OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

THE practical completion of the great Russian Pacific railway system as announced in the dispatches this week, marks an epoch in the industrial development of Siberia. From the Russian standpoint the construction of such a line must be regarded as a wonderful achievement. To Russia herself, this great road is all important for it binds the farthestmost portions of her huge and bulky empire together with bands of steel. It means much to that country from a military standpoint but perhaps even much more in a commercial sense. Its building makes of Russia a Pacific ocean power of the first magnitude, as it will enable her to transport troops and munitions of war readily to her western seaboard. She is not likely, however, soon to need the road particularly for this purpose as the present czar is a shrewd diplomat and a most enlightened monarch and knows full well that his government can accomplish more through the exercise of diplomacy and cunning than by war with any neighboring nation. It is from a commercial viewpoint that the world in general is most interested in the completion of this great railway. And well it might, for it is evidently destined to produce conditions that will eventually revolutionize the world's trade in breadstuffs. Siberia, it should be remembered, contains within her borders what is by far the greatest area of undeveloped agricultural land in the universe. It is a territory greater in extent than all the United States, Alaska included, to say nothing of northern China, which is already in Russian hands. The most of this vast territory is capable of producing as good a grade of wheat and other cereals as any other country under the sun and indeed this seems to be the use that the present enterprising government of Russia seems determined to make of it. The most of that country is as yet but sparsely settled, in fact is but a howling wilderness. With its gradual settlement and the introduction of American methods of agriculture that are being introduced, great changes will be brought about—changes that will doubtless have great bearing both for good and evil on the other nations of the earth.

THE DEMOCRAT trusts that there will be no attempt made this year to draw party lines in the municipal election to occur next month. The precedent that was set last year by the republicans was undoubtedly a bad one and if continued in would only produce unhappy and possibly disastrous results. There is really no good sense in introducing partisanship in municipal affairs, especially so in a town the size of this. The most of the positions to be filled carry no salary whatever and with such as do the salary is so meager that a man would almost starve to death who attempted to live on that alone. If a man has the ability to fill one of these positions and the time to devote to the public business why should the community be deprived of his services. What difference does it make to the local taxpayer whether such a man be a democrat, republican, populist or what not in national politics? What we want is good men to fill these positions, men of good business ability who are patriotic enough to be willing to give up much of their time for the public welfare. We want men on the council particularly who understand the needs of a growing town and who will not suffer the city to be robbed. The DEMOCRAT does not care a baubee about the politics of any candidate, but it will advocate the election only of such men as it believes will subserve the best interests of the city and will consent to become candidates only on a non-partisan ticket.

IT would probably be a good thing for everybody concerned if some arrangement could be made to drop the prefix "North" from the name of this city. It's a good deal of a nuisance and a fertile source of annoyance and inconvenience to the people of this town. But how to get rid of it without working an injustice to our neighbors in Yakima City is the rub. That burg, naturally enough, has the first call on the name and the DEMOCRAT is not in sympathy with any attempt to forcibly seize it. The best thing to do is to call a public meeting in both places, appoint a committee from each to meet jointly and try to arrange the matter to the satisfaction of both towns. We believe that the people of Yakima City will meet the people of North Yakima half way in the matter.

THE doctors' bills for attendance on the late president are beginning to come in, says the Louisville Courier Journal, and the size of them have even opened the eyes of the government officials who are used to paying big bills. That of Dr. McBurney, the head physician, alone is for $25000, while the others are proportionately large. These bills, it seems, cannot be liquidated until congress has first appropriated the money for that purpose. The people of this country are doubtless willing to pay these bills, enormous as they are, but they would probably do so more cheerfully if there was any ground for believing that the doctors in this case had done their distinguished patient the least bit of good.

THE neighboring town of Ellensburg, it seems, is to lose her round-house and all the patronage that naturally goes with the end of a railway division. As has long been expected by everybody except the people of Ellensburg, the N. P. Co. has at last finally concluded to move the division headquarters 22 miles up the valley to the town of CleAlum. The reasons given for so doing appear to be good ones and it seems to be impossible to prevent the change. Naturally enough the business people and property owners of the "burg" are alarmed. The company pay roll there is said to amount at the present time to about $10,000 per month, which mainly entering the channels of local trade makes up a large volume of Ellensburg business. There is a good deal of sympathy felt for Ellensburg in this community. Our people almost without exception, would prefer to see Ellensburg retain what she now has. It might be different, of course, if the shoe was on the other foot, but we don't care a rap about that, for Yakima can afford to be generous. There is a lesson, however, to be learned from this sad experience of Ellensburg and ought not to be lost sight of; and that is that a community that depends largely for its life upon a soulless corporation is indeed unfortunate. It is like leaning upon a broken reed.

