BRYAN ON THE FIRST BALLOT

GREAT NEBRASKAN SWEEPS AWAY ALL OPPOSITION

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO RESIDE IN NEW YORK

Johnson and Gray Appear Insignificant as Compared With the Popularity of Democracy's
Peerless Leader.

FIRST BALLOT

Bryan	892 1-2
Gray	59 1-2
Johnson	46

The first ballot was taken at 3:40 a. m. Friday after an all night session which culminated in the wildest enthusiasm when the result was made known.

John W. Kern, of Indiana, Nominated for Vice-President.

The convention was called to order by Thomas A. Taggart, of Indiana, chairman of the national committee. Chairman Taggart, after a few remarks, introduced Theodore A. Bell, of California, who had been selected as temporary chairman.

Mr. Bell, on assuming the chairmanship, delivered a brilliant keynote speech which met with tremendous applause. The full text of Chairman Bell's speech was reported in full and may be found in the daily papers of Wednesday.

At the conclusion of the keynote speech the chairman recognized Delegate Dunn, of Omaha, Neb., who offered a set of resolutions expressing the sorrow of the convention at the death of ex-President Grover Cleveland and sympathy for the family of the deceased statesman. After the resolutions had been seconded by delegates from Missouri and Kentucky as well as by the Hon. Alton B. Parker, of New York, the Dunn resolutions were unanimously carried. After the selection of a committee each on credentials, rules and order of business, and resolutions, the convention then as a mark of respect to the memory of President Cleveland adjourned for one day, or until Wednesday at noon.

The convention reassembled at noon Wednesday amid much enthusiasm. The committee on rules reported and the report was adopted. Later the committee on credentials reported. This report was waited for eagerly as it practically settled the fate of all contesting delegates. The contest within the Pennsylvania delegation, caused by the arbitrary action of Col. Guffey, national committeeman and enemy of W. J. Bryan, caused intense interest. The majority of the committee favored the seating of the 10 contesting delegates, excitement, much to the chagrin and disgust of the Guffey delegates. The net result of the settlement of the contests was a gain of 24 votes for Bryan. This, however, was a matter of no particular consequence as it was generally conceded that the Nebraska leader already had more than the necessary two thirds to nominate. The committee on resolutions was not yet ready to report.

Senator Gore, the blind orator from Oklahoma, was invited to the platform and began the delivery of a ringing speech. He declared that Oklahoma was the most democratic state in the union. In a highly dramatic manner he said that Taft had come to Oklahoma a year ago and advised the people of the new state to vote down their constitution and that Bryan had come and advised them to adopt it. By an overwhelming majority the people rejected the advice of Taft and accepted that of Bryan.

This last mention of the name of the peerless leader set the convention wild. The intense cheering which began lasted for an hour and a half and probably would not have stopped then had not the chairman declared the convention adjourned.

The demonstration in honor of Mr. Bryan is unparalleled in the history of American conventions. It lasted fully twice as long as the one at Chicago recently in honor of President Roose-

FOURTH OF JULY IN THE CASCADES

Forty People Assemble at Kachess Lodge to Enjoy Themselves in the Wilds of a Glorious Mountain Resort.

A jolly crowd of North Yakimans, quite a number from Ellensburg and others from Seattle and Tacoma spent the Fourth of July at Lake Kachess Lodge, the famous summer resort of Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Gale. There were about 40 people all told, and it certainly was one of the most congenial and out-for-fun crowds that ever assembled in the heart of the Cascade mountains to celebrate the birthday of the nation.

H. P. James, secretary of the North Yakima Commercial club, and Prof. W. E. Wilson, principal of the Ellensburg State Normal, were recognized as the leaders of the days sport. Any suggestions made by them were at once carried out. For instance Frank Sharkey was told to put on a pair of pajamas and give an exhibition of high diving in the lake. Frank was a little backward in following out the suggestion, so he was promptly seized by five or six brawny young men and carried to the end of the wharf and ducked several times.

Following this exhibition it was decreed by the crowd that Prof. Wilson and Rev. James must row against each other in a boat race. The suggestion met with spontaneous approbation from every one. Both men agreed and stripped for the contest. The lake was as smooth as a sea of glass. Rev. James appeared to great advantage in a red, white and blue bathing suit. In fact both contestants wore bathing suits for fear their boats might collide in the heat of the race and dump them into the placid bosom of the lake. Prof. Wilson's suit was red with blue pocomots, and he it said to his credit that he appeared equally as formidable as did his elongated opponent.

Most everybody in Yakima and Kittitas county is well acquainted with Prof. Wilson and Rev. James, but for the benefit of those who would like to know them better it might be only fair to state, by way of parenthesis, that as each man stands alone in his stocking feet he measures 6 feet one and a half inches from tip to tip. In reach there is no advantage. Both arms of both men are 43 inches in length. In fact they are built and appear very much like the picture of Uncle Sam. It is needless to add that there was

Strenuous Teddy Said to Have Paid $1,000,000 for a Lot Upon Which He Will Build Fine Mansion.

Washington, D. C., July 6, 1908—It is reported this morning that President Roosevelt has bought a lot for a residence in the city of New York at a cost of a million dollars. Two or three weeks ago only, it was supposed that the president would be without occupation after March the fourth, and it was published that he was comfortably well off, having an income of at least $10,000. The question naturally arises, "How is the president able to buy a lot for building purposes worth a million dollars? Many ex-senators and cabinet officers have been known to buy homes or build homes in Washington, but no ex-president has ever remained in the city longer than his term. Ex-presidents have always returned to their homes in the states. There may be a reason for this. No king or emperor, after having enjoyed or endured the splendors of state, was ever known to settle down as a quiet citizen amid the scenes of his vanished glories. The president of the United States is, as far as honors and pageantry are concerned, a king or an emperor; and the anti-climax of private life would doubtless be too severe, as felt by himself and all who come in contact with him, for a merely mortal man.

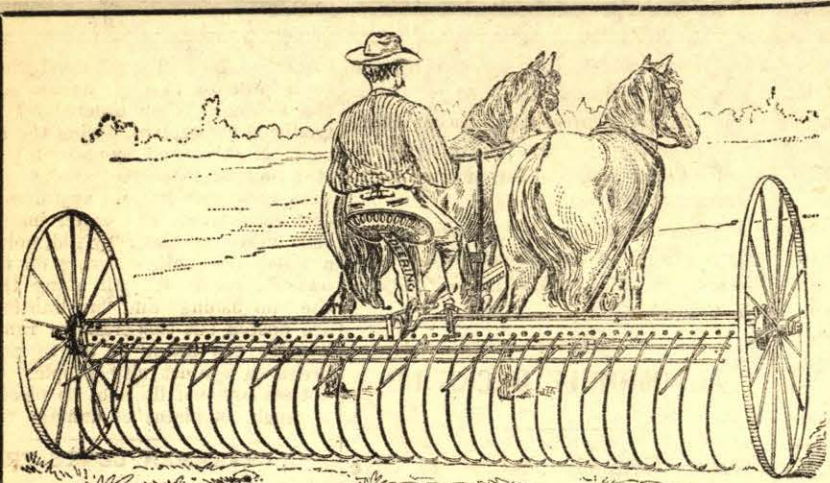

Notwithstanding the departure of the president to his summer home and the scattering of the cabinet and the supreme court, movements emanating from or centering in Washington are of more than usual interest this summer. The secretary of war, or he who was until yesterday the secretary of war and is now the republican presidential candidate, is in the city winding up matters for his final departure. He is today, for the first time for years, a private citizen and the most conspicuous private citizen in the western hemisphere. He expects to leave for the Hot Springs of Virginia on the Fourth of July, with Mrs. Taft and their youngest son, Charles Taft, a youth of 10 years. Mr. Taft has been in the habit of spending his summers in Canada, but it will not be convenient for the presidential candidate to be out of the country and he has selected a place in Monroe county, Virginia, among the mountains, for his summer home. The Hot Springs of Virginia have been a resort for 50 years or more and, even before the war, rivalled the Green Briar White Springs as a fashionable resort for the slave-holding aristocracy of the south. Within the last few years it has been a resort of the wealthy and ultra fashionable people of the north and northeast. While the presidential candidate and part of his family will be there for the hottest of the summer months, his daughter will visit a school friend in Georgia. There is, of course, no political significance in the selection of a resort south of the Mason and Dixon line, but the fact, insignificant as it is, marks the amelioration of long-standing political asperities. There are political wisacres who predict that the republican candidate will carry two or three southern states in the coming election and the fact that he and his family are at home in the south will not be without its significance.

