DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE FULL TICKET

Members of A. J. Splawn Club and Others Interested in Party Meet at Courthouse to Consider Plans for Future.

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the A. J. Splawn club was held in the farmers' room of the courthouse last Monday evening.

The purpose of the meeting was to consider the condition of the democratic party in this county and to see that arrangements are made to place in the field a good, strong, representative ticket for the democrats. The situation was discussed in an informal way and at considerable length.

A proposal to send a committee of five to attend the meeting of the state central committee at Tacoma July 27 was voted down, after it was made plain that such a committee would be practically powerless to aid Mr. Splawn in his candidacy before the state committee.

Chairman Snively asked for the sense of the meeting in regard to a proposal not to place a Democratic legislative ticket in the field in Yakima county this year as a compliment to Representative Jones, candidate for U. S. Senator. This proposition called forth a heated discussion and it was plain from the first that the sentiment of the meeting was opposed to such a course.

Messrs Winsor, McAulay, Medill and Case addressed the meeting and while each paid a compliment to Mr. Jones it was the general opinion that a failure to nominate a straight legislative ticket would be poor politics. It was pointed out that in the event that Ankeny should defeat Mr. Jones in the Republican primaries the Yakima county Republican legislative candidates would be left tied up tightly to Senator Ankeny, having subscribed to the pledge to vote for the winner in the legislature. In such a case the Yakima Democrats would be in the position of the man left holding the sack. The motion, being so evidently unpopular, was not put to a vote and the question was dropped.

It being the sense of the meeting that a complete Democratic ticket, both legislative and county, should be placed in the field and that the said ticket should be composed of the best men available a motion made by Mr. Winsor was passed that a committee of five be appointed to facilitate the matters of putting a desirable ticket in the field, it being understood that all declarations of candidacy must be filed by Aug. 8, under the provisions of the direct primary law. The chair appointed as such a committee Messrs Winsor, Medill, W. F. Jones, Erwin and Talbot of Toppenish. The committee was instructed to report to a meeting of the Splawn club to be held next Monday evening.

It was also decided that a Bryan campaign club would be organized here the initial step to be taken Monday evening. In case Mr. Splawn decides to make the race for governor, and he has promised to definitely announce his intentions next Monday, the organization will probably be known as the Bryan-Splawn club. All Democrats of Yakima county are invited to attend.

GREAT BRYAN RALLY IN SEATTLE

Alden J. Blethen and Other Prominent Men Declare Nebraskan Will Be Elected President of the United States.

Alden J. Blethen, editor of the Seattle Times, who entertained William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate for president, when he was in Seattle, at the Bryan ratification meeting held last night said Mr. Bryan would be elected next November. He said also that William Randolph Hearst was "a brilliant young man," and that Republican rule, in his opinion, would be turned out of the White House in the next election.

Blethen was given an ovation as he marched from the rear of the hall towards a platform when he was called upon to address the meeting.

The keynote of Blethen's speech was contained in the statement that he believed March, 1909, would end twelve consecutive years of Republican rule in the White House. He spoke of Hearst as a "brilliant young man who is twenty years in advance of the times," and of Bryan as being without a superior as a citizen, an orator, a constructive statesman and a Christian gentleman.

Blethen said that Mr. Taft was an able statesman and a good man and was to be admired for his splendid attainments, his patriotism and the good he had accomplished as an administrative officer and a member of the cabinet. His estimate of Bryan, however, placed him above Taft in constructive statesmanship.

"As a citizen of high ideals Mr. Bryan has no superior," declared Blethen. "As an orator he has no equal in the world. No living man surpasses him in constructive statesmanship. No better man in morals, in public and private life, in lofty ideals, treads the earth." This tribute brought forth great applause.

Taft is quoted today as saying at a speech dedicating a court house in Virginia that things are balancing up in that state," he said. "And he added that it was a good sign, as it was always better that one party should not be continued in power. We will extend that doctrine of Candidate Taft to take in the whole country instead of merely confining it to Virginia, and say that in November Republican rule in the White House will be turned out."

M. F. Harrington, of Lincoln, Neb., made a telling speech, which was largely argumentative. He referred to Nebraska as "the Virginia of the new revolution."

The meeting was opened by J. E. Riley who introduced L. E. Kirkpatrick as the presiding officer. Speeches were made by C. R. Hawkins, George F. Cotterill, Judge Simons, Charles A. Reynolds and Judge F. A. McDonald, the latter describing the Denver convention.

The hall was filled with enthusiastic Democrats and the name of Bryan was cheered every time it was mentioned.—Seattle P-I July 22.

WHY DON'T CITY BUY SUMACH PARK?

The Only Available Park Site Near Town---North
Yakimans Appreciate W. L. Steinweg's Philanthropic Motives---Band Concert Tomorrow.

Sumach Park, the property of W. L. Steinweg, which has been thrown open to the public, affords a great deal of pleasure to residents of the city these hot days. Every afternoon the grounds are visited by scores of people who seek the coolness to be found in the shade of the trees along the banks of the lagoon.

Mr. Steinweg is certainly deserving of a large buttonhole bouquet from the city fathers showing their appreciation of his philanthropic efforts in behalf of the public.

Why don't the city try to buy Sumach Park from Mr. Steinweg now? It is the only place around here for a public park, and could possibly be purchased now much cheaper than it can be later on. While it is understood that Mr. Steinweg does not care to sell the property, yet, he is a citizen of such public spirited tendencies that if the matter was laid before him he might be induced to sell.

Under no condition, however, would Mr. Steinweg sell his property to the city for park purposes, unless he was assured in the outset that the city intend to beautify the grounds and take advantage of the natural situation of the grounds to establish a public park.

North Yakima is growing fast. Its population has almost doubled in the past three years. It will continue to grow, but even today it has inhabitants enough to warrant such action by the city council, which would lead to an expenditure of a sum of money to defray the expenses of purchase price and improvements on a piece of property for a public park.

Why don't the Yakima Valley Transportation company signify its intention of co-operating with the city, at least to the extent of promising to build a spur to the park, in the event of the city making one?

In the meanwhile Mr. Steinweg will permit the sweltering North Yakimans to take advantage of the inducement held out to them in the shady nooks and by the side of the quiet lagoon on his own private property.

For the past two Sundays Nagler's band has entertained the visitors at the park with a musical program. The band boys have done this free of charge. Next Sunday afternoon (tomorrow) Mr. Steinweg will charge an admittance fee of ten cents at the gate for the benefit of the band. Every cent taken in will be turned over to the band boys.

It is hoped that a large crowd will visit the park tomorrow afternoon. Improvements are going on continually, and a Zoo has been started which will be added to right along. At the present time the Zoo consists of a turkey Buzzard, a large black Tom cat. The buzzard is caged, and the cat hangs around waiting for an opportunity to make an attack the first time the cage door is left open.

When Joe Lancaster returns from his annual bear hunt this year he has promised Mr. Steinweg a cub bear to place in his Zoological garden.

HAD A GREAT TRIP.

Charles H. Barnes Enjoys Life Along
St. Joe River.

Chas. H. Barnes, the hustling manager of the Barnes-Woodin Dry Goods firm, of this city, returned the first of the week from a very delightful outing in the mountains along the banks of the St. Joe river, Idaho. Dr. Carver was also a member of the party.

The Yakima men declare they never had a more enjoyable outing in their lives, and if a rough and ready complexion, tanned hands, and unusual enthusiasm over the beauties of the trip, are to be taken as a criterion, why, there is no occasion to doubt what they say.

"And the fishing," said Mr. Barnes, to a Democrat reporter, "why, I'll stake my reputation for truth and veracity on the statement that we had the finest fishing ever enjoyed by any body."

"Well, how many do you suppose you caught all told," asked the reporter. "Now, I would hate to roughly estimate the number," began Mr. Barnes, "for fear you might think that I am inclined to exaggerate, but honest, I'll tell you the truth. I was the poorest fisherman in the bunch, Dr. Carver leading me by several hundred in the number caught, but I think probably that personally I must have bagged about—well—er—say something in the neighborhood of possibly several hundred myself. Of course we ate all we caught. Our appetites were especially fine."

Mr. Barnes and Dr. Carver say they will certainly take the same trip next year.

SIMPLE LIFE FOR FRED.

Fred Miller, former well known attorney of this city, where he was associated in the practice of law for years with H. J. Snively, but for the past ten years a resident of Spokane, has given up his lucrative practice in that city and will take up his residence upon his ranch in central Idaho in the Twin Falls country. Mrs. Miller will accompany her husband and the couple will enter on the simple life with enthusiasm. The move is planned primarily for the benefit of Mr. Miller's health. As Mr. Miller was born and raised on a farm back in "old Missouri," he evidently feels competent to assume the arduous duties of a real tiller of the soil. At all events his many old friends in Yakima will wish him success in his chosen role of farmer.

UNCLE JOE FILES.

Wants to Be Commissioner From First District.