THERE has been considerable complaint recently from subscribers of the DEMOCRAT to the effect that they have not been receiving their copies of this paper regularly and in some instances have failed to receive it at all. When our subscribers have such a grievance we are always desirous to know it although from the publisher's standpoint it is rather unwelcome information. But above all things, however, we desire that our subscribers receive their papers regularly, as is their due. In the future this office will take particular pains to see that each and every paper reaches its destination safely and in case that any do not do so we will cordially thank every patron who will be kind enough to apprise us of the fact.

THE concession granted by the government of Nicaragua to the government of the United States looking to the construction of the inter oceanic canal expire by limitation in October 1902. The former government is understood to take the position that no extension of time will be granted after the present concession lapses. The question is then fairly up to this congress whether work on the great canal be started or whether the scheme be allowed to die. Powerful agencies are evidently at work to induce the abandonment of the Nicaragua route and the purchase of the Panama company's concession across the isthmus. Many people think this the better and cheaper course to pursue.

IT looks as though the exposition business in this country was being overworked. The big Pan-American show which has just ended at Buffalo has been a sad failure financially and has caused a loss of over four million dollars, a good deal of which falls on innocent parties. In spite of this stupendous failure St. Louis is going right ahead with a proposition to hold another exposition in 1903 and Portland is also figuring on one in 1905.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

J. D. Cornett has concluded owing to stress of business, to defer his trip to southern California until after Jan 1st.

Thomas Jefferson and his company came in from the east Friday morning and played "Rip Van Winkle" last night to a crowded house.

Dr. Frank visited Sunnyside Saturday and established a smallpox quarantine on some eight or ten houses in that vicinity where he found a mild form of smallpox in evidence.

There will be a Union service of the churches held in this city tomorrow. This will be the first of a series of temperance meetings to be held monthly throughout the winter.

An exhaustive article that appeared in the Seattle Times of last Saturday on the evils of sheep grazing on the Ranier forest reserve, attracted a good deal of local comment. The testimony of a number of prominent farmers appears in the article.

J. P. George the Sunnyside merchant, was a county seat visitor Friday. He says that the few cases of smallpox that they have in the neighborhood of that town are of a very mild form and that the parties quarantined will doubtless soon be about again.

Read's Steam Laundry now has a handsome external appearance since a second story has been added and the whole decorated with yellow paint. The improvements that Mr. Reed has added to his plant recently have cost him over $2500.

David Barker was fined $10 and costs by Justice McCrimmon Monday for creating a disturbance in the "tender loins" district. L. G. Zenovich was fined $25 the same day for alleged cruelty to his driving horse. Mr. Zenovich will appeal to the superior court.

Visitors from this city to Clealum recently, say that that town is taking on a great boom since the edict was issued moving the division point from Ellensburg to that place. A large number of new houses are being hurriedly erected and business lots on the main street have been selling for $1000 each.

The almost general opinion among old timers is that a finer autumn than the present was never seen in the Yakima valley in their day. There are a few who dissent from this view, however, and assert that there was one season during the seventies when the fall weather was equally as good and as long continued.

"The Casino Girl," a vaudeville production, was played to a fair sized audience at Larson's Thursday night. The show is a very entertaining one of its class and seemed to please the audience, particularly the baldheads. The predominance in the cast of giddy, high kickers of uncertain age is, of course, what lent piquancy to the scene from the "baldhead" standpoint.

The Yakima Brass Band boys held a meeting at which they concluded to perfect a permanent organization. M. L. Tuggle was chosen as president; J. Ed. Merwin, business mgr; J. N. Scott, treasurer; F. P. Lanterman, secretary; F. X. Nagler, musical director. A committee was also selected to draft by-laws. The band now has a membership of 22 and is happily in a most prosperous condition.

John Cameron, of Euclid, loaded a car of apples for Roslyn this week. The apples were mainly Ben Davis, and brought ninety cents on board the cars at Prosser. The shipping was delayed on account of being unable to secure teams to haul them. To delay matters further someone broke into the car and damaged some of the boxes to such an extent that they had to be repacked.—Prosser Record.

C. P. Wilcox last week finished drying his own crop of prunes at Parker, and has since been engaged in drying for neighbors. Mr. Wilcox's own crop will aggregate at least 125 tons, about three fourths of which is of the French variety. The present outlook for a fair price is not of the best, as from only 2 3/4 to 3 cents per pound is being offered by eastern jobbers, which is about 25 per cent less than what dried prunes were selling at just a year ago.