At the state and war department in this city the situation in Mexico is watched with intense interest. The Mexican government, of course, treats the insurgents as bandits for precisely the same reason that the British government a hundred and thirty years ago treated the revolutionary fathers as rebels. An important difference in practice is that the Mexican government takes no prisoners but kills those it captures. Porfirio Diaz, president of the so-called republic for the last 25 years, has been very much praised. The government has at least one recommendation. It is a very strong government. It is despotic and in its despotism Mexico has enjoyed such internal peace as she had never previously known for so long a period, but it is absurd to call the government a republic. The elections are absurd. There has never been a free or fair election in the country. All law, order and authority emanate from the palace of the president, whether from his home in the City of Mexico or from Chapultepec, three miles out. Diaz might say with even more consistency than did Louis XV., "L'etat c'est Mol."

There is a junta or body of conspirators against this iron order of things, and the habit of this junta at present is St. Louis. The Irish have or had

The Week End Society Events

W. R. C. Meet.

Monday afternoon in Odd Fellows' hall the W. R. C. held a meeting to clear up the business of the late convention. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Van Mavern, the president, had a delightful surprise in store for the members. In appreciation of the aid and helpfulness of the members of the corps during convention week Mrs. Van Mavern had prepared ice cream and cake at a long table in the dining room. The refreshments were a complete surprise and were much enjoyed. The W. R. C. gave Mrs. Van Mavern a vote of thanks. The members of the G. A. R. presented Commander B. L. Bull with a handsome gold handled umbrella, appropriately engraved, for his services and constancy to the duties of the convention. Commander Bull spoke a few words of thanks but his heart was so full at the gratitude of his comrades that he spoke but a few words of sincerest appreciation.

Miss Thomas Honored.

Complimentary to Miss Clare Thomas of Tacoma who is to be married in September to Clement G. Gamble, Miss Betty Gamble entertained at a delightful Kensington Thursday afternoon at her home on Nob Hill. Cushions and rugs made the lawn a very comfortable place to sew and chat. Mrs. W. W. Gamble was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by Mrs. A. B. Fosseen.

Those present were Miss Clare Thomas, Miss Lola Lowther, Miss Hilda Sanborn, Miss Elizabeth Dwyer, Miss Lucile James, Miss Jessie Snively, Miss Helen Scott, Miss Clara Graham, Miss Lucy Seudder, Miss Ida Sharkey, Miss Alma Lesh, Miss Zelah Fraser, Miss Helen Wright, Mrs. A. B. Fosseen, Miss Susie Boyle, Miss Laura James, Miss Marion Miller, Miss Anna Erwin, Miss Caddie Lesh, Miss Alma Lesh, Miss Bess Seudder and Miss Marjorie Moran.

Complimentary to Mrs. J. W. Thomas. Mrs. Fred Parker entertained a few friends informally Thursday afternoon for Mrs. John W. Thomas who is down from reclamation camp No. 2 to spend the week end with Mrs. Parker. Mrs. Charles Heath, Mrs. E. G. Townsman, Mrs. W. A. Bell, Mrs. Harry E. Moran, Miss Bertha Getsch and Mrs. Thomas were present. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

Breakfast for Mrs. Harrison.

Mrs. Vestal Snyder was the hostess of a charming breakfast Thursday morning given in honor of her guest, Mrs. Luella Harrison. Decorations appropriate to the Fourth made the table very attractive. Small flags adorned the place cards and napkins and the chandelier above the bowl of roses was twined with red, white and blue. Plates were laid for Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. E. G. Tennant, Mrs. C. Heath, Mrs. H. D. Baker, Mrs. H. H. Allen, Mrs. G. J. Hill, Mrs. J. B. Burns, Mrs. W. L. Lemon and Mrs. F. W. Nagler.

W. R. C. Picnic Dinner.

The members of the W. R. C. and the G. A. R. went to the home of D. L. Druse immediately after the parade on the Fourth. The lawn was decorated with bunting and flags and two long tables were set for the picnic luncheon in the packing house. After luncheon the company adjourned to the lawn where they spent the afternoon with games, fireworks and music. About 50 were present.

Philathea Club Picnic.

The Philathea class of the Baptist Sunday school held a picnic supper at the home of W. I. Huxtable on Nob Hill Monday evening. There were 24 young ladies of the class present and five honor guests, Miss Weekworth and Miss Fairbanks, of this city; Mrs. McNutt, of Minneapolis; Miss Hazel Gorman, of Walla Walla, and Miss Jones, of Bozeman, Mont.

After a supper of sandwiches, pickles, deviled eggs, potato chips, salad, lemonade, cake, oranges, bananas and bonbons a free will offering was given. This was the first regular meeting of the class and they are working for a membership of one hundred members.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Spring Celebrate Their Linen Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Spring entertained Friday afternoon and evening in honor of their linen or twelfth wedding anniversary. In the afternoon about 25 women were present at their home, 612 Naches avenue, south. One of the amusing features of the entertainment was a burlesque description in which each lady was given a card and a partial description of some other member of the company was written thereon. These cards were matched with numbers and the results proved to be amusing. In a peanut hunting contest two prizes were given, these being awarded to Mrs. Lanterman and Mrs. Disbrow. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served.

In the evening about 24 men and women were entertained. The evening was a most pleasant one, being a Fourth of July spent indoors. Not the least of the features of the evening were well selected phonographic pieces including Lincoln's Gettysburg address, the Declaration of Independence, patriotic airs and other appropriate records.

Partners were selected by a string hunt which resulted in much fun. The hostess was assisted by Miss Aileen Isaacs, who presided at the punch bowl and by the Mesdames Hutchings and Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Spring were married in Iowa and have two children, Gladys and Seymour, who were present. The evening's entertainment was closed with an excellent display of fireworks.

Grain in Klickitat

Grain never looked better in good old Klickitat than it does at the present time, and there is no doubt now that we will harvest the largest crop that was ever grown in the county. The Wedgwood boys have 800 acres of fall wheat in the No. 6 country that stands at least 5 feet high and will easily go 40 bushels to the acre. Every other locality in the county reports as good yields as this one. A larger acreage is also planted to grain this season than for years past.—Goldendale Sentinel.

YAKIMA ENTERTAINS COAST NURSERYMEN

Sixth Annual Convention Assembles Here for a Two Days Session—Unqualified Fruit Tree Inspectors Criticized.

The sixth annual session of the Pacific Coast Association of Nurserymen was held in this city on Wednesday and Thursday, July 8 and 9.

Local fruit growers and nurserymen took considerable interest in the deliberations of the convention, and a number of very instructive addresses were made. The Yakima Commercial club rooms were used for the meetings of the nurserymen. President W. D. Ingalls opened the gathering Wednesday morning giving an address in which he referred highly to the efficient work of Yakima valley nurserymen. He also praised the great Yakima valley and its wonderful fruit producing proclivities.

A paper was read by Secretary C. A. Tonneson, of Tacoma, from the pen of Charles A. Chambers, of Fresno, Cal., dealing with the quarantine regulations on nursery stock. In the course of Mr. Chambers' paper he took occasion to criticize county horticultural inspectors generally for their lack of qualifications for the work they are supposed to do and for the manner in which they do it. He suggested a uniform law among the states to prevent the condemnation of trees by some petty county officer at the receiving end after the trees have been inspected and passed by a capable inspector at the shipping end. That a shipment clean when started should not be rejected because, perchance, while in transit it has picked up a few gnats and ants.

A. Brownell, of Portland, Ore., followed along the same line, and A. McGill, of Salem, and O. F. Smith, of Blackfoot, Ida., also spoke along the same lines.

An interesting paper was that of F. A. Wiggins, of Toppenish, who addressed the gathering on the subject of "A School for Agents." In this address some valuable ideas were handed out on the proper methods of handling salesmen.

The local nurserymen entertained the visitors Wednesday afternoon by driving them out through Nob Hill, after which another session was held in the club rooms which was marked by the address of welcome tendered by Cushman Miller, representing Mayor Lombard. The response was delivered by A. Montana, Oregon, California and British Columbia, of Detroit, Wash.

Representatives are present from every section in the association's jurisdiction, including Washington, Idaho, and Columbia.

AUTOMOBILE BACKS UP

Farmer Compels Autoist to Give Him Right of Way.

