STATE FAIR WEEK.

Exceptionally Fine Weather and a Large Crowd in Attendance—Excursions from the Sound Cities Swell the Crowds. Principal Features of the Exposition. Many Fine Exhibits.

The state fair has been the attraction this week and business and work in many lines have been almost entirely suspended by the people of this valley in order to enjoy the occasion. The weather during the week, with the exception of the opening day, Monday, was all that could be desired, being typical Yakima autumn weather, a fact duly appreciated by the Puget Sound people in attendance, at least.

The attendance this year, especially on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, was better, it is thought, than that for the same days at any preceding fair. The cities of Tacoma and Seattle are entitled to much credit for this liberal patronage. The excursion from Tacoma, which arrived at 3 p. m. Tuesday, brought over 600 people, while that from Seattle 24 hours later brought nearly 900. These numbers by no means, however, represent the total of visitors from the two principle cities of the state. People from the Sound towns other than exhibitors commenced arriving by Sunday's trains, and they kept coming on regular trains until yesterday. The problem of caring for this host of visitors was no easy one, but the city officials having the matter in charge were equal to the occasion. Councilmen Harrison, Liggett and Fisher had previously scoured the town for rooms and as the visitors arrived they were taken to City Clerk Doust's office, registered and assigned to rooms. The hotels and lodging houses as a rule were taxed to their utmost early in the week and had not the hospitable people of this city thrown the doors of their homes open to the visitors it would have been impossible to accommodate all.

The exhibits in the pavilion in the line of fruits and vegetables are from 13 counties. Fruit exhibits from a number of other counties which had been collected at the instance of A. Von Holderbecke, state commissioner of horticulture, failed to arrive on time unfortunately, and were not installed.

The most extensive county exhibit is that of Yakima. It was prepared jointly by Wm. Lee and W. L. Wright to whom much credit is due for such a fine display of the products of this valley as they have worked hard on the exhibit for several months. This exhibit comprises over 200 samples each of fruit, vegetables and grasses, and is most tastefully arranged. A very large proportion of the display was grown on the respective ranches of Messrs. Wright and Lee northwest of town. In addition to receiving the first premium of $300 for the best county exhibit these gentlemen were awarded respectively first and second premiums for the best individual farm exhibits, these latter prizes having been given by the Seattle Brewing and Malting Company.

The other counties represented in the horticultural display are Kittitas, which is a very creditable exhibit, Skagit, Okanogan, Clarke, Asotin, Walla Walla, Kitsap, Chelan, Spokane, Columbia and Jefferson. The fruit from these counties is mostly apples, pears, peaches and grapes, all of which are very good. Prof. F. A. Huntley, formerly connected with the Idaho agricultural college, acted as judge in the Horticultural Department.

The south wing of the pavilion is occupied almost entirely by the woman's department, represented by the ladies of the Congregational church with Mrs. Fred Parker as superintendent. This display, while entirely local, is a most excellent one and attracts much attention from lady visitors.

In the north wing is located the very extensive exhibit of the State Agricultural College, under the charge of Prof. J. S. Cotton, who is courteous and always willing to explain the mysteries of bugology to the visitors. In this collection are numerous classified exhibits which show the ravages of the different insects on vegetable life. The coal and mineral exhibits are also in this wing. Geo. Weikel has on display a number of samples of what is pronounced a good quality of anthracite from the Cowlitz Pass mines as well as a quantity of coke and red hematite iron ore from the same fields. Messrs. Thomas and Taylor are displaying some splendid samples of ore from the Yakima-Swauk mine, some of which are literally seamed with gold. Other Swauk mines are also well represented in the mineral exhibit. There are also on exhibition a number of very rich looking specimens from the Elizabeth mine at Gold Hill. In the center of the pavilion is the very fine flower and potted plants exhibit of the State Floral company from its Nob Hill gardens and green houses. This is a very handsome display and attracts much favorable comment.

On leaving the east wing of the pavilion the visitor is perforce attracted to the exhibit made by the Axtex Copper Company of Seattle. This consists of bells, axes, hatchets, hammers, razors and numerous other tools, all made from tempered copper. To men of mechanical turn of mind, especially this exhibit is particularly interesting. Since the days of the Ancient Romans until recently the knowledge of hardening copper has been a lost art. It remained, however, for a woman living at Seattle, Mrs. Linstrom, to rediscover this lost art after years of patient labor and study.