Different parties who have returned from Ellensburg this week report that the denizens of the "burg" one and all, are feeling very sore over the determination of the Railway Co. to change the end of the division to Clealum. The Ellensburg people say that the company has broken faith with them in the matter. That in consideration of Ellensburg being made the division point they made certain property concessions to the railroad, all of which the company got the full benefit of.

J. W. Spahr did some preliminary canvassing among business men and others this week in order to discover how a proposition would be received of establishing a branch of the Y. M. C. A. in this city. He reports that he received so many substantial assurances of support from among the people and particularly merchants, that he has concluded to send to headquarters for an organizer to come at once. If the association is established here it is proposed to add a well equipped gymnasium, which is believed will make the movement popular with the young men.

THE CITY ELECTION.

Few Candidates in Sight - Registration Light.

But little active interest has been shown so far in the annual city election, which is to occur Tuesday, Dec. 3rd. The registration books closed Wednesday at 4 p. m., the total enrollment showing that only 434 voters had registered out of a total voting population of 1000.

The offices to be filled at the ensuing election are mayor, attorney, clerk, treasurer, health officer and five councilmen. The five councilmen who retire are Hall in the first ward, Shaw in the second, Reed and Allen in the third. The term of A. B. Weed, councilman-at-large also expires. Councilman Donald and Sinclair are the only hold overs.

It has been reported that Mayor Fechter, the present incumbent, would not stand for re-election. His honor, however, stated to some of his friends on Wednesday that while he would not seek a re-nomination, he would consider it his duty to accept in case it was proffered by the practically unanimous vote of his fellow citizens. He would in fact regard it as a vindication of his administration.

Vestal Snyder is also in what may be termed a receptive position as regards a re-nomination for the attorneyship. H. B. Doust, the present popular city clerk, is willing to accept a re-election and will probably encounter but little opposition. It is understood that Lieut. Lemon does not desire another term as city treasurer as the office makes large demands upon his time. His deputy E. G. Peck, is the only man thus far spoken of for the place.

F. C. Hall, having made a most acceptable councilman from the first ward, will probably be asked to continue while the same may be said of A. J. Shaw in the second. In the third ward two new men will doubtless have to be selected as Geo. L. Allen has moved from that ward and W. J. Reed does not desire to serve again. A new man will probably be chosen also as councilman-at-large.

On the whole the public seems to be fairly well satisfied with the present administration and it seems likely that most of the present officials will succeed themselves if they care to. A good deal of praise is heard on all sides for the manner in which municipal affairs have been conducted the past year and no radical change in policy seems to be wanted. The consensus of opinion, however, is that there should be no political lines drawn in the campaign.

DIED BY HIS OWN HAND.

Rather Than Meet Death on the Gallows Farris, the Goldendale Murderer, Dies By His Own Hand.

Geo. R. A. Farris, an inmate of the Klickitat county jail, who had been convicted on the charge of murdering A. J. Worrell, a tenant, March 12, 1900, committed suicide on the night of Nov 5th. The prisoner, according to the Goldendale Sentinel, took his own life by severing the radial artery of the left arm with a sharp piece of broken glass. He died by the slow process of bleeding to death.

In an ante-mortem statement that he had carefully written out, Farris reviewed at length the history of the crime of which he had been convicted, an epitome of which is as follows:

The murdered man Worrell, had rented a farm in Klickitat from the prisoner at a cash rental and had failed to keep his financial engagements. In his statement Farris claimed that he had in various ways assisted Worrell in getting a start and that the latter had shown a disposition to beat him. When Farris concluded that patience in his case had ceased to be a virtue he called on the renter one day to demand a settlement. He found Worrell at work plowing in a field and after a good deal of talk the interview ended in an open row, Worrell pursuing Farris and striking him with his horsewhip. Farris ran to where he had concealed his gun in the sagebrush and securing the weapon fired several shots into his victim leaving him dead in the field.

Farris then returned to his home in Goldendale, but evidently being troubled by his conscience gave himself up to the sheriff two days later. As there was no witnesses to the murder, Farris was convicted mainly on his own testimony. Sentence had not yet been pronounced but expecting no better fate than death on the gallows, Farris evidently concluded that he would prefer suicide to such a dishonorable death.

In his statement the suicide recited the story of his sufferings and made a feeling plea to the public in behalf of his wife and children. The tragic end of Farris has caused a good deal of excitement in Goldendale and vicinity, where the suicide had lived for a number of years and was widely known.

This stove is built on scientific principles. It has the following points of superiority over old fashioned stoves:

FIRST—It can be regulated so as to give entire control over the fire.

SECOND—It is air-tight and therefore the most economical, as the heat is prevented from going up the flue.

