

FRUIT TRAINS TO RUN EAST DAILY

Northern Pacific Plans to Deliver Yakima Valley
Fruit in New York in Twelve Days.

To have daily fruit trains running on a regular schedule from the Yakima valley just as passenger and freight trains run is not the far away in the future dream of a promoter's prospectus, but a cold matter of fact business expectation of J. C. Roth, assistant superintendent of transportation of the Northern Pacific railway, who was in the city today looking up shipping prospects in company with Geo. B. Smith, traveling freight and passenger agent of the Burlington, and C. B. Cooper, general superintendent of the Northern Express company.

Authorities connected with the fruit business in many different capacities do not hesitate to speak in big figures concerning the future fruit industry of the Yakima valley. In the neighborhood of 3000 cars for next year, says F. E. Thompson, and from that the figures go trailing off to 10,000 and 15,000 and more cars for the years following. These figures are used glibly and confidently by buyers, shippers and railroad men. Thousands of new trees are coming into bearing. A traveling man recently in the city gave an offhand estimate of 20,000 acres as the acreage of orchards that would be bearing in 1911. Fair yields from this would mean not one but several trainloads of fruit from the valley each day—one from North Yakima and several from other points in the valley, such as Granger, Mabton, Grandview, Prosser or other convenient points.

Speak in Big Figures.

It is not at all impossible that the regular daily fruit train can be installed next year, says W. N. Irish of the Horticultural Union. Often last year the union packed six, eight or nine cars a day, and other establishments in the city were packing several each. Thirty cars a day for 100 days would be just 3000 cars, Mr. Thompson's estimate for next year's crop. This sanguine estimate is warranted not only by the fact that many new trees are coming into bearing but by the fact that the old trees are having a rest this year. The increase in acreage should continue for several years, as planting is still going on. Yakima county in 1908 planted more trees than any other county in the state.

The special fruit train arrangement would mean that fruit could be regularly gotten through to New York in 12 days, and to Chicago in eight or nine days. Some time might be lost in refrigeration on the way, but this could be made up by the fact that the train would be running on a regular schedule. In this connection it is interesting to note, too, that refrigerator cars were run on the Northern Pacific line last year, which required no re-icing between here and New York, the original icing lasting for the entire journey. This was because of the use of a new insulating fibre difficult of penetration by the heat. Quick transportation to eastern points is particularly imperative in the shipping of pears and peaches.

Fruit growing and shipping is becoming more and more a matter of co-operation, said C. B. Cooper, express superintendent, this morning in conversation concerning the shortened requisite period of transit, the advanced methods of pre-cooling and refrigeration, and the co-operation of the government by sending such experts as G. Harold Powell, the pomologist, to instruct the shippers in methods of handling fruit. Mr. Powell will employ three men in connection with his investigations in Puyallup, says Mr. Cooper. One will inspect the loading of the fruit, recording how it is packed, another will ride with the fruit to the east to see how it is affected on the way, and a third will record the condition of the fruit as it arrives at its destination.

Five hundred refrigerator cars are now in this valley and around Pasco and in the Walla Walla country ready to handle the coming fruit crop. It is almost imperative for the shippers to have cars here as soon as they are ready for them, and a delay of a day or two when a carload of fruit is ready for shipment is sometimes almost dangerous. One reason why cars get scarce is that the commission merchants to whom they go hold them as storage refrigerators until they have disposed of the shipments. They are glad to pay the dollar a day which the railroad levies as a penalty for the delay. Meanwhile the shippers may be suffering for the cars.

Mr. Cooper of the express company said this morning that he expects that the cantaloupe shipment from this section will compensate for the express tonnage lost by the peach failure. The shipment of strawberries this past season from Vashon Island and the vicinity was 23 cars. Puyallup berries are now going on in large numbers to Dakota and neighboring points.

Reclaiming Alkali Land.

D. G. Goodman, the well known sheepman, is engaged now for the third season in the effort to reclaim some 300 acres of land from alkali in the lower Altanum, and he feels confident of succeeding. Mr. Goodman's method is to first level the land and then to repeatedly flood it, the alkali being precipitated and most of it being carried away with the flood water. His experiments show that after proper flooding timothy, clover and alfalfa grow luxuriantly on ground previously saturated with the deadly alkali. Mr. Goodman in his experimental work along this line, is simply following out his own theory and he feels confident now that it is going to win and will justify the heavy expense he has been under in carrying out his idea. The land on which he is operating he purchased from the Woolsey, Benton and Carpenter ranches.

His neighbors, and owners of alkali lands generally throughout the valley, have been watching Mr. Goodman's operations with a great deal of interest, some of whom, noting his success, will doubtless follow his example. Mr. Goodman has been doing a splendid piece of work for the country as well as for himself.

TARIFF CONTINUES CHIEF TOPIC AT WASHINGTON

Situation is Very Complicated—Republicans Are Divided Over the Matter of "Downward Revision."

Washington, D. C., July 17.—The tariff continues to be the chief topic of interest in Washington and everyone is waiting almost with bated breath for some clear indication of the course of the conferees. The situation is unusually complicated because of the injection of two unknown factors in the equation. One is the "downward revision" influence of President Taft. The other is the "stand pat" influence of Speaker Cannon. "Close friends" of the president are authority for the statement that the outcome of the conference will be a "Taft bill," embodying the reductions of the house bill, those of the senate bill and a few more injected by the president himself for good measure. Other "close friends" of the president are authority for the assertion that he is worried over the situation, that his best efforts are not producing the results he expected and that it will be impossible for him to accomplish sufficient improvement to make it possible for him to sign the bill without considerable compunction. There is no doubt the president is doing all in his power to induce the conferees of the two houses to accept the lowest rates in every instance but it is probably equally certain that thus far insufficient progress has been made to enable any one to determine what the outcome will be.

"Stand Pat" Fight.

There are some serious obstacles to the end which the president seeks. The house conference committee, made up by Speaker Cannon to serve his own ends and to counteract the progressive tendencies of Chairman Payne, is a strongly "stand pat" aggregation and with the exception of Mr. Payne the few who are disposed to reduce the duties are so beholden of the speaker that they will place his will before their convictions. This means, of course, that to accomplish such the president must convert the speaker and, as Mr. Cannon is so fond of saying, "It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks." The president is especially anxious for free hides, free iron ore, free coal and free petroleum. Taking the last first, the very make-up of the committee is against free petroleum, entirely apart from the wishes of the speaker. For the house there are Representatives Dalzell of Pennsylvania and Calderhead of Kansas, both advocates of a tariff on petroleum, while the senate is represented in part by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, another ardent advocate of a duty on oil, and the mas whose determined fight in the senate led to the imposition of the countervailing duty carried in the senate bill, in the eleventh hour. Added to this is the position of Speaker Cannon, who has never forgiven the house for placing petroleum on the free list against his wishes, who has a number of independent oil producers in his own district who want a duty on oil, and who is determined that whatever else the conferees may do, the duty on oil shall not be stricken out, shall be increased if possible.

Duty on Coal.

