BOARD HOLDS TWO MEETINGS

Voters Give Permission to Sell Property—
Miss Meeds Resigns.

A special meeting of the school board was held on Wednesday, March 27th, at the Central school. The object of the meeting was to secure from the voters of the district, who were invited to attend, permission to sell lots three and four in block 53, located in the same block as the Central school. It was ordered that these lots be offered at public auction and the clerk was instructed to post three notices advertising the same to occur Saturday, March 30th, at 2 p. m. at the Central school house.

The regular meeting of the school board was held Monday evening in the clerk's office. All members of the board were present except President Shanks.

The board elected Mr. Marion W. Bacom as assistant teacher of the eighth grade to occupy the position vacated by Miss Lulu M. Meeds who handed in her resignation at the meeting.

The following bills were allowed:
NW. Imp. Co., fuel, $56 10
Yakima Wood yard, fuel, 10 00
Yakima W. L. & P. Co., 35 19
Superintendent McCurdy read and filed his sixth monthly report. This showed that the revised registration is 1047 compared with 913 at the same time a year ago. The total attendance in days for the month was 13,645.5, a loss of 2673 from last month. This of course cuts down the state apportionment but the conditions are now improving and the causes which reduced the attendance are now practically removed. The superintendent spoke highly of the results of the art exhibit although the financial side of the affair was not up to expectation. Pictures to the amount of $195.50 were purchased for the schools.

Left a Chicago Home.

City Marshal Boyle a short time ago received a letter from a woman in Chicago who signs herself Mrs. Russell, asking the police department of this city to watch and report the movements of her husband, A. T. Russell, who has been employed for a number of weeks by Thomas Lund in the capacity of bartender in the Alhambra saloon. The letter alleges that Russell left a luxurious home surrounded by comforts and plenty, left a family, and his aged mother, for no purpose as far as she knows, and it further asserts that he is subject to periods of intemperance in which he becomes violent and it goes on to ask if he is still in company with some disreputable characters, as has been reported to her. Chief of Police Meredith of Seattle has been hearing Mrs. Russell's story for some time, and he wrote to her that the man intends leaving shortly for the north, but she says that she hopes by that time to be able to be in Seattle and intercept his departure. Russell talked freely about the matter to Col. Boyle. He said that her allegations were all false, that she is not his wife and that it is all a scheme to blackmail him. He left Tuesday morning for Seattle to see the police there and to clear himself of any blame. He said when he left that he intended to return here in a few days.

Death of a Former Yakiman.

Word was received here this week of the death last Thursday in Stillwater, Minn., of W. H. Gettis, for many years a resident of this city. The funeral was held Saturday from his home in Stillwater. Mr. Gettis was employed by Sawyer & Pennington, now the Yakima Hardware Company, for a long time and contracted lead poison while at work at his trade, that of a tinner. This disease resulted in creeping paralysis which caused his death. Mr. Gettis has many friends in Yakima who are very sorry he is no more. He leaves a wife but no children.

Metcalf Stock Sold.

Wednesday arrangements were made by which the stock of the Metcalf paint store, which suspended business two weeks ago under the foreclosure of a mortgage, was sold, the paints, oils and glass going to Mr. Schorn, the picture framing department to the Yakima Furniture Co. The matter was settled up through E. Merges, a Portland lawyer who was the attorney for the creditors. Mr. Schorn will continue the establishment in its present quarters and will retain Mr. Metcalf, temporarily at least, as the manager.

Bridge Repairs.

County Commissioner Horsley reports that a force of men is at work repairing the Simcoe bridge across the Yakima which was partly carried away by the high water. Since that time it has been impassable but it will be open for traffic by the 15th of April. When the repairs on it are completed the crew of men will be set to work near the Nelson bridge making a breakwater to throw the water back into its normal position and prevent a new channel of the river from forming.

