RECEPTION TO ROOSEVELT

The President Receives a Hearty and Enthusiastic Greeting from the People of Yakima--The Multitude Assembled to Meet Him Various Estimated at from Ten to Fifteen Thousand.

Monday May 25th was a gala day for the people of North Yakima and the Yakima valley and one that will be remembered by all who participated in the rousing and enthusiastic welcome accorded to Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States.

The day dawned bright and beautiful and was all that could be desired. Early in the morning the streets were thronged with people, the early train from the east bringing in a large number from Toppenish, Zillah, Mabton and Sunnyside. As the president and party were due to arrive at 10.30 a. m. the crowd gathered early, in fact, the streets were crowded before 9 o'clock. Everything was in readiness for the president's coming, Yakima avenue and nearly all the business houses in the city were gaily decorated, all of which made a scene most pleasing to the eye.

The special train bearing the presidential party pulled into the depot exactly on time. Congressman Jones, Mayor Shaw, the reception committee and a number of citizens including Judge Rodkin, Edward Whitson, ex-Mayor Fechter, J. D. Cornett, Ira P. Englehart, Alex. Miller, H. B. Scudder, W. L. Steinweg, H. J. Snively, A. E. Larson, G. S. Rankin, C. F. Meyer and W. P. Guthrie were all on hand to greet the distinguished visitor. When the train stopped Congressman Jones entered the rear car where he was warmly greeted by the president who followed the congressman out and was quickly introduced to Mayor Shaw and the delegation of citizens in waiting. The president was then escorted to his open carriage which was most beautifully decorated for the occasion. Gov. McBride, Secretary Loeb and Mayor Shaw entered the carriage after the president, while a secret service man rode on the seat with the driver, H. L. Tucker. The president was accompanied, in addition to his regular party, by Gov. Henry McBride, Senator Levi Aiken, Editor Durham of the Spokesman-Review, President Mellen of the Northern Pacific and A. F. Statter of Walla Walla, private secretary of Senator Aiken. With the exception of President Mellen, these gentlemen all took their places in the different carriages and soon the procession was moving down the avenue at a gait that proved uncomfortably fast for some of the old soldier boys in the guard of honor.

Capt. Scudder, Lieutenants Lemon and Young and Corporal Dean Stair on their prancing steeds made up the mounted guard, while the guard of honor consisted of 98 soldiers of the war of the rebellion and 21 of the Spanish-American war, Co. E, under the command of Captain Dulin, being detailed in three different squads as a peace guard along the line of march.

The president was heartily cheered along the line of march and responded by bowing and frequently tipping his handsome silk tile, all the while his face wearing a broad and contented smile. Both sides of Yakima avenue were packed with a surging mass of humanity all the way to the speakers pavilion and beyond, which is five blocks from the depot.

Arriving at the stand but little time was lost before the president was introduced to the vast audience by Mayor Shaw in a few well chosen words. The president spoke as follows:

"Mr. Mayor, you my fellow Americans, men and women of this great state: It is the greatest pleasure to come here this morning to greet you. I wish to say, as I generally do at these meetings, just a word or two of special greeting, to certain bodies of your citizens. First and foremost to the men of the great war—the veterans of the Grand Army. Out here generally I feel that after all I have got rather less to preach than to learn, because I think you have practiced pretty well what I am preaching, but that is especially true of the men of the Grand Army, for in peace and in war they by their lives gave us an example which we must try ourselves to equal. After thanking them I wish to thank my own comrades—men of the Spanish American war. (Cheers and applause.) You, my comrades of that war tried to show that we had not forgotten the lesson taught us by the men of '61 to '65—the men of the great years of Abraham Lincoln. It pleased me particularly to pass by in your street here a monument raised to those who in the Philippines gave the greatest possible proof of devotion to their country when they laid down their lives for it. (Applause.)

"Having thanked both of you, the older men and younger men, let me say a word of special greeting on behalf of the children. I am glad to see throughout all this country, the way in which you are providing for the real greatness, the real welfare of the nation of the future, by the training that you are giving your children, the care that you are taking with your schools—public schools, high schools, normal schools, academies of every kind—because nothing that can be done by this generation will in the end avail anything if the next generation is not of the quality to take advantage of it.

On Irrigation.

