OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

HE state of Washington, no doubt, has many kinds of liars, but for silly, senseless, cheerful lying, Watson, the Wandering Jew politician of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, is entitled to the championship. He has been spending the dog-days chasing about the state scraping together little heaps of political rot, which he gathered from prospective Republican candidates, with whom the wish for victory and the fleshpots of office is father to the thought; or else he gets his information from the wet nurses of certain senatorial boomlets, who are presumed to be fixing things in the interest of their candidates. Looking at the matter through Watson's spectacles, the state ought to go Republican this year by at least 50,000. If all his statements are as devoid of truth and reason as those contained in his Yakima letter of recent date, the P.-I. had better eliminate his salary and save itself from ridicule. It the P.-I. and the Oregonian have marked out the policy to be pursued by the g. o, p. managers towards the opposition in this campaign, it will inevitably have the effect of harmonizing all the differences existing among the various elements of the Fusion party, and make victory for them certain. The rank and file of the Republican party in this state may well exclaim, "Deliver us from our friends-"

S prophesied by THE EPIGRAM some A weeks ago, the Democracy is mapping out a liberal policy concerning the annexation of Hawaii, Porto Rico and other outlying islands, and so far as the party has had an opportunity, goes on record as bitterly opposed to the proposition of annexing the Philippines. In the convention held by Texas Democrats recently, where these new questions were thoroughly discussed, Leader Bailey made the effort of his life to force the party to endorse his narrow view of opposition to all expansion. This the convention emphatically refused to do, turning young Mr. Bailey down with a dull thud; but by a still more decisive majority they refused to go to the other extreme, which called for the absorption of the Philippines. Similar action has been taken by the party's conventions in other states. It courage and ability to stand up and insist munity. Only fifty cents a year.

is evident that the Democrats who so bitterly fought'the acquisition of Hawaii are not being upheld by their constituents." The Democracy today, as in the days of the great Jefferson, is in favor of reasonable extensions to embrace contiguous or continental territory, which can be made safely American; but will fight to the death the wild scheme of beginning colonization on foreign continents, which scheme, if carried into effect, would sound the death knell of representative government, and gradually usher in a monarchy. The party is not liable to adopt an extreme policy; therefor it will not follow the advise of a repudiated leader like Cleveland, nor a weakling like Bailey, but will continue on in its ancient and honorable policy of the past, which time has thoroughly vindicated.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT'S head is swelled.
No one questions that. No other evidence is needed to prove it than the letter written by him to Secretary Alger asking for service in Porto Rico, in which he states that the Rough Riders under his command were three times as good as any state troops, The answer of the Secretary was a stinging rebuke, and is the best thing we have yet seen that came from the head of the War Department. Roosevelt, who is an ambitious politician, will find that that unfortunate letter will plague him for all time to come. He, no doubt is a brave man, but he has all the characteristics of an ass.

year is enormous in quantity and perfection in quality, and is bringing a fair price in the market, although excessive express and freight rates eat up much of the prices received by our producers. Notwithstandrealize something owing to the failure, or partial failure of the crop in other localities, which goes to prove that the tamous Yakima valley, which never lost a crop, is the banner fruit producing section in the north-

IF the Fusionists of this county expect to l elect a member of the legislature this year, they must nominate a man who is not only honest, but has the confidence and respect of the community. He must also have the energy and disposition to look out successfully for the large and varied interests of this county. He must have the labors unceasingly for the good of the comon the right of this valley for relief from a blood sucking and tyrannical corporation. This important office should no longer be used as the plaything of local politicians. The common people, this year, are not one quarter as much interested in the election of a senator, as they are in needed railway and irrigation legislation. Will the Fusion party nominate the kind of a man the people want? If not, they may as well make no nomination at all.

