Child's Safety Related to Vision

NEW YORK, N.Y. -- A child's safety is related to quick and accurate seeing, according to the Better Vision Institute.

Minor accidents can come from troublesome eyesight and good vision is helpful for safe performance at home, on the street, or at school, says the Institute. The child depends upon vision to a great degree to help him understand the world around him. With seeing at its peak efficiency, every youngster has the best possible chance to learn and prepare for his future.