GOOD PROSPECT FOR FRUIT

C. P. Wilcox Says the Orchards are in Splendid Condition.

"This weather is highly satisfactory to the fruit raisers," said C. P. Wilcox Tuesday. It has been cold enough to keep the trees back, and nothing but a hard freeze would hurt the fruit now. The season is fully 10 days later than last year. Some of the apricots are out, but none of the other varieties. Last year the apricots were in bloom everywhere by the 10th to the 15th. The season being so far behind, we have every reason to expect that by the time the orchards are in bloom generally the danger of the late frosts will be past."

The above and foregoing are believed to be all the provisions of the American war revenue bill, that immediately affects the patrons of the REPUBLIC; hence we print the same for the benefit and reference of our readers.

Oil in the Wenas.

J. M. Arrington who has a ranch about 12 miles up the Wenas, and who has been sinking a well for artesian water, believes he has discovered indications of oil. He finds traces of it in the water brought up out of the hole. He is told by men who have been in the oil regions of Pennsylvania that the sand which comes out of this well at a depth of 350 feet is characteristic of the Pennsylvania oil country.

F. W. Kayser, who also lives on the Wenas, and is an old miner, says he is satisfied that there is coal under his farm. Mr. Arrington's oil prospect has interested a number of Yakima citizens and it is likely a deal will be made with him for the completion of the well.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain. LIVE STREET COMMISSIONER

City Council Made a Ten Strike in Selecting Sam Chappell.

The city council did a good piece of business when it created the office of street commissioner, and the work Mr. Chappell has already done shows beyond a doubt that the right man was chosen for the place. For the first time the work in that department is properly systematized, tools are being cared for as they should be, the city is getting value received for the money it pays out, and poll taxes are being collected from everybody who is liable. This statement contains no reflection on any past administration, because heretofore the work has been under the supervision of the marshal, whose police duties alone were all he should have been required to attend to.

Commissioner Chappell now has twelve men working under him. They are men of family, and as a rule are taxpayers. They receive $1.50 per day for ten hours work. At present they are working on the ditches. These will be cleaned out thoroughly before the water is turned into them.

As soon as the ditches are put in shape the force will plant trees on the streets. The city has just received 500 shade trees, and they are the finest lot ever shipped in here. The council authorized Mr. Chappell to make the selection, and he chose lindens, soft maples and two varieties of elms. The trees will not be turned over to citizens, but will be put out and cared for by the street commissioner.

Mr. Chappell has laid down hard and fast rules for the protection of the city's tool chest. When he went into office there was about $10 worth of tools on hand. He determined to keep everything under lock and key and to lend nothing. Every tool taken out by one of his men must be accounted for and not even the mayor of the town can borrow one of them.

The poll tax collections will be made commencing this week. Last year 93 persons paid this tax. One of them paid money; the others paid in labor. This year every citizen between 21 and 50 years of age who is not a member of the fire department will be called upon for the cash. Mr. Chappell thinks there are between 300 and 400 of them. He has taken the names off the registration books, and nobody will escape.

"There is an immense amount of work in this department," said Mr. Chappell yesterday, "but I am going to do it and try to do it right. I have always had ideas of my own about the way of the city, and I have been mostly in the nature of getting ready, but I think by the end of the season we will be able to show the people a great many improvements. We have already made some of them, as persons who use the streets will testify. Many low places have been filled and about 100 loads of stones have been hauled away. More work of this kind will be done as soon as we have put out the shade trees."

Good Reservoir Site.

Ralph Nichols, while on the way from Goldendale to Yakima the other day, met a party of government surveyors who have been at work on the Satus. One of them informed him that in one of the canyons in that neighborhood was an excellent site for a storage reservoir. He thought that by the expenditure of a comparatively small amount of money for the construction of a dam an irrigation enterprise could be put under way by which two or three townships above Mabton could be watered. There is a large body of fine land in that section which must await the construction of a highland ditch for its development, unless a storage reservoir should be found feasible. The site of which Mr. Nichols learned is on the reservation, so that an act of congress would probably be required to make it and a right of way available. The matter will be taken up with Congressman Jones on his return.

Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct these disorders and cure the headache. Sold by Quigg & Ayres.

Fred Mailloux's Store Robbed.

The grocery and clothing store of Fred Mailloux on upper Yakima avenue was broken into last Friday night and clothing and shoes to the value of about $50 were taken. Entrance was gained from the rear by forcing the back door open. The thieves went through the store and found the next morning hidden between two piles of lumber in Larsen's lumber yard. The till, which contained some small change, was not molested.

President Has Promised Jones.

President McKinley promised Congressman Jones when he contemplated making his western tour last year that he would make a short stop at North Yakima. Although nothing has yet been heard from Mr. Jones on the subject, it is believed the president will make his promise good this year. Mr. Jones will start home from the national capital about the 15th of May. He had intended to come sooner but has had so much work to do in the departments that he has found he cannot leave before the date named.

For a Bridge at Alfalfa.

County Surveyor H. F. Marble returned last Thursday from Alfalfa ferry where he had gone to inspect the location for a bridge across the Yakima. He reports that the river at that point is about 350 feet in width and is 10 feet deep. The current is not swift. The approaches are good. The bank on one side is 20 feet in height while the other is about 6 feet. It is probable that the county commissioners, who meet the first of next month, will order a bridge built.

A dispatch from St. Paul, Minn., of March 18th, says: It is semi-officially stated here today that the real motive for building from Kalama to Vancouver and bridging the Columbia river, which is credited to the Northern Pacific, is but preliminary to a short line from Wallula Junction to Portland, on the Washington side of the Columbia river, and which the Northern Pacific does not care to build until the river is bridged opposite Vancouver.

A FREIGHT TRAIN HOLD-UP

Two Taylor Boys Robbed near Mabton Monday—Highwaymen Captured.

Monday night, March 25th, Joe Taylor, a son of P. Taylor of this county, was held up near Mabton and robbed of $5.75 in money, his pocket knife and several other articles by two hoboos. His brother Tom was but a short distance away when the robbery occurred, and a few minutes later the two had a lively tussle with the highwaymen, resulting in the victory of the former.

The Taylor boys occupied a flat car on a journey from here to Pasco, from where they intended to go to Baker City. When the train stopped at Mabton Joe got off and was walking back and forth on the track when, he relates, he was approached by two men who stepped out from between the cars. Both wore handkerchiefs over their faces. The larger of the two drew a pistol and told him to throw up his hands. Joe demurred and the command came again, "D-n you, throw up your hands." He complied, his pockets were rifled and he was told to get back on the train.

The two men, still masked, came over the coal car toward him and his brother, but stopped when the robbers began to shoot and prepared to defend the rest of their money, about $30, which Tom had.

The two tough characters came up and a scuffle commenced. Joe managed to get his man, the smaller one, down and to hammer him with a piece of coal, and the larger one had a hard struggle which ended by the big fellow making a misstep and falling off the moving train.

The other hobo followed his companion. The Taylors were pretty badly bruised up and lost their hats. They went on to Prosser and next morning told what had happened. Deputy Collector Nichols who was there at once wired Sheriff Tucker, and different points on the railroad, and had Constable McNeil with one of the boys start up towards Mabton on a search.

They found the smaller of the two robbers, took him to Prosser and found on his person the missing property.

It developed that the morning freight had picked up a man between Mabton and Byron who was badly injured, he answered the description of the missing robber. He said that he had been robbed and thrown off the train. He bought a first class ticket for Spokane and was carried on the morning passenger.

These robbers, as described by both the Taylor boys, perfectly answer the description of the two men who held up two of our citizens on a freight train between here and Ellensburg some months ago.

The man caught was brought into town Tuesday after a preliminary examination held in Prosser. His partner is in a Spokane hospital and can be brought here as soon as he recovers from his injuries. Some shoes taken from Fred Mailloux's store last Friday night were found in the possession of these men and it is understood that one of them was the man who was arrested and gave cash bail for fighting on the streets here some days ago.

As He is Known Abroad.