THIRD—It will burn any kind of fuel and without a change of fixtures.

FOURTH—It will hold a fire for 36 hours, a fact which every housekeeper knows, saves much work and worry.

FIFTH—It is so constructed as to do away with the smoke nuisance, thereby saving much annoyance.

NORTH YAKIMA, NOVEMBER 16, 1901.

The History of Hunting.

The recent newly awakened interest in the life and times of King Alfred, due to the celebration of the thousandth anniversary of his death and the placing of a statue at his birthplace, has resulted in some interesting information on the evolution of the sportsman. One may see by reviewing the customs and conditions of Alfred's time, how it was that hunting came to be regarded as the noblest of all amusements. It was absolutely necessary to the safety and welfare of the people that the wolves, bears, wild boars, and other dangerous animals which then roamed over England, should be exterminated; and, of course, the king and his knights, as the bravest and best armed of the fighting population, were setting a good example and doing good service in their hunting parties. These conditions continued for some hundreds of years and the nobility of the sport of hunting became firmly established and hedged about with many traditions as to the proper method of killing the game. The persistence of traditions in England is proverbial; and hence, after the whole country became as safe as a barnyard, people continued to suppose that there was something essentially courageous and fine in deer stalking and grouse-shooting.

The question now confronted by the intelligent American citizen is this; whether it is necessary for a new country to take over the ideas and conventions of its parent on this subject. Are we to consider a man a sportsman because he kills rabbits and pigeons, as his father killed bears and panthers? Is the man who takes his sport with rod and gun any more manly or brave than the one who arms himself with a camera or a microscope? The Englishman would probably say yes, because he was brought up to believe so.

The fact seems to be, however, that mere ability to go popping about with a gun does not constitute sportsmanship.

The old-time huntsman, encountering a stag at bay with the primitive weapons of his day certainly did need to be brave; his modern prototype, armed with a repeating rifle, is generally safe; the animal is the one who needs courage. The idea that there is some peculiar manliness in shooting harmless animals is, let us hope, a vanishing illusion.

Stop Hobo Riding.

Orders have been issued by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railways to their trainmen to stop hobo riding on all trains. Such an order, of course, has always been among the rules of the road, but it was never enforced to the letter. It is the intention of the companies to enforce it strictly hereafter, and if need be, special officers will be put on the trains to keep the tramps off. If those companies carry out their plans, the hobo nuisance will abate in the northwest.

How Apples Pay.

Prof. E. M. Douglas placed on the editor's table yesterday a basket of apples containing some handsome specimens of the Mann, Spitzenberg, Ben Davis and Rhode Island Greening varieties. The apples were from the orchard of J. P. Douglas near Zillah, and were from some boxes the old gentleman had brought down for his son's (the professor's) use. Mr. Douglas was the first man to set out an orchard under the Sunnyside canal. That was nine years ago last February and for some little time he was compelled to carry water in barrels from the river with which to water the young trees. His ten acre orchard has netted him $100 per acre this year.—Sunnyside Sun.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7, 1901.

The election returns are the chief topic of interest in Washington today and everyone is discussing the effect of Tuesday's results on the more important elections of the next two years. The fact that, with all the republicans, a large number of democrats and the usual disgruntled element against him, Mr. Edward M. Shepard received over 5,000 more votes than did VanWyck in the last election, has resulted in considerable discussion of Mr. Shepard as a likely democratic candidate for the governorship next year and a potential candidate for the presidential nomination in 1904.

Mr. Shepard has back of him a remarkably clean record and the most careful scrutiny of his opponents in the campaign just ended failed to reveal the most trivial action which could be made the ground for criticism. The fusionists confined themselves to pointing out what they held to be inconsistency on Mr. Shepard's part in accepting the nomination from Tammany and Mr. Shepard replied that he proposed, as mayor, to give the city an honest, clean government and that he considered that the importance of victory to his party far outweighed the narrower view which held that the party ought to be sacrificed in order to obtain fancied improvements in the municipal administration from the hands of men who had never been put to any test. At this writing Mr. Shepard, after having withstood the heat and fire of a most bitter campaign, stands stronger with his friends and with his enemies than when he entered the fight and there is little doubt but that he could, in a campaign where democratic and republican lines were clearly drawn, carry greater New York by a very handsome majority.

Much satisfaction is felt in democratic quarters at the results in Maryland which insure the return of Arthur P. Gorman to the senate. He is an able and experienced man and one who has the interests of his party at heart. He will prove a valuable addition to the democratic side of the senate and to the leaders of his party which will respect his advice on all important issues. The returns from Pennsylvania show greatly reduced republican majorities but the republican machine, with Matt Quay at its head, proved too strong to be overthrown by the advocates of honest government. However, the results of this year's fight should be regarded as encouraging and a continuance of the ring in power will insure a still greater repudiation the next time the anti-corruptionists array themselves against it.