Sherman Lewis, of the Cowiche, made a couple of automobilists back up Sunday. They met in a bad section of road up the valley and the automobilists invited Mr. Lewis to back up. He declined. He was driving a pair of horses that would do anything that he told them to and the told them to go ahead. When the automobile men found out that neither Mr. Lewis nor his team would frighten they backed up.

July 4 was celebrated in the Cowiche with a picnic and dance in the grove near the store. The store and other buildings were decorated and there was a large attendance and a plentitude of fireworks. Two North Yakima professional men were among the Cowiche visitors Sunday. They helped themselves to a mile or two of stream and tried the fishing. When ordered off they introduced themselves, giving the names of two M. D.'s and suggested that their standing in this city was a guarantee that they wouldn't do any damage—except take trout. The owner insisted that they move on, and they did, going about a mile and again entering on the same owner's premises. All along the Cowiche "no fishing" and "no hunting" signs are posted but the ordinary rancher has usually too much to do to patrol his premises against city people. Trespass notices are usually shot to pieces. There is much complaint of damage to fences.

BRAKEMAN BLAKE FREE

Prosecuting Attorney Wende Dismisses Case.

F. L. Blake, a brakeman on the Northern Pacific railroad, who shot and killed a hobo named Charles Rice at Toppenish last Tuesday, was exonerated by Prosecuting Attorney Wende after a careful investigation of the case by Mr. Wende, assisted by Special Agent Hindman, of the N. P.

It appears from the facts in the case that Rice shot first at Blake, and that the latter then killed him in self-defense. Rice was trying to steal a ride at the time. Blake was himself wounded, but not seriously. He is now at St. Elizabeth's hospital under medical care.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

Fruit shipments from North Yakima are well under way for this year but have not as yet reached such proportions as to cause any great demands on Northern Pacific Agent Joe Tuttle for refrigerator cars. As a matter of fact much of the fruit is going out by express but one carload of cherries has been sent east by the Horticultural Union and another is to follow this week. This second carload will about clean up the cherry crop of this valley for this season. The Black Republican is now being handled and the bulk of the crop has been harvested. There is no extensive grower of cherries in this district. A great many ranchers have a few trees each and the aggregate of all makes a fair crop. Yakima county, however, is not a cherry center. Oregon and the west side of the mountains exceed in quantity the fruit of that kind grown here. The number of trees is steadily increasing but the consensus of opinion is that this will always be a midsummer section rather than a district where the cherry will become a vital feature.

Some Trees Pay Well.

Because of a variety of conditions cherries are not bringing any such prices this year as they did last and the same, it is understood, will apply to all kinds of fruit right through the summer months. There are reports in circulation of cherry trees which last year bore a crop which sold for $50. No such figures have been heard of this season. Some trees, however, have yielded a crop of the value of $20 and though the returns are not in it is probable that some better stories will be heard. The Republic has heard of several trees which yielded approximately 250 pounds of fruit each and has heard claims of trees which contained 300 pounds. A few cherry trees at $16 to $20 each is pretty good.

Along with the ear of cherries which will be sent east this week by the Horticultural Union will go some two or three hundred boxes of peaches and they are said to be of really excellent quality. E. C. Van Brundt has already sent in to the union some 20 boxes for shipment and says that by tomorrow night he will increase the number to 175 boxes, all good fruit. Robert Burdill has also some peaches for shipment.

Acreage in Alfalfa.

Just what the hay condition will be this year is hard to tell. The first cutting of alfalfa has been harvested and in general the reports are satisfactory. From many places on the reservation comes the report that the yield is from 50 to 75 per cent of a normal but other reports from various of the valleys surrounding North Yakima indicate that the yield is greater per acre than was the case last year. Whether the total acreage to alfalfa is increasing in this valley is a disputed question. Wallis Williams of the North Yakima Milling company, says that he knows that 10,000 acres have been seeded, or reseeded, since last year and he is of the opinion that there is a constant increase in the acreage under cultivation to that crop. While he is of the belief that the acreage to potatoes this year is much larger than it is generally supposed to be, and beyond that of recent seasons, he does not think that the former alfalfa land put to orchard and to spuds is sufficient in the aggregate to offset the increase in that put under cultivation this year. Each season sees a greatly augmented home consumption of hay and he thinks the yield as measured by acres is constantly growing.

General Trade Excellent.

Prices on hay, for city sale, are given in the figures appended. Sales made in the field are considerably lower. The figures with regard to timothy are the best procurable. No new baled timothy is offering and there is probably none of the old crop to be had except in incidental cases.

In meats the constant tendency is downward. There is, however, no activity in the meat market and this is not a season when any activity is looked for. It will be well along for another month before any elaborate action or re-action in meats may be looked for. Retail merchants of this city report that their business keeps up excellently. ### PREDICTS ADVANCE IN PRICES OF LUMBER

General Manager Taylor Says Look Out for Advance Before Winter.

That the price of lumber will materially advance before winter is the opinion of William P. Taylor of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber company. Mr. Taylor does not predict any advance in lumber prices until after election but shortly after that he says look out. The market is gradually becoming stronger all over the United States and in the foreign countries to which the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber company ships its products. An advance of 60 or 70 cents per thousand has been realized by the company in its Australia shipments of late.

Lumber is now quoted at a price which people have not seen before in years. The natural trend of prosperity and progress which the new republican administration will bring about this fall will tend to cause a greater demand for lumber in America. When this is a fact the prices of all products will be materially advanced.

MAY BE FIVE TICKETS.

Prohibitionists, Socialists and Hearstites May Participate in Election.

If the Hearst party organizes in this county—and efforts in that direction are now being made—it is likely that there will be five tickets in the field for the electors to choose between this fall. The Independence League is sending out missionaries to preach the gospel of Hearst politics to the people of the northwest and quite a few Yakima people have been found to be open to conviction. So far as is known at this time the socialists and prohibitionists will have tickets with candidates for many of the offices and this will help meet the expenditure of the general election.

Must Pay Fees.

The three small parties will not have any primary election, as the vote for neither socialists nor prohibitionists at the election of November 6, 1906, scored 10 per cent of the total vote, the criterion by which the right of a party to participate in the primary law is measured. At that election the highest socialist vote was 296 cast for Andrew Christianson for coroner. H. L. Hughes, running for judge of the superior court on the same ticket, scored 253. Will Everett, candidate for congress on the prohibitionist ticket, got but 86 votes. The total vote cast was 4184.

While the small parties cannot have any primary election they are entitled to have tickets provided that the regular fees prescribed for candidates for office are paid to the county auditor. The fees are $10 for an office the salary of which does not exceed $1000 per annum and $1 for each additional $100 per annum of salary.

An excellent picture of the Capitol at Washington has been presented to the North Yakima high school by Senator Walter J. Reed.

WHITE BLUFFS.

The first church building in this section of the country, the First Presbyterian church of White Bluffs, is just receiving its finishing touches. It is a very pretty structure, 32x52, cobbles and concrete foundation, facing east toward the river and is situated on two 50x100 foot lots. Its cost complete will be between $1700 and $1800. The carpets have just been laid and chairs are now on the way. Dr. Walker is the present pastor.

City Attorney Forsyth, of North Yakima, stopped off between boats this week.

Manager Weil, of the local land company, has moved his bungalow to two lots south of Columbia Park, where, with shade trees, new fence, etc., he is setting out a fine place. Settlers on the Hanford land just south of town report the water in the big ditch. It is expected to reach Hanford soon.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

An organization is at work in Spokane with the avowed object of doing away with partisanship in the administration of county affairs. It is a movement that is beginning to receive considerable support and is expected to spread to other sections of the state. This non-partisan league in its declaration of principles asserts that partisanship in local affairs is, as a rule, pretty expensive business from the standpoint of the taxpayer, besides it very frequently is the cause of inefficiency of service.

No doubt there is much truth in this contention. Unquestionably there are evils, and many of them, that develop under the party system of government. But it is also true that there are evils under the nonpartisan system, where there is no responsibility to party.

The real remedy for defective or corrupt county government is for the people, and especially the taxpayers, to take a keen and intelligent interest in the administration of county affairs, and this they are now showing a disposition to do. When county officials, or any other set of officials, are kept at work under a public searchlight they will render as good service as they are capable of doing.

