Cle Elum (Special)-- Shades of this area's colorful past will be re-lived here during the Diamond Jubilee July 1 to 5. The celebration is teamed up with the annual Central Washington Loggers Festival on the Fourth of July weekend.

Competition in logging events will attract champions from all over the Pacific Northwest. Climbing will be done on a 90-foot live tree. Loaded logging trucks will compete in a driving contest. There'll be axe chopping, tree-falling, log birling, axe-throwing, choking, power and handsaw bucking, a lady's axe chopping event and a live two-year-old buffalo will be given away.

On July 4 there'll be a big parade. Other events include: bocci ball, a horse-pulling demonstration, old-timers dance, Chatauqua of the '90's, a river race, an antique show, rock display, bicycle races, childrens races, a beard contest and loggers breakfasts.

There are dozens of motels and campgrounds within a 25-mile radius of Cle Elum which is located 84 miles east of Seattle on Highway 10.

Details may be obtained by writing the Cle Elum Chamber of Commerce, Cle Elum, Wash.