An evidence of the existence of the high degree of brotherly love, which exists in the war and navy departments was given yesterday morning when the general commanding the army, Miles, and the admiral of the navy, Dewey, both absented themselves from the wedding of Adjutant General Corbin and Miss Edyth Patten. Both had received invitations but they sent regrets. Another conspicuous absence was Lt. Col. Heistand, who it will be remembered, is related to the late president. Presumably that little hemp affair will account for it, as I understand that Colonel Heistand was not invited, but the disclosures of the senate's investigating committee were hardly such as to warrant so great a snub.

The scarcity of Washington news which now exists and will until Congress convenes is resulting in the sending out, by some of the Washington correspondents, of the most extraordinary canards. The latest is the report that the president is going to appoint a democrat to the cabinet. President Roosevelt is original and determined in his ideas and methods but he would as soon think of appointing a Comanche Indian to the cabinet and the appointment would be about as appropriate. The cabinet acts as a board of advisors and it is almost needless to say that no democrat of any standing would be willing to place himself in a position where his loyalty to his chief would be constantly at variance with his loyalty to his party. The position would be altogether too delicate and equivocal.

William Dudley Foulke, the recently appointed civil service commissioner, has gone to work on the question of pensions, or some substitute therefore, for superannuated clerks in the government service. He has, he believes, looked into the matter carefully and has reached the conclusion that the only practical solution of the question is the employment of the services of some bonded endowment company. He is opposed to the government's assuming any such burden on the one hand and on the other he objects to the idea of deducting, for investment in a pension fund, a percentage of the salaries. He says that every facility should be given the employee to invest a portion of his earnings in an endowment fund but that he hardly considers it the province of the government to compel its employees to do so.

Recent advices from the Philippines report the adoption of the most drastic laws in regard to treason and some vigorous protests from our Philippino subjects who denounce the laws as more severe than those with which they had to contend under the Spanish regime. Of course provision for the severe punishment of treason, rewards to informers and violations of individual liberty are inseparable from the colonial policy and must be accepted as inevitable.

A white minister was conducting religious services in a colored church in North Carolina recently. After exhorting a bit, he asked an old colored deacon to lead in prayer, and this is the appeal which the brother in black offered for his brother in white: "Oh, Lord, gib him de eye ob de eagle dat he spy out sin afar off. Glue his hands to de gospel plow. Tie his tongue to the line ob truth. Nail his ear to de gospel pole. Bow his head way down between his knees, and his knees way down in some lonesome, dark and narrer valley, where prayer is much wanted to be made. 'Noint him wid de kerosene ile ob salvation and sot him on fire."

The Duke Was Without a Penny.

While the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York were in New Zealand they were watching the diving of some Maori boys after silver money which was thrown into the stream. The Duchess turned to the Prince and suggested that he throw in a shilling, but the latter replied that he did not have a penny. One of the bystanders, hearing the remark, offered the loan of the coin, which was accepted. In a few days he was the recipient of the customary royal "tip", a pair of gold sleeve-links and an autographed cabinet photo.—Ex.

CLOGGING THE PIPES

A SENSIBLE SERMON ON HOUSEHOLD SANITATION.

Some Suggestions About the Plumbing and the Care That Should Be Exercised In the Avoidance Both of Expense and Disease.

Nowadays the plumber and his bill are your true household specters. Like other specters, careful common sense will put them to rout and confusion nine times in ten. Wise men have been studying this subject ever so long to devise plumbing that would take care of itself, but they have not yet succeeded. Neither are they likely to without a revolution in mechanics whereby the tendency of fluids always to seek their own level may be eliminated and other things as wonderful brought to pass. So long as knowledge remains nearly static so long will it behoove every housemistress to look well to the usage of her pipes and her traps.

A bit of rag or even string, a burnt match, a wisp of hair, seems a very little thing, one that the pipes can carry off with no possible hurt, but the rag, by hanging over the bend of the trap, may serve as a siphon to take away the water seal, which is all that stands between the household and unlimited sewer gas. And the rag may keep on doing it for weeks and weeks until deadly disease is rampant.

A string snarled and twisted may work the same ill. The match end, of course, ought to float away harmless, but is very much likelier to be caught in some eddy of the flush water, jammed into a crevice and there to take to itself other solid particles until they form a clot both offensive and dangerous.