"Coming here into this valley, in this region which you have made blossom like a rose, I am inevitably impelled to think of the greatest instrument in bringing about that fertility—irrigation. It seems to me that the last congress, when it passed the national irrigation act, marked the beginning of a policy more important to this country's internal development than any other since the homestead law was first put on the national statute books. Of course, it always takes time; in the first place, to get public opinion up to the point of enacting such a law, and in the next place to get the law fairly under way in order that the benefits to accrue from it shall accrue. But the beginning has been made; the law has been put upon the statute books, certain works, in a sense experimental, have been started. By aid of the national government co-operating with the state governments, with individuals and associations of individuals, we shall see in the so called arid and semi-arid regions development during the next 50 years literally unparalleled.

"You know, ladies and gentlemen, the old proverb that all that any place needs is good society and water. You have got the society, and you have got the water, only the water is not always distributed as it ought to be. What is necessary to distribute the water is to get it out of the irrigation ditches, ultimately to have great storage reservoirs which will enable us to take the waters that go to waste at seasons when we do not need them, and store them so they can be used at the seasons when we do need them. When you come into a new country there is always a period during which the people have to adjust themselves to the new needs. It was some time before the national legislature could understand that the same reasons which make it proper for the national government to undertake the improvement of rivers and their lower courses in humid regions make it even more incumbent upon the national government to do its part towards securing the right use of these rivers in their upper courses in arid regions. The government has now entered upon this policy and very great good will come from it.

Citizenship Chief Factor

"I can not too often say, my friends, yet here in this community I think it is almost unnecessary for me to say it. That when all is said and done, when everything that the government can do has been accomplished, it remains true that the chief factor in the success of any community must be the average citizenship of that community. Just exactly as in the civil war, in our own lesser war—the Spanish war—after you had the weapons, the uniform, the training, the chief factor was the man behind the gun. Every one of us who has ever served has known the man to whom you could give a weapon or uniform, train him as much as you wanted to, after it was all over he was not worth anything, because he did not have the stuff in him; if the stuff was not in him you could not get it out of him. It is the man behind the gun that counts in battle; the battle is finally won, the war is finally won by the side which has as its average soldier a man of courage, of self reliance, who knows how to obey, how to act when he has no chance to get orders; the man who has it in him to wrest victory out of defeat, who has it in him to accept each obstacle simply as a spur to fresh and greater efforts. If we have got that type we shall win; if we have not we shall lose.

"So in citizenship, all that the wisest law can do, all that the best administration of law can do, is to give each man a chance under favorable conditions to do the best he can for himself. Bad laws, corrupt and evil administration of laws can spoil that chance readily enough, but after we have gotten all that can be got by the best laws, we then come down to the fact that a man's own perseverance at resolution, hardihood, capacity to care, to endure, capacity to carry out whatever he has started out to do—those qualities must be decisive factors in success in civil life exactly as they are decisive factors in success in military life. There is no royal road to success in life anywhere, as a soldier or as a private citizen.

Do Well Your Duty.

"All of you who served in the great war just as we did, my comrades, in the lesser war, know men who were very anxious to be heroes if they did not have to go through the preliminary trouble. The man that made a good soldier as a rule was the man that did his duty as it came up—the man that dug the kitchen sinks when the time came to dig them, polished the camp and did not fall out on march, who did whatever work he was ordered to do—that man was usually the type of man upon whom you could depend when the crisis of the fight came, to stay put. It is so in citizenship. There is no royal road to success in government to success in private life. We need to exercise, not genius, not brilliancy, but hardihood, work a day qualities that wear best since history began. We need strong bodies even more than that we need strong minds; more than even body or body we need character—character into which many elements enter, but three especially—honesty first, courage and hardihood next, finally the saving grace of common sense. I believe in your future; I believe in the future of this entire country, because I believe that the average American of today has, as his fathers had before him, as his sons will after him, just those three qualities—the quality of decency, the quality of courage, the quality of sane, healthy common sense." (Cheers and applause.)

The president consumed more than the allotted time in the delivery of his speech, although reminded by his secretary that his time was up. On the way to the stand Mayor Shaw had informed

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

SENATOR MARK HANNA has given out the information, flat that the Ohio republican convention, soon to assemble, should not or must not endorse the candidacy of Mr. Roosevelt for another term. On the other hand Senator Foraker says that this course must be pursued now that Hanna has raised the question and adds that since Hanna has publicly announced that he is not himself a candidate for the presidency he ought not to balk at the suggestion of endorsing Roosevelt.

Among politicians a world of significance is attached to this statement of Senator Hanna. It is virtually a declaration of war against Roosevelt. It means that a merry row is brewing within the ranks of the g. o. p. and that there will soon be things a doing, a situation much to be desired by the professional politicians, for when such leaders fall out and battle for the mastery the small fry politician has a chance to do business.