Right here in Yakima county there is urgent need of reform. It is costing the people too much money to run the county government, just as it costs too much money to run our school district government, to say nothing of our extravagant state government. This is the real reason why taxes are so outrageously high in Yakima, so high that the people, who are now not so prosperous as formerly, are crying out in protest. And as they continue to protest the angrier they will get until they will organize for the express purpose of throwing out the tax-eaters, as they have done before in this county and state.

CANDIDATES CARDS.

Various Republican candidates are running their paid advertisements in the different county papers announcing that they will contend for the g. o. p. nomination for this or that office at the primaries Sept. 8 and usually wind up the paid notice by requesting the aid of their friends, etc., etc. They all read alike.

Apparently none of these candidates are as smart as they might be. It is certain that they all mistake or fail to understand the present temper of the people of Yakima county. A candidate who means to successfully appeal to the people in this year of our Lord should make his announcement read something like this:

"I hereby pledge myself that if nominated and elected I will devote my entire time and attention to the duties of my office; that I will employ no needless deputies and clerks and that I will endeavor to otherwise conduct said office to the satisfaction of the taxpayers of Yakima county."

A candidate's card reading like the above would cause people to set up and take notice; it would likewise cause them to gasp with astonishment. But it would be a most welcome announcement just the same and if the people should be satisfied that the author meant just what he said it would go a long way toward bringing the coveted plum within his reach.

No Hope of Reform.

It is useless for the Republicans to attempt to wave aloft the Roosevelt banner of reform and at the same time expect to stand on their latest National platform. The "stann. pat" element are again thoroughly in control of the organization. That element made the platform and dictated the nomination of Sherman for vice-president. It is true that Taft was not the original choice of this element for the presidency but it is equally true that the "stand patters" are now thoroughly in accord with the Ohio man and will give him a loyal support, hence it is natural to assume that Taft or his representatives have already made concessions to the private interests.

The platform committee was headed by Senator Hopkins of Illinois, a notorious tool of certain corporations in the U. S. senate. In rejecting the La Follette resolutions Hopkins denounced the principles of the Wisconsin senator as "demagogic and socialistic" and the convention itself went on record against the LaFollette resolutions by a vote of more than 7 to 1. Yet La Follette merely wished the party to go on record in favor of election of U. S. senators by the people, strict railroad regulation and in favor of a campaign publicity bill. These measures then, according to the decree of the republican national convention, the highest court of the party are "demagogic and socialistic."

How idle it is to expect any substantial measure of reform from a party that is so completely controlled by selfish interests. Even if Mr. Taft were so disposed how could he hope to accomplish anything in the interest of the people as against the powerful interests that control his party? How could Taft amiable and easy going, succeed where Roosevelt, a splendid fighter, has so signally failed?

A BUNKO GAME.

It is plain that Candidate Taft has framed up a great bunko game for somebody. Who is to be the victim? Will it be Theodore Roosevelt, or will it be the system?

Mr. Roosevelt selected Mr. Taft as the man to further his policies as president. He directed the work of securing delegates and packing the national convention for him. He will naturally expect Mr. Taft to stand on his policies if elected.

The policies of Mr. Roosevelt are thoroughly hated by the system, the chief members of which are Mr. Harriman, Mr. Ryan, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Rogers. They want those policies put down just as soon as they can be. They are rejoicing because Mr. Roosevelt is to retire from office on the fourth of next March.

Yet these same men of the system declare that the nomination of Mr. Taft for president is perfectly satisfactory to them, and that so far as they are concerned a better choice could not have been made.

Why does the system want Taft? Has he given the word that the system will be immune from punishment for misdeeds if he wins the election? It would seem that the system would want such an assurance before putting its O. K. on a candidate, and opening its strong box besides to assist him in his campaign.

If Mr. Taft is going to be for Mr. Roosevelt he is going to be against the system. If he is going to be for the system he is going to be against Mr. Roosevelt.

Someone is going to be bunkoed. Who is it to be? Mr. Roosevelt or the system?

The consensus of opinion is that it is going to be Mr. Roosevelt.—Buffalo (N. Y.) Times.

CLEVELAND, ROOSEVELT BRYAN.

The late President Cleveland lost his party, of which he was shepherd, and left it wandering in the wilderness. Mr. Bryan has gathered it in and become its apostle. Mr. Cleveland failed to hold his leadership because he would go in a way which the party would not follow; he lacked the tact to keep the following. He was sure he was right, and regardless of the need that his party should be.

He was clear in the expression of his opinions, but used not the talent which Bryan so transcendently possesses of making his hearers see things as he sees them. Mr. Bryan has done feats in this line which no man has ever done before him. He carried his party through a campaign for free silver, and afterward through another in which free silver was not; with no explanation of the demise save that its breath had failed. And he still holds his party with an exposition of doctrine that he vigorously rescues from the other party that has sought to lay violent hands on it. As a popular apostle Mr. Bryan affords a striking contrast to Mr. Cleveland, who had no aim or talent or purpose on that line.

Roosevelt has made hay abundantly on the same ground, with like regard to popular feeling and as little for that of political associates; and with like floods of words, less persuasively used. Cleveland was a downright president, Roosevelt a strenuous one; while Bryan may be reckoned as serene and apostolic, however the wild waves roll.—Puyallup Tribune.

HON. HENRY MCBRIDE.

Former Governor Henry McBride, who delivered the Fourth of July oration at the North Yakima celebration, made a most patriotic address and a good impression on the people here. He is an able and sincere man, who commands the respect even of his political enemies. Democrats and Republicans alike. As governor of this state in succession to the lamented Governor Rogers Mr. McBride made a record as a reformer that is stamped indelibly upon the history of this state. He endeavored to force the railroads to be just to the people, he scourged their paid lobbyists and drove them from the capitol. He protected the taxpayers by cutting off superfluous appropriations. He did not hesitate to use his veto power on unwise and unnecessary legislation. In fact, he had the backbone to do what he believed to be right, and that is the one great quality that a man most requires in the office of governor.

If the fates have decreed that we must continue a Republican in the high office of governor by all means let that man be Henry McBride.

In company with any and all of his rivals, with whom he is competing for the nomination, he is as a giant compared with pygmies.

THE CHAIRMAN.

Why all this idle speculation about the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee? The chairman is already chosen. He elected himself unanimously months ago and has already opened up the Republican national headquarters at Sagamore Hill.

To be sure the committee still needs a figurehead—somebody to run down to the post office and buy stamps; somebody to hold the handle of the skillet while the fat is fried; somebody to sit at the telephone and see that the orders from headquarters are carried out without more blundering than usually attaches to the ministrations of the faithful Loeb; somebody to attend to the card index. But surely nobody would call the Exalted Office Boy Chairman of the National Committee.

From now to election day any Republican who wishes to communicate with the manager of the national campaign will continue to address his letters and telegrams to Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, N. Y.—N. Y. World.

THE DENVER CONVENTION.

At this writing the nomination of Mr. Bryan by the Denver convention on its first ballot seems an assured fact.

It is safe to assume also that the platform will be constructed along lines satisfactory to the nominee, if indeed he has not assumed the task of writing it himself. It is only fair that the candidate should assume his full share of responsibility in making the platform, as it is he who must stand upon it and defend it against all comers.

Doubtless the convention also will consult Mr. Bryan in the selection of a running mate, the man to be nominated for vice president.

The convention assembled at Denver is a historical gathering. It appears also to be, except its small minority, thoroughly representative of the modern Democratic party, coming as it does fresh from the rank and file of the organization.

Ex-Senator Burton of Kansas announces that he will support Bryan in preference to Taft on the ground that the nomination of the latter was forced upon the party by an impudent oligarchy of office holders. Inasmuch as the Roosevelt administration put Mr. Burton in jail it is very possible that personal feeling enters into his judgment of the situation, nevertheless he is quite right as to the pernicious influence that brought about the nomination of Mr. Taft.

Whatever else may be said of Senator Levi Ankeny and Alden J. Blethen, editor of The Times, it must be admitted that both of them have an eye single to making money. They seem to go on the theory of the old man who educated his son and told him to go out and make money. "Make money, my son. If you cannot make money honest, make money, my son." Senator Ankeny

Mr. Cosgrove, it is said, expects to win the nomination of governor by banking strongly on the second choice provision of the primary law. It is assumed that many voters who favor either Mead or McBride for first choice will choose the man from Pomeroy as second choice. Perhaps they will, for we don't know. What we do know is that if Mr. Cosgrove should be the Republican candidate he will prove to be an easy mark for a Democrat to beat at the polls.