As for hair, there is no end to the harm it harbors. A wisp quickly forms itself into a sort of strainer, catching and holding all that passes. Aside from that, it has a trick of lodging in the most inconvenient places, catching upon the least roughness inside the pipe and staying there until by accretion it has clogged the whole space.

Hair has special affinity for bits of soap. Solid soap, by the way, should never be sent down the pipes. Very strong soapsuds even is objectionable unless you follow it with a flood of clean water, preferably hot water.

Coffee grounds and tea leaves either clog a pipe very soon or else, if the flush water prevents that, wear it through quickly, partly by mechanical action, partly by chemical. Neither should ever be permitted in a sink. Even if you are wise enough to keep out all grease, and thus make sure that the grounds shall get safe away from your own pipes, in the sewer they may come in contact with grease from pipes less carefully kept and cake and clog your whole pipe system, making necessary costly and inconvenient unclogging.

Every kitchen ought to have its grease can, emptied once a week in winter and in summer every three days. All sorts of re use fat should go into it, even the s-rapings from plates and dishes. Greasy water, as from boiling hams or corned beef, should be allowed to cool thoroughly, then have the grease carefully taken off before it goes down the pipes. Skillets and frying pans ought to be filled with very hot soda water and let stand half an hour before washing. This gives time for the soda to partly saponify the grease and keep it from sticking to the pipe or caking on top of the trap.

In scouring faucets be careful to keep the scouring grit out of the joints. Even the finest particles cut away screw threads turning many times a day. After scouring also take care to

IT'S A SERIOUS THING

For a woman to come to that period known as change of life. It is almost always a period of suffering, and the derangement of mind and body is sometimes so great that the family life is utterly marred by the unhappy wife and mother. One thing which makes this condition especially sad, is that it is almost always unnecessary. There are times when Nature needs help. Originally it may not have been so. But centuries of artificial life have robbed us of original strength. Nature usually needs assistance at the birth hour; she usually needs it also at that period when the capacity for maternity has terminated. The assistance Nature needs is provided in its fittest form in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It so nourishes the nerves that the nervous condition is entirely cured. It strengthens the entire womanly organism, induces refreshing sleep and keeps the mind bright and buoyant.

"Favorite Prescription" is a non-alcoholic and non-narcotic medicine.

"I have taken four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' for female weakness and change of life," writes Mrs. Lizzie A. Bowman, of Matamoras, Washington Co., Ohio. "Before I began taking it I could not do anything. I had such pains in my head and in the back of my neck that I thought I would lose my mind. Now I can work every day and do not suffer. I recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all women suffering in the period of change of life. It is the best medicine I have ever found."

Every woman should send for a FREE copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Send 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing ONLY for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

the water run at least a minute before catching any for use. In washing sandy vegetables, as spinach, turnips, potatoes, use a big pan and drain off the dirty water, so the sand may be caught. Even a spoonful of sand going down a pipe will cut and wear it more than a hogshead of water.

Milky water is one of the hardest things to manage. Even a small quantity daily fouls pipes unless the milky water is followed by a flushing of soda water moderately strong, with a lime-water flush about every three days. The lime-water is made more effective by adding salt to it. Sea salt is best. Put a lump as big as the fist in an earthen or wooden vessel along with twice the bulk of quicklime and cover with four gallons of hot water. Stir well and let settle. Pour the clear liquid down the pipes and follow it in half an hour with a flush of clear water boiling hot. Thus every kind of a sluk may be kept sweet and fresh.—New York Sun.

A Drop of Water.

A gallon of distilled water weighs 8.339 pounds, and there being four quarts to the gallon and two pints to the quart, and 16 fluid ounces to the pint, and two tablespoonfuls to the fluid ounce, and four teaspoonfuls to the tablespoon, and 45 drops to the teaspoon, a drop of water weighs 0.00018057 pound, slightly more.

A Pathetic Bereavement.

Miss Singer—I saw in the paper that there is to be an entertainment for a "musical orphanage!" Pray, what may a musical orphanage be?

Mr. Kenitall—I can't say positively, you know, but I imagine it must be a child deprived of its native air.—Harper's Bazar.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling" Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by W. E. Ayres, druggist.

COMING TO LARSON'S.

Chas. H. Yale's "Everlasting Devil's Auction" Nov. 21st.

Manager Chas. H. Yale of "Devil's Auction" fame reports that this famous spectacle is breaking all former records as to business this season; in fact, to quote Manager Yale's exact statement "The Devil's Auction" has played so far to the largest receipts in ten years, and this the twentieth edition, has made the strongest kind of impression, being without a doubt the best all round performance ever given of the play. The company is entirely new, the vaudeville specialties very novel, while the ballet divertissements have evidently hit the popular taste.