Representative Dalzell and Senator Penrose will also stand out to the last ditch for a duty on coal. The indications are that the rate may be reduced to 50 cents a ton, or even 40 cents, but beyond that there is little prospect that the conferees will go, despite the earnest entreaties of the president. Of course the Pennsylvania men will hold out for the duty on iron ore. Mr. Dalzell was never known to vote against anything advocated by the steel trust, nor is Senator Penrose likely to. Senator Burrows, in whose state are located the largest ore beds, will stand with the Pennsylvanians and altogether the prospect of free iron ore is not brilliant.

Were Well Impressed.

The loan committee of the German Savings and Loan association were the guests of W. L. Steinweg of the First National bank of this city last Sunday. The party was taken for a trip throughout the city and valley, accompanied by Mr. Steinweg, Mr. Miller and Secretary James of the Commercial club.

The development of the city and country was beyond anything they had ever imagined in connection with this country, although Mr. Steinweg has been trying to impress the conditions existing here upon these gentlemen for years. Heretofore their answer has been until your city attains the 50,000 class and then we will invest. They practically agreed to loan $50,000 before leaving here but of course, it will have to go before the directors before it can be arranged.

Co-Operative Fruit Union

The Selah Horticultural Union is now incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000. The trustees are A. C. Wall, E. R. Henry, George McAnuly, A. E. Adamson and F. E. Remington. The officers will be elected this coming Monday. The company has planned to build a stone warehouse 50x140 feet, on the site already purchased for that purpose. The building will have a basement and general floor, but will be so constructed that another story may be added if necessary. The company are also planning to install a cold storage plant. The Union is now a stock company, but a clause in the articles of incorporation compel the members to release their stock as demanded by the ranchers who wish to come into the Union, until all members hold but one share, thus making it really a co-operative concern.

Both Yakima Teams Won.

The Tigers defeated the Toppenish Redskins by a score of six to three in the game between the two teams at Toppenish last Sunday. The Toppenish boys were very much disgusted with the outcome of the game because it might have been very much different had Olsen the Toppenish twirler, played the last few innings with the same spirit that he showed in the commencement of the game.

Olsen got sore, however, and laid down. He entirely disregarded the catcher's signals and gave the game away. It is rumored that a change will be made in the Toppenish lineup before the game is played tomorrow just the nature of the change and the names of those affected not being received.

The Wahis played the Colts at Ellensburg and created a sensation by defeating that team to the tune of 9 to 5.

A check for $1,945.40, the balance due on the Yakima County building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, was forwarded last Saturday to the contractors by W. B. Newcomb. The contract price was $8,436.

Minneapolis Man Buys Ranch.

W. T. McGann, of Minneapolis, who with Mrs. McGann has been visiting with the Phil A. Ditter family for some time, purchased the Sanislo place on Selah Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. McGann have left for Minneapolis to close out their interests in that city, after which they will return to North Yakima to reside.

Will Open Office at Fargo.

Fred Eberle left Tuesday evening for Fargo, N. D., where he will inspect and handle the fruit shipped by the Horticultural Union. Mr. Eberle will take a trip through the central states in order to become familiar with the crop conditions and get in touch with the commission men. He will visit Topeka, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Omaha and Winnipeg before he opens his office in Fargo, N. D.

Inspecting Irrigation Work.

A. P. Davis, chief engineer of the reclamation service and D. C. Heney, consulting engineer, have been inspecting the various reclamation projects under course of construction in the valley.

The party left for the work in the Bumping lake region last Friday and it is expected that the work there and at the Tieton will be investigated thoroughly before their return to this city.

Snake Hunting as a Business.

Adolph Heinwiz, of San Francisco, and party of three men are searching the hills and sagebrush between this city and Columbia river for rattlesnakes. Mr. Heinwiz makes a business of supplying reptiles to the various amusement companies, of which the hideous monsters are an important feature. The methods used to effect their capture are simple, a silk handkerchief being fastened to the end of a pole and waved in front of the snake. The snake strikes at the silk handkerchief and the effect of the silk on its teeth seems to paralyze it for a few minutes; the capture is effected while the snake is in this condition.

Gold Strike on Swuak.

Another big strike is reported in the Swuak district. A. F. York, formerly Kittitas county surveyor, and his partner, Frank Jordan, who have been prospecting in the mountains, found a piece of float last week which they traced to a cropping nearby. They found a pocket from which they took specimens of rich ore.

The prospect is situated in Lion gulch, and one chunk of ore weighing 75 pounds which was sent to Cle Elum last week carried $300 worth of gold. An ounce quartz nugget which the prospectors are showing their friends is more than half gold.

Inheritance Taxes.

Olympia, Wash., July 19.—Since the inheritance tax law went into effect in June, 1901, up to July 12, 1909, the state has collected a total of $293,315.08 from that source of revenue. The first year it was in effect the state treasurer collected $3,047.17, but in the next two years it ran up to $34,065.53, while from 1904 until 1906 the sum reached $66,534.68. From October 1, 1906, to June 15, 1907, when the work was put in the hands of the state tax commission, the sum went to $31,496.64, and from that date until September 31, 1908, the tax commission increased the amount to $79,526.17, making a total for that biennial period of $111,022.81.

Since October 1, 1908, the state tax commission has collected a total of $80,644.89. This amount has been secured in less than 10 months and means an average of more than $8,000 a month. The members of the tax commission expect to further increase this sum and average before the next two year period expires.

RESPECTED PIONEER DIED WEDNESDAY

Had Been a Resident of This Valley Ever Since 1879
--Funeral Today.

Funeral services over the remains of H. K. Sinclair, who was stricken with apoplexy at his home here early Tuesday morning, and who died last night, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Interment will be made at Tahoma cemetery. The services will be public.

Mr. Sinclair was born and raised in Gusborough county, Nova Scotia, where as a young man he applied his energy at the blacksmithing trade. He married Miss Fanny Bishop of the neighboring county of Antigonish, and to them were born five children, two of whom survive. Mrs. Alex Sloan and Mr. A. H. Sinclair of this city to mourn his loss and comfort the bereaved wife and mother. Of stalwart old Scotch ancestry, Mr. Sinclair was one of 12 children of whom now survive Mrs. John McPhee of this city; an older brother still in Nova Scotia and the youngest boy now in northwestern Canada. Mr. Sinclair would have been 69 years old the 17th of next October.

In 1879, while his children were yet very small, he and his wife made the long, tiresome and dangerous trip across the continent which took them more than a month, going by way of California, then up the coast to Portland and The Dalles and from there overland with teams to this valley. So full of hopes for the future and so sure that this would be a country of blessings and comforts were they that three years later his sister, Mrs. McPhee, and her husband came to join them where they had located in the Naches valley. Here they had taken up a tract of land and made a specialty of stock raising, having a large family orchard, and carrying on a very lucrative business. His whole heart was in this work and was so keen for it that, much as he loved camping in the mountains and fishing, he was never away from it for more than two or three days at a time. About eight years ago he sold out the major portion of this business and transferred it to bank stock, which he held at the time of his death in the Yakima National bank, of which he was a director.