Col. Henry Watterson's lurid editorial denouncing Alton B. Parker for "dragging the dead body of Grover Cleveland from its newly made grave to make a Coliseum holiday," together with the resounding crack of "Boss" Murphy's big whip, appeared to somewhat soften the beligerent attitude of Wall street's late candidate for the presidency towards his successful rival, Wm. J. Bryan. But still Parker can't be made to understand that he is a dead issue.

Mr. Taft has been having a hard time to find a suitable man to run his campaign. He feels the need of a man who knows how to fry the fat in the good old way that Mark Hanna used to do it. Hitchcock, Vorys and Loeb are all too small for the job. Good money getters like Hanna were not easy to find. Our own Col. Robertson would be a he is a persona non grata with the good man for the job, but unfortunately powers that be.

The good roads movement in Yakima county is one that all our citizens should feel a deep interest in and endeavor to help along. It is not merely a question of issuing bonds, as some people seem to suppose, it is a question of doing something to improve our roads, and the Good Lord knows they need improvement.

Our neighbor, the Republic or rather its business office, was robbed Monday night by a designing villain who secured the sum of four dollars. It is to be hoped that the rascal will be run down and punished to the limit, for any man who will rob a country newspaper office is too mean a character to run at large.

The convention of the socialist labor party met in New York last week and nominated as its candidate for president a man who is confined in jail at Goldfield, Nev. This may have been intended in good part, but it seems like an injustice to the man in jail as it will simply increase his trouble.

The Tammany tiger was not nearly so savage when it arrived at Denver, saw that Mr. Bryan's friends controlled the convention and would handle the situation without the aid of Mr. Murphy. Then the tiger began to cringe and fawn and was soon so tame that it would eat out of hand.

In a great speech, a great orator once said: "Burn down your cities and leave your farms and your cities will spring up again as if by magic; but destroy your farms and the grass will grow in the streets of every city in the country."

ROSE ARTESIAN WELL IS NOW COMPLETED

A Flow of 1,400,000 Gallons of Water per Day Has Been Struck.

That the Rose well in North Yakima is a complete success, that it throws enough water to supply a city of 40,000 and that the Rose Land company has succeeded in solving the water problem for North Yakima are some of the assertions made today by Hon. D. E. Lesh who yesterday made a trip to the well and examined thoroughly the workings of the first artesian well to be drilled within the city limits of North Yakima.

Mr. Lesh is enthusiastic concerning the merits of the deep hole bored into the rock pile over which the derricks and rigging stand. He says it is one of the greatest enterprises ever put through in the state of Washington and it means more to the city of North Yakima than half its people realize.

Well Is Completed.

The well has been completed and workmen are preparing to withdraw their tools. A flow of over 1,400,000 gallons of water per day has been struck. Out of this number 400,000 gallons with a temperature of 90 degrees is run through a separate pipe. The remaining 1,000,000 gallons has a temperature of 70 degrees.

The 90 degree water is to be used for natatorium purposes. Mr. Lesh says he is reliably informed that the Rose company will begin operations on the construction of a huge natatorium in North Yakima within a very short time. The 70 degree flow is to be used for domestic purposes a franchise for which has already been granted by the city council.

Smells of Sulphur.

The water which now gushes from the well has an unpleasant smell of sulphur. This, however, disappears after the water has stood for awhile. It is the purpose of the Rose company to build a large standpipe into which the water from the well will be pumped. Concerning the merits of the enterprise Mr. Lesh said today:

"Few people in the state of Washington realize the importance of the Rose well project. I was out to the works yesterday and it certainly is a sight to behold to see the water gushing from that well. I had not been there long before I began to smell the sulphur from the water. Surely, I thought, this water can not be good to drink. Finally I got a cup of it after it had stood for a while and, say, it was the finest water I have ever drunk. And I'm particular about the water I drink too."

Workmen Like the Water.

"Before I had been there 10 minutes I noticed that there was a path beaten which leads from the well to the new high school building under construction. I soon found out that all workmen employed on the job get their water from the well and all declared it the purest and most thirst quenching they knew of."

"They told me out there that the workmen not only drink the water while they are on the job but that they also take it home with them to their families. People living many blocks away walk to the well in preference to drinking the city water."

"The natatorium is sure to be built and it will be a blessing to the people of this city. The water at 90 degrees will be just right for bathing purposes and the fact that there is a sulphur water 'nat' here will cause this town to be much talked of from that point of view."

BANK CLEARINGS INCREASE

Gain of Nearly $50,000 Shown in Monthly Report.

While other communities of the state of Washington are complaining of tight times and lack of money, North Yakima people are daily doing business on a scale that would surprise the average easterner. This time of the year is between hay time and harvest. Usually there is a scarcity of funds during the month of June and the fruit grower is obliged to depend on loan agencies and the like until he can harvest his crops in the fall.

Clearances of the associated banks of North Yakima show that instead of there being a depression in the financial circles of North Yakima in the month of June, there is an increased volume of business. About $50,000 is the gain of June over the month of May in the clearings made. The total clearings of May amount to $1,034,790.49. The clearings for June amount to $1,081,898.22.

While the clearings are falling off in the cities of the Sound, North Yakima's showing continues to increase.

DARING BRAVERY.

An Exciting Incident in the Career of John Paul Jones.

Whitehaven was a town of considerable importance, writes Cyrus Townsend Brady in the Metropolitan Magazine. It had a population of 60,000 people, and several hundred vessels of all kinds were in the port. Two forts commanded its harbor, but John Paul Jones believed largely in the value of the unexpected and by 8 o'clock in the morning was making for the place with two cutters manned by fifteen men each armed only with pistols and cutlasses. One of the cutters, in command of Captain Jones himself, made directly for the town, and the other, under command of Lieutenant Wallingford, pulled for the shipping docks on the opposite side of the harbor. Jones landed quietly just as the first streaks of dawn were tingling the east and, leaving one man in his boat, set out at a run for the nearest fort. Gallantly scaling the walls, the party fell upon the small garrison and made them prisoners without firing a shot. After spiking the guns Jones locked the English soldiers in their own guardhouse and set out at a run for the other fort, half a mile away.

But during all this time there was no sign of the work of Wallingford, not a spark of light or a cloud of smoke to show that that officer was doing his part of the work. Not until Jones had reached the other fort and spiked the guns did he learn that Wallingford had abandoned the attempt because the match which he carried for the purpose had gone out.

It was broad daylight, and here and there were signs of activity in the houses near the docks. Captain Jones had no time for delay. He boarded a large vessel and with his own hands kindled a fire in her steerage. Upon the flames he threw straw and hatchway gratings; a barrel of tar completed the work.

In the meanwhile the gathering of townfolk had increased until the crowd had become a frantic mob, which was now threatening the men and the landing place. Seeing that he could do no more, Jones went ashore and, drawing his two pistols, went down to face 1,500 people. He was not a large man, but there was something in his face to supply the deficiency of majesty in stature. He swayed the mob with his pistols as a summer breeze moves a rye field. He reached the cutter and easily held the infuriated people at bay until the fire was well started and his men were safely seated in their cutter. After that he entered the boat and was pulled away.

A Measure For Chefs.

Twelve-year-old Dorothy is already a cook of no mean proficiency. Saturday morning frequently finds her in the kitchen, being initiated into the making of some simple dish.

"Oh, put in a moderately generous pinch of salt," her mother will reply to her anxious inquiry, or her grandmother will give a professional glance at the stewpan and say, "Well, if I were making it I think I'd probably put in quite a little more butter."

Such remarks, coming easily from the tongues of artists who have only to look at a bit of cookery in process of making to know exactly what it needs, are exasperating to a youthful cook, especially one who inherits from "the other side" a predilection for scientific accuracy of statement.

Recently Dorothy, returning from a visit, excited even the interest of those passed masters, her mother and grandmother, by making a wonderful new salad dressing. The two ladies shortly afterward tried to make the dressing, under Dorothy's instruction.

"How much sugar did you say, Dorothy?" asked one of her pupils, bending with flushed face over the stove at a critical moment.

"Well," said Dorothy, with unnatural deliberateness, "if I were making that dressing, I shouldn't be surprised if most likely I'd put in a moderately generous heaping tip end of a medium sized tablespoonful."

"Elephants a Pillin' Teak."

