Recently named as "one of the 75 outstanding restaurants in North America" by Holiday Magazine, the Stirrup Room at the Multnomah Hotel is a major Portland attraction. at the Multnomah...

... you'll find constant evidence of the many qualities which link this hotel with a long tradition of Portland hospitality. Your reception is warm and personal . . . your room spacious and attractive . . . every moment of your stay distinguished by prompt and expert services. Specialty rooms like the Stirrup Room and the Cafe Baron make dining and relaxation a pleasure. In addition, the 600-room Multnomah Hotel provides Portland's most complete air-conditioned meeting and banquet facilities.

The Multnomah is Oregon's largest hotel, with over 600 attractively decorated guest rooms and suites. All have outside exposures; many feature television. Contemporary good taste is blended with every consideration for your personal comfort.

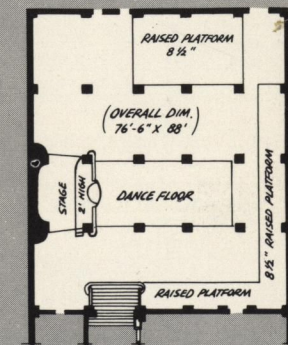

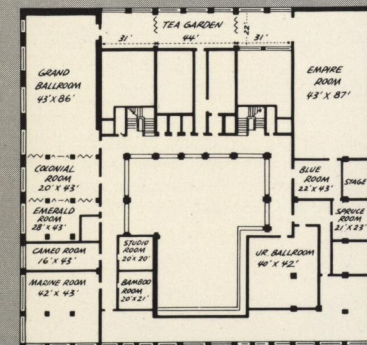

A touch of medieval splendor—and an abundance of truly fine food—mark your visit to the Cafe Baron. Here the famed "Baron of Beef" was actually created—and here you'll find luncheon, dinner, and beverage service to please "the gourmet that lives in everyone."

Splendid surroundings and superior food service distinguish every banquet held in any of the Multnomah's spacious banquet rooms. Groups up to 600 are easily accommodated in air-conditioned comfort.

For generations the Multnomah has been known as Portland's "convention hotel," playing host to organizations and sales groups of regional and national scope. The Empire Room is one of the many meeting rooms available for conventions and sales meetings. By selecting these rooms singly or in combination, proper space is obtainable for the smallest committee group or the largest (up to 900) gathering.

Above is the arrangement of the Multnomah's convention and banquet rooms. Special set-ups are easily made due to the availability of display equipment, sound and motion picture equipment, and special lighting effects.

The Multnomah's adjacency to transportation agencies, business offices, shops and theatres — plus direct limousine service to the airport — adds to the convenience of your stay at Portland's largest hotel.

Like all Western Hotels in the United States, Canada and Hawaii, the Multnomah features the economical Family Plan. Children under 14 are accommodated FREE when occupying the same room as parents. If an additional room is desired, the single rate prevails.