The production has been given entire new costuming and scenery, including a magnificent transformation scene. These combined with a number of European features secured by Manager Yale, one of which "The Dance to the Moon" has been pronounced to be an unusually beautiful effect, form in their entirety undoubtedly the best edition of the "Devil's Auction" yet presented.

"Rudolph and Adolph." Nov. 18th

Mason and Mason, who, according to the bills, are the twin emperors of Germany, captured the town last night, and what was almost a crowded house left the opera house with aching sides, for bar none. "Rudolph and Adolph" is the funniest of the plays of its class that has ever been presented in this city. The Masons, or one of them, has been here before, once as the German count in

"Why Smith Left Home," and again in an equally clever character as the German always in difficulties in "The Man From Mexico," but in last night's presentation the dose is more than doubled, while the settings about these two gems of comedy leaves nothing to be mentioned except as adding to the success of the play.

Nor are the specialties to be given the overlook. They are not only numerous, but of the very highest class, the singing and particularly the dancing being of a distinctly new school from what is generally purveyed by farce-comedy aggregations. The work of Lottie Williams Salter, always good, is better than ever, while the dancing of the Laurence sisters was as good as the rest of the show. —San Bernardino Sun.

The Schley Mystery.

Rear Admiral Schley, so far as the country at large was concerned, never needed a vindication. When the so-called history of Maclay found its way into print, Schley, as a matter of self-respect, had to demand the inquiry.

That he did this in behalf of his own manhood and official record there can be no doubt. He did not do it with the intention of covering his enemies with shame, but the result has been to do this. Lemly, as advocate general, has treated Schley as though the latter had been a prisoner at the dock. Instead of trying to get at the whole truth, Lemly has been both prosecutor and persecutor. He has displayed a malice deep enough, but he has lacked the intelligence to make it effective. It seems that this inspiration has come from Crowninshield and Chadwick, two leading members of the naval clique, and two of the persons who in their effort to make a hero of Sampson have succeeded in bringing him and themselves into a contempt that they, at least deserve.

While the inquiry will in some measure clear the atmosphere, it must remain a mystery. How officers of the navy, deemed fit to wear uniforms, could have been so blind as to single out the dominant figure of the battle of Santiago and imagine that they could dim the luster of his achievement by falsehood and slander and epithet and trickery, cannot be explained. Why they should have desired to do this despicable thing is also yet to be set forth. In the words of Schley himself, "there was glory enough for all", had Sampson acted with common courtesy, he would of had full share. There would have come to the navy nothing but honor, and it would never have had some of its officers exposed to gossipers and traducers.

The hatred felt toward Schley is something not explained, and the stupidity of his enemies is a marvel.—Tacoma Ledger.

The Pasco News Wins.

The long and bitterly fought contest between the Pasco News and the commissioners of Franklin county over the publication of the delinquent tax list, has ended in a victory for the paper. The News is or was the only paper published in the county but its bid was rejected by the commissioners on the ground of being excessive. On the advice of J. J. Rudkin of this city, who since the death of Judge Olney has acted as attorney for Franklin county, the commissioners awarded the contract to a Walla Walla printer by the name of Harris, who agreed to establish a new paper at Connell. Editor Geizentanner employed H. J. Snively as his counsel and proceeded to contest the matter with the result that he won his point. The attorney general, it seems, decided that publication of tax summons in a paper not established for a period of six months would not be legal.

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure a cough too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." #### The Commoner. (Mr. Bryan's Paper.)

The Commoner has attained, within six months from date of the first issue, a circulation of 100,000 copies, a record probably never equaled in the history of American periodical literature. The unparalleled growth of this paper demonstrates that there is room in the newspaper field for a national paper devoted to the discussion of political, economic, and social problems. To the columns of the Commoner Mr. Bryan contributes his best efforts; and his review of political events as they arise from time to time cannot fail to interest those who study public questions. The Commoner's regular subscription price is $1.00 per year. We have arranged with Mr. Bryan whereby we can furnish his paper and the DEMOCRAT together for one year for $1.75. The regular subscription price of the two papers when subscribed for separately is $2.00.

How Fred Miller Escaped a Highwayman.

Fred Miller, the well known attorney formerly of this city but now of Spokane, stopped off Thursday on his way home from Olympia to shake hands with old friends here. Since removing to Spokane and associating himself with a well known law firm there Mr. Miller has prospered far beyond his expectations, which is of course, good news to his many warm friends here. He and Mr. Robertson are now the owners of a very rich and promising mine in the Ceuer'd Alene's out of which they expect big returns.