"Uncle Hugh," as he was affectionately called by many people here, was one of the best loved men who have ever lived in this community and his death fills many hearts here with sorrow and genuine regret. Men who have been associated with him closely in business for the past 20 years have only the kindest expressions of love and regard for him, both personally and in a business way. He was a man whose word was as good as his bond, of strictest integrity and sterling qualities and his efforts for the uplift and benefit of his brother man have filled a place in the hearts of his acquaintances which will not be forgot-

Yakima County Sweeps the Boards at A-Y-P.

Following up its success with Spitzenberg apples, in which it defeated all competition at the exposition at Seattle recently, the Yakima valley has repeated its success with Yellow Newtown apples and is preparing to make it a three pointed victory by sweeping the boards with its Winesaps when that fruit is judged. The Yellow Newtowns were scored Tuesday and the results were as follows:

Yakima county, 495.
Okanogan, 481.
Klickitat, 480.
Chelan, 474.
Benton, 464.

The possible score was 500 and the figures show that Yakima was easily ahead of all competitors. The Chelan people, who claimed in the Spitzenberg show that advantage had been taken of them and that they were not prepared to make an exhibit, were compelled to take fourth place in Newtowns. Mr. Haasz, superintendent of the county building, says he proposes to clean up on Winesaps and then he will be happy. Any county that wants it, he adds, can have the honors as regards Benton.

Yakima county, Mr. Haasz says, continues to attract considerable attention and has its proportion of the visitors and more than its share of the praise.

"PERFIDY AND DISHONESTY."

The phlegmatic and easy going Mr. Taft appears to have been seized with the desire all at once to take a hand in the tariff making game, and he has projected himself into it with a vengeance, much to the dismay apparently of certain interests and their henchmen in congress, who thought that they had everything fixed in the Aldrich bill to their own satisfaction.

President Taft, like his ponderous predecessor, President Cleveland, is very desirous of securing free raw materials. However, he appears to take little interest in the general demand for lower duties on the finished products of manufacture. The president's aim seems to be to placate to some extent the demands of the middle west and to keep that section in line for the republican party by offering that section the sop of reduced rates on raw material, together with his fantastic corporation tax, which, of course, would prove to be an additional burden on the public, for the corporations won't pay it if they can find any way to avoid it.

The president might have saved a world of trouble if he had made known to congress on the start the sort of a tariff bill he wanted. Not having declared any convictions on the subject, publicly, at least, since his inauguration, in favor of a revision of the tariff downward, the discouraged "insurgents" as well as the public generally had naturally come to the conclusion that the president stood in with the Aldrich-Cannon crowd, and it was a very reasonable inference.

Indeed, that impression cannot be wholly removed unless the president chooses to use his tremendous power to demand for the government and the people further concessions from the Aldrich crowd in the schedules on public necessities, such as woolen and cotton goods, shoes and other articles. The trusts have dictated the rates on all such staples in the perfidious Aldrich bill and all the country knows it.

The proposed reduction on lumber, coal, iron ore, hides, etc., is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go very far. Without a corresponding reduction on manufactured goods the trust manufacturers would be even better off than they are now.

What has moved the president to act at all is doubtless the great roar of dissatisfaction that has gone up from the middle west over the Aldrich bill, a roar that threatened disaster to the party in power. The president having heard it has stopped playing golf for a time and is now playing politics.

LET THE TRUTH BE KNOWN.

There is a great deal of false and misleading information circulated in regard to the price of lands in the Yakima valley and some of this false information is circulated by people who ought to and do know better.

A well authenticated story comes from Seattle that many exposition visitors and possible settlers get the impression and return east with it that good, tillable land in the Yakima valley sells at a price of from $1000 to $2000 an acre, and that there is therefore little opportunity for men here who feel that they cannot afford to pay such seemingly exorbitant prices for farm land.

All of which is far from the real facts in the case, as every one conversant with the situation here knows. Because a certain relatively small area favorably located on Nob Hill, contiguous to the city, has been selling at prices of from $1,000 to $3,000 per acre, and because that fact has been unduly exploited by local newspaper correspondents and publicity agents, many interested outsiders, no doubt, who have been looking this way for a future home have apparently become impressed with the idea that all or most all Yakima farm lands are held at such ridiculous prices, therefore they are disinclined to investigate farther. Thus the Yakima valley seems to lose many settlers of the very class that it most needs.

The high values that Nob Hill lands command is due primarily to their location and to the fact that the city in its constant growth westward is surely destined to cover the most of that ground and convert it into a residence section for its wealthy class. That is why it looks good to investors, even at present prices. The Nob Hill lands, as a rule, too, are very highly improved, the most of the little farms up there having costly residences thereon. While a good fruit district, Nob Hill is no better than perhaps a dozen other sections of the valley.

Plenty of choice fruit land is still to be had in Yakima county at prices ranging from $100 to $500 per acre, conditional on location and value of improvements, which often include a bearing orchard, or one approaching the bearing stage.

Even these prices may and doubtless do seem unreasonably high to the average wheat or corn farmer of the middle west, who is accustomed to land values in his section varying from $25 to $100 per acre. There are even some eastern people who appear to think that the farther west they travel the cheaper they should find land to be. But that is their fault.

The purpose of our publicity organizations should be to try to remove these erroneous ideas that exist, especially in the minds of people who visit the Seattle exposition, and turn the homeseekers hither to investigate the situation for themselves.

We don't need the mere land speculator, nor the man who is always looking for something for nothing. The class of people that the Yakima valley wants is the thrifty homeseeker, possessed of some means, and who can adapt himself to intensive farming. For this class of homeseekers the Yakima country offers opportunities equal, if not superior, to any other section on the Pacific coast.

REMARKABLE VINDICATION.

The democratic platform for 1908 contained the following plank:

"We favor an income tax as part of our revenue system, and we urge the submission of a constitutional amendment authorizing congress to levy and collect tax upon individual and corporate incomes, to the end that wealth may bear its proportionate share of the burdens of the federal government."

Mr. Bryan indorsed this plank and urged the necessity of a constitutional amendment. President Taft, in his acceptance speech, insisted that an amendment was not necessary. For years the republican leaders have opposed an income tax and denounced the democrats for advocating it. But behold the change!

President Taft sends a message to congress proposing the submission of an income tax amendment and it passes the senate by a unanimous vote—77 ayes; nays, none. And it will undoubtedly pass the house. Was vindication ever more complete?

Democratic governors in states having democratic legislatures ought to call extra sessions at once and secure immediate ratification of the amendment. Income tax clubs ought to be formed immediately in every county—non-partisan clubs to pledge members of the various legislatures to vote for ratification. Now is the time to act. The dollars have been enjoying an exemption denied to man. As the law is now the government in time of war can take the husband from the wife, the son from the mother and the father from his children, and stand them up in front of an enemy's guns, but it can not, even in the hour of peril, compel wealth to bear its share of the expenses of the government. The income tax amendment ought to be ratified at the earliest possible moment. Let democrats get to work in every community and invite republicans to join them. Now for the amendment specifically authorizing an income tax.—The Commoner.

LEAVING THINGS ALONE.