A recent issue of a San Francisco Sunday paper gives a minute and profusely illustrated description of the process of selecting a medicine man among the Yakima Indians, which it says recently occurred. It makes interesting reading at least and shows how little we know about the habits and practices going on almost at home.

"With barbaric dancing, self inflicted bodily torture and feasts of roast coyotes and fried reptiles the Yakima Indians have again celebrated their strange ceremonial of selecting a medicine man from their tribe. The recent dance which installed a new 'doctor' among the Yakimas took place on the reservation near Toppenish and continued for ten days, during which time the participants lapsed into a frenzied condition, resorting to all fantastic and heathenish practices prevalent among the Yakimas in former years.

"They chanted tribal songs, drank firewater and feasted upon Indian delicacies such as cooked prairie dog and snakes and other edibles believed by them to possess peculiar charms. They wounded their bodies and bruised their flesh all for the honor of possessing a doctor's rattle.

"At the recent ceremonies a number of Indians were anxious to compete for the medicine man's insignia at their annual feast, and the chief decided that he would test their powers of endurance in submitting them to repeated torture while the dance progressed. The squaws, or kloochmen, built fires in different parts of the ground floor structure hastily erected for the occasion, and smouldered sage brush, barks and herbs over the burning embers until the atmosphere was poisoned and stifling. When all was in readiness those competing marched up and down the center of the long group of spectators, swinging to and fro making hideous chants or guttural growls. The dance was continued through the night and each succeeding evening partook more of the ancient practices of barbarity.

The squaws would become greatly excited and jump up to assist their favorites. Fire-brands would be placed in the hands of contestants and against their flesh and the most excruciating pains were undergone. Some would slash their nude forms with knives, while others would run against posts in the building and cut gashes in their foreheads.

"At last, in the tenth night a superstitious frenzy seized the entire group and a wild war dance was held. Many Indians were bruised and even crippled in the medley, as women joined in the dance tore their hair and scratched their faces with their finger nails. When day light dawned only one man was able to stand up and dance and he was given the rattle."

THE YAKIMA REPUBLIC
BY W. W. ROBERTSON.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF YAKIMA COUNTY
FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1901.

WE hope that the commissioners at the meeting next week will make the Alfalfa bridge a special order. This is an improvement which should precede all others.

THE republicans most frequently mentioned for president to succeed McKinley are Spooner of Wisconsin and Fairbanks of Indiana. It is believed the administration favors the latter.

AN ordinance will be introduced at the next meeting of the city council to impose a tax of $1 each on bicycles, the money so raised to be expended to make bicycle paths. The passing of the ordinance is desired by nearly all bicycle enthusiasts.

SENATOR CROW of Spokane was asked by the Great Northern to return his annual pass, and he did so. He says the reason the company wanted the pass back is that he voted against the railroad at Olympia this winter. If Senator Crow is not a virtuous politician he will become one in a possible.

ENGLAND will not accept the treaty, but if this country wants to build a canal it will do it just the same.—Tacoma Ledger.

But it don't want to. This is a big country, which can do pretty much as it pleases, but it is not big enough to go back on its agreements with other countries, and it will never think that it is.

THE president's itinerary for his trip to the coast has not been fixed yet. The REPUBLIC can say to its readers, however, that Mr. McKinley will make a short stop at North Yakima unless for some unforeseen reason he may have to change his present intention. It is expected arrangements will be made to have him here during the forenoon of Saturday, May 25.

MR. CARNEGIE, having given away $15,000,000, and being still possessor of $75,000,000, is referred to by some of the newspapers as one of the greatest men of the age. If he should take the advice of Christ to the young man—go sell all that he has, give everything to the poor, and follow Him—how far back in the annals of history would the newspapers have to go to find a man great enough to compare him with?

As might have been expected, President Hadley of Yale college denies that he said in a recent speech on trusts that within 25 years this country would have an emperor. Mr. Hadley has too much sense to make such predictions. What he did say was in effect that an aroused public conscience would compel effective anti-trust legislation; but if we did not know that we could depend upon the public conscience, we might have reason to fear an empire. A stupor reporter narrated his experience.

