Dear Mr. Relander:

The Ellensburg Public Library would like to make arrangements with you to speak at a tea to be given at the Library by the Friday Club during Book Week (November 26 to December 1). I am writing to ask if you could come up some evening that week and what the cost would be. The club would prefer Wednesday or Thursday evening but would be glad to adjust to your schedule. We would not consider Saturday night.

I talked with Mr. Patterson of Patterson's Stationery Store. He said he would like very much to have you autograph books at his store on the afternoon of the day you choose to come to us. He would like to know soon, however, so he could make arrangements with Caxton to have a large supply of "Drummers and Dreamers" on hand.

We hope you will consider making us a visit. We would be glad to hear your suggestions.

Sincerely yours,

Madeline Sheehan

Dear Mr. Relander:

Under separate cover, I am sending a copy of The Ellensburg Record which contains the article (society page) written after your visit to our library. I have delayed sending it and I'm sorry. Have you seen the enclosed review which appeared in Library Journal for Dec. 1? Thank you again for your visit. (over)

We have two copies of Drummers and Decearners which have been in circulation constantly since you were here.

Sincerely yours,
Madeline Sheehan

Li-Gray Journal
Dec. 1, 1956
[Enclosure.
6 Feb 57]

RELANDER, Click. Drummers and Dreamers: the Story of Snowhala the Prophet, and His Nephew Puck Hyah Toot, the Last Prophet of the Nearly Extinct River People, the Last Wanapums; forewd. by Dr. Frederick Webb Hodge; photogs. 345pp. 56-7264. Caxton. Oct. 6. $6.

Well documented story of the last days of the Indian tribes of the Pacific Northwest, especially the tribe called Wanapums, who had their headquarters at Priest Rapids, on the Columbia River in the center of the State of Washington. It is a thorough study and report of reservation Indians, and of their unequal struggle to retain the rights promised them by the government, and of one of the less glamorous records of the U.S. The author has been a student of the Indians for many years, and has gained the friendship and confidence of the few remaining leaders. Appendix on geographical names and nomenclature; bibliography and index; illustrated with rare photographs; map on end papers. —Leo R. Etzkorn, Ln., Paterson, N.J., F.P.L. [Enclosure, 1957, Feb. 6]