Joe Stephenson, an old pioneer to the yakima country, a dyed in the wool democrat, has filed his declaration of candidacy for Commissioner on the democratic ticket for the first district.

It is practically assured that Uncle Joe will get the democratic nomination, and if the howl for a more economical administration of county affairs is to be accepted as a criterion by which to judge the pulse of the tax payers, it is a pretty safe bet that Uncle Joe will win out. He is known to be conservative, and he will surely look after the interests of the tax payers.

Slemmons Is Optimistic.

A. L. Slemmons, who has just returned from the democratic convention at Denver, is enthusiastic over the prospects of a victory for Bryan in November. "I have talked with all kinds of people and they predict a democratic landslide," said the genial attorney. "The sentiment in the middle west is strong for the Nebraska candidate. The republicans have a fight on in this state, but whether they know it now, or will receive the information as a surprise in November, I don't know." Mr. Slemmons said he had a fine time during his stay in Denver and that it did his heart good to be among so many democrats.—Ellensburg Localizer.

Mr. Slemmons, who was formerly a resident of this city, was one of the delegates from this state to the Denver convention.

E. B. Marks of the Ahtanum and H. C. Davis of the Moxee on Monday received 24 head of thoroughbred Holstein cattle. The cattle are, of course, young stock and are calculated to greatly improve their respective herds. The cost of the bunch laid down here is about $5,000. Messrs. Marks and Davis are to be commended for their constant aim to improve their dairy herds. Other local stockmen would do well to follow their example.

TIGERS BREAK EVEN

Manager Payne Returns With His Worn
Out Ball Tossers.

The Yakima Tigers' baseball club came home this week after a 10 days' tour on Puget Sound. On this trip they met the fastest amateur teams in the state, winning five games and losing five. Nelson and Goins did most of the pitching for the locals, and are consequently pretty well fagged out.

The Tigers did a lot of boosting for Yakima and they demonstrated the fact that the finest kind of ball players as well as big red apples are raised in the Yakima valley.

Canning Factory to Start.

Manager McKeon, of the local canning factory, stated most emphatically on Thursday that the big canning factory here would start up within a few days, or just as soon as the apricots were ready to can. This assurance will be welcomed by the fruit growers and gardeners near the city, many of whom feared that owing to the rumors of financial difficulties on the part of the principal owner that the factory would not be opened this season.

Major W. L. Lemon, of this city, has been appointed chief range officer at the big shooting tournament on the American Lake grounds July 30-31 and August 1. From the winners in this contest the team will be selected to represent Washington at the national contest to be held this year at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Charles Marks, a well known Ahtanum rancher, was in town Wednesday. Mr. Marks' health has not been good for some time and so for a change he is camping out with his family this summer in the Upper Cowiche and is incidentally looking after the cattle on the range owned by the Ahtanum Live Stock company.

PILES TO SUPPORT ANKENY

According to announcement U. S. senator Samuel H. Piles, of Seattle, delivered a public address in the Moore theater Wednesday evening by way of explaining his attitude in the present senatorial fight now raging between Jones and Ankeny. A large audience greeted the senator and gave the speaker much applause and sympathy.

The address was a long one. Senator Piles related at length the full details that led to his own election three years ago. He said that he never would have been elected senator had it not been for the friendship and active aid of Senator Ankeny and Charles Sweeney and that he had promised those gentlemen at the time that he in turn would aid in the re-election of Senator Ankeny.

The speech seems to have made a good impression at Seattle.

JONES CHALLENGES ANKENY

Hon. W. L. Jones on Thursday last mailed to Senator Levi Ankeny a written challenge for a joint debate on the part of the two candidates for United States senator, a series of debates to occur before the holding of the state primary September 8, and to occur at such time and places as Senator Ankeny may designate.

It is not believed by local politicians that Senator Ankeny will accept the challenge, if indeed he will even condescend to reply to it. The venerable senator, as is well known, is not even a good talker in public, to say nothing of being a debater. So, it is believed here, there is not much danger of the senator coming through on Mr. Jones' proposition.

A DIFFERENT VIEW

Secretary James Explains to Eastern People All About This Country.

That people in the east may not be influenced by the pessimistic letters written by a Hillyard man who appears to be suffering with melancholia in its severest stage, Secretary H. P. James, of the Commercial club, has prepared an answer to one of the man's letters written to the editor of the Barron, Wis., Shield, a weekly journal of no mean circulation. Mr. James was requested to answer the letter by W. L. Barton, of this city, who noticed it in the above-mentioned paper. Mr. James' reply to the letter follows:

North Yakima, Wash., July 15, 1908. Editor Shield, Dear Sir: I notice in your paper a letter from Hillyard, Wash., bearing date of June 25, 1908, and signed by A. F. Miller, purporting to give "a little sketch of the west as it really is."

I do not for a moment question the sincerity of the writer, but the west as seen by him is very different from the west that I know. It is probably true that the advertising of the Pacific northwest has induced some to come to Washington who might better have remained in the east. Not every one is adapted to succeed in a comparatively new country. The financial flurry of last winter affected this section only indirectly, but the lessened demand for lumber in the east caused our mills to close, and thousands of men were thrown out of employment for a short time. The general prosperity, however, prevailing in Washington, induced hundreds of unemployed men in the east to come here in search of work.

The consequence was an over supply of labor. But the surplus, with returning prosperity, is being rapidly absorbed and at this date there are but few who desire to work, who cannot find employment at good wages.

Wages, for common labor are $2 per day. Day labor on the farms averages $2 in price. Men working by the month receive $35 to $45 and board.

The present has been an unusually dry season, and the wheat crop is not so good as it was in 1907, when more than 40,000,000 bushels were harvested in this state. In some sections there is a full crop, in other sections it is about 15 per cent short of the average. The yield for the state will be but little, if any, below that of 1907, the increased acreage compensating for any decrease in yield.

The average rainfall in the wheat growing section is from 25 to 28 inches. In western Washington the precipitation is about 50 inches per annum. Heavy rains fell yesterday, the 13th, throughout eastern Washington, rendering any crop failure an impossibility. During the past 18 years crops, of all kinds, have never been a failure. The above has reference to the non-irrigated sections of the state.

In the Yakima valley, where the average precipitation is less than eight inches, irrigation is practiced. Hay, grain, vegetables and fruit are here grown to perfection, and the farmers of this valley and the farmers in every section of the state, as well, are uniformly prosperous. The charges per acre for irrigation are from 75 cents to $1.50 a year.

Business conditions in all parts of the state, excepting in those sections that are largely dependent upon the lumber industry, are good. There was never more building done in Spokane, Walla Walla, North Yakima and other large towns than has been done during the past winter and spring.

In all large cities there is always some suffering. Spokane is a city of 100,000 people. I presume that of these thousands a few lacked some of the necessities of life during the winter. But in no city in the country would relief be afforded more quickly, when the need became known, than in this magnificent city of the west. And what is true of Spokane is just as true of every other city in Washington. The writer knows them all, and the statement that there is a minimum of poverty in all sections of the state is well within the facts.

Wisconsin is a splendid state and the writer would not advise any one who is prosperous and contented there to leave it for Washington or any other part of the Pacific northwest. But if there are those who would like a change, and who would like to test the opportunities in a younger commonwealth, let them follow the excellent advice given by the writer of the letter referred to above, to "come and see" for themselves before severing all ties that bind them to the good old home state of Wisconsin.

The writer has read a large portion of the advertising matter sent out from Washington; is thoroughly conversant with that which is descriptive of the Yakima valley, and he is of the firm conviction that, as a rule, facts are fairly set forth and real conditions are stated in a conservative way.

H. P. JAMES.

MCCARTY BACK IN JAIL.

Has "Far-Away Look in Eyes" According to the Chicago Tribune.

Thomas McCarty, the petty larcenist who is claimed as a convert by the Salvation Army, and who has gained considerable publicity by his announcement of his intention to return to the Indiana state penitentiary after breaking parole there in August, 1905, has arrived at his destination. As might have been expected the return of the penitent has resulted in wide publicity for him and when he is released, which is sure to be at an early date, he probably will be offered a salaried position in some charitable bureau.

The Chicago Tribune has the following story concerning McCarty:

He Was Expected.
A thin, smooth-shaven man, with a curious, far-away look in his eyes, walked into the office of the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and stepped up to the desk at which J. D. Reid, warden of the prison was sitting.

"My name is McCarty," he said, in a matter of fact tone. "I broke my parole with you three years ago and I've come to finish my sentence."

"All right," the warden replied. "I've been expecting you. Just step this way."

Half an hour later the young man, in a prison uniform, came out of a cell in an upper tier, passed down a narrow corridor, and took his place in a line which was filing toward the prison dining room. His number was 5784. And that number marked the end of William McCarty's journey.

McCarty started from North Yakima, Wash., July 8, with nothing but his railroad ticket and a firm conviction gained during a series of Salvation Army meetings, that it was his duty to return to Indiana and redeem the parole he had broken years before.

In Chicago he "stopped off" for a few hours and had a talk with several Salvation Army officials. Then he went to Michigan City.