The poultry department which is under the charge of Superintendent C. G. Johns of Tacoma, is apparently up to the standard set in former years, both for quantity and quality. A large number of very fine birds are in evidence from different parts of the state, Yakima and Pierce counties being best represented. In machinery hall are displays of agricultural machinery made by the Yakima Hardware Co., Wyman & Fraser, and Coffin Bros. of this city. The live stock exhibit this year as last is very fine. The Democrat regrets that it lacks the space to mention this week in detail, the splendid exhibits of cattle particularly, the list of premium winners, however, we will publish next week. In the list of stockmen with their herds on exhibition are the following: Honeyman Bros., Scappoose, Ore., twelve head Ayershires; D. H. Lookey, Jefferson, Ore., eighteen head Jerseys; P. A. Frakes, Scappoose, Ore., nine head of Shorthorns; L. V. McWhorter, North Yakima, eleven head of North Devonshires; Charles E. Ladd, Portland, Ore., young herd of five Shorthorns; W. C. Minor, Heppner, Ore., sixteen head of Shorthorns; C. R. Wade, Pendleton, Ore., three Herefords, seven Shorthorns; Chas. E. Ladd, forty-seven head Shropshires, Coltswoods, South Downs and ten head of Angoras; S. A. Jackson, Dayton, twelve head Ramboulette; L. K. Cogswell, Chehalis, fifteen head Red Polls; J. M. Jayne, North Yakima, twelve head Brown Swiss; Hazelwood company, Spokane, twelve head Holsteins, one Shorthorn; Metsker & Klengard, Pullman, six Shorthorns; John Sparks, Reno, Nev., eighteen Herefords, one Shorthorn; A. J. Splawn, North Yakima, seven Herefords, six Aberdeen Angus; R. C. Dunbar & Son, Olympia, ten Red Polls; H. Carvoso, North Yakima, four head horses; James Skirving, Sunnyside, four Duroc Jersey hogs and seven pigs; A. R. Galbraith, Spokane, seven head of horses.

The racing department of the fair has been well managed this year and the track has been the center of attraction, the grand stand being packed with humanity every afternoon. A faster field of horses is here this year than ever before and a number of good races have been pulled off daily. The following is the result of the races up to Wednesday night:

Three-fourth mile selling race; purse $150; Sally Goodwin won, Remark second, Modder third; time, 1:14 1/4.

The Wrestling Match.
The wrestling match at the armory Wednesday evening between Prof. F. S. Lewis and Chris. Larson, resulted in a victory for the latter, who won the second and third falls, Lewis winning the first. This is Larson's second victory over Lewis in this city.

It required 12 minutes for Lewis to lay the shoulders of his big swarthy antagonist on the mat thus winning the first fall. After a rest of 10 minutes the two men went at it again, Larson assuming the aggressive. The big Scandinavian went at his man hammer and tongs with the evident determination of flooring him and he did so after a hard tussle that lasted 10 minutes.

This made matters even and as the third fall was to settle the contest the men were very careful at first. They then began to mix matters, each man doing his utmost to master his adversary. It looked once or twice as though "the big swede" was out of it, but his great agility saved him. The round lasted 14 minutes at the end of which time Larson won the fall, both men being badly winded.

The contest was a good one throughout and was undoubtedly on the square. At any rate the small audience was well pleased. Jim Woods acted as referee and Dr. Hill as timekeeper.

Mt. Rainier vs. Tacoma.
The Tacoma excursion train pulled in at 3 p. m., schedule time Tuesday afternoon, each and every one of the 370 passengers was decorated with a badge bearing the name of their beloved city "Tacoma" printed in big black letters.

O. M. Moore, a well known citizen of Seattle, and who constituted the advance guard of the big delegation from that city which arrived Wednesday afternoon, dropped into town Tuesday night. Seeing the Tacoma badges in evidence everywhere the Seattle man became possessed of an idea. The following morning he ordered a thousand badges printed at this office which bore the imprint of a cut representing a mountain under which appeared the words "Mt. Rainier" followed by "Seattle."

Naturally enough the badges attracted much attention and many smiling comments from Fair visitors. The people from the "city of destiny" were joshed a good deal in consequence, but all seemed to take the matter in a good natured way.

Heart to Heart Talk with Our Subscribers.

Now that the harvest season is practically over and nearly everybody in the Yakima country has money to jingle, The Democrat wishes to be remembered by its subscribers and especially by that not very numerous class who are in arrears for one or more years for the paper. In other words we want what is coming to us this fall.

The Democrat has not advanced its subscription price although many other papers in this state have done so during the past year on the pretext of increased cost of publication, which is true, as labor and all material used in the production of a newspaper are higher priced than ever before so high in fact that but a very small margin of profit is left to the publisher even on the assumption that he loses nothing in the way of bad debts.