HE New York Times and other prominent Republican papers are making a pretty stiff fight against Alger's retention in the cabinet. Evidence daily comes to light, says that paper, of Alger's gross incompetence and his interjection of politics into the business of the War Department. His appointment by scores of his personal henchmen and hangers-on to responsible positions in the army, and his utter lack of business system in conducting his great office, are the principal charges against him. His methods, they claim, are responsible for the disorder and destitution that has prevailed in the army every since the war began; which prompts the Portland Oregonian to say in a fit of candor, that the bargains made at St. Louis and Canton are being carried out.

WO extremely important constitutional amendments will be submitted to the voters of Washington at the November election. The first empowers the legislature to pass a uniform assessment law. The second provides for woman suffrage; so it HE fruit crop of Yakima county this should not be surprising if the ladies take a very prominent part in the campaign.

EDITOR SPERRY'S write-up of the Pop committee meetings was too funny ing this drawback, the fruit farmers will for anything, and in his estimation important enough to claim most of his editorial space this week. How could the Republic manage to live and do business without the pops, anyway?

M. M. M.

HE alleged editor of the alleged "official organ" seems to have stirred up a hornet's nest by his roast of Captain Scudder, judging from the number of protests that are coming in. Was the attack instigated by spite? people ask. Well, we dunno.

AN HONEST HEART.

It Brought a Ray of Sunshine Into the Tiresome Depot.

"An all fired hot day, marm. Goin fur?" said an old farmer, addressing a lady who sat at his side in a railroad station waiting for a train.

The woman drew away her rich silks impatiently, frowning as if to say, "You're out of your place, sir," but she made no audible reply.

"An all fired hot day, I say, marm," said the old man in a louder tone, supposing that she was a little deaf. "Are you goin fur? Why," he continued, as no reply was vouchsafed, "I'm sorry you're deaf, marm. How long have you been so?'

"Sir," said the woman, rising, "do you mean to insult me? I shall complain to the police." And she swept haughtily from the room.

Waal, I never!" exclaimed the old man, as he drew out the red bandanna and mopped his forehead. "Pretty tired, marm?" he continued, addressing a woman who had just come in, carry-ing a baby and a lot of bundles, and with two small children clinging to her dress. "Are you goin fur?"

"To Boston, sir," was the pleasant

"Got to wait long?"

"Two hours. Oh, children, do be quiet and don't tease mother any more.'

"Look ahere, you young shavers, and see what I've got in my pocket," soon both children were on his knees eating peppermint candy and listening to wonderful stories about the sheep and calves at home. Next he pulled out a string and taught them how to play "cat's cradle." They were soon on the floor, happy as kittens.

"Now let me take that youngster, marm," he said, noticing that the baby wanted to be tossed all the time. "You look clean beat out. I guess I can please him. I'm a powerful hand with ba-bies." In his big arms the child crow-ed with delight until he fell asleep.

"'Tain't nothin at all, marm," he said two hours later as he helped the woman and her charges on board.

Buying a pint of peanuts from a lit-tle girl and paying 12 cents instead of 10 cents, he munched in hearty enjoyment until his train was called.

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor, and the train started. "Something bright has gone out of this depot that doesn't come in every day," said one who remained—"an honest heart."—

A London paper tells this touching story of Professor Herkomer: "His aged father, who lived with him in his splendid home at Bushney, used to model clay in his early life. He has recently taken to it again, but his fear is that soon his hands will lose their skill and his work will show the marks of imperfection. It is his one sorrow. night he goes to his early rest, and when he has gone his talented son goes to his studio, takes up his father's feeble attempts and makes the work as beautiful as art can make it. When the old man comes down in the morning, he takes the work and looks at it and rubs his hands and says, 'Ha, I can do as

WASHINGTON STATE FAIR.

Arrangements are being made for a balloon ascension and parachute jump as one of the attractions for the Fair.

In the near future the Commission and hotel men will canvass the city for rooms to entertain the visitors who will

Another attraction that will prove interesting is the . Whippett racing dogs that beat either bicycle or running horse at 200 yards, flying start.