When he arrived at the prison he found that his story had preceded him. Upon learning that he was on his way the prison officials began looking up his record. There was no "William McCarty" on the prison books, but after a little search it was found that Thomas McCarty had begun his sentence for grand larceny in 1903, had been paroled in August, 1905, and had broken his parole in October of the same year.

Warden Reid Puzzled.
Before the record had been discovered however, a Chicago afternoon newspaper learned that there was no William McCarty on the prison books and that at 8 o'clock in the morning he had not called at the penitentiary. The Salvation Army, it concluded, had been victimized, and an announcement to this effect was printed.

Meanwhile McCarty was looking up a few old acquaintances in Michigan City—he drove an ice wagon while he was on parole—and making preparations to bury himself, perhaps for the rest of his life. Then, late in the afternoon, he stuck his little bundle under his arm and walked to the prison.

"He was perfectly cheerful about it," said Warden Reid. "In all my experience I never knew of such a case as this. No extradition papers, no officers of the law—even paying his own fare! I must confess it's one too many for me."

WANTS ORCHARDS TO BE PUT IN COMPETITION

Col. Ed. Parker Has Plan for Interesting Contest at State Fair.

Col. Ed. Parker wants to see an arrangement made, prior to the state fair, under which the various orchards will be put into competition with each other and an award made as a premium to the best horticulturalist. Col. Parker thinks that prizes for the best year old, two year old and three year old orchards in the district should be given and a committee of experts appointed to visit and determine the question of merit and hand in their announcement, say on the first day of the fair. At the outset the prize might be for this county merely and when the machinery was got in proper operation extended to the state at large.

DODGE HOODOO DAY.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stops Clock Before It Points to Friday.

Denver—Maybe there will always be a question whether Bryan was nominated, officially, on Friday. According to the big clock in the Convention Hall, it is a few minutes before 12 o'clock on Thursday, the 9th of July.

It was a superstitious sergeant-at-arms who arranged for the week without a Friday and he put his idea into effect without consulting anyone. Having accomplished his purpose, the cheers of the Democrats proved the unanimous adoption of their mental resolutions.

When the hands of the clock in the auditorium Thursday night pointed close to the hour of 12, the superstitious sergeant-at-arms climbed to the top of the railing opposite the speaker's platform and stopped time in its flight. The cheers which followed indicated the assembled delegates and visitors did not want to see important business transacted on Friday.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, perhaps the most interested person in the entire convention, remained to the end of the all-night session. Not until the votes had been cast and her father endorsed by the convention as its unanimous choice to bear the standard of the party did she leave her seat in her box and join the crowd hurrying homeward.

INDIANA TO HAVE CHAIRMAN.

John F. Lamb, of Terre Haute, May Be Chosen to Fill Position.

Denver—The Democratic National Committee will confer with William J. Bryan at Lincoln and organize.

Thomas Taggart, of Indiana, was elected temporary chairman and Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, temporary secretary, to serve until permanent campaign managers are selected.

John F. Lamb, of Terre Haute, Ind., is prominently mentioned for chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The skillful manner in which Mr. Lamb has, during the convention just closed, handled the Vice-Presidential campaign of John W. Kern, has made him prominent in the party, and his friends are strongly urging him as the most suitable man to manage the National campaign.

Mr. Lamb was for years law partner of the late Senator Voorhees.

BRYAN IS PLEASED WITH KERN

Running-Mates Personal Friends for Many Years.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., July 14—When he received the news of the nomination of J. W. Kern for Vice-President, Mr. Bryan said his views on the nomination could best be expressed in the telegram which he sent to Mr. Kern. He is not only pleased with the nomination, but pleased that it would meet with such unanimity. There were a number of persons whom he counted as available, and Kern was always included in this list. Mr. Kern and Mr. Bryan have been political and personal friends for many years. The following is the telegram:

"Hon. John W. Kern, Denver, Colo.: Accept my warmest congratulations. Your nomination gratifies me very much. We have a splendid platform and I am glad to have a running mate in such complete harmony with the platform. Stop off and see us on your way East."

"WILLIAM J. BRYAN."

Holds Its Final Meeting.

Denver—The retiring Democratic National Committee held its final meeting Saturday morning with almost a complete attendance, Chairman Thomas Taggart presiding. Committeeman M. J. Wade, of Iowa, offered a resolution extending the thanks of the committee to its several officers—Chairman Taggart, Secretary Urey Woodson, Assistant Secretary Edwin Seaton, Treasurer W. H. O'Brien and Sergeant-at-Arms John I. Martin—and "to those who have aided them in the performance of their duties."

Chairman Taggart responded in appropriate vein on behalf of himself and his fellow officers, announcing that an opportunity would be found, if possible, for a gathering of the old and new National committees to meet in a social way.

YAKIMA AND THE A.-Y.-P.

Yakima County's Exhibits Must Be Gathered Before End of Harvest.

Wanted—Yakima valley products for exhibition at the A.-Y.-P. fair at Seattle in 1909. The above is what Secretary H. P. James of the Commercial club would have every farmer in Yakima valley remember. Yakima county will spend $9,500 on its exhibit at the big northwest fair. To compete with other counties of the state, Yakima is compelled to spend a good round sum. Also it is up to every fruit grower or farmer of any description to do his share in forwarding the work.

Walla Walla citizens are going into the thing with all the vim they can scrape up in that old county. They want to eclipse the exhibit of Yakima county and will spare no money in their endeavor to do so. To make good, Mr. James says the people of this valley must take it upon themselves to provide exhibits from the valley and county.

Yesterday Mr. James spent the day in the Moxee valley getting together specimens of wheat, barley and oats. He procured some fine exhibits. The products are either being stored or sent to Spokane to be conserved. All kinds of fruits and vegetables are desired. The fruits will be preserved in glass jars which have been purchased for that purpose.

Yakima county's exhibit must of course be made up this summer, before the end of harvest time. It is no small task to collect the necessary specimens. Mr. James urges farmers and, in fact, anyone who is interested in the welfare of this city and county, to keep a watchful eye out for such specimens of fruit, grasses or vegetables that will, in their judgment, show the richness of Yakima valley soil. Any of these commodities may be left either with the Horticultural Union, County Commissioners or Commercial club.

RUMMAGE SALE EXTRAORDINARY

Began Friday Morning, July 24, at 9 o'clock

At the Globe Store, First and Chestnut Streets, North Yakima

The greatest slaughter of merchandise of the year 1908 takes place. We made the mistake of buying the usual large summer stock, and while we've had a good business, the long continued cool weather has left us with entirely two large a stock of warm weather goods. Many other lines are well broken in assortments. Altogether we find ourselves very much overloaded with merchandise that must be sold for whatever it will bring.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

North Yakima's marked market feature at this time is the difficulty in getting the grower and the buyer together and, according to those who are watching general conditions throughout the country closely, this state of affairs is likely to prevail throughout the season as the various products come on the market. Conditions this year are markedly different from what they were a year ago. Last season in the greater number of products good prices were obtained and were readily paid. This year the buyer is not prepared to approach the figures of a year ago while the grower can not see his way clear to disposing of his holdings at the figures offered. Right now at Tacoma excellent California Crawfords are being procured at 57 cents, splendid plums at 75 cents and so on. This fact has an important bearing on the situation as it applies to the fruits of this valley but the grower does not readily see the application and consequently, as said, dealing is attended with more or less argument, if not friction.

Potatoes Are An Exception.

Potatoes may perhaps be quoted as an exception, in some sense, to the general situation. Tacoma is receiving potatoes right now at a cent and a quarter a pound and Seattle the same. The local crop is generally admitted to be large and the acreage large. Growers are selling here at a cent a pound, even in small lots, and there is an increasing disposition to take whatever offers on the part of those who at this time want to market. Unless something intervenes to change the situation present prospects of a large crop of spuds will be fulfilled.

Views of the Hay Crop.

Hay is a topic which has been widely discussed of late and the views are various. It is generally admitted that the Washington crop will not measure up to that of last year but as time passes there is a growing disposition on the part of those who have to deal over a large territory to claim that the difference will not be great and will not, as a matter of fact, amount to a shortage. California admittedly has a short crop, but W. W. Robinson declares that Washington is but little behind 1907 and that this will be offset by what is held over, even if there is a brisk export demand. Reports brought into North Yakima from the surrounding valleys tell of big crops on some acreage and a decided shortage on others with a generally lessened yield. In addition to this are the recent reports from the Naches of considerable damage to timothy, a lowering of grade, because of recent rains.

With fruits there is an increasing activity. Apples are being handled in all the warehouses and some late cherries. The bulk of the cherries, however, have been disposed of. Apricots are coming in in larger supply and peaches also, and car movements are now being talked of. Old apples are off the market.

The meat situation is a dead one and will continue so for another month or until the warm weather passes and the arrival of a more bracing temperature gives the people of the valley generally an appetite for more warming and solid food. Butchers, dealing as they do in one line, are suffering more from the prevailing hot weather, and the absence of scores of people at the camping grounds and the various summer resorts than are other dealers. In many ways trade is slack, speaking by way of comparison with the normal North Yakima conditions.