It is in the work of piling logs that the extraordinary intelligence of the elephant is best shown. In the saw-mills elephants are used in every department. One will drag a log out of the water to the saw bench and with his tusks place it on the table, while at the other end his mate is waiting, and when the buzzing circular saw has converted the round tree into a four sided log he lifts it off the bench, places it on the ground and drags it out to the storage yard, where he puts it carefully into position, placing one log exactly on the top of the other with wonderful precision. Elephants can pile logs to the height of their foreheads. When the squared logs are wanted for shipment the elephant picks out the required number and drags them down to the waterside, and, when necessary, enters the river and holds the logs in position while they are being bound together by the raftsmen. After that he leaves the log to man's devices.—London Mail.

Lightning and Cities.

"Lightning never kills people in cities," said an insurance agent. "My company's statistics show that in cities there is practically no danger of death from lightning stroke."

"Look back and ask yourself if you ever heard of any one being killed by lightning on Broadway or in front of the Auditorium or on Beacon street or on Chestnut street or on Nicolet avenue. No. It is in the country or in little villages that the all dreaded thunderstorm does its deadly work."

"Why are cities in this way immune? Some say it is because they have no trees to attract the lightning. Some say it is because the cloud of factory smoke above their roofs is a protection."—Minneapolis Journal.

MUST WASH THE DISHES TO PROVE GRATITUDE

John Michel Finds That Unbidden Guests Were Not of Good Manners.

John Michels thinks that when a man, or men, use another man's house and furnishings they should at least wash the dishes. He is looking for some men who used his dishes and failed to "rid up" afterwards. Mr. Michel has a summer home at Lake Kachess. He has just been up in the hills looking after it preparatory to removing his family there for the summer. He found that trappers, or someone else, had used the house during the winter. The bedding is a thing of the past, the furniture is marred, where it isn't destroyed, the stove pipes have been rusted out and the dishes left unwashed. Besides two cross-cut saws are missing. The cross-cut is the underlying principle of the wood pile and the woodpile is an unromantic essential to camp life. Mr. Michels feels worse over the dishes, however. Two years ago some people went through his lake summer house and treated it much as it has been treated this time. Mr. Michels got on their trail and followed it at such a pace that he frightened off all marauders for a whole winter. Loafers attracted by the presence of railroad construction camps, he says, are at the bottom of the difficulty. Mr. Michels is ordering the necessary new supplies and as soon as everything is put in order will remove to the hills with his family for the balance of the summer. He says the summer colony is just beginning to arrive at Lake Kachess.

Five Acres Brings $9000.

The Henry Friday place on Nob Hill has been sold to Carl Botcher, of Minnesota, for $9000. The farm comprises five acres. It is located just west of W. M. Nelson's home on the hill and is one of the choicest pieces of land in the valley. Mr. Botcher has moved onto his new holding and will hereafter make his home in the Yakima valley. The sale was made through Nelson, Hartshorn & Palmer.

Notice to Fruit Growers.

Look out for the second brood of the codling moth. The second brood of the moth will appear in the lower end of the county about July 20, and in the vicinity of Parker Bottom and Yakima about July 25 and in the upper valleys, such as the Wenatchee, Naches and Tappan from July 25 to August 1. As the moth is practically all entering into the apple at the side, it is necessary that the apple and pear be kept well coated to prevent the worm from entering. So it will be necessary to spray two or three days ahead of the time indicated in this notice. Respectfully,

J. M. BROWN,
Special Horticultural Inspector.

CELEBRATION PROVED GREATEST ON RECORD

Thousands of Visitors Enthusiastic Over the Grand Patriotic Parade.

That Saturday's celebration was in every respect the greatest on record in the Yakima valley was the opinion generally expressed by citizens and visitors. The city was crowded with a merry throng of holiday makers all day and half the night, and the ball game, the field sports and the races at the fair grounds attracted large numbers of people while the crowd which witnessed the fine fireworks display at the Athletic park numbered thousands.

The greater part of the crowd which celebrated in North Yakima came from the country immediately tributary to North Yakima and from the Sunnyside and reservation country. The people of the lower valley always turn out in force to these celebrations and on Saturday practically the whole of the lower country was depopulated. Visitors from Ellensburg were comparatively few, most of the Kittitas people preferring to take in the celebration at Cle Elum, a fact that is likely to be taken into consideration in the arranging of locations for future celebrations in this county.

Handsome Decorations.

The city was very gaily decorated, national flags and bunting streaming from every building in the business quarters of the city and many of the residences were also handsomely decorated.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Fourth of July celebration usually is associated with a certain amount of rowdiness, this was notably absent on Saturday and the police regulations for the public safety were regarded to quite an extent. Minor accidents only occurred, a few boys and girls getting too close to firecrackers and suffering burns in consequence.

The chief event of the day, the parade, was unanimously declared to be the finest ever seen in the interior and there were visitors from Seattle and Tacoma who said that while they had seen longer parades they never had witnessed anything of a better quality nor handsomer displays than those made by some of the local business firms and fraternal organizations.

Parade Splendid.

To Dr. Philip Frank, grand marshal of the parade, and who is responsible very largely for the success of this important feature of the celebration, the warmest praise is being given. Dr. Frank gave freely of his time and experience in order to interest the business people and the fraternal organizations in the show and assisted materially in the preparation of many of the displays made. The three patriotic displays, the "Nation Makers", the "Fighting Bob" ship and the "Liberty Bell" float were planned by him, and certainly were a credit to the city. The deputy marshals, Vestal Snyder and Tom Fisher, rendered valuable assistance.

The parade lined up as was arranged and started a few minutes after 10 o'clock, traversing the principal business and residence quarters with the exception of Yakima avenue, the condition of which made it impassable for the procession. Everywhere the show was greeted by crowds of people along the sidewalks and perched on points of vantage in the buildings. It stopped on Naches avenue south and was there dismissed. There were no hitches noticeable to the public although lack of crossing facilities due to obstructions on Yakima avenue made a few minor changes in the line of march imperative at the last moment.

Military Display.

Music on the march was supplied by the Tacoma Brass band, Nagler's band and the life and drum band. Company E, of the Washington national guard, a large contingent of Spanish war veterans and another of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, together with the fine turnouts made by the semi-military organizations of the Odd-fellows and the Modern Woodmen; gave to the parade some of the glamour of a military show.

The parade was headed by mounted police, followed by the grand marshal, Dr. Frank, and the deputy marshal, Vestal Snyder. Then came the Tacoma brass band and Company E, N. G. W., the Spanish war veterans and the Grand Army veterans. Then came the carriages containing the orators of the day, Former Governor Henry McBride, Mayor Lombard, Rev. S. J. Kennedy and Rev. Father Brusten, Judge Preble and the county commissioners and the members of the city council. The patriotic and fraternal display, which constituted the second division, came next and proved to be a very fine show. It was headed by the life and drum band and the "Nation Makers" represented by members of the local lodge of the Knights of Pythias, costumed to correctly reproduce the figures in the famous picture, "The Spirit of '76." Then came the military organization of the Odd Fellows, who made a handsome appearance in their elaborate uniforms. Next came the Eagles with a float and a line of men. Other handsome displays in this division was made by the Fraternal Brotherhood, the Christian Endeavor society, Woodmen of the World, Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors.

Business Floats.

In the third division were excellent floats made by the various business houses of the city:

Felton-Wimer Concrete company, Cahalan company, Fred Mailloux, Thacker & Smith, Noah's Ark, Emporium, Eastern Furniture company, the Boston Store, Yakima Artificial Ice company with four floats, Cascade Lumber company with four floats, Hartung-Larson company, Wyman & Sheldon with two floats, Singer Sewing Machine company with three floats, Paul Langevin and Stone & Co.

Prizes Awarded.

Prizes were awarded as follows by the committee appointed, M. Shorn, Joe Metzger and J. Lenox Ward: Best Business Float—The Cahalan company and the Eastern Furniture company, tied, with the Emporium second.

Best series of business floats—Cascade Lumber company, first; Artificial Ice company, second; Boston Store, third.

Best Fraternal Float—Woodmen of the World, first; Eagles, second; Fraternal Brotherhood, third.

Most Unique Float—Boston Store, first; Cascade Lumber company, second; Artificial Ice company, third.

Best Decorated Automobile—Cooper, first; Handsaker, second; Arrowsmith, third.

Best Decorated Bicycle—Florence M. Adams.

CITY MUST BUY ITS SCHOOL SITES EARLY

Superintendent Reed Points Out the Conditions in His Annual Report.

In his annual report, submitted to the school directors of this district, City Superintendent of Schools D. C. Reed gives statistics and points out facts connected with the school work of the city which are of vital interest to the community. He says.