The live stock men who are writing and visiting the Commission give assurance of the largest and best show in this department that has ever been exhibited in the state of Washington.

Among other special attractions which will probably came here is the pacing horse "Del Norte" with a record of 2:08. going without rider or driver, and it is expected he will beat his own record and probably that of any guideless pacer living.

rocing circuit placing North Yakima as it does, gives us certainly all the horses belonging to the circuit, besides others coming in from California and other sections where the race meets are either abandoned or adjourned to later dates.

The officials of the Northern Pacific Railway are interesting themselves in behalf of the Washington State Fair and have invited a conference of the commissioners with Mr. Cooper at an early date on the subject of lower transportation rates and other advantages from the company.

The commission is in correspondence with the secretary of the Bicycle Racing association of the Northwest, and hope to arrange for a bicycle meet to come off during the Fair. If this is done in addition to the splendid horse races advertised for each day there will be some of the best bicycle races ever seen in the northwest.

Through the kindness of Mr. Cooper western land agent of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, noted last week, the work of filling the fruit jars by Mr. Leckenby is progressing favorably and we feel assured that when we have done exhibiting this fruit at our own State Fair, and perhaps other fairs in the state, that the exhibit carried to Omaha will be a credit to the state of Washington. We want to again urge all growers who have fine specimens of fruits or vegetables to contribute something for this exhibit. Either call on or address T. B. Gunn, secretary, or Mr. Frank Leckenby.

The Washington State Pharmaceutical Association, which meets here during the Fair, is industriously working up the attendance to that association from all over the state, and will be quite an advantage, especially from the larger cities like Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane, and from parties who have recently visited these places, we are informed that not only the druggists, but the people generally, are looking forward and reserving a trip to the Fair this fall for their vacation, ann just here we want to urge the hotels and citizens to prepare new for the largest assemblage of visitors that has ever been in the city, and that our capacity for entertainment will be taxed to its utmost.

J. I. Smith, superintendent of the agricultural department of the Spokane Fruit Fair, and who is superintendent of the live stock department of the Washington State Fair was in the city on Sunday and Monday and reports everything progressing favorably in his department. Mr. Smith says that Spokane county will forward here exhibits to the amount of at least two or three carloads of stock, besides poultry and farm products. Where desired, exhibits that are forwarded from this Fair to Spokane and thence to the Omaha Exposition and advises us that there are valuable premiums offered for county, district and individual exhibits of farm products, ranging from $200 for first premium down, besides several valuable prize cups.

BREATHE PURE AIR.

The completion of the dates of this The Necessity For Filling the Lungs at Each Inhalation.

> Breathe pure air always. In the lungs a most important physiological process occurs. It is from here that the blood laden with oxygen is sent to all parts of the body, giving off along its course its oxygen and taking up carbonic acid gas, which it brings at last to the lungs, when it is cast out in expiration. More exygen is taken in by inspiration and the same process is repeated.

So let your breathing be full and deep, going to the very bottom of the lungs in order that all of the blood in them may receive its full amount of oxygen before again starting upon its tour of distribution through the body. Can one use any more forcible argument in favor of loose clothing than this? It is absolutely impossible to secure plenty of oxygen if the clothing is worn at all tight, and oxygen is a food which the body must have always in abundance to

The air leaving the lungs is laden with that deadly poison carbonic acid gas, which if given off in a close room when no provision is made for its escape and the entrance of pure air soon renders the air utterly unfit to breathe. Perhaps some night you will find yourself unable to sleep and tumble restlessly about in bed. When this occurs, go to an open window and inhale the fresh air, breathing slowly and deeply. A few minutes of this and you can return to bed and probably will soon be sleeping quietly. What has happened? By its restlessness the body was asserting its need of more oxygen. Now you have given it what it so emphatically asked for, and it is quiet. We get as much uneasiness and disturbance from the want of this food as when we do not eat enough, only the symptoms are not so well understood nor recognized so quickly. Always keep your mouth closed and breathe through your nose. Then the air is warmed, slightly moistened and largely freed from particles of dust, so that when it enters the lungs it does not irritate them.