Apropos of Mr. Miller's visit here a good story is going the rounds at his expense. It is related of him that he lately joined the society of Eagles in Spokane and as a result the password of the order "yea yea" was for a time constantly in his mind. Returning to his lodgings one dark night he was suddenly accosted—ala, Robertson—by a highwayman who pistol in hand demanded his money. In his perturbed condition the frightened limb of the law naturally jerked out the password "yea yea" and much to his astonishment the man said, "Pass right on brother, your all right."

Death of Mell Chandler.

Mell Chandler, after a six weeks' illness of typhoid fever, died at the hospital at 5 a. m. Monday. Deceased was 37 years of age and leaves a young wife to mourn his loss. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Chandler and removed to this valley with his parents about ten years ago. He was a sober minded young man of good habits and was well liked by all who knew him. Mr. and Mrs. Chandler have the sympathy of the entire community as this has been the second death in their family during the past month. The funeral was held Wednesday.

Fire On the West Side.

The residence of F. M. Williams, No. 210 Selah avenue, was almost entirely consumed by fire Monday evening and is a total loss. The cause of the conflagration was a defective flue in the kitchen, Mr. Williams having that day put up a new stove, assuming that the condition of the flue was all right. The fire department responded promptly, but owing to the fact that the alarm had not been turned in at the power house, was unable to accomplish much at first owing to the low pressure in the mains. When the power was turned on, however, the boys quickly demolished the flames. But little of the furniture was saved. The insurance carried on the house was $400 and on the contents $300. Mr. Williams and family have made their home with John Reed since being burned out.

The Teachers' Institute.

The school teachers of this county will begin their annual institute in this city Monday morning. The institute will be held in the High school building.

A very interesting program has been arranged for the four days session and a number of state educators are expected to be present among whom is R. B. Bryan, of Pullman college. It is announced that Prof. Bryan will deliver a lecture Tuesday evening taking as his text "The English Language." Miss L. P. Boggs of Ellensburg, will deliver a lecture Wednesday evening.

Under the new law the holding of a teachers' institute is made mandatory. There is a good deal of dissatisfaction on this account since compliance necessitates the closing down of all schools for one week.

Contractor Burlingame expects to begin graveling First street next week. Hauling would have been begun before this had not it been thought necessary to establish the grade both on First and Front streets before the ground froze up.

The marriage of Miss Jennie May Pettit to Mr. Chas. G. Wands of Spokane, is announced to take place at the residence of the bride's parents in this city on Thursday, Nov. 28th. Mr. Wands is a civil engineer of recognized ability, and during the past summer run the lines on the Burlingame canal.

Most Wonderful Explosive.

Hudson Maxim, the inventor of "Maximite," which has recently been adopted by the United States government, give a clear account of his remarkable invention in Leslie's Popular Monthly.

"Maximite" he says, "which has recently been adopted by the government, has satisfactorily stood every test to which it has been subjected, and there is none of the foregoing requirements which it does not fulfil perfectly. It is very inexpensive of manufacture; has a fusion point below the temperature of boiling water; cannot be exploded from ignition, and, indeed, cannot be heated hot enough to explode, for it will boil away like water without exploding. It is, therefore, perfectly safe to melt over an open fire for filling projectiles, in the same manner that asphalt is melted in a street caldron. Should the material by any chance catch fire, it would simply burn away like asphalt, without exploding. When cast into shells, it not only solidifies into a dense, hard, incompressible mass on cooling, but it expands and sets hard on the walls of the projectile, like sulphur. That is to say it expands in the same way as water does on freezing.

"When a shell filled with it strikes armor plate, the Maximite does not shift a particle, and it is so insensitive that it not only stands the shock of penetration of the thickest armor plate which the shell itself can go through, but it will not explode even if the projectile breaks up on the plate."—Exchange.

Wait Till He Sees You.

A Zulu chief, when you enter his hovel, remains silent for some moments and seems quite unconscious of your presence. At length he says in a tone of grave dignity, "Ge saku bona" (I see you), to which you reply in the same way. The longer he takes to "see you" the greater man you are supposed to be, and until you are thus "seen" you must keep silent and appear as much as possible not to be there at all.

Clerkship Matter Settled.

The school board at its meeting Monday night accepted the proposition of City Supt. A. R. Jolley to perform the routine duties of school clerk for the balance of E. G. Peck's term. Mr. Peck on his part, agreed to withdraw his resignation so as to enable him to continue to sign all warrants and legal papers. As was announced exclusively in this paper last week, Mr. Peck found it necessary to resign because of his inability to give the needed time to the work. Supt. Jolley's liberal offer thus enables the district to save the clerk's salary of $15 per month for the remainder of the term.