In a contest between Roosevelt and Hanna for the control of the republican party a great many editorial writers assume that the former would have all the best of it and would easily defeat the Ohio senator. We believe that such an opinion is likely to prove a mistaken one, however much the popular sympathy might be with the president. It should be remembered that Hanna has proven himself to be a great political general and that through his close affiliations with Wall street and the protected interests generally that he can command the sinews of war, a fact that has a vast significance in republican politics. To offset this Roosevelt would doubtless have the assistance of the greater part of the vast army of public officials as well as the good will of the people. The latter however, often does not count for much when weighed in the scale against the lavish and corrupting influence of money in politics. We have had plenty of examples of that in the political history of recent years.

The power that has ruled the republican party so masterfully in late years has no use for Theodore Roosevelt or any of his theories about how the government should be run. He has consulted the money lords of Wall street and the trusts barons no more than he has thought necessary for his own political salvation. Hence they distrust him and will gladly join in the effort to unload him if they can be assured that they can do so without serious damage to their own interests in case that they might fail. Quite naturally these men look to Senator Hanna as their leader.

The president, himself, is a political general of no small caliber. He is proving that fact right along. Unquestionably the main purpose of his present long swing around the circle is to size up the conditions and build up his political fences. He desires to find out whether or not his much talked of popularity among the people will materialize votes or not in his coming fight with Mark Hanna. He is to shrewd to take anything for granted. He simply wants to know if the goods will be delivered.

A battle between Roosevelt and Hanna would indeed be a case of Greek meeting Greek. It would create a situation that the democrats would regard with a good deal of complacency.

SECRETARY of the Navy Moody while on the Sound recently with the president made quite an extended investigation of the navy yard at Bremerton. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the navy yard itself, but was very much displeased with the immoral conditions that exist in the town of Bremerton. To a reporter of the Seattle Times the secretary said:

"You may say for me that conditions here are the worst I ever saw. I cannot put it any stronger. The people here must effect a reformation or they will kill the goose that laid the golden egg. If they persist in wanting to sell liquor by and by there will be no one to sell liquor to."

There plenty of places that will be glad to have the navy yard and that will guarantee that it will be surrounded by immeasurably better moral influences than obtained here. Of course I am not a crank nor a teetotaler, and I do not think or expect that drinking can be wiped out entirely in a place of this character. But there is a golden mean that the people here must find if they expect further government aid for the navy yard which now gives life to their town."

THE New York World's investigation brought out the fact that three democratic committeemen (there were only two in fact) favored Mr. Cleveland's nomination while seventeen declared his nomination would be a political blunder. As this is nearly 16 to 1 against Mr. Cleveland he may come to have some respect for the ratio after all.—Com-moner.

Nor even the most ardent admirer of President Roosevelt can claim for him the distinction of being an orator. There are probably twenty men right here in Yakima who could make a smoother speech than he. The president is unquestionably a good scholar, being a graduate of Harvard and a constant student. He is a man of ideas but seems to lack the words at times, with which to clothe them. This causes him to stumble occasionally and repeat while grasping for the right word with which to express his meaning, a habit which, by the way, seriously mars the beauty of his discourse.

However, though the president may lack the qualities of the great orator he is nevertheless a very good talker and impresses his hearers with his sincerity. So after all the president as a public speaker may be a good deal more fortunate than many of the "natural born orators" who may dazzle their hearers with a smooth and easy flow of speech but at the same time fail to convince them of the truth of their assertions.

It looked rather queer to see Gov. McBride and Senator Ankeny riding together in company with Mr. Roosevelt in his tour across this state. And President Mellen too of the Northern Pacific to make up the fourth member of the oig quartette. How funny indeed! It would be interesting to the public to know what they talked about.

Probably President Roosevelt discussed with President Mellen on "How I squelched the merger" and perhaps Senator Ankeny told his good friend Gov McBride of "How I got my toga," going into details as to the cost etc. The conversation between these distinguished reformers must indeed have been very interesting, enlivened as it probably often was by frequent repetitions of the remark said to have been made by the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT's reception in North Yakima was all that could be desired. The arrangements made by the local committee were carried out without a hitch. The decorations were beautiful and in the opinion of several members of the presidential party compared favorably with those of any town on the route.

The president on departing expressed his gratitude for the warmth and heartiness of the reception tendered him by the people of this vicinity and at the same time his own regret that the time accorded him at this point had not been made longer.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT and President Mellen are said to be old college chums, having attended Harvard together. Certain it is at any rate, that the latter showed the former every courtesy while traveling over his road and took every precaution possible for the safety of his old friend. The subject of the "merger" however, must have been a rather painful one of it was discussed by the two on their journey.