DETAILS OF IRRIGATION PROJECT COMPLETED

That details of the Fechter-Rudkin project to irrigate 3500 acres in the vicinity of Kennewick have been completed and that the land will be on the market in a comparatively short time are the statements made by O. A. Fechter, who has just returned from New York and Boston where he went in the interests of the project. A deal for a 450 horse power fuel oil power plant has been practically closed. The plant will be used in throwing water on 3500 acres of the immense tract which lie above the canal. Four hundred and forty acres of this tract is a part of the townsite of Kennewick.

Out of the 15,000 acres purchased by the company, 5800 acres have been sold to the Downs & Allen syndicate for $87,000. This immense tract is in the vicinity of Richland. Water from the Yakima river will be used to irrigate the raw acreage. The old Grosscup ditch will be extended, making about 45 miles of Canal, and water will be running through it in a very short time, Mr. Fechter says.

Another Nob Hill.

The 3500 tract which will be watered by the power plant is known as Nob Hill. Mr. Fechter says a view of five counties in Washington and a part of Oregon can be seen from the summit of the upland. The tract will soon be supplied with water from the old Ledbetter ditch which is to be extended by the government. Until that is undertaken the Fechter-Rudkin syndicate will use its power plant to divert water from the canal below.

Under the canal is some of the finest land in the state of Washington. The greater part of the land which is seen from the train when passing through the Kennewick valley, is now raw and grows nothing but sagebrush. It is this land which the syndicate has taken over and which will be covered with vegetation within a very short time.

Prominent Men Interested.

Interested with Messrs. Fechter and Rudkin are C. S. Mead, of North Yakima, and D. E. Gould, of Boston. Mr. Mead is one of the wealthiest men in the Yakima valley and Mr. Gould is prominent in Boston financial circles. He recently visited North Yakima in the interests of the project.

The syndicate will take possession of the land August 15. Operations on the extension of the canal and the installation of the power plant will begin shortly after that time. About 9,000 acres are now owned by the syndicate. Ultimately the whole tract will be under irrigation. Mr. Fechter feels his company has accomplished much toward the reclaiming of the desert which has so long been an eye-sore to eastern Washington. The Kennewick valley is said to be the earliest fruit belt in the northwest.

To the Voters. (Paid Advertisement.)

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of sheriff of Yakima county at the coming Republican primaries.

YAKIMA DEMOCRATS AND MR. JONES.

At a meeting of local democrats which was held at the courthouse last Monday evening it was decided by unanimous vote to place a full county ticket in the field to be voted upon at the November election.

As such action is in line with democratic precedent and policy many people may think such an announcement superfluous and unnecessary. However a rumor was abroad to the effect that in view of Mr. W. L. Jones' candidacy for the U. S. senate and out of consideration for that gentleman that the democrats of his home county would refrain from placing in the field legislative candidates. Of course, it is needless to say, the wish was father not only of the thought, but of the rumor.

Such a course as proposed might indeed be complimentary to Mr. Jones, but it is not exactly plain how such action would help that gentleman materially in his ambition to defeat his republican rival, Mr. Ankeny, for the senate. The issue between the two men must be fought out and settled at the republican primaries, to be held September 8, and without doubt that fight will be settled then, all the talk to the contrary notwithstanding. With this republican fight the Yakima democrats as such have clearly no right to interfere. Moreover, Mr. Jones has himself publicly stated that he desires to see the issue as between Ankeny and himself settled within the republican party of this state and that he does not wish or desire democratic votes in the primary election. Surely this statement from Mr. Jones is explicit enough.

But whether Mr. Jones really wants or does not want democratic votes is not the point with loyal democrats of this county. The point with them is that they intend to preserve the integrity of their party organization by nominating and voting for men of their own political faith for all public positions no matter whether the party shall win or lose. In no other way can a political party maintain itself and retain the loyalty and respect of its voters.

Let us, however, for the sake of argument, assume that local democrats out of consideration for Mr. Jones should refrain from placing legislative candidates in the field and let us suppose also that Mr. Jones should meet defeat at the hands of Senator Ankeny in the republican primary, a possible though not a probable event. In such case the republican candidates for the legislature for this county, having filed their pledges to support the party nominee for senator, would be tied up hand and foot to the Ankeny organization. And where would the democrats be? They would be nowhere, as it would then be too late under the law to get the names of their legislative candidates upon the public ballot.

The duty of the Yakima democrats is plain enough. It is to nominate, and elect if they can, men who can be trusted to carry out their own views and the policies that they believe in. Any other course might, and probably would, end in disaster.

Let Mr. Jones beat Ankeny if he can—and here is hoping that he will. But in any event it is his fight and not ours. Mr. Jones started the contest and laid down the rules to govern it. Among the rules prescribed is one that democrats shall not "butt in". Very well then, let us not do so.

TAFT'S NOMINATION.

The New York Sun, one of the most powerful newspapers in the United States, if not the world, and during the present campaign a bitter opponent of Mr. Bryan's, came out the day after the adjournment of the Denver convention with the following editorial leader:

"To right-minded citizens, the manner of Mr. Taft's nomination, likewise some personal aspects of his candidacy, ought to be the source of profound regret and considerable alarm. In the course of human events the time has not arrived when it becomes necessary in the interests of this republic that a chief magistrate's tenure of individual power should extend chronologically beyond the term for which he was chosen. 'Inheritance' of office, dynastic succession, government by substitute, are words that express ideas abhorrent to most Americans. The attempt to rule a whole nation through the corporeal person of another is an impudent undertaking on the part of the experimenter and humiliating in the extreme to the subject and medium. The pretence of personal responsibility for the administration of public affairs, for the continuance of and policy whatever after the expiration of the people's commissions and the bodily departure from office, is pure humbug. To all these things Mr. Roosevelt is blind; to all such things he was born mole-eyed. Only three weeks ago, having repeatedly and solemnly pledged himself not to accept another nomination for president, he was actually using the third term threat to play upon the patriotic apprehensions of the conservative republicans at Chicago in order to accomplish some of his minor purposes. The indecency of this, we say, Mr. Roosevelt does not see at all and cannot be expected to see. Mr. Taft's vision is another matter; and there may be some dim perception already, if not of the impropriety, at least of the discomfort of the relation. However this may be, the future can have in store for one of the best men in the world, now a candidate for the highest office in the world, no experience more unpleasant than his initial dose of mental and moral subordination. The Sun has no announcement to make of modified views concerning the circumstances of Mr. Taft's nomination for president.

On the other hand, Mr. Bryan's triumph is in every sense legitimate, for the convention accomplished precisely that which a convention is intended to do under the present system of government by parties. The delegates had been chosen by processes fairly representative of democratic opinion throughout the land. The intervention of federal power, the pernicious activity of federal officeholders, coercion or any sort of big stick, were not factors. By an overwhelming preponderance of numbers the convention was for Bryan because the desire for Bryan was genuinely preponderant. His opponents were fairly met and fairly overthrown. The democratic leader is to be congratulated upon this remarkable demonstration of a popularity apparently undiminished by his two successive defeats. In this campaign he stands for nothing but himself, his own political following and his own political theories and purposes. As regards the methods and machinery of nomination, Denver affords a contract which should be contemplated by republicans generally with respectful and regretful emotions.

CHANGING THEIR TUNE.

Since the adjournment of the great convention at Denver the republican leaders from Roosevelt down have been sitting up and taking notice. No longer do they wear that smirking, self-satisfied smile; no longer do the partisan organs reiterate the tiresome statement that the "republican party is sure to win this year."

The wise ones among them now realize that the republican party has the fight of its life on its hands this year. Instead of a picnic campaign resulting in a sure and certain victory they now see before them the prospect of a battle royal, with an enthusiastic and harmonious opposition army under the banner of a great commander, already intrenched and in waiting for the battle to begin. To their dismay they not only see now that the opposition army is occupying the best and strongest positions, but that the ranks of the enemy are being daily recruited by men who are deserting the Taft standard. To add to their chagrin they see a number of division and brigade commanders, famous for splendid activity in former campaigns, now deadly silent, sulking in their tents if not secretly plotting for the success of the enemy.

They have heard, too, the bugle note of Gompers, the greatest labor leader of modern times, summoning his hosts to fall in line and do battle with the predatory interests, to add to their consternation they see an army of colored citizens, heretofore regarded as a fixed party asset, rise up in open rebellion against the new commander and silently march away in good order to take positions in the rear of the great army of the common people.

A careful review of their own army has revealed to them its many deficiencies. They know now that there is an utter lack of enthusiasm among the soldiers as well as in the officers of the line. The heir apparent, they can now plainly see, is neither a skillful nor a successful commander. Unlike his great predecessor there is no magic in his name, no enthusiasm in his word of command. There is about him nothing to excite hope of success.

