other league teams of the northwest. Following is the scoring of the game.

The council the contract of the specifications covering the work were quoted showing what kind of material was to be used, but, according to the specifications covering the work were quoted showing what kind of material was to be used, but, according to the specifications covering the work were quoted showing what kind of material was to be used, but, according to the specific the specific transfer of transfer of the specific transfer of the specific transfer of transfe remonstrance, no part of the specifica-tions were carried out. The previous remonstrance against this work had been referred to the city attorney for an been referred to the city attorney for an opinion and the supplemental was also referred to him with the request that he at once give an opinion. He gave an opinion to the effect that it was the duty of the council to accept the report of the street and ditch committee on the work, which was to the effect that the work be accepted together with the assessment levy. This was done to place the city in the right position to fight the action of those who will take the matter into the courts for settlement. It is said the next step to be taken is to begin action in the courts as soon as an attempt is made to collect any, part of the assess-ment levied against the remonstrators.

Cherry street came in for the usual monthly round. It was brought up when the Lowe plat was submitted for approval. According to this plat the east end of Cherry street will be left only 15 feet wide, and then the question was raised whether it would be opened at all. The people living on the west end of the street were present and protested against accepting the plat, and accordingly it was laid over for two more weeks. It street by building a fence across it.
Council took action by ordering Marshal among the best in the Yakima valley. Mull to remove the obstructions. It is said the street has been in use for 28 years and any attempt to close it up or change the present location would be met with resistance in the courts. It when seen on Tuesday that he was not responsible for the obstructions.

A remonstrance was presented by Jay Sedgwick of the Northern Pacific Railway company against laying a board walk across the right of way of the road on the south side of Yakima avenue. The matter was laid on the table.

The plat of the Millview addition north of the flouring mill was approved. The plats of the Black, Modern and Lund's addition were laid over till next meeting.

Health Officer Burns reported that there are only three cases quarantined in the city and in a few days all of them will be raised. His bill for March was $130. He brought up the question of a dumping ground and said that he had secured a place with the provision that the owner of the land should have of all the rubbish in the city by giving him exclusive privilege to haul it away at 50 cents a load. This rubbish is to be dumped into the swale on the land at the foot of Yakima avenue. Protests had been made against dumping the refuse in the southern part of the city, as it caused obnoxious smells. It is the pur-pose of the board to ask people to pay this 50 cents a load for hauling away their refuse The wages of the night policeman are

cancy made by the resignation of Night Watchman Villaume.

The city attorney was directed to draw up an ordinance placing the south part of block 210 and the north part of block 211 on west Yakima avenue in the fire limits. REPORT OF YAKIMA MARKETS

Weekly Summary of Conditions in Principal Agricultural Lines.

HOPS.

The price of hops is declining slowly. How long such a condition will continue cannot be told at present. The buyers say they have no orders to buy at any figure, while the holders are confident that the situation is only temporary. There is no attempt to bear the market among the local buyers at present, for they have no orders from the firms they represent.

A. E. Poole & Co. this week bought the R. D. Herod crop of 47 bales and the crop of the Yakima Hop Co. The price was strictlev confidential.

A. E. Poole & Company have filed with the county auditor a lot of hop contracts that are considered very good for the growers. They are long time contracts and call for 12½ and 13 cents per pound. The short contracts made a week ago call for 16 and 17 cents. Fol-lowing is a list of the last deals closed: C. S. Mead, 1903-4-5-6-7 crop, 40,000 pounds a year, 12½ cents; Wide Hollow Investment Company, 15,000 pounds of 1903 and 30,000 pounds of 1904-5 crop at 13 cents. All the contracts are in favor of Pier Bros. of New York, who are represented here by A. E. Poole & Co.

The Chicago Brewer and Maltster in a late issue says: "Hop growers in the state of Washington believe that the biggest crop in the history of the industry in the state will be raised the coming summer. Hops have not been as high in twelve years before as the present price, 26 cents a pound. There has been a rising market since picking time last This strong demand is the prime cause for the increased acreage that will be raised. 'Ranchers in the hop growing dis-tricts are clearing off additional hop lands, and within a few years Washington will stand alongside Oregon in the producstand alongside Oregon in the produc-tion of hops. Herman Klaber, who op-erates a big hop ranch and buys hops, has prepared a table, giving the produc-tion of hops in bales, by counties. Last season's crop sold, in round numbers, for $1,500.000. There are approximate-ly 5000 acres of land under hop cultiva-tion in western Washington. Many prominent hop men believe prices will yet reach 30 cents, but they are not so sure of it now as they were four or five fat Ducks. With the world's crop by 60,000 bales of what was believed to be the actual requirements, holders thought they held the market in their own control, but the buyers have been stubborn. England, which was thought to be bound to buy in enormous quantities, seems to have gone to sleep and forgotten that there is such a thing in existence as hops. Eastern brewers are unconcerned, and do not even take the trouble to bid What the result will be, no one knows. The 1903 crop is being contracted at present at 16 cents. A Tacoma firm has contracted 500 bales at that price recently for eastern parties." MARKETS IN GENERAL.