The editor of the Tacoma Ledger is a very bright and versatile writer, but still he doesn't know everything as is instanced by the fact that he asserts Grover Cleveland will be the democratic nominee for the presidency. When the editor of the Ledger runs short of facts with which to adorn his page he falls, perhaps naturally enough, into the common error of drawing to heavy on a vivid imagination.

Washington Letter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington D. C. May 21, 1903.

If further evidence were needed that Postmaster General Payne was seeking by every means at his command to prevent the revelations of corruption in the postoffice department, it has been furnished by his treatment of the charges of Seymour Tulloch, formerly cashier of the Washington city postoffice. When Tulloch's charges, which had been prepared at the request of the postmaster general, were received, Mr. Payne characterized them as "hot air," a "stump speech," "nothing but words" etc. Taking the verdict of the postmaster general the public was prepared to believe that Mr. Tulloch had failed to make good his charges. Then, in defense of his position, Tulloch made public his statement and the public was surprised to find that his charges were of the most serious import and were accompanied by abundant detail. Later the postmaster general announced that in any instance where he could ascertain that alleged employees of the department had enjoyed a sinecure, performing no work, which Tulloch alleged in a number of instances, the department would immediately begin prosecution to recover the salaries paid. While on its face this appeared to be an expression of great virtue, the inspectors are aghast at the announcement which they say will mean the absolute closing of every avenue of information that might have remained open to them. It will be recalled that when Mr. Payne removed Machen, a step which the inspectors looked to as absolutely essential because it would give employees sufficient confidence to enable the inspectors to get information from them, the postmaster general immediately took occasion to discharge an employee who had made charges which he could not substantiate, so as to nullify the effect of Machen's removal. Now, say the inspectors, the postmaster general has rendered all their efforts futile by his pronouncement. The question everyone is asking is, "Will the president sanction this sort of proceeding?" but it is admitted that only the removal of the postmaster general would efface the impression he has so studiously created that every person who imparts information regarding the scandal will get into trouble.

According to a memorial which will be presented to the president on his return from the west, thirty-three trusts are squeezing the life out of an important industry, the manufacture of agricultural machinery. There is, it seems, one agricultural machinery trust which, because it mines the ore and provides the material from which it makes its products, is independent of the trusts and it makes 90 per cent of the agricultural machinery of the country. The remaining ten per cent is made by various independent companies and these are the president's petitioners. The list of thirty-three trusts, to which these independent manufacturers claim they must pay "tribute," is too long for reproduction here. The petitioners claim that these trusts have put up the price on every thing they have to buy, "arbitrarily and unnecessarily" until they have become as "mere errand boys" for the large concerns. They say this has even curtailed the crops of the country because of the enhanced price of necessary machinery. The chief grievance is against the steel trust and the president and congress are urged to take remedial steps.

The United States is to have a standard of purity for all food products. This to result from a hitherto unnoticed provision in the agricultural appropriation bill which authorizes the secretary of agriculture, in connection with the agricultural chemists of the country, to prescribe and make public such a standard for the use of the various states and courts of the country. Already three sections of this standard have been prepared and are ready for promulgation. This refers to meat and meat products, milk and milk products and spices and their condiments. Work on the others is now in hand and eventually the United States will have purity standard as invulnerable as that of weights and measures.

The government is going ahead with its preparations for the establishment of a naval base at Guantanamo with every confidence that the treaty now pending will be ratified. This work proceeds with the sanction of the Cuban government which is taken to augur the ultimate success of the treaty, although it may not be finally ratified before next year, possibly not until after the Cuban reciprocity treaty goes into effect. The question of sovereignty over the Isle of Pines has now become involved and there is a faction in the Cuban congress which believes that both subjects should be ratified in one convention. Meanwhile, the surveys of the land site and the channels leading to Guantanamo harbor are being completed.

The question of the disposition of some ordnance which belonged to Spain but was not removed from Cuban forts is occasioning some trouble to the state and war departments. Spain failed to remove these guns during the occupation by the United States because she hoped this country would buy them. The United States did not want them and now Cuba claims the title which claims Spain disputes.

The President En Route

With constant strenuousity He hikes the country o'er The people's curiosity Impels them all to pour With great impetuosity
Out where the mad throngs roar, No impecuniosity
Can keep the folks at home.
Some think him a monstrosity, A pixy, or a gnome,
Yet is there no pomposity When Teddy starts to roam.
He uses no verbosity When chatting with the crowd, Though utmost reciprocity In speaking is allowed.
He talks with great velocity, In accents clear and loud,
And praises race-precocity, And folks with twins endowed.