Some grow weary of those who constantly cry out for progress. To them are commended Mr. Chesterton's words:

"But all conservatism is based upon the idea that if you leave things alone you leave them as they are. But you do not. If you leave a thing alone you leave it to a torrent of change. If you leave a white post alone it will soon be a black post. If you particularly want it to be white you must be always painting it again. But this which is true even of inanimate things is in a quite special and terrible sense true of all human beings. An almost unnatural vigilance is really required of the citizen because of the horrible rapidity with which human institutions grow old."—Colliers.

Senator Taylor, of Tennessee, recently enlivened the senate proceedings by telling this story: "Our country had been decimated by war, humiliated by reconstruction and weighed down by the highest tariff taxation this world has ever known, and we were in bad plight. We were in the condition of the good old praying member of the church who was afflicted all at once with every disease in the catalogue. He had rheumatism and aneurism and curvature of the spine and was finally stricken with paralysis; but after months of suffering he got better and went shambling one evening to prayer-meeting. The old preacher rose and said, 'Now, brethren, I want to have a good time here tonight. I want every one of you to get up and tell what the Lord has done for you. There is Brother Jones, God bless him; he has been afflicted and hasn't been with us for many months. Brother Jones, get up and tell us what the Lord has done for you.' Brother Jones arose and hobbled out in the aisle, and said: 'Well, he's about ruined me.'"

The new law regulating marriages in this state is pretty hard on the preachers and the marrying justices for it deprives them of a considerable amount of revenue. Hundreds of love torn couples who either don't care to undergo the prescribed physical examination or pay the fees in this state necessary to procure a marriage license, hike out for Oregon, Idaho or British Columbia to have the knot tied. However, the law is a good one, in theory, at any rate. As a nation we show a wonderful solicitude in breeding animals but not much interest is taken in producing a higher grade of men and women. Every state should surround the marriage relation with reasonable restrictions and safeguards, moral as well as legal. With too many people of this swift generation the marriage relation is but a farce.

If North Yakima had a summer resort near at hand popular with our townspeople a large amount of good, hard Yakima money might be kept at home. Certainly a large amount of money is expended every summer season by local people in running back and forward to their summer homes on the Sound or the seashore and in diversion. However, as the sapient editorial writer on our daylight contemporary remarked, its their own money and they doubtless felt that they have the right to spend it as they choose. We find no fault with that sentiment, but merely wish to observe that it is too bad that we haven't got some sort of a summer resort industry of our own.

Secretary Ballinger is back in Seattle at present spending his vacation and perhaps just incidentally doing a little political fence building as against the time next year when the senatorial lists will be open. That Ballinger has a weather eye on the seat now held by Senator Piles may be accepted as a political certainty. And that he is a bigger and better man for the senatorial job is also a reasonably sure thing.

The estimated cost to the state of getting rid of Schively is $35,000. But it is better to pay the penalty than to keep such a grafter on the job. As a last resort Schively is said to be appealing to his secret society friends over the state to aid in preventing his impeachment by bringing influence to bear on certain senators.

That the climate of the Pacific northwest is most favorable to long life is the belief of Dr. Rudolph J. Hoague, exponent of the simple life and author of the book, "How to Live One Hundred Years." He is going to establish a colony of his followers near Vancouver, Wash., where life will be along simple lines and next to nature. Simplicity of diet and clothing will prevail. Dr. Hoague's followers will be tucked into bed at sundown and will rise with the lark. Dull care and worry will be tabooed and members of the colony will be told to be always cheerful and happy. Dr. Hoague promises all who will live after his rules a hundred years of life.—News Note.

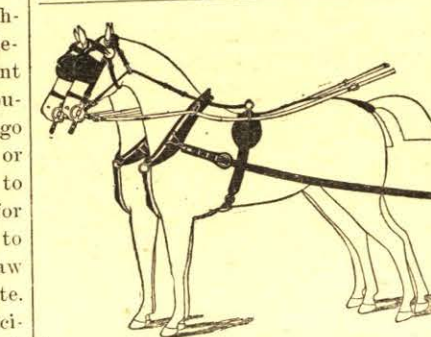

"Every section of the west is interested in irrigation and conservation. Irrigation places the water for supplying moisture to growing crops in the hands of the tiller of the soil. It insures perfect regularity in seedtime and harvest and removes the element of doubt from the fields of agriculture. But at the foundation of irrigation lies the preservation of the forests from which come water for power, irrigation and domestic purposes, wood for building at home—for lumber to ship abroad—and the scenic effects of nature in all her glory that should never be restricted."—Gifford Pinchot.

Senators Piles and Jones of this state with their votes in the senate supported all the obnoxious schedules proposed by "Boss" Aldrich, even voting for the $4 per ton tax on print paper, as against $2 per ton originally fixed in the Payne bill. A number of state papers are criticizing Piles and Jones for their votes on the print paper and wood pulp schedules and with justice, for, aside from the justice of the case, these men certainly owe something to the newspapers.

The King County Bar association is said to be investigating the connection of Senator Sam Piles, in his capacity as an attorney, with the Sullivan estate case. And when the facts are all learned they should be made public, although they probably won't be. What the public already knows in regard to the senator's connection with that affair is not very favorable to the Seattle statesman.

A WONDERFUL APPLE DISTRICT

Council Valley, Idaho offers perhaps the very best opportunities for the fruit grower of any section in the west. At an altitude of 2910 feet; surrounded by timber-covered mountains; with abundance of water for irrigation; with splendid shipping facilities over the Pacific & Idaho Northern railroad and land still selling as low as $60 per acre Council Valley indeed is worthy of careful investigation.

Apples have been grown in Council Valley for twenty-five years without a single failure and this year there is not only a full crop of apples but there is a fine crop of peaches, pears, prunes and all tender fruits as well.

Fourty-four plates of Council Valley apples won first prize on county sweepstakes at the Idaho State Fair at Boise last fall.

Six boxes of Council Valley apples at the National Horticultural congress at Council Bluffs, Iowa last fall won Seventeen prizes competing with the best from everywhere.

It will pay to investigate Council Valley. For full information regarding apple land investments in Council Valley address E. W. BOWMAN, "Sign of the Big Red Apple," Council, Idaho. 198-4t

Senatorial Elections and Constitution

With an income tax amendment to the federal constitution being submitted so smoothly and rapidly to the legislatures of the states for ratification, many people have wished that an amendment permitting the election of senators by direct vote of the people could be submitted at the same time. Mr. Bryan is not alone in this by any means, but he comes much nearer being alone in ignoring the fundamental difference between the two matters with respect to the practical possibility of their submission on the initiative of congress. His letter to President Taft on this subject is, unhappily, futile both in conception and in execution, for the senate cannot be affected by any agency or argument which the president has at his disposal.

If popular election of senators is provided for by constitutional amendment it will have to be done through a different process, that, namely, of calling a constitutional convention upon the request of two-thirds of the states. At one time or another almost enough of the states have made such a demand to comply with the constitutional requirements. If all the states which have not made the formal demand, but which have secured through primary elections an approximation to popular election, should join in the demand, the issue would probably be forced at once. Then it would be necessary to convince the senate that all these demands, strung out over a long period of time as they are, had cumulative force. The senate dictatorship being what it is, it might be very difficult to convince it on this point, but a way would certainly be found.