Our friends all know where to find us. They are cordially invited to call at their earliest convenience. We would prefer that our delinquent subscribers would do this rather than to compel us to send a collector into the field to look them up as the latter method of making settlements is usually neither pleasant for the subscriber or profitable for the newspaper.

The Best Doctor.

Superintendent Lynch Gives His Version.

Bonded Superintendent Jay Lynch of the Yakima Indian reservation was in the city during several days of this week. Mr. Lynch was interviewed by the Democrat in order to get his side of the story of his recent difficulties with certain officials of the Indian bureau.

Mr. Lynch said in effect that the trouble originated and was undoubtedly hatched up by a clique of minor officials in the department who seemed to be animated by feelings of jealousy and the whole thing looked to him like a conspiracy to oust him from the public service. Then the agency was discontinued about 18 months ago. When the order was issued that henceforth the Yakima reservation should be under the control of a bonded superintendent, the place came under the civil service and naturally enough there were a number of men in that branch who considered themselves entitled to promotion and bitterly resented the idea of an ex-agent securing the job without having to go through the trying ordeal of an examination, which the law exempts an ex-agent from doing.

Mr. Lynch says that Clerk Taylor, who was transferred to Fort Simcoe over a year ago, and who left there two months ago, was the cause of the investigation recently concluded by Special Agent Dickson. Taylor, it seems, acted the part of a spy all the time that he was there, and sent secret reports in to headquarters at Washington regarding the activities of his chief. For instance, if Mr. Lynch should leave his post to come to this city or go elsewhere on business, Taylor would report his absence from his post. He reported various other alleged derelictions of duty also among them the fact that Mr. Lynch did not compel the Indian children to go to school regularly. This the superintendent claims was quite impossible owing to the prevalence of small-pox, measles and other diseases on the reservation last winter.

Regarding the report made by Special Agent Dickson, Mr. Lynch says that that official evidently came to the Fort with the idea that he was going to uncover a great deal of scandal. The books and accounts were carefully scrutinized for false entries or errors, but none were found. The Special Agent therefore in making his report was obliged to confine himself to the general charges of "incompetency and carelessness" as nothing could be found that reflected on the honesty of the superintendent.

Mr. Lynch says that the investigation is the outcome of petty persecution on the part of petty officials in the civil service who would like to get him out in order that some one of their number might be able to get in and the balance likewise receive promotions as a result. Mr. Lynch says that he does not care so much about holding on to the position as he does about the attack made on his honor, which he deeply feels as there was absolutely no reason for it.

Got His Man.

The sheriff's office here was notified Sunday by Sheriff Thomas of Ellensburg to be on the lookout for one, E. A. Reynolds, supposed to be here and wanted at the "Burg" for procuring money under false pretenses. The local office was further informed that Reynolds' wife would come down on No. 6, presumably to meet her husband and that the Kittitas sheriff would be on the same train.

Sheriff Grant and Deputies Cox and Edwards were at the depot at train time and although they did not know the man wanted, they sized up a fellow who was hanging around the depot as the fellow that they were after. Their suspicions were confirmed when the train arrived and a woman stepped off and immediately walked into the arms of the hunted man to receive the wife's embrace. This was the signal for action on the part of the officers and they lost no time in placing Reynolds under arrest, much to his chagrin and his wife's amazement. Sheriff Thomas was soon on the scene and took charge of the prisoner, taking him back to the "Burg" to stand trial.

END OF THE HACKNEY.

How He Is Worn Out In the Service of Society.

The prancing, high stepping hackneys that draw the shiny carriages of the rich are often driven the pace that kills. In "Horses Nine" Sewell Ford tells the story of such a horse and his mate and how they were worn out. The author says: Seeing them come down the street, heads tossing, pole chains jingling, the crest and monogram of the house of Jerry glistening on quarter cloth and rosette, their polished hoofs seeming barely to touch the asphalt, you might have thought their lot one to be envied. But Bonfire knew better.

He curved his neck and threw his hoofs high, whether his muscles ached or no; in winter he stamped to keep warm, in summer to dislodge the flies; he did his work faithfully, early or late, in cold and in heat, and all this because he was a son of Sir Bardolph and for the reason that it was his nature to. Had it been put upon him he would have worked in harness until he dropped, prancing his best to the last.

No supreme test, however, was ever brought to the endurance and willingness of Bonfire. They just kept him on the pole, nerves tense, muscles strained, until he began to lose form. His action no longer had that grace and abandon which so pleased Mrs. Jerry when she first saw him. Long standing in the cold numbs the muscles. It robs the legs of their spring. Sudden starts, such as are made when you are called from line after an hour's waiting, finish the business. Try as he might Bonfire could not step so high, could not carry a perfect crest. His neck had lost its roundness, in his rump a crease had appeared.