HEARST'S HIRED AGGREGATION

Hearst's Independence party convention, billed for Chicago, July 27, is a much advertised and greatly overestimated affair. As evidence of how the so-called delegates have been procured it may be stated authoritatively that one, J. I. Knight, of Seattle, a salaried representative of Mr. Hearst, has been traveling up and down this state and Oregon for several weeks in the effort to secure what he termed "suitable men" to go as delegates from this section to Mr. Hearst's convention. When the solicitor learned that no reputable man hereabouts was willing to go in such a capacity and pay his own expenses the representative of the yellow editor, it is said, agreed that traveling expenses would be paid. But still no acceptable delegates could be found in this neck of the woods. We note, however, from the columns of the Spokane Chronicle, that Mr. Knight has finally succeeded in getting his bunch of delegates rounded up which include nine in addition to himself. None of the crowd are men known to the public in this state, and all hail from Seattle and Spokane. And this precious bunch have gone to Chicago under the tutelage and fostering care of the pompous Mr. Knight, to represent the state of Washington in Mr. Hearst's famous convention.

Doubtless this method of procuring delegates has been followed in every state in the union. There is no such thing as a real Independence League party in the United States, so that doubtless the same humbugging methods have been followed everywhere. When this peculiar crowd of nobodies gets together in Hearst's hired hall in Chicago and make the welkin ring with their combined shouts, as they will be instructed to do, the manifest humbug ought to deceive nobody.

Surely Hearst with his hired aggregation has in this instance carried the political clown business beyond the limit.

MR. BRYAN'S FORTUNE.

Some of the republican papers are now railing at what they term Mr. Bryan's "evidence of thrift." There is no doubt but that Mr. Bryan is a good business man and by reason of that fact, together with the help of his splendid wife, has succeeded in securing not only Will any of Mr. Bryan's critics at a good home but a fair competency for himself and family.

Is a man to be blamed for doing that? tempt to assert that the man did not come by every dollar of this wealth honestly? Of course they will not, for they know better.

If, on the other hand, Bryan was still a poor man his newspaper critics would as certainly be pointing the finger of scorn at him. They would then loudly assert that the democratic nominee is a failure in life and that if he could not manage his own affairs successfully it would be the rankest kind of folly to expect that he would, or could, administer the great affairs of the nation successfully. But as it happens they are fully estopped from using that argument.

From the personal standpoint Mr. Bryan appears in the light of a much better business man than does his opponent, Mr. Taft. It seems that the latter has no personal fortune at all, and not even a house of his own to live in. As a matter of fact the republican candidate has never enjoyed a reputation for being a money-maker. He has been an officeholder under various appointments for a term of over twenty-five years and appears to have had no income outside of his official salary, save what his generous half-brother has given him. Surely Mr. Taft has no record as a successful financier. However, we are free to admit that this is not to his discredit, whatever some of his fellow republicans may think about it.

MR. TAFT'S CAMPAIGN MANAGERS.

Under the tender care of Drs. Roosevelt and Taft Frank H. Hitchcock has so far recovered as to be able to accept the position of national chairman. He is a model patient, he obeys orders so perfectly. After making himself objectionable at the Chicago convention to a number of republican politicians he considerably declined the chairmanship on the score of health. A short rest-cure was prescribed. A series of prolonged consultations at Oyster Bay and Hot Springs has quieted all opposition and Mr. Hitchcock emerges from his retirement restored and ready for the campaign.

In the qualities that make a model treasurer of the national committee George R. Sheldon is not behind Mr. Hitchcock. Mr. Hitchcock has been called the card index. Mr. Sheldon has been the cash-book in two campaigns in this state. He knows the addresses of the leading trusts and financial institutions downtown without looking them up in the telephone book. He is vouched for by Cornelius N. Bliss, whom none is more worthy than he to succeed. His appointment was urged by William Nelson Cromwell, and Mr. Cromwell knows a financier when he sees one. Did he not once devoutly declare that Mr. Harriman "moves in a higher sphere which we cannot hope to enter?"

As Mr. Roosevelt's friend, Mr. Sheldon should have special opportunities for locating undesirable citizens like Mr. Harriman, who in the hour of need raised $260,000 for use in New York in the last days of the 1904 campaign.—N. Y. World.

KERN IS NO MISTAKE.

John W. Kern, democratic nominee for vice president, is a candidate who grows bigger as the people know him better. He is a man abundantly blessed with good common sense to begin with and in addition appears to have all the attributes of real statesmanship. He is recognized as a big man in the public life of Indiana, his native state, and is vouched for by no less a personage than Vice President Fairbanks, who is his neighbor in Indianapolis, and who presided at the great public reception accorded Mr. Kern on his return home from Denver. The vice president's words of praise for Mr. Kern as a man and as a citizen ought to be a good enough recommendation to satisfy even the most hypercritical republican that John W. Kern is a most worthy candidate.

Interviews given out to the press by Mr. Kern since his nomination show him to be a sound and rational thinker and a man who is thoroughly in sympathy with the views and principles of the modern democratic party. In these interviews he has explained certain provisions of the platform and expressed his belief in and advocacy of that statement of great principles as a whole.

John W. Kern is all right. He adds strength and not weakness to the ticket. If anything was needed to make old Indiana again a democratic state the nomination of John W. Kern will do it. And his name and influence will help materially in other states.

LOYAL DEMOCRATS SHOULD RESPOND.

The National democratic congressional campaign committee has begun active operations at its headquarters at Washington, D. C. In addition to its regular work, it is now preparing a campaign handbook which it hopes to have ready for distribution by Aug. 1—two or three months earlier than heretofore.

The Committee is charged with the duty of assisting, in every way possible, the election of a democratic congress. We wish the active co-operation of every voter in the United States who believes with us, that the election of a democratic congress would greatly benefit the country. We must rely upon the people to sustain our work by giving information as to local conditions, and suggestions for guidance.

Each individual can at least aid us by making a contribution. Will he not do so and interest others in helping us too?

We wish our campaign handbook distributed as generally as possible, and we will furnish a copy, as soon as published, to every one who contributes to our committee.

Send remittances to me at Washington, D. C. JAMES T. LLOYD, Chairman.

The Herald's tommyrot regarding local democratic politics is interesting even if scarcely a word of it be true. That paper says that the democrats will center their efforts on capturing three or four offices and allow everything else to go by default. On the contrary the democrats at their court house meeting Monday evening resolved to nominate a full ticket composed of the best available timber and to contest every county office. Our republican daybreak contemporary is even kind enough to pick out the necessary democratic candidates; all of which reminds us of the old days when the Herald was really a democratic paper and was edited with some discretion and regard for truth.

Candidate Taft has notified the public that he will accept no campaign contributions from corporations. Doubtless this statement is for public consumption only and is received with a smile and a wink by his campaign managers. At all events it is not from corporations but from individuals connected with big corporations that Hitchcock expects to get the money. If Taft should receive no help from corporations he stands a mighty poor chance of being the next Lord of the White House.

Col. Robertson, it is reported, has recently been doing some good missionary work for Bre'r Jones among his brethren of the quill, having attended the meeting of the state editors at Vancouver. Time was when Col. Rob— did not have much respect for that organization, but that was long before the colonel had ever thought of becoming Bre'r Jones' manager.

The present siege of warm weather may make us all feel uncomfortable for a time, but it is the kind of weather that the Yakima valley needs at this season of the year. It is the hot days of July that puts the beautiful blush on the peach and gives to all of our fruit that delicious flavor that makes it famous and incidentally brings many dollars here in payment thereof.

THE SUNNYSIDE PROJECT.

The irrigation interests of Sunnyside for the last two and a half years have languished on account of two causes over which we have had no control (of our own shortcomings we have heard enough, and we pass them over for the present. First was the incompetence and impractical ideas of the first set of engineers, and, second, quite as much as from this cause, the Sunnyside project has been relegated to a back seat because of the political prestige and influence of North Yakima, which has secured plenty of money to push the Tieton project while Sunnyside waits.

The incompetence of the engineers was shown in their promise of water delivery to each 40-acre tract, and their promise of the pumping plants, both of which they afterward sought to repudiate, and also in their advocacy of a 40-acre unit in all cases and their plans for the doubling of the lateral system and for enlarging the main canal before doing the rest of the construction work.

The secretary of the interior has now approved the pumping plants; the farm unit, while still not certain, is likely to be satisfactory and reasonable; the duplication of laterals is probably given up, and we hope that the present engineering force will seek to develop the whole system, pumping plants and all, as fast as the farmers can reduce the land to cultivation, and enlarge the main canal only as it needs enlarging, instead of spending what money is allotted to the project for the next year or two in enlarging the main canal to its full capacity at once.