There is much more hope for the immediate progress of the popular election movement in the spread of primary laws, especially those of the radical type such as Oregon first established. Already 29 states have direct primary votes on senatorial candidates, four new ones having been added during the year. Three of these states—Oregon, Nevada and Nebraska—now have laws of the extremely radical type which give to all intents and purposes, direct elections. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon is already sitting in the upper house by virtue of such an election. A constitutional amendment will doubtless come in time to clinch this progress. The quicker it comes the better, but, unfortunately, Mr. Bryan's letter can hardly help it along.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Why Laws Are Broken

There are some laws which at the time of their enactment were accurate expressions of public opinion. But public opinion has changed, and has neglected to make laws change with it. There are other laws which never did express public opinion, but which were enacted and have been retained on the statute books through the indifference of a public opinion which is at heart hostile to them, or through its neglect or its inability to assert itself with effective expression. The reproach has often been uttered that we are a law-breaking nation. At least we must plead guilty to too light a regard for law and to too little insistence upon its uniformly being what in theory it is and what in fact it should be—the formal expression of enlightened public opinion.—New York Tribune.

WILL HANDLE 40 CARS.

Horticultural Union Expects Fully as Many Prunes
as Last Year.

Ten thousand prune crates are now being made up at the Horticultural Union warehouse in preparation for the prune season, which will commence about August 10. The Union handled 40 cars of prunes last year, and expects to handle fully as many this year. At 1000 crates to the car, this is 40,000 crates. Probably 10,000 or 12,000 crates of this amount will be packed by the Union, and the remainder will be brought in already packed by the growers. The prunes are mostly of the Italian variety.

Prune packing will commence at about the same time as prune packing. Estimates are not all in from the growers, so that the Union cannot say how many pears it will handle but the crop is expected to be decidedly greater than that of last year.

MUST PAY IN FULL FOR WATER

Restriction Is Placed on Settlers on Government Irrigation Project

Washington, D. C., July 20.—Under new regulations issued by the interior department, settlers on government irrigation projects may prove up on their lands and obtain title at the end of five years' residence provided they have fully complied with the requirements of the homestead law, and have made full payment for their water. But settlers who have made only partial payment for water, even though they have met all requirements of the homestead law, cannot acquire title, nor can they sell any of their land until the full charge for water has been paid. This latter restriction is a radical departure from the practice permitted by Secretary Garfield and already has brought about some criticism from Western senators.

NEW CONCESSIONS ARE OPENED ON PAY STREAK

"House That Jack Built" Most Interesting of Them.

Seattle, July 21.—A number of new concessions have opened their gates on the Pay Streak of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and the barkers are now mingling their cries with the other noises of fun street.

The House that Jack Built presents a front of huge alphabetical blocks; large reproductions of the kind that litter a nursery. Every man who has resided in a house, with a growing child and has stepped on an unstable object in the dark about two steps from the top of a flight of stairs, knows what these blocks are.

But it is no child's play to go through this House that Jack Built. It requires a steady nerve and a firm confidence in humanity. The visitor gropes his way along a tortuous passage in darkness. Every few seconds he strikes a new surprise. It is with a feeling of thankfulness that he again emerges onto the Pay Streak.

The Joy Wheel, or Human Roulette is another test of nerve. After the visitor has run the gauntlet there he feels qualified to sign up for the Orpheum vaudeville circuit.

"The Girl With the Auburn Hair" is a religious playlet which is given in the Swedish building. Excellent choir singing is a feature.

An Aerial Tramway over the waters of Lake Union swings the visitor high in the air through centrifugal force. It is a merry-go-round of swinging cars and it furnishes an excitement that always takes.

A big Ferris wheel is another new feature.

Built entirely of logs pegged together is the Arctic Brotherhood building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. It is a permanent structure and will be used as a club house by the Alaska students at the University of Washington.

Athletes from Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Minnesota and other colleges will participate in the great A. A. U. meet at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition in August.

To prepare an entirely different menu for each day is what the chef cooking canned salmon in the Alaska building at the Seattle World's Fair has to do to hold his job. The dishes of salmon are for distribution to visitors.

The most impressive exhibit on the grounds at the Seattle World's Fair is the miracle painting "In the Shadow of the Cross," by Henry Hammond Ahl. It is to be seen in the Swedish building. The picture is of Christ and the outlines of the figure and the cross may be distinctly seen in the darkness. So bright is the light radiating from the picture that a photograph has been made of the picture by this light.

There are about 750 flags floating over the different buildings and about the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. More than a million electric lights are used for illuminating at night.

The art exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition is valued at over a million and a half dollars. It includes work from the greatest private and public galleries of both the European and American continents.

Bath and lounging robes wired with electricity for warming the wearer are among the novelties shown in the Manufacturers' building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred Address: F. J. ## Death of Recluse.

L. R. Roberts, a recluse living near the Cascade Lumber company's siding on North Second street for several years, died at the St. Elizabeth hospital Saturday evening. His age is given as 69. Very little is known of his former life or circumstances, as he seldom said anything about his past life. He has been dependent on the charity of the neighbors living near him for his maintenance for several years. He had been ill since last December and removed to the hospital about three weeks ago.

INDIANS SOON GET LEASE MONEY

Checks Amounting to $35,000 to Be Distributed from Fort Simcoe Headquarters.

The payment of lease money to the Indians on the Yakima reservation—an event for which many merchants and others in this city wait regularly with much interest—will be on in full force at Indian Agent S. A. M. Young's headquarters at Fort Simcoe by next week. The many Indians who are wont to spend their money in North Yakima when they have it and "run their faces" when they don't have the money will soon be in possession of one of the two big bank rolls which they get each year and can reasonably be expected to be around blowing themselves and paying their debts within the next ten days.

Lease money is paid the Indians for the property which is theirs under the law and is not in their direct control. While payments are made oftener than twice a year, this July payment is one of two payments which are of consequence. Mr. Young, the Indian agent, said today that his office would pay out about $35,000, some of the Indians receiving as much as $400. All these payments are made by checks upon the several banks in Yakima county through which the government transacts its Indian business.

Have Big Time During July.

Among the Indians, the month of July has, from time immemorial, been set apart as a month for merry making and the early days of July bringing the white man's independence day are almost riotous on any Indian reservation. Horse races are held and many an Indian's property changes hands in accordance with his good or bad judgment as to how fast a cayuse can run. Mr. Young says that the Fort Simcoe locality had its full share of excitement this year but that the jollification is now about at an end. Edward S. Curtis, the Seattle Indian expert, who had been on the reservation earlier in the season, found the promise of unusual celebrations strong enough to bring him back again and he and his party spent their fourth of July with the Indians near the fort.

SEATTLE STOCK SHOW MOST ATTRACTIVE FEATURES

More Than $63,000 in Prizes Will Be Given—Many Entries Already Made Show Much Interest.

Seattle, July 21.—The Livestock Show and Poultry Exhibit of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition which is scheduled for September 27th to October 9th, promises to be one of the most attractive features of the entire Fair. Inquiries concerning dates, reservations and privileges have been received in large numbers from breeders in different sections of the United States and Canada and in addition to the show, many sales will be held so that many of the best specimens will find new homes in the Pacific Northwest.