A condition often met with by phy sicians is anæmia. In this trouble the patient is pale, lifeless looking, tired and generally used up, often without being able to tell distinctly how she does feel. Sometimes these patients say that they have not enough blood. It is really only an element of the blood which is wanting, but that is a very important one-namely, the red blood

When you know that it is only those corpuscles which have the power to take up and carry oxygen, you see at once how important it is that the blood should not be lacking in them. Good, wholesome food, plenty of it and well digested will give you the corpuscles. Furnish them with the oxygen and the body will have an important element toward health. -What to Eat.

Fire made quick work last Saturday night of the residence of Andrew Lynch on the School section. The fire was started from a lighted lamp pulled from the table by one of the children. The burning oil was scattered over the room. Mrs. Lynch rushed from the house and called to her husband who was sleeping on a hay stack near the house for the purpose of shooting a coyote that had been raiding his chicken coop. Mr. Lyuch barely succeeded in rescuing the two older children who were asleep in another part of the house. So quickly did the flames envelope the house that it was impossible to save any of the contents, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynch feel that they were very fortunate in being able to save their children from a horrible death. The house and contents were insured for $1000.

Allen Clark, the colored barber on Front Street, and Levi Delaney, a colored porter, got into a row Tuesday evening which caused the blue air to change color in their vicinity. The cause of the trouble seemed to be the old one-a woman. Delaney swore out a warrant for Clark's arrest on Wednesday and at his trial before Justice Dam the same day, the barber was fined $10 and costs, which he promptly paid. As each man acted as his own attorney, the trial was very amusing. At the conclusion of the trial Clark retaliated on his enemy by swearing out a warrant for his arrest. accusing him of living in adultery. An Interesting Letter from a Well Known Yakima Boy.

Items of Importance About People From this Valley-Two Men Drowned.

A letter was received in this city from Emil Schanno by a friend this week, dated Fort Selkirk, July 26, from which THE EPIGRAM has been permitted to make some notes about Yakima people and their doings in the land of gold:

"George Ker and I arrived here recently, We have so far had a pleasant trip, with the exception of a few windy days on the lakes, which made us seek shelter. One of A. C. Coburn's large scows was driven ashore and filled with water, soaking all of his goods. He had half a ton of sugar, and his dried fruit and beans were considerably damaged. The scow met with a second accident at 30-Mile, giving the goods another wetting. In one cove above where Mr. Coburn's scow went ashore, there were seven boats on the beach with holes in their bottoms. In the same storm, on Lake LaBarge, a boat, belonging to a party headed by a Rev. Lyons, of Ellensburg, and well known in Yakima, capsized and the occupants all drowned. We were unable to find out the number of people in the boat.

SAVING GRACE OF A HOBBY

It Revives Hope and Enthusiasm and Makes Life Worth Living.

"A priceless thing is a hobby. The daily tasks by which hosts of women support life are favorless, barren, almost hopeless. To such ones a hobby may offer the dearest hopes of ultimate freedom from the unwelcome daily task. It will at any rate serve to entertain and give point and flavor to an otherwise blank existence," is the position taken by Carrie E. Garrett discussing "Woman's Dreams and Hobbies" in The Woman's Home Companion.

"Hobbies have the power to concentrate and absorb the scattered energies which might otherwise be expended in purposeless flirtations, building superfluous bonnets, reading cheap sensations, gossiping away precious moments, picking out our friends' foibles, dissecting our own emotions and wishing vaguely for everything which is attainable. If the hobby did nothing else but prevent these frivolities, it would be a boon to

'Man found out the value of hobbies long ago. Almost every man who is good for anything has a purpose which he thinks is quite the most magnificent one which a man could pursue. "Woman has found that it is not enough to merely look pretty; that love cannot be her 'whole existence' (the poet to the contrary notwithstanding), and that even with the richest plenitude gowns, jewels and enjoyments life still needs a purpose. If it is at all a respectable purpose and pursued with general zeal, it cannot fail to thrive and increase and bear fruit.