Cured? Yes! Of Catarrh? Yes!

When reading the following home testimonials remember that I have only been treating these people for the past four weeks, and yet note the wonderful results:

I have been afflicted with Catarrh and its effects for 12 years. I am today a well man, the result of four weeks treatment by Dr. Corey. He has proven conclusively that Catarrh can be cured, as my case was an aggravated one and of long standing. The treatment is painless and relief is received from the very start. I highly endorse his course of treatment.

PAUL BRUNNELL, 310 N. Natchez avenue.

I have been a sufferer from Catarrh since childhood. The first three weeks of treatment with Dr. Corey, I improved greatly and at the end of the fourth week the nasal passages cleared up and breathing became free. I am confident that my permanent cure is but a question of a very short period. I recommend his treatment highly.

B. G. WALKER,
501 N. Eighth St.

I have been a constant sufferer from Catarrh and its effects for the past 5 years. The first 3 weeks of treatment with Dr. Corey assured me that his method of treatment was a success. I continued, following his directions carefully, and am happy to say that I am now entirely cured. I cannot say to much in praise for his method of treatment. Mrs. FRED KANN, Formerly living at corner Second and Chestnut Sts.

I have been a sufferer from lung trouble, the result of Catarrh, for several years and I have been unable to get any relief up to the time of my starting a course of treatment with Dr. Corey. I am now free from any of the Catarrhal inflammation and hence my coughing lessened and as a result I have restful nights which heretofore were unknown to me. I am very grateful to Dr. Corey for his untiring efforts and the benefits I have derived from his treatment. I gladly commend it to all sufferers of throat and lungs.

CHARLES BRINK,
East D St., between 9th and 10th Sts.

I have been afflicted with Catarrh for the past 15 years during which time I have tried all kinds of so called catarrh cures without any satisfaction until I commenced treatment with Dr. Corey, two weeks ago, since which time I have improved so rapidly that I am now almost free from the bad effects of this disease. I am confident that my permanent cure is close at hand. I enclose Dr. Corey's treatment to all sufferers of Catarrh.

W. D. MULKEY
302 South 3rd St.

I have been a sufferer from Catarrh for many years and as a result lost the sense of smell in left nostril and partial deafness in left ear. The two weeks treatment with Dr. Corey has almost restored these defects, and my general condition greatly improved. His method of treatment is certainly wonderful and I highly recommend it to all.

L. M. MULKEY,
310 N. Selah Ave.

I was troubled with Catarrh very badly and upon advice I started a course of treatment with Dr. Corey three weeks ago and my improvement started from the beginning, and I am now almost free from it. I am thoroughly convinced that my cure is all but effected. I wish to say that I can conscientiously approve of Dr. Corey's method of treatment; I know it will positively cure.

him that Supt Jay Lynch had requested the privilege of presenting several of the leading Indians of the reservation and on leaving the stand the president said:
"Now where are your Indians?" He was then presented to the following named "head men" who were lined up by Supt Lynch near the carriage: White Swan, Charlie Wesley, Thomas Simpson, Yellop and George Meninack.
The president greeted them all cordially with a handshake, at the same time expressing his great interest in their welfare. In shaking hands with Supt.
Lynch the president remarked with a smile that he ought to know that gentleman.

The school children to the number of about 1400 were massed together on Natches avenue, where the youngsters were enabled to get a good look at the president as he was going to and coming from the stand. The president had no time to stop to talk but he greeted the children with a smile and a hearty salute. Director Nichols distributed flags to the children. The spectacle that they presented made a most beautiful sight.

The trip back to the depot was without special incident. There was a lively scramble for the carriages among citizens who wished to reach the station before the presidential train pulled out, which the most of them succeeded in doing. At the depot, the president after alighting paid Capt. Dulin a very nice compliment for the good appearance made by his company. He also made some complimentary remarks regarding the town and country and the hospitality shown him by the people here. He remarked to Congressman Jones on leaving that he wished that he might have stayed for a couple of hours here. The train left 11 minutes late.

Three boxes of beautiful apples and a quantity of luscious strawberries were turned over to the porter by Messrs Beck and Kinyon of the Horticultural Union, during the absence of the president at the stand, for which a gracious letter of thanks, we understand, has since been received.