More than $63,000 in cash prizes is offered. A large number of handsome and valuable cups, medals, souvenirs and ribbons have been put up by associations and individuals.

Eli Rockey of South Bend, Wash., gained the honor of making the first entry. His concession consists of a carload of standard bred horses. Many other entries followed in quick succession, the most prominent of which were those of J. E. Mason of Spokane, who has a string of Kentucky saddle horses; H. C. Constance of Independence, Ore., who comes with Percheron and Belgium horses; William Bishop of Chimaquam, Wash., who enters 25 head of Holstein cattle; and Walter J. Downes of McCoy, Ore., who will be in the ring with Jersey cattle and Hampshire swine. The Hazelwood Farm of Spokane, Cal. Chas. July of Illinois, and George Smith of California, will conduct sales during the livestock show.

NEW JURY STATUTE HALVES ELIGIBLES

Work of Preparing First Panel in Yakima County Is Just Completed.

The work of preparing the first jury panel which has been arranged under the new jury law in Yakima county has just been completed after a month of hustling in the superior court clerk's office. With the panel ready for the first drawing of a venire which, however, will not take place until the latter part of September or the first of August, one especially interesting result of the new law is apparent. Just about half of those male residents of Yakima county who were liable to jury service under the old law are liable under the new law; the eligibles now numbering about 4,000, where they formerly numbered more than 8,000. The new law provides that the jurors are to be selected from those residents of the county who are taxpayers and voters. The old law provided that jurors should be selected from those who were taxpayers or voters. The changing of or to and has cut the list in two, as there are many men who pay taxes who are not to be found on the list of voters and, sometimes when election boards are not wary, there are men whose names get on the voters' list without these men having paid taxes.

No Jury Commissioners.
Under the new law there are no jury commissioners and the work of choosing jurors for the superior court of the county devolves upon the clerk of the superior court. Although July and August are vacation months in almost every court, the law specifies that preparations for the drawing of jurors shall be made during that month. In this county Clerk Barr and his assistants have found that the making up of the list of 4,000 names has been very difficult.

The new act provides that each county in the state shall be divided into jury districts by the superior court judge, these districts to be not less than three nor more than six in number and are to be so designated that each district shall have in it about as many people as any other district. Judge E. B. Preble has chosen to divide Yakima county into but three jury districts, which are marked out with convenient and stable boundaries. In district No. 1 there is included all that portion of the county east of the Yakima river; in district No. 2, the voting precincts of Yakima City, Fairview and all the city of North Yakima excepting wards 3 and 4, and in district No. 3 the remainder of the county, including the wards 3 and 4 of this city.

Clerk, Blindfolded, Draws Jurors.
The names of those liable to jury service have been listed according to districts and when a drawing is to be made these names will be copied on little slips of paper, each slip containing one name. In one jury box, all the names from one district will be placed; in another jury box, all the names from another district, and in a third box, all the names from the third district. Blindfolded, Superior Court Clerk A. W. Barr will draw from each box in turn until enough names to fill the venire of jurors have been secured. Judge Preble usually calls for a venire of 50 or 55.

ARE NOT WITHIN LAW

County Commissioners Are So
Inclined to Think of the Poultry People.

The Yakima County Poultry association's committee which has been appointed to meet with the county commissioners in an effort to secure for the association the annual $250 appropriation to which regularly organized associations are entitled under the new state law, received but little encouragement from the directors of the county's money this afternoon. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Moren, when called upon for an opinion, held that the new law intends that the $250 appropriation be given only after a county poultry association has been regularly incorporated and has held one regular annual show, or in other words has been incorporated for at least one year. Unless the county commissioners and the deputy prosecuting attorney are able to convince themselves that their interpretation of the new law is erroneous, the local society will not receive any financial help for some time.

The Yakima county association has not yet been incorporated although it has held a number of shows which the members claim have been annual shows. The incorporation, it is said, will be attended to at once.

Interested members say that the association in Tacoma secured the $250 appropriation only a few days ago under circumstances which are identical with the ones which exist here.

SPOILED POTATO CROP BY EARLY PLANTING

Were Too Anxious to Be the
First in the Market Says
R. Longevin.

Many people spoiled their potato crop this year by their anxiety to have early potatoes for the first market, says R. Longevin, the hay and potato dealer. Potatoes sold at such a good price last year that everyone wanted an early crop this year. They planted too early, and as a result many of the potatoes rotted in the ground.

Mr. Longevin supports the statement that there will not be a bumper crop in this locality. He thinks, too, that the acreage in potatoes this year is no greater than it was last year, so that the total crop will be much less. Even if the spring had been as warm as usual the planting would have been too early.

City and County News

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

F. B. Nelson, agent of the Deschutes Irrigation and Power company, is here for a few days looking after the interests of his company. Mr. Nelson will leave here next Monday with a crowd of prospective investors, for the Deschutes valley, Oregon.

The street railway company's work on the proposed extensions on North Fourth and Maple streets is held up for lack of material.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Boone of Urbana, Ill., Miss May Galloway of Chribman, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell of Spokane, who have been the guests of Dr. Lowther, left for Seattle this week.

Mrs. Johanna Riggermeier, aged 80 years, and living with the J. W. Bowers family in the school section district, attempted suicide by cutting the artery in her wrist with a knife last Tuesday. The attempt was discovered by members of the family before she had fatally injured herself and Mrs. West and Fletcher were called to attend to her wounds. She is now in the St. Elizabeth hospital.

Secretary Ballinger will be here on the 9th of August if nothing serious arises to interfere with his plans. While here Mr. Ballinger will inspect the various irrigation projects under course of construction and will also confer with the water users on the various phases of the system, which are of interest to them. It is expected that some plan will be devised, whereby the work on the Tieton will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The new Buffalo-Pitts steam road roller, which has been going through a series of tests, under the expert direction of H. W. Canfield of the Buffalo-Pitts company, will probably be accepted by the county commissioners, as it has been thoroughly tried out and has proved satisfactory. Its acceptance will give the county three good road rollers, which will provide one for each district.

W. T. Betts secured the contract for the excavating work of the Elks' Temple last Wednesday the contract price being $1,099. The work of excavating will commence Monday morning and will be finished inside of three weeks.

Duncan J. Sloan of North Baltimore, O., is visiting with his brothers, George Alex Sloan. Mr. Sloan will visit the exposition, British Columbia and Alaska before returning to his home in the East.

Walter Campbell was committed to Medical Lake by order of Court Commissioner Cresap last Wednesday. Campbell is a wreck mentally and physically, caused by living a life of dissipation. Nothing is known of his former life or of any relatives in the surrounding country.

Byron Hunter, who has charge of the Pacific coast investigation in behalf of the bureau of plant industry of the United States department of Agriculture, spent Wednesday in this city, conferring with some of the residents of this section, securing data in connection with his work.

Walter Granger of Zillah was in North Yakima last Wednesday.

Miss Mabel C. Merritt has been appointed deputy county health officer by Dr. P. Frank.

A marriage license was issued Wednesday to William F. Dooley and Miss Edith M. Pitt, both of this city.

A mining claim has been filed with the county auditor by J. Leslie Court-right for 1500 lineal feet and 600 feet in width on Shilbette No. 1. This is located in Shell Rock basin, about three and a half miles from Fish Lake, on an old Indian trail leading to Gold Hill.