SMOKELESS POWDER.

CORDITE THE MOST POTENT EX-PLOSIVE OF MODERN TIMES.

It Is Composed of Nitroglycerin, Gun Cotton and Vaseline-The Interesting Process by Which Its Dangerous Elements Are Combined.

Since the advent of the speedy torpedo boat and since rapid firing guns have been placed on battleships and cruisers an explosive that would allow to the officers and gunners an unobstructed view of an enemy under all conditions has been sought, and thousands of dollars have been expended in the effort to obtain a satisfactory substitute for black gunpowder. Cordite, the latest explosive, is said to be the most satisfactory propellant of modern times for naval warfare, and the expert opinion seems to be that in a few years gunpowder as now understood will have vanished.

The earliest records of established powder mills show that there was only one in operation in 1590, this one being in England. During the year 1787 the Waltham Abbey Powder mills were purchased by the English government. They are still conducted by it. The Faversham mills, which up to that date were the largest in the world, passed into the hands of a private corporation in 1815. The manufacture of powder was continued without much improve-ment, except in the efficiency of the grinding and mixing machinery, until about 35 years ago, the formula for black powder being saltpeter 75 parts. charcoal 15 parts and sulphur 10 parts, the whole forming a mechanical mixture and not a chemical compound.

Smokeless powder, however, became absolutely a necessity, for the reason that smoke producing powders masked the object aimed at, and the torpedo boat, which was becoming a recognized feature of naval warfare, could dash up and discharge one or more deadly missiles under cover of the smoke.

Smokeless powders were first produced in France, and for some time the secret of the manufacture was guarded jealously. As soon as the necessity for this kind of powder became apparent, however, a number of manufacturers devoted attention to it, and as a result various brands of smokeless explosives were placed on the market.

The most satisfactory results eventually made their appearance in cordite, which was produced through experiments made by Professor Dewar and Sir Frederick Abel. Cordite is composed of nitroglycerin 58 per cent, gun cotton 37 per cent and vaseline 5 per cent Nitroglycerin is an oily, colorless liquid and an active poison. It is produced by mixing a quantity of sulphuric acid with almost double the amount of nitric acid and allowing it to cool. About oneeighth of the total weight of glycerin is then added gradually, the mixture being kept below a temperature of 70 degrees F. by passing air and cold water through it. After the mixture has stood a sufficient time the acids are drawn off, and the residue (nitroglycerin) is washed and filtered.

Nitroglycerin cannot be ignited easily by a flame, and a lighted match or taper plunged into it would be extinguished. It is sensitive to friction or percussion, either of which will detonate it. Another peculiarity is that the higher the temperature the more sensitive it becomes. It will solidify at a temperature of 40 degrees, and its explosive force is estimated to be about twelve times that of gunpowder.

One of the most approved methods used in the manufacture of gun cotton is this: The raw cotton is torn into shreds, dried and dipped in a mixture of sulphuric and nitric acids. It is then placed in a stream of running water and washed thoroughly. The cotton is then wrung out, usually in a centrifugal ma-pulp and pressed into disks. When the gan cotton is finished, there should be no trace of the acids remaining. Vaseline, the other component part of cordite, is the well known extract from petroleum, and its usefulness is chiefly to lubricate the bore of the gun and thus lessen the friction between it and the projectile. It also has a tendency to impart a waterproof nature to cordite.