The open carriage of ex-Sheriff Tucker, in which the president rode, was most beautifully decorated by J. E.
Merwin. Rosebuds were presented by Mr. Tucker to the president and to the other occupants of his carriage. The silk flag which made up a part of the carriage decorations is the property of Mr. Tucker and has a history as it swung at half mast 38 years ago at Cincinnati, Ohio, after the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln.

The street decorations were pronounced by many people the finest yet seen in Yakima, notwithstanding that the two days preceding were unfavorable for decorations on account of the high wind. Mr. Merwin, who was given charge of the matter, is entitled to credit for the fine display.

There was no hitch in the program anywhere and everything went off as smooth as could be desired.

CLOSE OF SCHOOL.

Commencement Exercises to be held at Larsons Theatre June 5. Class of 16 to Graduate

The coming week will be an interesting one for both pupils and patrons of the schools of this city for it marks the end of the school term. Tomorrow at 3 p. m. Rev. H. M. Bartlett will preach the baccalaureate sermon at the Christian church.

Commencement exercises will be held in Larson's theatre on Friday night, June 5, thus closing the events of the final days of school. The program on this occasion will consist of salutatory by Donald Calkins, oration, Burton Lum, address, Hon. W. L. Jones, valedictory, Miss Alice Heckman and presentation of diplomas. There are sixteen members in the class, as follows: Misses Alice Heckman, Anna Cornwell, Alice Stephenson, Gertrude Owens, Aleta Norton, Dora Bradford, Minnie Jewell, Lottie Shelly, Ora Forbis and Ruby Bullen; Messrs Herbert Shaw, Donald Calkins, Burton Lum, Fred Sharkey, Alvin Truitt and Leslie Rosser.

For the accommodation of the many friends of the graduating class all the seats in the lower part of the house have been reserved for both nights and those invited must present their tickets at the door. The balcony will be open for the public both nights.

Caught in the Tolls.

Sheriff Grant Monday night captured in this city a young fellow who goes by the name of Jacob Kline, who is accused of having stolen a saddle horse last week from F. M. Williams of Toppenish.
The stolen horse was found in the State Fair grounds pasture and was returned to the owner.

The sheriff also arrested Monday night at the depot a Chinaman called Charlie Yung. Yung had been the time keeper and business manager of We Chung, a Chinese railroad contractor who is doing some work at Wallula. Yung is accused of skipping out with $400 of Chung's money which had been given him to pay off the men, the most of which he is believed to have spent over the green cloth at Walla Walla. When arrested Yung had $153 on his person.
His employer having been deputized, came after him Tuesday and took him to Walla Walla.

DECORATION DAY PROGRAM.

Address by Hon. Carroll B. Graves, of Ellensburg.

Today, Saturday, May 30, is Decoration Day and a most interesting program has been prepared by the committee of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., having the matter in charge.

All old soldiers, together with the veterans of the Spanish-American war and members of Woman's Relief Corps are requested to meet at I. O. O. F. hall this morning at 8:30 a. m. At 9:00 o'clock the start will be made for the cemetery where a short service will be held and the graves of the departed soldiers strewn with flowers. A number of school children will be in attendance at the cemetery and will go through their exercises under the direction of Mrs. Dean.

At 2 p. m. a procession will be formed at the corner of Yakima avenue and Third streets consisting of the National Guard, Spanish war veterans, W. R. C. and G. A. R., led by Nagler's band.
The line of march will be west on Yakima avenue to First street; thence north to A street, thence east to Larson's theater, where the memorial exercises will be held.

Music at theater directed by Mrs.
Linn.

Recitations by F. G. Drew, Miss Ferguson and others.
Oration by Judge Carroll B. Graves of Ellensburg.

Everybody is invited to bring flowers to the Odd Fellows hall early this morning, where the committee from the Relief Corps will cheerfully receive them.

Was Knocked Senseless

After the ball game Thursday an altercation occurred between Victor, the young son of Dr. G. J. Hill and Walter McDonald, a member of the Tacoma Athletic club. McDonald struck Hill a heavy blow on the head with the result that the latter was senseless for a time.
Different stories are told as to how the row started. McDonald was arrested and gave bail for his appearance. The case was set for trial in Judge Taggard's court at 11 a. m. Friday, but had to be continued on account of young Hill's inability to appear.

Women's Club Elects officers.

The annual election of the Women's Club was held at the Commercial club rooms last Tuesday afternoon and the following officers chosen: President, Miss Lombard; First Vice President, Mrs. Verdie Erwin; Second Vice President, Mrs. G. A. Graham; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Richard Strobach; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Bernard Wilkinson; Treasurer, Mrs. Watt; Custodian, Mrs. Geo. W. Cary.