At last the inevitable happened. Two young hackneys, plump of neck, round of quarter, springy of knee and hock, were brought to the stable. Bonfire and his mate were led out of their old stalls to return no more. They had been worn out in the service and cast aside like a pair of old gloves.

POSTAL ODDITIES.

With one exception there has been a deficit in postal revenues every year since 1835.

Thousands of letters are mailed every day without the vestige of an address to indicate for whom they are intended.

Mail matter of any kind addressed in a vague and indefinite way, such as to "the most prominent physician," etc., is not deliverable.

Benjamin Franklin, first postmaster general, boasted that under his administration all the cities of the country had been provided with a weekly mail.

One may mail a letter destined for foreign parts without prepayment of postage. It will go forward to destination, and the recipient will be required to pay double rates for the privilege of reading it if he values it sufficiently.

At the Chicago post office a record is kept of the different ways of spelling the name of that city on mail addresses. At last accounts 289 varieties had been tabulated. Among the less intricate of these are Zizazo, Jaglago, Hipaho, Jajijo and Chachicho.

A Training Table.

"Friend of mine today," said Mr. Kidder, "was talking of coming here to board."

"I hope," remarked Mrs. Starvem, "you were pleased to recommend our table and—"

"Sure! Told him it was just the thing for him. He's a puglist and wants to increase his reach."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Old Story in Verse.

He was a guileless college youth,
That mirrored modesty and truth;
And sometimes at his musty room
His sister called, to chase the gloom.
One afternoon, when she was there,
Arranging things with kindly care,
As often she had done before,
There came a knock upon the door.
Our student, sensitive to fears
Of thoughtless comrades' laughing jeers,
Had only time to make deposit
Of his dear sister in a closet;
Then haste the door to open wide;
His guest unbidden slept inside.

He was a cheery-faced old man,
And with apologies began
For calling and then let him know
That more than fifty years ago,
When he was in his youthful bloom,
He'd occupied that very room;
So thought he'd take the chance, he said,
To see the changes time had made.

"The same old window, same old view—
Ha, ha! the same old pictures, too!"
And then he tapped them with his cane,
And laughed his merry laugh again.

"The same old sofa, I declare!
Dear me! It must be the worse for wear.
The same old shelves!" And then he came
And spied the closet door. "The same—
Oh, my!" A woman's dress peeped through.

Quick as he could he closed it to.
He shook his head. "Ah! ah! the same Old game, young man, the same old game!"

"Would you my reputation slur?"
The youth gasped; "that's my sister,
sir!"

"Ah!" said the old man with a sigh,
"The same old story—the same old lie!"
—Judge.

Treedy by a Bear.

Mart Tuttle, a sheep man of this county, had a very narrow escape recently from a bear, while rounding up his sheep, for the night. A large brown bear gave him chase for over 100 yards. Had it not been for his dog, which showed fight, he would not have been able to have told this story. Being unarmed his only safety was to run for a tree, while the dog made for the camp some 200 yards distant. The bear returned and started up the tree after him. His only weapon was a limb he had broken off and in this manner he was able to keep him at a safe distance. At one time the bear got close enough to tear a hole in one of his shoes. After several attempts the bear left. Tuttle was in the tree over three hours before he dared to come down and make for his camp 200 yards distant. Since then he has been herding horseback and well armed.—Goldendale Agriculturist.

A Parrot School.

Mrs. Hope of Philadelphia has adopted the phonograph as a teacher of Polly Parrot to talk. She has any given phrase, such as the idiotic sentence "Polly wants a cracker," impressed upon a cylinder or plate of wax, and has it repeated thousands of times to a number of birds in cages composing the class for instruction. The words become in the course of time absolutely pounded into their small brains and once safely lodged is readily transferred to the tongue of the talkative bird. The rates of tuition are high too, for Mrs. Hope can increase the value of an apt bird from $10 and $15 to $75 or $100 by six months phonographic instruction. This is a much shorter and more satisfactory process than by vocal articulation which it supplants, and infinitely less labor, as can be readily seen.—Ex.

Yakima News Notes.

A boy at Nathan Rubys.
Hop pickers are returning home.
Councilman Weaver is building a new house.
Houses are scarce here, not enough to fill demands.
Mrs. E. Carmichael made a business trip up the Wenas last week.
The Yakima Original Mill Co. has their big warehouse well under way.
The N. P. is greatly improving and remodeling the depot at this point.
We have a good opening for another hotel as the two we have here are full.
Jno. Aust made a trip to Mabton this week where he found him a homestead.
Miss Rose Adams has been employed to teach school at Sunnyside this winter.