This is our first year in operating our school system as a city of 10,000 inhabitants with five directors instead of three, and with a clerk who is not a member of the school board. It is gratifying, I think, to the entire district, to know that the board of education is non-partisan, each member representing the entire city and administering the schools in the interests of the whole people and not a part of them. The following summary of statistics will be of value:

Statistics of the Schools.

Number of census children in the district, 3125; gain, 536, or 20 per cent. Number of children enrolled in the public schools, 2700; gain, 246, or 10 per cent.

Average daily attendance, 1850; gain, 227, or 12 per cent.

Days' attendance, actual, 349,733.5.

Accredited from other schools, 57,065.

Institute, 9252.2.

Total, 416,590.7; gain, 82,216.7, or 24 per cent.

Number of school rooms maintained during the year, 58; gain, 4.

Number of different teachers employed, male, 7; female, 64; total, 71; gain, 5.

Number graduating from the 8th grade, 108.

Number graduating from the high school, 28.

Number attending private school, 398; gain, 131.

Average salary paid male teachers per month, $107.

Average salary paid female teachers per month, $69.

Needs of the Future.

The school census showed an increase of 20 per cent, and the daily attendance 12 per cent. This rate of increase may be expected as a regular thing for years to come. How to provide for this increase is a problem which should engage your attention. It is evident that if the city is to provide an education for every child of school age, the board must create a building fund to meet the needs of this annual addition to its school population. The schools are doing their part in attracting people to this locality and are contributing no small part to its material prosperity. Failure to provide adequate school accommodations must result in retarding its growth. Two alternatives are open; we must either provide accommodations as they are needed, or turn children away when the rooms are full. The latter alternative is out of keeping, I believe, with the traditions as well as the spirit of the city and should not be considered. At present the schools come after the people. What happens is this: A new addition is laid out, lots are sold, houses are built, prices are advanced, the neighborhood is settled up and then a site is purchased for a school. Unless sites are secured in the outlying neighborhoods in advance of the influx of population, we will never be able, because of the high price, to get as much land as is needed for a good school playground.

The health of the children is a primary concern of our public schools. The ancient idea of a sound mind in a sound body is still the best one we possess today. Our teachers are ever watchful in this respect. They lead the pupils in breathing exercises; they regulate the posture of the children in sitting, standing and walking. They give light gymnastic exercises daily. Their influence by these means the health of the children more than any physician could. But there are many children who are suffering from defective vision, defective hearing, adenoid growths, defective teeth and other disabilities. These physical deficiencies are hindrances of the most serious sort in school work, and as the state has undertaken to educate the children and to remove any hindrances to education that may exist, it would seem advisable to me that we adopt some method of finding these cases and removing the disabilities.

Mr. Reed referred to the Kindergarten, manual training and commercial departments established during the year. He spoke of the popularity of the kindergarten but declared that the other two departments named had suffered because of inexperience and incapacity on the part of the teachers. The policy of the board in procuring strong teachers for these departments for next year, he approved. Departmental work, school athletics and school spirit were also praised.

NO SIGN OF UNDERWORLD IN THE CITY AT PRESENT

Police Have Been Told to See That Restricted District Does Not Revive.

So far as the police know there exists no restricted district in North Yakima. The "cribs" are closed and their inhabitants have gone east and west to other towns. The last to depart was one poor creature who had to await money from friends before she could leave the city. The section of the city where the restricted district was to be found has been cleaned of its inhabitants and in the opinion of the police they have gone away. Some of them may have scattered to rooming houses elsewhere in the city but if this is the case the police department is not aware of the fact. It is keeping a close watch to ascertain if the district shows any signs of breaking out elsewhere in North Yakima. The various officers have been instructed to keep an eye on the former district and on other sections of the city and to take immediate action upon any indication of a revival of activity.

LARGEST LIEN FILED.

Probably the largest lien ever filed in this county has been placed on file in the county auditor's office by Englehart & Rigg, representing Michael Earles, contractor for the power canal and power house for the Hanford Irrigation & Power Co., against the property of the company near Priest Rapids.

From the document filed, which sets forth in detail the terms of the two contracts it appears that the total amount due Mr. Earles was $273,337.37. Of this amount payment is acknowledged of $140,634.62, leaving a balance of $132,702.75 claimed and unpaid and which is the amount of the lien filed.

Recently the capital stock of the Hanford company was increased by $750,000 but all of this has not yet been subscribed according to such information as can be acquired here. The undertaking has cost up to date considerably more than was anticipated and a further increase of capital is likely to be required before the project is completed.

GREAT NEBRASKAN SWEEPS AWAY ALL OPPOSITION

The adoption of the majority report of the committee on credentials was adopted by the convention by a vote of 615 to 387. The main effect of this decision was to unseat 10 of the Guffey all of whom were Bryan men. The credentials committee also favored the contention of Oklahoma that that state was entitled to 18 instead of 14 delegates. The majority report was adopted by the convention amid tremendous delegates from Philadelphia. By the loss of these 10 votes Col. Guffey lost control of the Pennsylvania delegation and will be superseded as a member of the national committee by ex-Congressman James Kerr.

The platform committee not being ready to report, the convention after listening to speeches by Congressman Hobson, of Alabama, who spoke on the need of a great navy and the probability of war with Japan, and other noted speakers, by motion adjourned to meet again at 11 o'clock Thursday.

On reassembling Thursday when the convention got down to business the committee on permanent organization reported. This report recommended Congressman Clayton, of Alabama, for permanent chairman and that all other officers of the convention should retain their places. Upon the adoption of the report Mr. Clayton assumed the chair and began the delivery of a remarkable speech, in which he, in a humorous and striking way, ridiculed the claim of Mr. Roosevelt and other leading republicans as reformers and explained some of the fallacies of the republican platform. The speech was received with tremendous applause. Another adjournment was taken to 8:30 p. m.

On reassembling the chairman of the platform committee notified the convention that his committee would not be ready to report until midnight and advised the convention to proceed with the nominating speeches, which was done.

Ignatius J. Donnelly, of Omaha, Neb., was recognized by the chairman and proceeded to place the name of William J. Bryan in nomination for the presidency. At the first mention of the name of the great Nebraskan the cheering burst out and another terrific demonstration in honor of the favorite ensued which lasted for an hour and 12 minutes.

Chairman Clayton after a time attempted to stop the wild outcry by ordering the lights shut off, but was merely hissed for his pains. Gradually the spectators were themselves out in cheering and when order was finally restored Mr. Donnelly was permitted to resume his speech.

The nomination of Bryan was seconded by Senator Gearin, of Oregon; Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, and others.

Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, was nominated by Congressman Hammond, of that state.

Lewis Theady, of Delaware, placed in nomination Judge George Gray, of that state.

Sidelights of the Big Convention.
The reorganized Pennsylvania delegation, after the defeat of Guffey, elected ex-Congressman James S. Kerr to succeed Guffey as national committeeman.

The first big Bryan demonstration on Wednesday lasted 90 minutes, the second, Thursday evening, continued for 72 minutes.

Martin W. Littleton, of New York, in a speech at Thursday night's session, pledged the loyal support of the democracy of New York to the ticket. Littleton was received with tremendous applause.

The committee of colored men who called upon the platform committee asked for the insertion of a plank denouncing the summary dismissal of colored troops at Brownsville without trial. The committee declared that 600,000 negro voters would support Bryan if their race was given fair consideration in the platform.

The labor injunction plank is believed to be satisfactory to most of the labor leaders, although it is by no means so radical as the plank asked for by President Gompers.

Probably the orator who made the best impression on the convention was Thomas F. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma. However, the mob in the galleries would not permit the eloquent speaker to finish.

The full text of the platform adopted at Denver arrived too late for publication but will appear in the next issue of this paper.

FOURTH OF JULY IN THE CASCADES

great excitement at the Log Cabin Inn when everything was in readiness for the start of the race. North Yakima and Seattle backed Rev. James and Ellensburg and Tacoma pulled hard for Prof. Wilson.

Kachess lake is one mile wide at this point. The rules governing the contest compelled the men to row across the lake, turn without assistance and row back. The one making the prettiest turn, that is, who would create the most favorable impression with the ladies, and splashed the least water, and then get back home first would be declared the winner. There was no money lost on the race. It is not known how much was wagered. Some of the young men from Seattle and Tacoma became involved in a controversy over who would have won, but before any blows were struck, the North Yakima and Ellensburg boys had separated them. The race was never finished. When the contestants reached the other shore and attempted to turn their racing sculls, both fell over board head first into the water, and Captain Gale in his launch Dorothy was summoned to the rescue in order to save the lives of the racers. It developed that neither could swim a stroke.