Base Ball Notes.

The Hoppickers and Tacoma Athletic Club ball games met on the home grounds Sunday and Monday. The first game was won by the Hoppickers by a score of 9 to 3. Monday's game was a fine exhibition of as ragged ball playing as is generally given. Tacoma won out by a score of 11 to 7.

It is reported that the receipts of the last two games did not meet the expenses by a large margin—a discouraging condition for the home club.

Not this Season

Congressman Jones is in receipt of a letter this week from F. H. Newell, chief engineer of the irrigation bureau of the interior department, relative to the beginning of work by the government on the proposed Tietan high line canal.
Mr. Newell says, in effect, that no time can be set at present when an order will be issued to begin work and intimates that there is but little likelihood of a start being made this season.

E. F. James is over from Seattle looking after his property interests here.

H. C. Wilson this week sold his cigar and candy store on the west side to G.
V. Bunce who will conduct the business in the future.

A. H. Cousins, the commission man left Thursday for San Francisco. He expects to return here September 1 and will bring his family to Yakima to reside here.

Joseph McNaught is expected here from Seattle tomorrow. On his arrival some new developments in the matter of a railroad to Sunnyside are expected.
Marshall Mull is entitled to much credit for the good order that prevailed in the city on Roosevelt day. A number of very capable extra policemen were sworn in and good service was rendered.
Only six arrests were made on account of drunkenness.

Mr. Poole, who with his wife and daughter, arrived here Tuesday for a short stay from California, has purchased a handsome residence in Los Angeles. His family will reside there in the future, although Mr. Poole expects to divide his time between that place and Yakima.

Attorney Edward Whitson on Friday consummated a deal whereby he became the owner of the A. E. Poole residence on Natches avenue. By the terms of the trade Mr. Poole becomes the owner of that portion of Whitson's present residence site that faces on First street.
The lots facing Second street being retained by Mr. Whitson, which he now offers for sale. The consideration for the Poole residence was $10,000.

Washington

Star of the North, pride of the West, Washington, my Washington;
By Nature's gifts supremely blest, Washington, my Washington.
About thee mountains clasp their hands

And one a regal sentry stands As if to guard from vandal hands, Washington, my Washington.

Land of matchless inland sea,
Washington, my Washington; Whose thousand isles thy jewels be,
Washington, my Washington.
Whose currents flow thro' Fuca's strait Where Flatery's rocks, grim wraiths of Fate,

Keep watch and ward beside the gate,
Washington, my Washington.

Land where the march of Empire halts
Washington, my Washington; Thy charms are countless, few thy faults,

Washington, my Washington.
Here cold and heat their flags have furled, Far from extremes where death is hurled,

Thy genial clime wins all the world,
Washington, my Washington.

Perennial bloom and verdure crown
Washington, my Washington;
Exempt from Nature's hurdling frown, Washington, my Washington.
All radiant 'neath the summer skies, 'Mid giant trees the vision lies, Fairer than dream of Paradise,
Washington, my Washington.

Beneficial Humbugs.

A republican newspaper, commenting upon the Cleveland action, announces gravely that Tom L. Johnson has succeeded in "cramming his humbugs down the throats of the people," and also refers to the "fakirs evanescent popularity."

Without desiring to enter into any political argument or to discuss Johnson's future, it seems to the News that its contemporary is unfair to the Cleveland man. The humbugs that the fearless Cleveland mayor has crammed down the throats of the people are the beliefs that it is unfair for a man with $500,000 worth of property to pay taxes on one-tenth of that valuation, while the man with a $2,000 house pays taxes on two-thirds, and that traction companies have not the right to charge a five-cent fare when they can make a reasonable profit on a three-cent basis. Briefly stated, these are the "humbugs" responsible for Johnson's "evanescent popularity." Other reasons are his courage, his rugged honesty, his business ability, and what is rare in politics, his belief that promises are made to be kept.

But this talk of "humbug" is not on its face. There is not a man living who by "humbugging" could be elected mayor three times in a city the size of Cleveland. The people are not so easy as all that.—Wheeling, W. Va., News.

Death of Hon Paul Strobach

Richard Strobach returned from Spokane Saturday. Mr. S. left hurriedly for the Falls City the preceding Wednesday; having received a telegram to the effect that his father, the late Paul Strobach, was believed to be dying. The stricken man died, in fact, before his son was able to reach his bedside from this city, the immediate cause of death being peritonitis. The funeral, which was held Friday afternoon was largely attended by Spokane people. Among the pall bearers was ex Senator Turner, who had been a lifelong friend of the deceased.

