Dear Click:

Just a quick note to thank you for all your help and for making my stay in Yakima so enjoyable. Wish we'd had more time for a few more night outs, but I lack your energy.

Have enjoyed your book very much and my wife is now reading it. She also is a student of the American Indian and this is new tribe and type to both of us.

I hope one day to pay you another visit even if it is only for a vacation.

Thanks again, Click,

All the best,

Lan Lane

Dear Click:

You may rewrite this to suit yourself. Some of the folks there may be interested in the news.

We are hoping Daves will return in a few days, but meantime Karl ^Malden is doubling in brass.

Thanks for your note and was very interested in your findings about the Indian women posing as men(Lesbians?). It would be a worthwhile research job to go back into history and see how much of this went on among the various tribes. Could be a hell of a book.

(Give my best to Charlie, if he's back. I'll drop him a line later.)

Best,

Len

Dear Click:

Well, here's that story I promised you in a weak moment. It seems a little long, but perhaps you could find a spot for it in the Sunday edition?

By the way Coop's address is:

9441 Wilshire Blvd. Beverly Hills, Calif.

Picture finishes today and the rest of the week we'll be doing ad stills, etc. I will stay on till about Friday a week to wind up my campaign, writing another dozen features or so.

I'm going down to Mexico for a week and then I may return to Warners to do "The Philadelphian." At least, that has been suggested to me.

Many thanks, Click, for all your help and I hope this metts with your okay. If I return here or whatever, I'll drop you a line and let you know my plans.

Give my best to Charlie,

Regards,

Len