It is asserted now that Jefferson was inaugurated president, not with "Jeffersonian simplicity," but with much pomp and ceremony. They say that the story that he rode in from the farm that day, hitched his horse to a sapling and walked up to the capitol to take the oath unattended is a myth. It was started by a man who was not there when Jefferson was inaugurated. A great deal of democratic thunder was originated by men who were not there, merely for the purpose of getting there.

THE Post-Intelligencer says that the rainfall on the sound is not nearly so heavy as some people think; that as a matter of fact only a little over a yard of rain comes down there in the course of a year. It says the erroneous idea that that is a wet climate ought to be corrected. Well, we don't know about that. We don't think there is any such idea prevalent. We have heard that it rains a good deal at Tacoma and Olympia, and maybe some at Portland, but we don't think anybody suspects Seattle. If it does rain there, what difference should it make to Seattle people? They have corralled a battleship contract and a Carnegie donation; the census enumerators were kind to them, and they are getting rich off the Alaskan trade. Their luck is such that if they fell into the sound they wouldn't get wet; so why should they care whether it rains or not?

LAST Sunday night the chief of police of Seattle had the editor of the Seattle Republican, a colored man named Cayton, arrested on a charge of criminal libel made by himself. Cayton was taken from his home and lodged in a cell in the city jail, already occupied by a tramp. Permission was refused him to send word to his friends or telephone them. He was not allowed to send for his lawyer. The police also refused his attorney, who had learned of his incarceration.

eration, permission to talk with him. They kept him in the cell six hours. Before they would let him go his friends had to put up $500 cash bail. They refused to accept the check of the president of a leading bank of the city in lieu of the cash. Cayton is a reputable citizen, who has lived a long time in Seattle and owns considerable property there. The outrage committed against him has raised a perfect storm of indignation among the Seattle people.

THE most bitter partisan denunciation of the administration and its policies which has appeared in the papers lately was an interview with Senator Turner on his return from Washington. You can always trust a renegade to point out the weak spots of his old friends. Another thought that occurs to us is that some of the greatest sticklers for honesty and economy in public life are gentlemen who have bribed members of the legislature to vote for them for offices to which they would not have been elected on their merits in a thousand years.

THE people here doubtless appreciate the kindness of Mr. Joe Shomaker in selecting this particular time, when hundreds of homeseekers are on their way to this state, to write the sound and Spokane papers that Yakima valley farmers are threatened with a shortage of water for their crops this season. His kindness is all the more deserving of their appreciation because he went out of his way to make the prediction that the water will be short. It would have been a good deal easier for him to write the fact that the Natchez and Yakima rivers, which water nine-tenths of the farmers in the valley, always have more than enough water for the ditches.

If Jefferson Could Have Lived.
When President Jefferson looked back over his darling achievement, the acquisition of Louisiana, through diplomacy and purchase, without consent of the governed, he said, in his message to Congress, called for October 17, 1803, that upon his treaty:

While the property and sovereignty of the Mississippi and its waters secure an independent outlet for the produce of the Western States, and an uncontrolled navigation through their whole course, free from collision with other powers and the dangers to our peace from the source, the fertility of the country, its climate and extent, promise in due season important aids to our treasury, an ample provision for the posterity, and a wide spread for the blessings of freedom and equal laws.

It is pertinent to observe, perhaps, that President Jefferson seemed unconscious of any necessity of apology for serving his country's welfare. He had embraced the opportunity of taking Louisiana, including the fealty of its inhabitants, at so much per head, and the reason he puts first is that in this way he had advanced the trade facilities of the Western States. The reason he puts second is that it was a fertile and rich country, and promised to be profitable investment. The third reason is that the extension of our sovereignty augured wide spread of freedom and equal laws. If Jefferson could have lived until today, he could have learned from Edward Atkinson and Colonel Bryan and Erving Winslow how damnable it is in a man to stand up for his country, instead of praying, for example, that her soldiers might be driven into the sea by Philippine bandits; how immoral it is to seek through expansion for advancement of one's country's trade or possession of fertile territory. He would have seen culture reach the point where patriotism is reckoned a narrow and brutish thing, to be superseded by a supercilious refinement to, which all flags look alike, and by a theory of government in whose view one's country's cause is not to be supported if by any possibility fault may be found with its executives.—Oregonian.