Hon Paul Strobach came to Spokane during the early eighties from the state of Alabama where he had been for years active in public affairs, especially as a republican politician during the reconstruction period. In one campaign he made the race for congress against Hillery A. Herbert, afterward secretary of the navy in President Cleveland's cabinet. Since coming to this state Mr.
Strobach had taken a good deal of interest in public affairs. Until but a few weeks before his death he was connected with the internal revenue office of Spokane. Mr. Strobach was 71 years of age. Besides his son Richard of this city he leaves a son and daughter living at Spokane. His wife preceded him to the grave by only a few months, having died last summer.

Business Houses Decorated

The decorations of a number of Yakima business blocks and store fronts on Roosevelt day were pronounced by many people to be the finest ever seen in this city. In fact, a number of the gentlemen in the president's party declared that the decorations here would compare favorably with any seen thus far on the trip.

Among the prominent business blocks in town that were beautifully draped in the national colors for the event were the handsome Sloan block, where the decorating work was done by Prof. Rowe, the Yakima National the First National, Lombard & Horsley, the Hotel Yakima, the Miller, Ditter and Clogg buildings.

The decorating of Lombard & Hors-ley's building was done by Capt Liggett, while that of the Hotel Yakima was done under the direction of Mrs. Johnson and called forth a good deal of favorable comment. The decorations on all the other buildings were put up by J. E. Merwin and his assistants under most unfavorable weather conditions.
The depot too, thanks to the enterprise and public spirit of Agent Meeks and his fellow employees of the railway company, was tastefully and beautifully decorated.

A number of store fronts and windows on the avenue were very beautifully and ingeniously dressed for the occasion, among such Dam's stationery store window, Rinehart's, Coffin Bros. Ditter Bros., A. B. Pearson's, Moore Clothing Co., Star Clothing Co., and numerous others.

Memorial Sunday Services.

Memorial Sunday was observed by the usual services at the Armory last Sunday. The members of the G. A. R., W. R. C. and Spanish war veterans and a large concourse of citizens were present to commemorate the occasion. The services were appropriate and interesting. Rev. Tickner of the Baptist church delivered a touching sermon from the text "But ye shall die like men and fall like one of the Princes." A duet by Mesdames Horsley and Arnold and solos by Messrs. Zediker and Meigs were among the interesting parts of the services.

A Tax Payers League.

A tax payers league has been formed in Columbia county and is taking up the matter of railroad taxation. The leaders in the movement would like to have similar leagues organized in the other counties of the state. They have issued the following statement:

"We feel that the assessments of the railroads are much too low, as compared with the valuation put on our farms and other property, and it is conceded that no advance will be made in those valuations until we, who are interested, take hold of the matter and demand that at least a reasonable valuation be placed on them. The rate per mile that the assessor placed on the roads in this county is $5280 and from the best information we can secure, the actual value of the road is not less than $50,000 per mile, which would indicate only about 10 to 12 per cent valuation for the purpose of taxation. We, who own property locally, have to pay taxes on at least 60 per cent of the value of our farm and stock, consequently we feel that the assessment is unjust. We have a committee appointed who are endeavoring to secure reliable data as to the true value of railway property, which we shall place before the assessor and demand that he raise the valuation heretofore placed on railway property.
We expect to have a committee to attend the meetings of the board of equalization, to show the board that our demands are reasonable and to assure the county commissioners of the moral support of taxpayers in this effort to secure justice."—Colfax Commoner.

The outfit of variety barnstormers who occupied the boards at the local theater last Monday night are said to have been hissed off the stage by disgusted people in the audience who felt that they had been robbed. ### Found the Stolen Horse

Deputy Sheriff Burdette of O'kanogan county, arrived here Wednesday in search of a horse stolen from that county nearly a year ago. With the assistance of Sheriff Grant the horse was found at the ranch of Mrs. Cheney in the Moxee and the officer started home with the animal Friday after telegraphing his principal to arrest a man by the name of Wood in O'kanogan, on the charge of stealing the horse.

The O'kanogan officer caught on to the facts in the case more by accident than other wise. He was taking a man to the penitentiary this week when the prisoner in a burst of confidence told him about Wood having stole a horse from a neighbor and that he had ridden him to Yakima county and had finally made a gift of the animal to Mrs. Cheney who is some relative of Wood's wife. On the receipt of this information the deputy sheriff came on here and found the horse just as the man had said he would.

Mrs. Cheney, is of course, held blameless as she had no idea that the animal had been stolen.