For the money comes slowly now from the reclamation fund. It burned the department coffers at first, so that they felt impelled to give the Washington Irrigation company about $200,000 more than its plant was worth, to buy it out. True, only $250,000 cash was paid the company, but it also got free water for 10,000 acres or so of unsold land and what the department did not then know—it got water for several thousand acres of lands that were sold, but not yet under irrigation. This large price was paid so quickly in order to remove the chief legal obstacle to the government work in the valley, the large and well-established water right of the company—and the farmers under the Sunnyside canal must foot the bill. Inasmuch as the purchase of this canal secured that water right and a free hand for all the future irrigation projects of the valley, it would seem just that a fair proportion of the purchase price of the canal should be assessed against the other projects of the valley and not all be saddled on the Sunnyside farmer.—Sunnyside Sun.

DEMOCRACY TRIUMPHANT.

The nomination of Mr. Bryan by the Denver convention brings joy to the heart of the rank and file of the democratic party throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Mr. Bryan's nomination was entirely expected, and after the various states had chosen and in many cases instructed their delegates, the nomination of the great Nebraskan was about as near a certainty as anything politically can be.

But that there was an undercurrent of uneasiness and a vague fear that something might happen to prevent Bryan's nomination no one can deny. The old adage of the slip betwixt the cup and the lip was kept in mind and there was genuine happiness in the democratic ranks when this morning's dispatches told that the democratic party in convention assembled had proven true to itself.

The nomination of Mr. Bryan is greater than a personal victory of the democratic standard bearer. It is more than an indorsement of the progressive attitude of the Nebraskan. It is a vindication of the idea of popular government, and shows that in at least one great party "the interests" are not supreme.

Those who take pleasure in referring to Mr. Bryan as a political boss are entitled to all of the enjoyment they can get on that score. If Mr. Bryan is a boss, he is a new type. Call him boss or call him what you will, the man who by sheer force of intellect and honesty can become the head of a great political party not only without the support of but in the fact of active opposition of the great mass of so-called party leaders; this without the use of patronage, without the use of pull, without the support of a strong political machine, without the use of vast sums of money—the man who can do this is certainly in pretty good standing with the plain people, and under our system of government it is the plain people, rather than any self-constituted aristocracy, who are the real rulers of the nation.—Walla Walla Statesman.

The Checking Account for the Farmer

Many farmers keep a checking account with us regularly because it is a great help and convenience in their every day business.

With a checking account you can tell exactly the total amount of your receipts and expenditures for each month for the entire year. When you sell your farm products, deposit your money in the Bank, subject to check. The obligations you have can be cancelled by check. When you make a purchase, pay by check.

We invite you to try this system.

SUNNYSIDE WILL HAVE ANNUAL FAIR

Will Inaugurate Plan With Show to Be Held in September.

The Sunnyside Fair will be held this year, and each year hereafter, and will be made a permanent institution. President F. K. Spalding says that arrangements are being made and the work laid out for the largest fair held in Yakima county, with the exception of the state fair. The details are being worked out by a committee of business men and the matter of grounds and buildings has been practically settled. The accommodations will be ample and exhibitors are assured that all necessary conveniences will be at their disposal.

The committee has a number of men at work in various parts of the county soliciting for exhibits and a number of fine collections are already promised. The fair will be pushed to the limit from now until its opening in September, and it is confidently expected that it will be a success in every way.

One feature of the plans of the people promoting the enterprise will commend itself to the public. The fair will be self supporting. It will be conducted as a business enterprise and not as an object of charity. No contributions will be asked from the business men and no effort will be made to have a subsidy granted, other than what is allowed by the laws of the state. If any business man or citizen is sufficiently interested in the success of the fair to offer a premium on any article or group of articles it will help a good thing along and his interest will be appreciated alike by promoters, patrons and exhibitors, but the fair will support itself on a business basis.—Sunnyside Republican.

DR. DARRIN'S SPECIALTIES

No Time Should be Lost by the Afflicted to Have a Free Private Consultation With Him.

Since the advent in this city of Dr. Darrin, the great specialist, who has recently returned to North Yakima, the excitement not only in this vicinity but wherever any of the numerous patients he has relieved can be found, has been most intense. The old story—the lame walk, the deaf hear, the blind see—has been a reality in our midst, and what would be scouted as too marvelous to be true is now demonstrated in too palpable a manner to leave room for the slightest doubt or uncertainty. That the doctor has achieved a vast amount of good in this community no one will attempt to deny who has given the subject the slightest investigation.

When Dr. Darrin first arrived he advised very extensively, and the cry went up that there was some catch in it. Then he cured one case that was considered hopeless, and surprise was felt. After that the very worst cases in existence were given him as a test, by all doubters. If he cures this one I will believe it, the doubters echoed, and after treatment the patient was as sound as a dollar.

Then they gave him another test case and another, and so on, but all with the same result. He effected a cure in nearly every instance. Then the doctor's terrible rush of patients began, and the stream grew every day during his stay, numbering some of the best people in the state.

A visit to the office of Dr. Darrin was certainly a curiosity. Patients are carried in one day and after a week's time instead of being carried there, they walk in as sprightly as young boys. What there is about him is certainly mysterious, for he has performed most remarkable cures, as the testimonials we have heretofore published have proved.

Dr. Darrin gives free and confidential examinations and consultations to all at his offices in the postoffice building, corner Chestnut and South Second street, from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily. The doctor treats all curable acute, chronic, nervous and complicated diseases of whatever nature in either sex. All female troubles, deafness, catarrh, bronchitis, consumption, dyspepsia, skin diseases, heart, liver, kidney and piles a specialty. Out of town patients treated with unfailing success after one visit to his office.

COLUMBIA RIVER ROSE EIGHT INCHES FROM RAIN

Dr. George Sloan Says the Rainfall at Priest Rapids Was Heavy.

Dr. George Sloan, who returned to North Yakima Saturday from a trip overland to Priest Rapids section of the Columbia river, says that the people here do not know what rain is. Apparently there were "slashings" of it about the Columbia river country for the great river rose eight inches in one night, and it takes some water to do that. In Hanson's canyon there were plenty of signs where the water had washed down and across the Swank district, on the other side, where the water had a chance to spread out traces were plainly visible where it had washed. At that, Dr. Sloan says, the storm spots were localized and from what had been told him here he concluded the conditions have been similar in both places, that is, storms or clouds coming in opposite or different directions and meeting then pouring out their contents on the ground below. There was not, he thinks, anything like a cloudburst anywhere but there was very heavy rain. It was the same on the other side of the river. Damage done by the rain, in the opinion of Dr. Sloan, will be more than offset by the resulting good. He found the Columbia river country looking excellent.

DAMAGE DONE TO FRUIT IS HARD TO ESTIMATE

Aggregate Will Be Heavy, But Individual Losses Will Be Light.

Numerous reports have been made by fruit growers regarding damage by rain, and particularly by hail, but it is impossible to learn with any degree of definiteness of the extent of the loss in this respect. The general opinion is that it will not be heavy. Hail marked apples are expected as a result of the storms and Ed. King of Fruitvale says that there has been considerable damage to grapes. The extent of this, however, will not be known for some time. There is a natural tendency in fruit to repair an injury and this will prove the case with a quantity of the stricken fruit.

Melons are said to have suffered severely in some sections and many peaches have been bled. Manager E. E. Samson of the Horticultural Union says he proposes to make a tour of the orchards in the Fruitvale section to learn for himself the situation. One man reports trouble and his neighbors declare they escaped, indicating that the losses are in spots. Deputy Horticultural Inspector Brown says that while the aggregate of the loss will be heavy the individual loss will be comparatively light.

Dr. N. H. Goodenow, eye, ear, nose and throat, and the fitting of glasses... Removed from the Mullins Building to 304-305 Miller Building. Office phone, 4286; residence phone, 2266.

DEMOCRAT PLATFORM

Denver, Colo.—After more than 54 hours of almost continuous service, the committee on resolutions of the Democratic National Convention concluded its work on the platform, and after a period of revision and rearrangement of sections, the members of the committee headed by the chairman, Governor Haskell, of Oklahoma, with the document under his arm, started for the convention hall.

After the last plank had been agreed upon, Senator Daniel, of Virginia, and ex-Senator Smith, of New Jersey, announced their intention to support the nominee of the convention and the following platform:

Synopsis.

INJUNCTIONS—Attempt of Representatives to raise issue on attack of integrity of courts resented. Congress should guard against abuse of judicial process. Anti-injunction measure passed by Senate in 1896 should become a law. Injunctions should not issue in cases where they would not issue if no industrial dispute were involved.

LABOR—Right of wage-earners to organize should not be abridged and such organizations should not be regarded as in restraint of trade. Eight-hour day, employers' liability and Department of Labor, including mines, should be enacted.

TARIFF—Tariff should be immediately reduced. Articles competing with trust-controlled products should be free; material reductions made on necessities of life, especially such as compete with American manufacturers sold more cheaply abroad than at home; graduated reductions made on other schedules to restore tariff to revenue basis. Tariff on wood pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs should be immediately repealed.

ABUSE OF PATRONAGE—Condemns President Roosevelt for using Federal machinery to force nomination of Taft, thereby depriving the people of the right of selection. Acts not justified by good intentions.