Yakimas at the National Capital.
Washington Post: Very picturesque were the two Yakima Indians who visited the capital yesterday. In true Indian fashion, they marched single file; each brave putting his foot directly where his comrade had stepped, just as Indians do in line novels and on the plains.

The most conspicuous thing about the Indians was the enormous, wide crowned, wide brimmed hat of undressed skin that each man wore. It was as noticeable as a mountain peak towering abruptly from the plain. Underneath his hat each Indian wore his jet black and glossy hair in braids fully four feet long. A braid fell over each shoulder and down to the man's waist, where it was caught up and tied with deer skin. The dress of the Indians was a unique mixture between civilized garb and savage costume, long trousers and head trimmed jackets being noticeable. One of the Indians wore enormous shells in his ears.

The man who had the red men in charge took them to the whispering gallery and initiated them into its mysteries. The Indians paled and fled. They found the mysterious whispering too uncanny and wiled to be endured. "They think that a spirit is concealed here," explained their conductor, as hurried his trembling charges away.

For a Club House.
The matter of building a home for the Commercial club was again discussed by the governing board at its meeting Saturday night, and the committee on securing a site was asked for a more complete report at the next meeting. Several sites are under consideration.

The plans informally discussed are for a building to cost when completed and furnished, about $8000.
Whether a project of that size can be financed by the club remains to be seen. President Donald and others of its friends think it can. If a site is secured the matter will be taken up in detail and determined by the club. Even though it is decided that the desired building cannot be undertaken at present, the club will continue to work to that end, and it will not be long until the Commercial club is as well housed as any club in the state.

The Pan-American Exposition.
H. J. Saively, one of the newly appointed members of the Washington Pan-American commission, when seen one day this week relative to the state's exhibit at Buffalo said, "I was engaged in court at Ellensburg on the day set for the first meeting of the commissioners, so I could not attend. The commission consists of eleven members and has at its disposal $25,000 with which to make an exhibit at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, which opens the 1st of May. About $20,000 of this will be expended in various ways on the exhibit while the rest will be necessary for transportation. Many firms throughout the state have signified their intention of sending displays and from now on there will be a large number more. The next meeting of the commissioners will be held at the call of the chairman, Hon. Levi Ankeny of Walla Walla."

Wants a Boulevard.
"The citizens of Yakima should build a boulevard from town to the fair grounds," said E. C. Burlingame yesterday. "An improved roadway of this kind would be about as good an advertisement of the enterprise of the people as could be devised, and besides that they could get a great deal of pleasure out of it for themselves. The fair seems to be located here permanently now. An increased appropriation was secured this year, and if everything goes right we will be able to get more money for it next time. A boulevard would add to the attractions of the fair, and be a fine thing for the town."

Not Getting Our Share.
W. T. Clark thinks the Yakima valley is not getting its share of the homeseekers this spring. "There are many new people coming in," he said yesterday, "but only such as have been induced to come by the efforts of the irrigation companies. There ought to be others out of the thousands who are in the state looking for homes. The trouble is that the Yakima valley is not being advertised in the east, and systematic efforts are being made at Spokane to keep people away from here. Something should be done to counteract the influences which are at work against us."

Killed by a Bull.
Fred Doublebower, a man 45 years of age who lives 14 miles up the Cowlitz river, was killed Monday afternoon by a bull. Mr. Doublebower lived with his parents, two aged people, on a ranch. The exact time of his death is not known as no one was aware that anything serious had occurred until the unfortunate man's body was found in the corral where the animal was kept. The bull was a Hereford and two years old. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the family home.