Dr. P. Frank was unable to attend the meeting of the state board of health held in Seattle, before which he was to speak on "Public Health and Sanitation," so he sent his paper on the subject, that it might be read before the board.

Sheriff Lancaster aroused the police from their apparent lethargy by invading the precincts of the city and issuing an order upon the inmates of Sam Chong's place on Front street to vacate by Sunday. The police got busy at once and last Wednesday notified the ladies to move at once. The mayor has issued orders to the effect that the lid must be on good and tight.

A large number of the members of the local Elks are arranging to go to Seattle, July 2 and 29, the dates set for the Elks' circus. The Seattle lodge is advertising an entertainment of great magnitude, the program consisting of 500 performers.

H. Y. Saint, register of the United States land office here, has returned from his vacation which was spent in Seattle and British Columbia.

Health Officer Fitch has been engaged in making an inspection of the restaurants and meat markets of this city. Samples of milk served to the patrons of the restaurants, some of whom have made complaint regarding the quality and purity of the milk, were taken and if these fall below the requirements of the state laws, prosecutions will be instituted.

Dr. Rittenour left this week to look over the Deschutes county in Central Oregon.

Hiram Carpenter, a well known Yakima pioneer merchant, is confined to his home on North Fourth street and is said to be seriously ill with diabetes.

A number of city people Sundayed at Soda Springs, making the trip in automobiles.

William Hackett, a well known Ahl-tanum rancher, and son returned home Tuesday from a week's visit at the exposition. Mr. Hackett was well pleased with the fair and says that the Yakima county exhibit on the whole is a good one.

C. H. Hinman and Ernest Woodcock are preparing to move their real estate office from the First National building to a ground floor location in the Coffin-Herke building.

L. H. Linbarger returned home Monday from a short trip through the Palouse country. He says that the wheat crop over there will be the best that the farmers have had in years. That fact, taken with the splendid price outlook, puts the wheat growers in a very cheerful frame of mind.

F. C. Hall returned Sunday from a vacation trip to the Sound.

Dr. George Sloan, who recently visited Soda Springs for the first time is of the opinion that the waters of those springs are equal to their good reputations. However, he thinks it unfortunate that such a valuable gift of nature should be left undeveloped. The main spring, he says, oozes up in a quagmire, making it most unpleasant for visitors to secure the water. Properly developed, he thinks, the springs would be a great public benefit.

P. Y. Heckman and wife are in camp on the shore of Lake Washington with old friends and thus pleasantly situated are enabled to enjoy the exposition at their leisure.

Nelson Rich, wealthy old time merchant of Prosser, having grown weary of living a retired life at Seattle, has returned to Prosser, where, he says, he feels more at home, and is developing his ranch property there.

Attorney Keith Dunlop returned the first of the week from the Cle Elum mining district, having started a force of men at work on his property there. Boston and Pittsburgh men, he says, are in that field inspecting different mining properties.

David Longmire came over Saturday from Longmire Springs, where he has been superintending the improvements being made by his company. A fine new bath house has been built, walks laid out and the grounds generally beautified. He says that there is a large tourist travel to the springs and Mt. Rainier this summer.

Elmer Burbank, formerly of this city, but now of Cheney, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Burbank, some time ago, interested a number of local men in the H. E. M., a new silver-lead mine in Idaho, which is turning out very rich. The owners of the mine feel confident now that they have a bonanza.

Dell Hiseck, who returned a few days ago from a visit to his father at Syracuse, N. Y., is quite optimistic in regard to the outlook for a profitable hop market this fall. Mr. Hiseck cultivates one of the largest yards in the valley on his Moxee ranch and has always had faith that the hop industry would right itself in time.

Sheriff Alex McNeil of Prosser came up to this city Tuesday to procure Sam Dennison who has been in the county jail here for safe-keeping. Dennison was convicted of manslaughter last month for the killing of George vans. He will be sentenced this week by Judge Holcomb, but the case will be appealed to the supreme court. H. J. Snively is defending Dennison.

H. J. Rand was at home the first of the week from Bumping Lake. Mr. Rand has the contract to supply all the reclamation camps on the Tieton with fresh meat, the camps requiring about 1,200 pounds per day to meet the needs of 350 men. The slaughtering is done daily at a point above camp 1.

Prof. Barton of Minneapolis, a brother of Mrs. W. M. Watt and Mrs. W. B. Dudley, is here on a vacation visit, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Watt. Prof. Barton expects to look over the Yakima country with the view of acquiring a tract of fruit land.

D. A. Thompson, of the Emporium Dry Goods company, left the first of the week for New York, where he will purchase goods for the store.

Josie Mills and Evelyn Wright, who were before Justice Karr's court a short time ago on a charge of vagrancy, preferred by the citizens of Naches City, and forfeited $25 by non-appearance, were again before the justice last Saturday on the same charge. They were fined $100 and costs. The case has been appealed by their attorney, Vestal Snyder. The women were held under a $250 bond. Attorney Snyder objected to the amount of the bonds without success.

Local tennis enthusiasts are planning to attend the coast tennis tournament, which will be held in Tacoma the first week in August. Practice tournaments will be held with Zillah and Sunnyside, there being some good players on both teams. It is proposed to select two men to represent North Yakima at the coast tournament, who will stand some chance of winning some laurels for the home team.

Mr. Chas. L. Owen and his brother-in-law, Mr. Jennings, of New York, spent a few days on the Tieton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coffin are visiting in Seattle this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Purdy Flint are taking in the A.-Y.-P. this week.

The marriage of Miles Cannon, a former well known business man of this city, and Miss May, who formerly occupied a position as teacher in the public schools here, was announced recently from Weiser, Idaho, where the newly wedded couple will make their future home.

H. H. Glover, who has been an inspector on the Tieton project, has accepted a position with the war department and will leave to enter into his new duties in the Philippines in the near future. Mrs. Glover and sons will follow in the fall.

J. E. Shannon is rapidly regaining his health at his home on Nob Hill.

Phil Ditter, J. J. Callahan, Alfred and Reuben Meyer and J. P. Kesting are enjoying an outing in the mountains surrounding the Big Klickitat Springs. The party will be absent about another week.

Sumach was the most popular resting place about the city last Sunday. Many people, who are unable to visit the park during the week, took advantage of the Sabbath day of rest and spent the day with their families at the park. Mr. Steinweg will add to the attractions already there by the purchase of two brown bear cubs, which will be installed in a new home at the park in the very near future.

The small boys are enjoying the warm weather, by making use of the irrigation ditches as "the old swimming hole." Numerous complaints have been made to the police by residents living near those spots most frequented by the boys because the boys do not wear bathing suits.

Dr. P. Frank, county health officer and a member of the state board of health, was notified Saturday that he would be on the program as a speaker on "Health and Sanitation" at the meeting of the Pacific Medical association to be held at Seattle July 21 to 25 inclusive.

A fire, caused by a defective flue, burned the Pleasant Valley store and postoffice. C. M. Kinney, the owner and proprietor, suffers considerable loss, as the insurance on the buildings and stock was only $1200. A small portion of their personal effects and a sack of mail was all that was rescued from the flames.