PUBLICITY PLANK—Demands Federal legislation terminating partnership between the corporations and the Republican party; favors law making it felony for any officer of any corporation to contribute or consent to the contribution of money or anything of value to further the election of a President, Vice-President or any member of Congress.

CENTRALIZED GOVERNMENT—Opposes centralization implied in suggestions that the powers of the general Government should be extended to curb exploiting interests.

ECONOMY—Denounces heedless waste of people's money by Roosevelt administration; pledges party to stop appalling waste of revenue; money squandered wrong from people by indirect taxation.

BANKING—Panic of 1907 shows unwillingness or inability of Republican party to protect country against financial disturbances; causes sins of Wall street to be visited on whole people; condemns Aldrich bill as impairing security of depositors; favors law governing National bank deposits; favors postal savings banks only in case guarantee law cannot be passed and provided money deposited in postal banks be kept at home and not directly turned over to Wall street.

RATE REGULATION—Asserts right of courts to exercise complete control over interstate commerce and the right of each state to exercise control over commerce within its borders; demands enlarged powers for interstate commission giving it the initiative with reference to rates and charges; no interstate rate to be lawful until approved by commission.

POWERS OF SPEAKER—Pledges party to make House of Representatives again the popular branch of the Government and not the creature of one member.

ARMY OF OFFICE-HOLDERS—Charges Roosevelt administration with building up a bureaucracy by creating 99,319 new offices in six years; as dangerous as purchase of votes at polls.

WATERWAYS—The National Government having control of all navigable waters, should improve its waterways to the fullest capacity; adoption of liberal and comprehensive plan favored; indorses scheme to open Mississippi from Great Lakes to the Gulf.

AMERICAN CITIZENS—Insist on full protection for all American citizens, native or naturalized, while traveling or sojourning abroad.

ELECTION OF SENATORS—Favors election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

LATIN AMERICA—Recognizes importance and advisability of developing closer relations with Latin-American republics.

TELEGRAPHS AND TELEPHONS—Pledges party to enact law to regulate telegraph and telephone rates through Interstate Commerce Commission.

PHILIPPINES—Condemns "experiment in imperialism as an inexcusable blunder"; favors immediate declaration of Nation's purpose to recognize independence of the Philippines as soon as a stable government can be established.

INCOME TAX—Favors an income tax as part of revenue system and recommends constitutional amendment giving Congress power to pass law.

CIVIL SERVICE—Favors honest and rigid enforcement of civil service laws, without regard to party.

GRAZING LANDS—Favors leaving establishment of rules and regulations for grazing lands in forest reserves to people of states in which such reserves lie.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO—Urges immediate admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states.

NAVY—Declares for an adequate navy for coast defense and to protect citizens and their property in foreign lands.

ASIATIC IMMIGRATION—Opposes admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be amalgamated into population of United States.

OKLAHOMA—New state warmly welcomed to Union.

ALASKA AND PORTO RICO—Demands for the territories all rights and privileges of a territorial form of government; all officials appointed to be residents of territory.

HAWAII—Recommends extension of land laws of United States to Hawaii.

MERCHANT MARINE—Declares for upbuilding of merchant marine without new burdens on people; subsidies opposed.

Salient Features of the Platform.

We denounce the growing increase in the number of office-holders as not only unnecessary and wasteful, but also as clearly indicating a deliberate purpose on the part of the administration to keep the Republican party in power at public expense by thus increasing the number of its retainers and dependents. Such procedure we declare to be no less dangerous and corrupt than the open purchase of votes at the polls.

We demand that the House of Representatives shall again become a deliberative body, controlled by a majority of the people's representatives, and not by the Speaker, and we pledge ourselves to adopt such rules and regulations to govern the House of Representatives as to enable a majority of its members to direct its deliberations and control legislation.

We demand Federal legislation forever terminating the partnership which has existed between corporations of the country and the Republican party under the expressed or implied agreement that in return for the contribution of great sums of money wherewith to purchase elections they should be allowed to continue substantially unmolested in their efforts to encroach upon the rights of the people.

We pledge the Democratic party to a law preventing any corporation from contributing to a campaign fund and any individual from contributing an amount above a reasonable minimum and providing for the publication before election of all such contributions.

We favor immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products should be placed on the free list. Material reductions should be made in the tariff upon the necessities of life, especially upon articles competing with such American manufactures as are sold abroad more cheaply than at home; and graduated reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We, therefore, favor the vigorous reform of the criminal law against guilty trust-magnates and officials, and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States.

We assert the rights of courts to exercise complete control over interstate commerce and the right of each state to exercise control over commerce within its borders. We demand such enlargement of the Interstate Commerce Commission as may be necessary to compel railroads to perform their duties as common carriers and prevent discrimination and extortion.

We pledge ourselves to legislation under which National banks shall be required to establish a guarantee fund for the prompt payment of the depositors of any insolvent National bank under an equitable system which shall be available to all banking institutions wishing to use it.

We favor an income tax as part of our revenue system, and we urge the submission of a constitutional amendment specifically authorizing Congress to levy and collect tax upon individual and corporate incomes, to the end that wealth may bear its proportionate share of the burdens of the Federal Government.

We favor the eight-hour day on all Government work.

We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law by Congress as far as the Federal jurisdiction extends for a general employers' liability act covering injury to body or loss of life of employees.

The courts of justice are the bulwark of our liberties and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity. Our party has given to the bench a long line of distinguished judges who have added respect and confidence, in which this department must be jealously maintained. We resent the attempt of the Republican party to raise a false issue respecting the judiciary. It is an unjust reflection upon the great body of our citizens to assume that they lack respect for the courts.

It is the function of the courts to interpret laws which the people create, and if the laws appear to work economic, social or political injustice, it is our duty to change them. The only basis upon which the integrity of our courts can stand is that of unswerving justice and protection of life and property. If judicial processes may be abused we should guard against abuse.

Experience has proven the necessity of a modification of the present law relating to injunctions, and we reiterate the pledge of our National platforms of 1896 and 1904 in favor of the measure which passed the United States Senate in 1896, but which a Republican Congress has ever since refused to enact, relating to contempt in Federal courts and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

We believe in the upbuilding of American merchant marine without new or additional burdens upon the people, and without bounties from the public treasury.

The constitutional provision that a navy shall be provided and maintained means an adequate navy, and we believe that the interests of the country would be best served by having a navy sufficient to defend the coasts of this country and protect American citizens wherever their rights may be in jeopardy.

We favor a postal savings bank, if the guaranteed bank cannot be secured, and that it be constituted so as to keep the deposited money in the communities where it is established. But we condemn the policy of the Republican party in providing postal savings banks under a plan of conduct by which they will aggregate the deposits of rural communities and redeposit the same, while under Government charge, in the banks of Wall street, thus depleting the circulating medium of the producing regions and unjustly favoring the speculative markets.

The establishment of rules and regulations, if any such are necessary, in relation to free grazing upon the public lands outside of forest or other reservations until the same shall eventually be disposed of, should be left to the people of the states respectively in which the lands may be situated.

We favor an immediate declaration of the Nation's purpose to recognize the independence of the Philippine Islands as soon as a stable government can be guaranteed by us. In recognizing the independence of the Philippines our Government should retain such land as may be necessary for coaling stations and naval bases.

We believe that the Panama Canal will prove of great value to our country and favor its speedy completion.

We favor full protection, by both National and state governments within their respective spheres, of all foreigners residing in the United States under treaty, but we are opposed to the admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be amalgamated with our population.

We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and regard this reform as the gateway to other National reforms.

We demand for the people of Alaska and Porto Rico the full enjoyment of the rights and privileges of a territorial form of government.

KERN STAUNCH PARTY MAN.

Popular in Social and Political Life in Home State.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14.—John W. Kern, nominated for the Vice-Presidency by the Denver convention, has been a prominent figure in state politics for a period of 24 years.

Mr. Kern has always been a staunch party man. In the preliminary campaign of 1896, when there was such a determined free silver sentiment and it seemed inevitable that the approaching Democratic State Convention would indorse free silver, he was a pronounced gold man and entered freely into the fight to create sentiment in the party against the new political dogma.

When the state and National conventions had spoken on the subject, he declared his allegiance to the party and went into the campaign that followed and did his utmost to elect Bryan. His pre-convention utterances were hurled at him by the opposition press and by orators in the hustings, but Kern took the ground that his party had spoken and its utterances were a law to him.

While Kern is popular with his party and in the social life of the city and state, some Democrats have criticised him very freely in the past three or four years because of the close alliance existing between him and National Chairman Taggart.

John W. Kern was born in Alto, Ind., December 20, 1849. From 1897 to 1901 he was city attorney of Indianapolis. Mr. Kern is a red-hot campaigner, an orator of force and eloquence. He was the friend of Hendricks and Voorhees and served with them in many memorable political battles.

The Kern family is prominent socially in Indianapolis. Mrs. Kern being a brilliant woman of high intelligence and a lively wit.