I congratulate the manufacturer on an honest medicine." For sale by Quitt & Ayres.

JACK WANNASSAY KILLED.

His Son Charlie Tells of the Old Man's Life.

Charlie Wannassay, the well known Indian interpreter, received the news this week of the death of his father, known as Old Jack Wannassay, near Kalama. It seems that the old man, he was over 90 years of age, had boarded the cars at Portland and had fallen from the train while it was going at a rapid rate of speed. His body was found next day in the Columbia river. Charlie Wannassay says that his father was not really an Indian, but a French Canadian with a slight mixture of Indian blood. He came across the plains in the very early days with Douglass, the founder of Douglass family of Victoria. He was in the employ of the Hudson Bay company when the first trading posts were established in the confines of this state, and later was carrying the mail during the great Indian war in the latter part of the 50s, when General Sheridan, then a young man, was in this part of the country.

Jack Wannassay married a wife from among the Yakima Indians and she survives him and is a resident of Kelso, Wash., where her second son also lives and is practicing law. Considerable property was left by the old timer and Charlie falls heir to several thousand dollars as his share. The other members of the family, too, are well supplied. He was known all over the western part of the state and on account of his distinguished services was allowed to travel free wherever he desired to go.

A session of the superior court was held Monday. Two divorces were granted, one to Mary B. Deputy from Albert G. Deputy on the ground of cruelty and non-support, and the other to Warren Walters from Ida N. Walters on the ground of desertion.

In the case of J. R. Lewis against the city of North Yakima the demurrer was withdrawn and the defendant was allowed ten days in which to plead farther.

In the case of the state against E. Nest Buckley the defendant was arraigned and given one day in which to plead. Court adjourned to meet on the 6th of April, at which time the jury will be drawn for the 15th.

An exchange says: "Eastern capitalists have purchased all of the land belonging to the Northern Pacific west of the Missouri river. President Mellon is in New York closing the deal aggregating $40,000,000. The object of the purchasing syndicate is to encourage settlement by eastern farmers, many hundreds of whom are now coming into the state every week. The funds realized by the sale will be used to retire N. P. preferred stock."

They both ran off the track and in their excitement the girl left her bicycle. The boy ran back to get it and was killed by the oncoming train. The children's name could not be learned.

George Hazzard, one of the governor's trustees, was in the city Sunday. He came silently, and stole away without making any noise. After he had gone every democrat in town except Snively and Medill lined up on the avenue and shouted in a chorus: "He never touched me." The fact that Snively and Medill were not in line does not create a presumption that he "touched" either of them.

Fruit Inspector Beck has condemned the cottonwood and willow shade trees on the streets, and they will be cut down. There are 25 or 30 of them all told. They are infested with scale, and have become a menace to the fruit industry. Mr. Beck says in this connection that there are still a number of small orchards in town which have not been sprayed. The time is nearly up, and the work positively must be done before that. The fruit interests of the valley are so important that nobody will be allowed to escape the provisions of the law.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church will give an Easter bazaar in Mason's opera house all day and evening Saturday, April 6th. Extensive preparations are under way and a large attendance and patronage are anticipated.

The local land office received a decision this week from the Interior department in the case of Shadrach H. Bedell against Leroy H. Rogers which involves the title to the northwest quarter of section 10, township 9 north, range 22, E. W. M. The decision of the lower office dismissing the case was affirmed.

Capt. J. H. Thomas says that Yakima City is booming and putting on the airs of a town several times its size. There is a large number of men employed in the construction of a ditch, and a creamery is shortly to be started in the old woolen mill buildings, where also the same company is putting in an evaporator and fruit dryer. The probabilities are too that a distillery will be another enterprise, wines and liquors being made from fruit in the fall and whiskey from corn and other products the other reasons of the year.

E. E. James returned from the sound Tuesday morning. He had been in that locality for about three weeks making a number investments in real estate.