A colorless liquid prepared from acetate of lime, called acetone, is used as a solvent in the manufacture of cordite. The method of preparing the explosive is: The required proportion of nitroglycerin is poured over the gun cotton, and the two, with the addition of acetone, are kneaded together into a stiff paste. Vaseline is then added, and the whole compound, after being thoroughly mixed, is put into a machine and the cordite pressed out and cut into lengths, after which it is dried.

To the artillerist the nature of cordite is represented by a fraction whose numerator gives in hundredths of an inch the diameter of the die through which the cordite has been pressed, its denominator being the length of the stick in inches. The cordite known as 30-12, which is the size used for the 6 inch quick firing guns, signifies that its diameter is three-tenths of an inch, and it is 12 inches long.

It is necessary to use a fine grain powder to ignite a charge of cordite, it being secured in such a manner that a flash from the tube firing the gun will cause the explosion of the charge. A full charge of powder for a 12 inch gun is 295 pounds, while the cordite charge, having the same efficiency, is only 1671/2 pounds.

Cordite is one of the safest explosives known, and is not dangerous unless it is confined. It can be held in the hand and lighted without danger. It burns slowly and with a bright flame. Although comparatively a new discovery, it is used extensively in every navy throughout the world. It was manufactured first in Great Britain and was in general use on her battleships before adopted by other powers. - New York County Committee Meeting.

In accordance with a call made some weeks ago the county committees of the three silver parties met at the appointed hour last Saturday. The Demecrats and Populists meeting at the court house, the former in the court room, the latter in the jury room, while the Silver- Republicans met at the city hall. A very fair representation of all the committeemen being present. A conference committee was appointed by the chairman of each meeting, which committee promptly met in the sheriff's office and arranged for harmonious action in regard to calling primaries and the county conventions. The conference committee recommended holding primaries on August 27 and county conventions on September 3, which recommendation was adopted in the full committees According to the basis of representation adopted, each convention will consist of 104 delegates, the Democrats basing the fepresentation on the vote of Congressman Lewis, the populists on Gov Rogers and the Silver-Republicans on that of Congressman Jones. The meetings on the whole were entirely harmonious, there being no dirty lines brought in to be washed, as was done at the last meeting of the full committees. The day being extremely sultry, but little oratory was indulged in by the Dems and Pops, but the Silver Populiers is indulged. the Silver-Republicans, it is said, enjoyed a "feast of reason and a flow of soul" at their meeting.

THE POLITICAL POT.

These Be Trying Days for the "Bosses" and Their Pets.

Notwithstanding the extremely hot weather of the past few days, interest in local Republican politics does not lag. Almost every day some tanned and dusty patriot from the country precincts may be seen wending his way to the editorial sanctum on North Second street, where he presumably pours into unwilling ears his hopes and desires to serve the dear people. Most ambitious members of the party now find it necessary and politic to first submit their candidacy to Brer Sperry, for none can hope to win a prize at the coming convention without the big tyee's support-at any rate, they realize that they can not hope to do so against his opposition.

The sheriff's office is evidently causing the head of the party some embarrassment these sultry days, as among the numerous aspirants for that office are several personal friends of the boss.

The question of legislative timber, though, is what is most worrying the powers that be at the present time. The senstorial nomination was practically made many moons ago, when the Wilson managers promised it to Baker, o: Klick itat, in consideration of that gentleman's support for the little senator; but the other nomination is a puzzler. Who can they give it to that can be elected. and at the same time be trusted to stand pat for the Spokane politician? That is the rub; that is the reason that the chief

Jay Lynch, Indian agent for the Yakima reservation, is in the city today on official business Mr. Lynch says he is troubled somewhat with stealing on the reservation, and he is in the city to lay the matter before United States Prosecuting attorney Gay. Mr. Lynch is a man with considerable experience in the Indain service. He held his present position for four years under the Harrison administration. When the McKinley administration came into office Mr. Lynch was reappointed through the influence of Senator Wilson, of whom he has always been a devoted follower .-Seattle Times.