We believe in the upbuilding of

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

H. H. Schott and family are in camp at Soda Springs.

Attorney Fred Parker left Tuesday night to join his family at Moclipis.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hagerdorn, a daughter, on July 18, at Wapato.

Dr. Frank is attending a meeting of the state board of health at Seattle today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Splawn left Sunday for a two weeks' visit on the Sound.

Dan Lesh and family have gone to Moclipis for the remainder of the heated season.

Attorney Leo O. Meigs returned Tuesday from a visit to Bellingham and other Sound points.

Mrs. C. W. McCormack, of the lower Naches, is in Wapato nursing her daughter, Mrs. Hagerdorn.

Ellensburg is to have free mail delivery beginning August 1. The town up the creek must be going some!

Miss Lucile James left this week for Lake Kachess. She will spend a two weeks' vacation with Mrs. E. B. Moore.

Judge John H. Lynch and bride have returned from their delightful honeymoon trip to points on Puget Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. Mailloux, Miss Eugenia Beaudry and Mr. and Mrs. I. Beaudry have gone to the Sound to spend a month.

Col. Robertson who represented the Yakima press at the state editorial convention at Vancouver, returned home Tuesday.

Contractor McKivir has a force of men excavating on First street this week getting the street ready for the paving.

J. D. Cornett is expected home next week from his trip to Dallas, Texas, where he attended the grand lodge of the Elks.

Camping and fishing parties are leaving town every day this hot weather, most of the campers making for points on the Naches.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Y. Heckman, who have been visiting friends in Oregon and on the Sound for the past month, are now expected home.

Mrs. Judge Luhman and Miss Getsch left the first of the week for Tacoma where they expect to remain throughout the heated season.

George Donald, Jr., is home from Dungeness, where he had been employed for several months as a book-keeper for a logging company.

Phil Ditter, Frank Bartholet and A. B. Cline are in camp on the Nile, and as a result some pretty tall fish stories have been drifting down to the city.

L. Talbot was in the city Monday from Toppenish. Mr. Talbot is being talked of freely as a possible democratic candidate for the legislature from this county.

Myron S. Meeks and Miss Jennie Sherwood were granted a license to wed Wednesday. Miss Sherwood for a number of years was a popular teacher in the city schools here.

Irving Bounds, who graduated recently from the Harvard law school, reached home Tuesday. On his way west the young man stopped off at Denver and attended the democratic national convention.

George Dunn and his mother, Miss Edith McDonald and J. D. Nichols have started overland in Mr. Dunn's automobile for the Sound. They will stop at Lake Kachess en route and enjoy a few days at Kachess Lodge.

Hub Pratt, an old Yakima boy, was a visitor here this week. He attended the funeral at Ellensburg Sunday of his cousin, the late George Mead, who was killed in the Cle Elum powder explosion Thursday of last week.

George Gardner, a son of the late Judge Gardner and a brother of Mrs. Bivens of this city, is here on a visit after an absence of 13 years. Mr. Gardner is a deputy U. S. mineral surveyor and lives at Loomis, O'Kanagan county.

The Reiss carnival, located on South Third street, has furnished the amusement for the crowds this week. The carnival people were compelled to pay a license fee of $50 per day by the city authorities, which amount was paid under protest.

The prosecution of Mrs. Rebecca Butler for obtaining $2150 from B. Uhl of the Selah, under false pretenses, has not yet been decided upon as it is a question whether a jury would convict the woman, the rancher having been to blame in believing her fanciful stories.

The losses by fire of Messrs. Fisher and Johnson to their stocks of goods early Sunday morning, not yet having been adjusted by the insurance companies, the burned buildings still remain as they were. The total loss to building and contents will probably reach $10,000.

The Sunnyside train is now running on its new schedule, which calls for two trains a day. The first train leaves North Yakima at 7 o'clock a. m. and the second at 2:20 p. m. There is but one train Sunday, which leaves here at 8:30 o'clock a. m.

William King, the man stabbed by Charles Edwards at Camp 1 Saturday night, is reported to be out of danger. His injuries, however, are of a serious character and a charge of assault with a deadly weapon will be filed against Edwards. A preliminary hearing will be had in the immediate future.

J. M. Kennedy of Hooper, Ore., procured a few days ago from A. J. Splawn of North Yakima four fine young Herford bulls which were shipped to Hooper and arrived in excellent condition. Mr. Splawn now retains but three of last year's bulls so that but little chance is left for those who desire to pick up samples of the famous Yakima white faces.

Letters from John R. Ryerson, agent here of the Northern Pacific railroad, indicate that he is having an excellent time in Maine. The New England Yacht club members have been disporting themselves about Portland and Bar Harbor and Mr. Ryerson saw some beautiful sailing and power craft. He proposes to visit Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other cities before his return.

Manager H. D. McClellan, of the telephone company here, has retired from the control of the local service and returned to Seattle where he will continue in the service there, the lines in both cities being under the same system. Mr. McClellan came to North Yakima in December last and has been in charge here since. The new manager here is D. S. Wilkinson, who for two months has been wire chief of this service. Mr. Wilkinson was formerly with the Western Electric company of San Francisco and is a qualified and experienced man. He assumed his new duties this morning.

Notice to Tax Payers.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday, August 3rd, 1908, the annual session of the Board of Equalization will open in the County Commissioners office in the Court House at North Yakima Washington, for the purpose of equalizing the 1908 taxes.

Complaints, if any, must be made at this meeting, as the County Commissioners are not authorized by law to alter tax after the close of this session. Witness my hand and seal this 17th day of July, 1908.

NEW YORK JUSTICE TO DECIDE BOND ISSUE

City Council Will Leave Question of Validity of Bonds to Eminent Jurist of the Empire State.

The validity of the bonds recently issued by North Yakima will not be tested in the supreme court of the state of Washington as heretofore announced. Instead the matter will be submitted to Judge Dillon, of New York, for his opinion. If Judge Dillon's opinion is favorable to the city of North Yakima E. H. Rollins & Sons will be held for the bonds, the value of which amounts to $150,000. If his opinion is adverse to north Yakima—that is if he holds the bonds illegal—there will be a second election held. If the election is held all matters for which the bonds are issued, will be voted upon by the people.

Send a Telegram.

The following telegram was sent to E. H. Rollins & Sons this afternoon: "July 22, 1908.

"E. H. Rollins & Sons, 238 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. We consent to leave matter of validity bond issue to Judge Dillon at your expense, per letters and telegrams, his opinion to arrive here by August 2 sure. Call Judge Dillon's attention to fact that election ordinance makes no reference to refunding. Also would not bonds in hands of innocent purchasers for value be absolutely valid. If Judge Dillon's opinion is favorable to us, you are then to accept bonds and pay for same at once. If adverse to us, we will take action to rectify.

"H. H. LOMBARD, Mayor."

The above action was decided upon this afternoon at a conference between Attorney Marshall K. Snell and George Scofield, of Tacoma, and members of the city council. Mr. Snell is counsel for the George Milton Savage company. Mr. Scofield is a member of the company. At their own instance Messrs. Snell and Scofield came to North Yakima yesterday to suggest the action that has been taken.

Would Cause Delay.

To submit the issue to the supreme court would mean more delay and expense than submitting the matter to the New York attorney would amount to, thinks Attorney Snell. He believes Judge Dillon will give a fair and just decision in the matter and thinks the whole controversy will be settled in a more amicable manner by taking the action as described above.

In the meantime the paving of North Yakima's streets will go on just the same as if there were no question about the validity of the bonds. Mr. Scofield says his company will carry out the work exactly as it intended to when the contract was awarded. Concerning the proposition he said today:

Will Finish Contract.

"Although we desire to see this matter straightened out and are somewhat sorry it came about, you may tell your people that their streets will be finished as the contract provides. If we are not hindered by any failure of subcontractors to furnish material and if our men will desist in this strike fever, I believe we will have the whole job completed by November 1."

FRUIT TREES OF THIS COUNTY IN GOOD SHAPE

Growers Have Come to Realization of Importance of Spraying.

According to Special Horticultural Inspector J. M. Brown, Yakima county was never in better condition, so far as its trees are concerned. Mr. Brown has recently spent a major share of his time in visiting various points in the county. Yesterday he went to the Selah valley and the word he brings back concerning the appearance and actual condition of that section of the valley is a gratification to its residents and the people as a whole.

"The direct cause for the improved conditions of Yakima county trees is the hearty co-operation of the people in working for better fruit. Every man has taken it upon himself to advocate the necessity of clean fruit. Of course to have clean fruit the grower must have clean trees, and in this Yakima growers have at last succeeded.

"To bring these conditions about, it has taken considerable time and hammering away at the people. At first they were inclined to doubt the importance of spraying for the different pests with which any fruit growing community is afflicted. Gradually, however, the growers have come to a full realization of the importance of spraying, with the result that we now have a county of cleanliness."

Mr. Brown was especially impressed with the manner in which Selah valley is coming to the front. New houses of every description are dotting the valley and hillside and new acreage is being set to fruit trees.