Many people who have made application for land in the three Indian reservations, for which a drawing is to be held on the 9th of August, will find their applications have not been accepted because of their negligence in not following their instructions in making the application.

The Polow Carnival company were among the amusement attractions afforded the residents and visitors of the city this week. The shows were very fair, about the same as the average carnival company. The crowds attending, having more fun throwing "Oriental face powder" than could be had by attending the shows, as is often the case at a carnival.

H. D. Baker has contracted with H. H. Schott for the delivery of 15,000 pounds of this season's hops, at 10 cents per pound.

Miss Elizabeth Osborne of Salt Lake City and her sister, Miss Amy Osborne of Tacoma, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Rossiter at the Sanitarium. Mrs. Plummer, also a guest of Mrs. Rossiter, will leave in company with the young ladies when they leave to continue their tour of the northwest.

Mr. J. P. Anderson and family of Sioux City, Ia., have taken up their residence in North Yakima. Mr. Anderson has a fruit ranch in the Parker Bottom country, but is now employed in the Star Clothing company store.

Morrissey-Murray Nuptials.

Married, in the Sacred Heart church of Seattle, July 14, Rev. Father Shuten officiating, John D. Morrissey of North Yakima and Miss Eleanor Pascale Murray of Seattle. Mr. Joseph Murray acted as best man and Miss Katherine Murray attended the bride. Relatives and number of invited friends attended the ceremony. The happy bride and groom left for Alaska to spend their honeymoon.

The new Mrs. Morrissey is a cultured young lady of Seattle, the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Murray, of 2919 First avenue.

The groom is too well known to need any introduction to the people of Yakima. He is a bright and promising young man who has lived in the Naches. For the past three or four years he has been engaged in a large way in the real estate business, and has met with gratifying success. His many friends, including the Democrat, wish for Mr. Morrissey and his bride a long and happy married life.

TIDE TURNS NOW FROM FAIR TO NORTH YAKIMA

People Impressed By Yakima Exhibit Coming Here to See Valley for Themselves.

People who have been duly impressed by the Yakima exhibit at the exposition are commencing to drift back this way, although it is yet too early to expect a great influx of the impressed ones. F. J. Tompkins and C. N. Springer, of Pekin, Ill., whom W. N. Irish met during his recent visit in Seattle, were in the city yesterday and spent a considerable portion of the afternoon in visiting Parker and other districts with Mr. Irish. They were both delighted and signified their intention of moving to this country as soon as they can arrange their affairs satisfactorily.

J. S. Gillett of Eau Claire, Wis., recently wrote on the Yakima exposition register, "Must have some of the land."

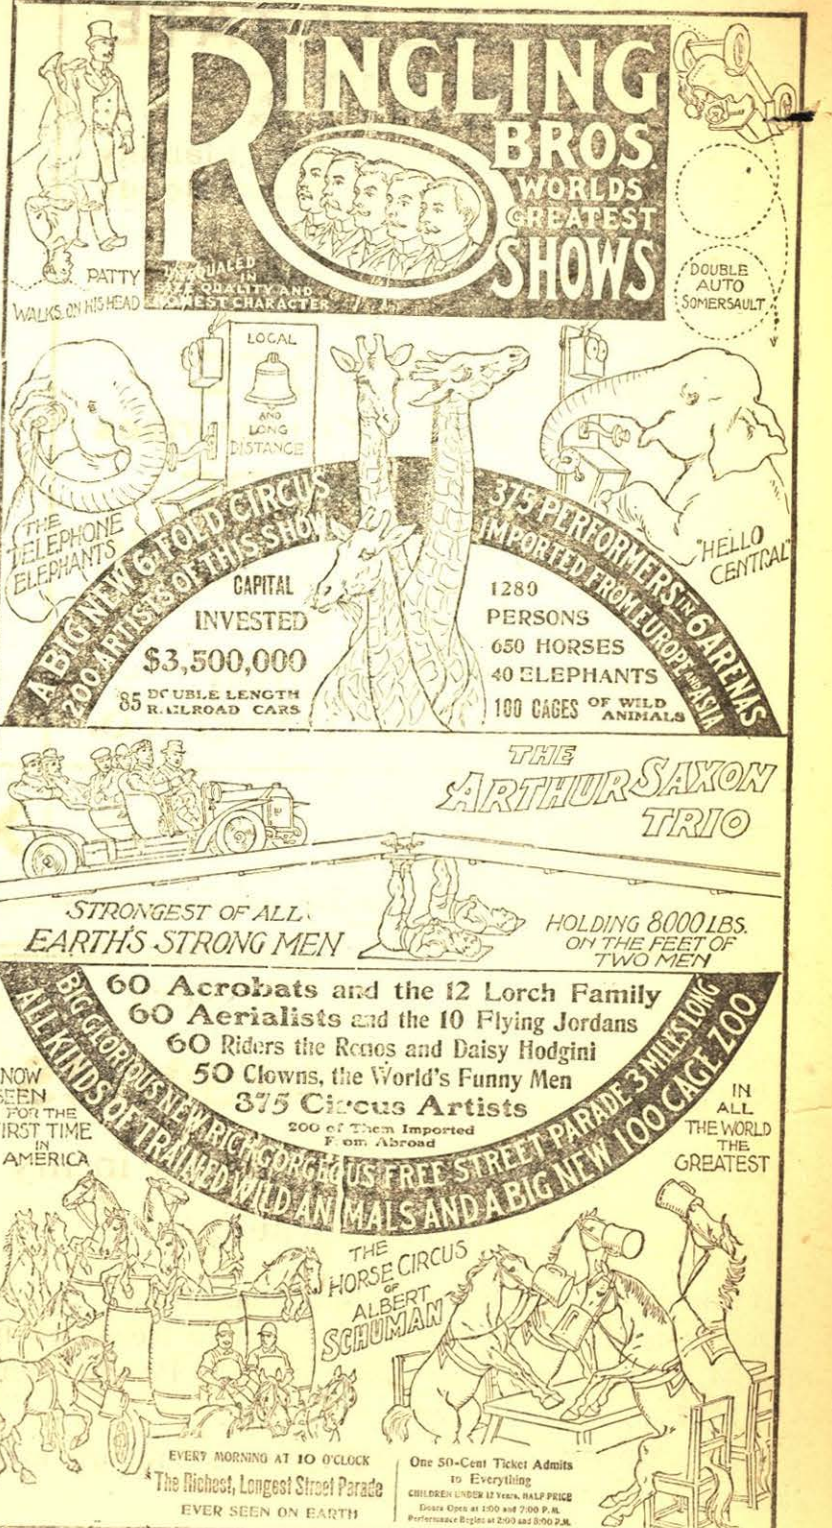

He saw Mr. Irish over there, made a trip to North Yakima to look at the country and then saw Mr. Irish over there afterward, and he also has been won over.

Tim Kelly, who returned from Seattle only a short time ago, says he thinks that people over there are sincere in their promises to visit Yakima on their way home. There are many whose tickets read via San Francisco who will not visit here.

We respectfully request your investigation, verification and action in this matter.