Now all of this fun took place before breakfast on the morning of the Fourth. It was agreed that the crowd of forty should break up into small parties and go fishing during the heat of the day. Prof. Wilson and Rev. James were unable to go fishing. Walter Bell, Charles Gustafson, Warren Erwin and Frank Sharkey composed one fishing party up Box Canyon creek. Sharkey is no fisherman, but he rowed the boat. The other three young men caught 75 beautiful mountain trout. Some of the boys from Seattle also made an excellent catch. A young man named Dave Oliver landed a beauty weighing 7 pounds.

The fishing up Gale creek and Box Canyon was especially good, and at 6 o'clock on the evening of the Fourth there was spread upon the bank in front of the Log Cabin Inn more than 300 choice specimens of the finest trout ever hooked in a mountain brook. Mrs. Gale took a number of camera pictures of the outlay, which will appear in an issue soon of the Pacific Monthly.

That night after dinner a grand scenic display of fireworks was held from a barge on the lake in front of the Inn. Only one accident occurred to mar an otherwise delightful evening. Miss Avera Flint, of this city, while attempting to fire off a roman candle, was unfortunate in dropping a piece of the burning fuse into the side of the half shoe on her left foot, and before the shoe could be removed the young lady sustained a painful burn.

After the fireworks display on the lake all the crowd gathered in the big sitting room of the lodge and held a concert. Capt. and Mrs. Gale have a fine Kimball piano, a guitar, mandolin and a couple of gramophones. These were all started at the same time. When the concert began on the inside a pack of mountain wolves and a lonely cougar set up a howl from the mountains. It was a weird, but real funny situation, and everybody was laughing and singing at the same time, and Dr.

Bean, of Tacoma, formerly of Ellensburg, and well known in this city, was endeavoring to amuse part of the crowd with a spicy variety of the latest jokes.

The next day was Sunday, and nothing occurred on this day that was not strictly in keeping with what any one would expect in such a wild and secluded spot in the mountains.

Kachess Lodge is the one ideal mountain resort in this state to spend a summer outing. It is on the banks of a beautiful lake, surrounded by snowcapped peaks and a dense forest of majestic pines and firs. Cold streams dashing down from the glaciers above abound with mountain trout which delight the heart of the fisherman. Those who contemplate such an outing for the summer should write to Captain Gale at Easton, Wash., and he will do the rest.

in New York City, very much such a junta against the English government. There are malcontents, and with good reason, against every government. Diaz has the railroads for the transportation of such troops as are in the Mexican army, which consists largely of barefooted convicts, and he will probably be able to suppress the insurrectos or drive them across the line into Texas. But it is not at all certain but that there will be a succession of uprisings in Mexico, or that that country has a more stable government than the Central and South American countries. Diaz is very old and feeble, too, and revolution is anticipated at his death.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

Dr. A. F. Campbell left Wednesday to spend his vacation on the Sound.

Several Republican candidates for county offices from the lower valley were in town this week doing campaign work.

Geo. S. Rankin, president of the Yakima Trust company and popular street railway promoter, arrived home from his eastern visit July 4.

W. P. Taylor has resigned his position as manager of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber company and will take a needed vacation for the benefit of his health.

Mr. Paul F. Rodenbeck, a young man well known in this city and the Naches, was married recently to Miss Magdalena Stacker, daughter of a prominent farmer of Hartland, Klickitat county.

The laying of vitrified brick on the avenue paving job has been facilitated by the arrival of the new concrete mixer. The old mixer by frequently getting out of repair had to be abandoned and recourse taken to hand mixture.

Quite a number of city people flitted out towards the mountains this week, many going to Soda Springs, some to Lake Kachess and other points. Next week several families will go to their summer homes on the beach, in fact a few have already reached the salt water.

The Cle Elum and Roslyn papers naturally feel indignant at the senders of certain press dispatches from this city alleging serious trouble at the coal mines. There was but a flimsy basis of fact for such reports, which have proven quite injurious to Cle Elum and Roslyn.

Wallis B. Williams, of the Yakima Milling company, says that he has received word from sections in the Horse heaven country and also on the Yakima reservation that the wheat crop this year is very poor due to the early drouth. The rains which came late in May and early in June were too late to help a great deal.

George S. Rankin, who returned recently from an eastern trip, declares that North Yakima and the Yakima valley is the best section of this entire country. Mr. Rankin says that hard times are apparent in many places in the east, which is certainly a remarkable contrast to the existing conditions here.

Editor Robertson of the Republic is the only victim of a Fourth of July accident reported locally. While at home that day entertaining his children by shooting off fireworks a big cannon cracker unfortunately exploded in the colonel's hand making an ugly bruise which though painful is not serious. Col. Robertson recruited up for a few days after at Hot Springs.

"Uncle Charlie" Carpenter, well known Yakima pioneer and vice-president of the First National bank, left last week to join his brother, who resides in California. From there the two will journey back to their native state, Vermont, to visit for a time with relatives and old friends and to view again the scenes of their childhood in the old Green mountains.

annual encampment. Enlistments may not be made after the 15th. Very extensive plans have been made for the encampment this year, and it is believed that the militiamen will have the time of their lives.

The heirs of the late T. J. V. Clark have begun an action in the superior court against Deputy Sheriff R. A. Grant to compel that defendant to turn over the property left by Clark to his lawful heirs, the said property having been held in trust for a number of years by the defendant in the suit. Englehart & Rigg represent the plaintiff, Messrs. Snively and Parker the defendants.

John Shaw, a well known pioneer of Tumpico and a brother of ex-mayor A. J. Shaw of this city, died at his home last Monday a victim of the dread disease, tuberculosis. The funeral was held Tuesday morning with burial in Tahoma cemetery. A particularly sad feature of this case is the fact that Mr. Shaw was preceded to the grave by four of his children, all daughters, who died from the effects of the same disease. Much sympathy has been expressed for the stricken family.

Elliott Bros. of Seattle, who now own the old Lee property at the corner of South First and Chestnut streets, put a force of men at work this week to moving the old frame buildings off and to get ready otherwise for building operations. They will erect on their property a handsome two story brick building 50 x40 feet, with walls strong enough to admit of two additional stories later. There will be two store rooms facing First street and three on Chestnut. J. L. Boyle is the local representative of Elliott Bros.

Candidates are Filing.

A horde of republican candidates were in evidence in North Yakima Thursday and Friday. The object all the candidates had in view of course was to file their several notices with County Auditor Crocker and to pay over to that official the sum of $10 each for the privilege of getting their names on the primary ticket as required by the provisions of the new law.

The principal offices in dispute this year are the county clerkship and the office of superintendent of schools. There are four aspirants for the clerkship, J. M. Brown, A. W. Barr and E. E. Cleaver, of this city, and O. J. Steward, of Sunnyside. There are seven candidates for school superintendent, four of whom reside at Sunnyside.

For the legislature Sunnyside has three prominent candidates, S. J. Harrison, for the senate; and Judge Duncan and W. H. Cline for the house. The only announced candidates so far in North Yakima are Senator Walter J. Reed, who will ask for a renomination, and Councilman Leonard O. Meigs.

Senator Reed, who is much improved in health, left for Olympia Thursday to file his candidacy with the secretary of state. The filing at Olympia is necessary on account of this being a joint senatorial district, including Yakima and Benton counties.

Information from Prosser is to the effect that Benton county may present a candidate for the state senate on the theory that North Yakima has a candidate for United States senator and Sunnyside a candidate for congressman.

Mr. Steinweg's Park.

W. L. Steinweg will formally open his beautiful new park to the public tomorrow. The services of Nagler's band has been secured for the occasion and the people of this city are invited to attend.

Mr. Steinweg recently purchased a 20-acre plot of ground bordering on the Yakima river from Captain Thomas and since then has expended considerable money in starting improvements on the tract with the idea of beautifying it and fitting it up for a park. He says that it is not true, as reported, that he wishes to sell the property to the city and that it is not for sale. He purchased the tract on the assumption that he was making a good investment and because he thought the place could be converted into a beauty spot.

Mr. Steinweg is to be commended for his show of public spirit and the public can show its appreciation by attending the opening.