During the past week J. M. Perry & Co. shipped II car loads of potatoes to the California and Sound markets, and by the time this week is out this firm will have shipped about that many more cars to outside markets. The price remains at about $6 and $7 with no indications that they will go higher. If any thing, the price may drop, even for a first class article. It was reported here the first of the week that 70 car loads of potatoes had reached Seattle in a few days from all points in the northwest. This had a tendency to reduce the price in the Sound markets. There are great many potatoes in the hands of the growers yet. Some offers have been made to sell in bulk as low as $2 a ton, but the fancy article brings $7.

Hay is now selling to the retail trade

$16 per ton for timothy and $15 for alfalfa. This is the biggest price ever paid in Yakima for one of the leading of the valley. There is none in the hands of the growers to be had even at these figures and in consequence shipments of hay are being made from outside points. "I look for hay to go to $20 a ton before cutting time comes around again," said a commission man to the REPUBLIC reporter this week. The demand is so great for the local trade and the article is so scarce that it is impossible for us to keep up a supply. I have no hay to sell, so I am free to say that $20 will be paid before June time comes again."

CATTLE AND SHEEP. A drove of 1500 cattle passed through, Wednesday, on their way to the spring range along the Columbia. The cattle are the property of Allen & Meyers of North Yakima and were in charge of George Swasey, a son of H. H. Swasey of the O. K. stable. ... J. Scheuneiman of the Pendleton Scouring Mills, was in sown this week and bought the Malloy wool clip at 11½ cents per pound. He made an offer on several other clips. but his offers have not yet been accepted. -Prosser Record.

The bachelors met at the dryer Saturday evening with a good attendance. Brother Holstene took the chair. The committee having charge of the funds to build a hall, reported progress. The major looked pleased and took occasion to say that as the ladies had declared war on the bachelors, they would not attend the reception the bachelors proposed giving. "What could be more fortunate," continued the major. "Why I can pick out four or five members with smooth faces, and give me a few old gowns, some false hair, paint and chew-ing gum and I will fix them up so you know the difference when dancing with them and go home contented and happy."

MOXEE.

All the hop yards of the valley are undergoing an extra amount of work this spring. The roots are being cleared of suckers and are being fertilized and the band will be around in a day or two thoroughly cultivated. It takes all the and it is hoped that every business man surplus help of the valley.

The meeting of Inspector Von Holder beke, state horticulturist, for the purpose of giving instructions on the planting and care of an orchard, will be held at the Moxee ranch at 1 p. m., April 15. Consent for the use of the place of meeting has been kindly given by D. E.

Band Concerts.

The members of Nagler's band have decided to give band concerts this season beginning some time next month as soon as the weather permits. It will be remembered that last season the boxs gave a series of very enjoyable concerts and they should have the hearty support of the business men and citizens. It should also be remembered that there is considerable expense connected with keeping a band in good trim such as buying music, paying musical director salary and other little things that count up to a large bill. Mrs. I. Van deMeer, I. Van deMeer, stone mason, of 615 No. 3rd st., say: "I suffered with backache and kidney complaint for years. It started with a tired-out feeling across the loins, later on backache now and then, and finally it became a regular thing. I tried to get rid of it at first by using simple household remedies and followed up the work by medicinal preparations said to be cures for such troubles, but I was unsuccessful in my attempts. In some way Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice, and thinking if they did some any good, they would not do me any harm, my husband called at Fred L.
Jeneck's drug store, on Yakima ave., and got a box. It proved to me that the treatment was just what I needed, for it went right to the root of the disease and gave me wonderful relief.
Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine remedy. I gave them a fair trial, using six boxes, so I know what I am talking about. I cheerfully recommend them for backache or kidney trouble of any kind."