Charles Steele was arrested Tuesday for selling liquor to an Indian. He was caught in the act near the rear of the post office. He will shortly be taken to Spokane for trial.

Senator Turner passed through here Tuesday on his way to the sound from Spokane. While taking a little promenade on the station walk he expressed anew his great liking for Yakima and his intention of coming to meet the people of Yakima at the state fair.

Articles of incorporation of the Yakima Produce and Creamery Co. are filed in the office of the county auditor. The incorporators are O. W. Stoner and J. W. Thomas and the trustees consist of the two gentlemen named and N. C. Horton. The capital stock of the concern is $5000, divided into 50 shares of $100 each.

A printer misplaced a period in an advertisement of the Star Clothing company last week and consequently the people were told that they had suits cheap at $200 each. The suits referred to sell at $20. But Lieut. Lemon says if any of the boys want $200 outfits to be married in, they needn't be bashful about inquiring.

G. W. Bonham has accepted a position as traveling salesman for the Imperial Drug Company, a German concern, and he will start out on the road next week. Mr. Bonham's health has been bad for some time but it is gradually improving. He followed the drug business several years ago, so this is not altogether a new departure.

E. B. Moore states that he had expected to commence work on his new residence on Second street before now, but the lowest bid he has had on construction is about $2000 higher than he wants to pay for a house. He will probably make arrangements before long for a house, though perhaps not on the plans originally selected. He will put about $6000 into it.

A fight between William Wilhite and a hobo who gave his name as Richards was witnessed by a number of interested spectators on upper Yakima avenue, Monday afternoon. Richards was arrested and gave a cash bail of $5 which was forfeited by his failure to appear in court the next morning. Wilhite was fined $5 for his part in the affair.

The county auditor has on approval a book typewriter for use on the county records. The machine is a fine one and costs $175 complete with the stand, which is an ingenious affair holding up the typewriter and keeping the book and page in position. As it saves much space over the script and is more rapid than writing it will probably be purchased by the county commissioners at the next meeting, which will be held in the first part of next month.

The census of last year showed that the Indians are not becoming extinct from their closer contact with civilization. It is even alleged, but not satisfactorily proved, that there are more Indians in the United States now than there were in the same area when the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth Rock. In 1820 the secretary of war estimated the number at 313,000; in 1850, the census gave a total of 401,000; in 1870, it was 313,371; and in 1890 it was 331,000. But while these figures do not show that the race is becoming extinct, they do show that it is barely holding its own, though it loses something gradually by absorption into the dominant race.—Telegram.

The earth work on the Selah & Moxee ditch in the Moxee valley has been practically finished and Contractor Burlingame moved his outfit through town yesterday into the Selah where there is still work to be done which could not be completed last winter when he had his teams and scrapers there. The head gate is yet to be made but Mr. Burlingame says that he will have water in the upper end of the canal by the 10th of next month. The fluming has met with some delay but is now building at the rate of about 500 feet a day. All the carpenters that can be found are at work and the contractor says that every thing is progressing as rapidly as he had expected.

Superintendent Shellar in Town.

A. B. Shellar, superintendent of the Rainier Forest reserve, was in the city Sunday and Monday. Mr. Shellar said that his business here was not of an important nature at this time. "I have not received any instruction from the department," said he, "with regard to meeting the stock and sheep men relative to securing of permits for grazing on the reserve. The 22nd of April was set by the Yakima people and that will be all right for me, but, as I say, I cannot make any announcement with authority. It is probable that I shall hear in a few days, but when I do I will notify the papers so that every one interested will have an opportunity to be present." Mr. Shellar returned Monday to Tacoma.

Rock Crusher in a Wreck.

It was learned Wednesday that the rock crusher, which was ordered several months ago by the city, was in a wreck near Helena, Mont. and it was debated whether to send it back or get the broken parts replaced. The former method was chosen and it will probably be six weeks or two months before the crusher will arrive here. The delay is quite disappointing to enthusiastic councilmen who had planned to have the work of improving the avenue begin almost immediately.