Leslie Courtwright leaves this week for St. Louis to enter Marion-Lewis Medical College.

E. C. Richards has accepted a position with the Yakima Original Milling Co. at this place.

F. M. Towne had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse which was killed by the train last Thursday night.

Sylvester Cains and wife spent Sunday in our burg visiting his parents, D. C. Cains and wife.

Mr. W. E. Hunt is soon to erect a new house. He started the first of the week with teams for Cedar valley for lumber.

Prof. J. B. Bowers and C. W. Ramsey of Blaine, arrived here the fore part of the week where they joined W. A. Bowers for a trip to Cedar valley.

Mrs. O. B. Laird has sold her place and household effects and left this week for Sioux City, Ia. We are sorry to lose Mrs. Laird from our community.

Mrs. Jno. Underwood accompanied by Mrs. W. P. Murphy drove up to Wenas, and spent a few days visiting with the former's brother and family, Thos Taylor.

If you have Old Town property for sale, it can be sold quickly. W. P. Murphy has buyers for all that is to be sold. It will pay you if you have property for sale to list it now.

Jno. A. Grimes and wife of Lerna, Ill., who are touring the west, stopped off here for a visit with Mrs. Grimes' uncle, B. H. McNeal.

Well, it has cropped out that an elderly friend of ours (we hope) has taken exception to our position on the Sunday closing idea, and would make objections. Well, old man, have your say, it's a free country and depend upon it that we will express our conviction and as we are under no obligations to your clique, owe you nothing, credit you none, make our living without you and ask you no odds.

City Marshal Walter Linsey was up to the county seat last Tuesday where he received the oath of a deputy sheriff. We are glad to note that Sheriff Grant thinks of our place by allowing us a deputy sheriff, for you surely know we need to be protected against boot-leggers, etc. Well Walter has made an excellent record as city marshal and we can vouch for it that he will fill the deputyship to a credit to himself and his superior, and satisfaction of all the people.

The Mind During Sleep.

"During sleep," says an authority on mental subjects, "the workings of the mind are under no control, and yet it seems to have a wonderful faculty of building up and arranging scenes and incidents. I remember once having a vivid dream of going into a house the furniture and inmates of which belonged to the middle ages. So clear was the dream that I had no difficulty in recalling it, and then as I went over each detail of dress, armor, jewelry, ornaments and other objects seen in my vision I realized that everything I had beheld was historically accurate—that is to say, that probably in a fraction of a second my mind had conjured up a scene to construct which, with the same faithfulness to detail, while awake would have taken me several hours."

Cures Winter Cough.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold at F. L. Janek's drug store.

Lecture by Blind Editor. FRANK P. BESLIN.

The blind editor of Colorado in his lecture, "What a Blind Man Can Do," on next Monday evening in Masonic hall, under the auspices of Yakima Lodge A. O. U. W., Mr. Frank P. Beslin, will deliver his original and entertaining lecture on this subject. All Workmen and members of the Degree of Honor are requested to be present and bring their friends with them. Workmen please remember that you are wanted to attend a short business session at 7:30. Doors will be open to the public at about 8 o'clock. Admission free. All are cordially invited to attend.

Language.

Language is the subtlest instrument ever played on by man. Its variations are illimitable—that is, they are limited only by the powers of the human mind and soul in all possible situations. The power of words or speech exceeds that of music because language is more than music and even includes music. Language in the hands of a master is pregnant with every meaning.

A nation's language is at once an expression and a mold of its character, reflecting from century to century the development of its civilization and its advance in intellectual and moral culture, in learning and refinement. The flexible Greek tongue was the product and the instrument of the subtle Greek intellect. The distinctive qualities of the classic speech of the Roman declare the dignity and the virile energy which were inseparable from the old Roman.—Portland Oregonian.

Superior stoves and ranges lead the world over. We are the sole agents. Wyman & Frazer. 51-1f

Big Money in Peaches.

T. W. Clark of Nob Hill, is well satisfied with the returns this year from his 5-acre Elberta peach orchard, as indeed he has reason to be.

Mr. Clark has sold this season to one commission man of this city out of his orchard, 4400 boxes of peaches at the rate of 62 1/2 cents, making an aggregate of $2750 for the lot. In addition to this about 200 boxes of second quality were sold at home. Gross returns of nearly $600 per acre, Mr. Clark thinks, is not so bad. The orchard was planted in 1896 and has been well cared for.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty-cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold at F. L. Janek's drug store.
